The Silver Beaver Award is a national award presented by the local boy scout Council to recognize scouters who have distinguished themselves by rendering outstanding service to boys in their community, district and council.

Vice chairman of the Blue Granite District of Quincy and Milton, Ilacqua is scouting coordinator for the cubs and scouts of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

He is also a member of the Greater Boston Council Camping Committee.

Father of nine children, he became active in scouting when his oldest son joined the organization over 15 years ago.

He took an active part in all the activities of his son's scout troop and soon assumed a leadership role. He later became active in the Blue Granite District and the Greater Boston Council, and had a special interest in the camping program.

The renovation and redevelopment of Camp Massasoit has been one of his major concerns in recent years.

Camp Fire Members Spruce Up Hancock Cemetery

Thirty Quincy Camp Fire members, ranging in age from six year olds at the Blue Bird level to teen-agers in Discovery Clubs, met recently at Hancock Cemetery to pick up debris and trim grass around the stones.

Club members had heard about the litter and overgrown grass in the historic cemetery and decided to take action.

Vincent Smyth, superintendent of the cemetery department, supervised the operation and expressed his appreciation for the young people's much needed efforts.

Many people had heard about the project and stopped by to commend the children for their efforts.

Mrs. Eva Perry of Squantum, a Camp Fire member in 1914, came by to introduce herself, show photos of her own Camp Fire days, and bring popcorn for the children.

The project was so successful that more Quincy Camp fire clubs have decided to join the effort. Clubs will return to the cemetery to help maintain the grounds for the duration of the summer.

Leaders participating in the project were Linda Ruggere, Linda Rowlands, Brenda Chin, Gail Mayberger, Gail Freeland and Audrey Wilcoxon.

McCauley Petition Aimed At Political Appointees

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley is still trying to prohibit outgoing mayors from making political appointments in the dying months of their administrations.

The councillor, a candidate for mayor himself, planned to introduce a home rule petition in Tuesday night's Council meeting to ban them from newly created positions within one year of the expiration date of their appointments.

McCauley said petition would eliminate the practice of freezing political appointees in permanent city positions.

He noted that in the past two years, both of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's purchasing agents have accepted newly created $25,000 positions at City Hospital.

People who accept appointments by a mayor should not expect that a full time position is going to be created for them when a mayor leaves office, said McCauley.

He noted that he was filing the home rule petition because his attempt to change the situation by a city ordinance was ruled out of order by the city solicitor.

The home rule petition requires approval by the mayor and the city council as well as the state legislature and the governor.

McCauley also planned to sponsor a resolve requesting that John Comer, chairman of the Board of Assessors, and Sal Ruocco of Capital Appraisals appear before the Council on Sept. 21 to explain the reason for the delay in releasing the new valuations.

McCauley noted that P. R. C. Jacobs, the firm appointed to conduct the city-wide revaluation, is now six months behind their target date for releasing the new valuations.

McCauley said he has written three letters to Capital Appraisals, the firm appointed to oversee the re-evaluation, requesting information but has had no reply as yet. The firm has already been paid $45,000.

"I am anxious to know just what they have done to earn the $45,000 that has been paid to them over the past two years," he said.

New Law To Help Blind Get Insurance

Insurance companies in Massachusetts may not discriminate against the blind or the physically disabled under new legislation effective next month. Sen. Paul D. Harold reports.

Under the new law, no insurance company selling life, accident, health, disability or sickness insurance, or any other insurance policy, may discriminate as to the issuance of the policy or the rates charged because of the insured's blindness, partial blindness or physical disability.

Harold noted that the law makes an exception where the distinction for blindness or disability is shown to be based on sound actuarial principles or is related to actual experience.

He noted that the new law, effective Oct. 7, also applies to savings banks which sell insurance.

"The mere fact of blindness or physical disability is no longer a legal basis for charging higher rates or refusing to issue an insurance policy in this state," Harold said.

"Insurance companies will have to show their actual risk is higher in order to make any distinction between a blind or disabled person and anyone else."

UMass Senior Speaker At Rotary Program

Cindy Lomano, a senior at UMass-Boston and a member of the staff of the East Boston Social Center's after school day care program, will be the speaker at the noon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday, Sept. 15, at the Neighborhood Club.

Lomano, who is working toward a degree in psychology and a certificate in law and justice, interned in the juvenile probation program at the Quincy District Court last year.

Dick Storella is the program chairman for the Rotary luncheon and President Dave Bouley will preside at the business meeting prior to the program.

New Law Delays Finance Charges

Gas and electric customers who pay their overdue bills have the right to full service from their utilities under new legislation effective Aug. 19, Sen. Paul D. Harold points out.

The new law requires the utilities to restore "full and complete service" once a customer whose service has been disconnected pays in full, or makes a partial payment agreed to by the gas or electric company.

A gas or electric company which wilfully violates the statute is subject to a fine of not less than $50, Harold said.

The new law is in addition to existing statutes restricting utility shutoffs to elderly people, people who are seriously ill, and people who heat their homes with gas or electricity but cannot pay their bills during the winter.

But those who gave, we are sure, gave what they could and -- gave with their hearts. That's what counts.

Some 2,464 pledges were taken here at The Sun over the holiday weekend, sorted, and mailed out by Monday night.

As usual, it took a lot of nice people in the Quincy-South Shore area to make this a successful weekend for Jerry's Kids. Some 200 volunteers gave up a part of their holiday to spend it here manning telephones and doing all the other so important jobs.

We're pretty much tired now as this is being written, but there's still wrap-up work going on here and the telethon has been off the air for three hours now.

A lot of people here gave their all for Jerry's Kids. We don't remember everyone of you... there were so many of you. But many of you we can. People like:

Ken Runge, our "Captain Midnight" who worked the telethon 24 hours straight, stayed on for the wrap-up and would have gone 48 if needed...Norma and Peter Gacicia, Dick Koch, the Bryan VFW Post's Tom McDonald, Rita Kelleher, Joe and Vera Sullivan, Recreation Director Charlie Alongi who are always there when you need them...The Elks' Marty Blake and daughter, Suzanne who gave many hours...John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., who donated a $450 Litton microwave oven as a prize to help bring money to the fishbowl. That's three microwave ovens and a color TV set he has donated as prizes the last four years. His wife, Joan, mans the phones. Bob Seamans of Merrymount, owner of a Boston advertising firm, who was the first donor to the fishbowl-four days before the telethon started. And won two box seats to the Red Sox-Tigers game Sept. 14 donated by Sheriff Clifford Marshall...Marshall also provided a deputy sheriff security guard around-the-clock and manned the phones. He and the deputy sheriffs also donated $2,500...Deputy Sheriff Lester Glasser who again this year donated $18 because eighteen means "life" in Hebrew and he wants to give life to Jerry's Kids...John O'Connell of Holbrook who installed the 32 telephones and made a donation when he left...Judy Babcock of Wollaston, who phoned in the first pledge 15 minutes before the telethon officially got underway...

John and Claire Hanratty of Quincy who weren't going to be here for Labor Day but came in early in the week to make a donation...Joan Kirby of Houghs Neck who donated $25...Ronald Seaman of Southern Artery, Quincy, who got us off to a fast start Sunday night with a generous $2,000 pledge. He donated $1000 last year and the year before Kevin White of Scituate, who dropped $50 into the fishbowl and challenged everyone in Scituate to match it...Robert Sealund of Century Lane, Milton, who had company at the house. They were going to send out for Chinese food but decided to give the $37 to Jerry's Kids instead...Mayoral contenders Frank McCauley and Daniel Ramondi, both of whom manned the phones and made donations themselves...Acting City Purchasing Agent Charles Shea who donated $50...Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler who again donated 100 tickets to the Wollaston Theater as prizes to fishbowl donors. Arthur also worked the phones...Angela Nicastro of Wollaston who started in answering telephones on the first shift and is still here 26 hours later counting fishbowl money...Charlie Pearce and the Quincy Savings Bank, who loaned us a coin counting machine, otherwise we would be here until Wednesday counting fishbowl receipts...George White of the Patriot Ledger, who arranged to have Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Tweetie Bird and Sylvester The Cat help at the pledge center with the aid of JoAnn Runge,

Maureen McAleney, Karen Runge and Joan Climo. They raised $256 with cannisters...Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television who loaned us two color TV sets so that we could keep tabs on what was going on elsewhere during the telethon...Tommy McDonald, Rita Kelleher, Joe and Vera Sullivan of the Bryan VFW Post who worked most of the telethon, counting money and getting the pledge envelopes mailed out on time...Win Bettinson and Roy Lind of WJDA, who broadcast live progress reports throughout Labor Day and interviewed volunteers and fishbowl donors at The Sun while Herb Fontaine worked the phones. They always give it their all...Steve Gillig of McDonald's in Quincy who furnished piles of hamburgers and gallons of soft drinks for the pledge center workers and did some kitchen duty...Billy Callapa of Joseph's Catering, Dorchester, who came in with enough food to feed a small army...Dick Newcomb of Mug 'n Muffin who furnished an ample supply of muffins and coffee...Ken Runge of Pizza Chef, Weymouth Landing and George Montilio of Montilio's who also furnished chow...The gang on Off Lake St., East Weymouth, who raised $104 with a yard sale on Labor Day...The Citations--Paul Ricca, Joe Ricca, Angelo Paglioca, Wally Farrell, Joe Contrino and Fuzzy Fasano who not only entertained in front of the pledge center but also raised $147...Old pal, Baron Hugo, Ken Lodge, Bill Milesky, Arthur Cronk and George DeMattia who also entertained...Baron, who will be 78 Friday, was serenaded by the volunteers...As was Mario Salvatore of the Quincy Sons of Italy, marking his 50th birthday. He was also surprised with a cake...The Altrusa Club who donated $75...George Tobin, Mayor Arthur Tobin's father, who brought in coffee cans and jars filled with $75 in pennies collected since the last telethon. He went home to start his collection for the next one...Norfolk County Register of Probate Tom Hughes who manned the phones and donated $50...Ben Altman, Randolph meat store owner who donated a $50 sirloin strip to the Randolph Knights of Columbus who raffied it off to raise $140...Comfortman, alias Sandy Rounseville, who made a personal appearance at the pledge center and raised $76 with a cannister...George Parker who came in with his annual double-header: a $200 donation from the Yellow Cab Company and a $200 personal one to match it...Susan Finn, wife of Police Chief Frank Finn who donated two $50 gift certificates worth of Shaklee products...Congressman Brian Donnelly who visited the pledge center and donated $100...Governor's Councillor Peter Eleey, who manned the phones...Alfred Archibald, Board Chairman South Boston Savings Bank who pledged $200 for the bank and another $50 from himself and his wife...Steve Doherty of Duxbury, who came up to play the bagpipes outside the center...Jackie Marshall and Chuck McLean of Wollaston who pledged $10 and challenged all other couples who will be getting married in 1983 to match it...Robert Southerland of Bay View Boat and Engine Co. of Quincy, who pledged $500...Mark Lauzon, John Feeney, Joe Winn, John Pavidis, Patty and Denise Feeney who collected $324 in Marshfield...Mary Cronin of Wollaston who came in with $100 in coins...Marge Nash, Mary Woodford and Paul Woodford who set up the pledge center...Mayor Arthur Tobin who donated $50...Deputy sheriffs Gary Leonard, Tony Albanese, Adeline Pompeo, Jack Carr, Tony Trubiano, Bill Roche, Bob Petzoldt who served as security guards...The Joy of Movement dancers who entertained outside the pledge center...Charles Furlong of Braintree who pledged $100...Maggie Gainey and Maureen Russell of Hingham, who came in for one shift and worked on two others...The Quincy Sons of Italy, who donated $2,500 and sent a delegation to work in the pledge center: Venerable John Marella, Assistant Venerable John Tamasco, Mario Salvatore, John Fantucchio, Rocco Buonvicino, Mimmo D'Arcangelo, Rocky Rocuzzo, Jim Mastrantonio, Sebastian Papagno, Sam Mascotta...the Quincy Lodge of Elks who donated $2,000. Exalted Ruler Dave Montani stayed all day Monday to work in the pledge center. Don Wheeler, another Elk, worked a double shift. GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life — "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ — now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Quincy Strong On Defense, Needs Offense Rebuilding

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last year Quincy's football team started out with a strong nucleus on offense but an untested defense.

This fall Coach Tom Fitzgerald finds himself with an excellent defensive nucleus but he faces a major rebuilding job on offense.

"This is just the opposite of last year," Fitzgerald said as he greeted 68 varsity hopefuls and 55 sophomores. "We have a number of fine defensive players back but we have just two offensive linemen and three backs with varsity experience. We really have to rebuild on offense."

Other top defensive prospects are Paul Quigley, end; Kevin Riggs, end; Joe Bush, linebacker; Tony Richards, linebacker; Bob Burns, linebacker; Joe LaRaia, end; Chris McCray, 6-2, 215-pound end out for the first time; Steve Ganno, tackle; Joe Harte, 6-5 250-pound middle guard; Glen Oriola, safety; Han Ha, halfback, and Darren DeCoste, linebacker.

On offense the only veterans are quarterback Sean Martin, fullback Picot, halfback Goguen, guard Taglieri and center Nevins.

"We should be strong at quarterback with Martin and Bob Mudge, who quarterbacked last year's undefeated sophomore team," Fitzgerald said. "Martin took over late in the season when Ron Pettinelli was injured and in three games accounted for 11 touchdowns, either by passing or running. He is rangy, is an excellent passer and a fine runner. He will have some good receivers. Mudge was outstanding for the sophomores and will be a good backup quarterback."

Picot and Straughn are the fullbacks and there are several fine halfback hopefuls including Goguen, Mark Righini, McCray, Chris Dracchio, Justin Obert, Mike Miller and Ted Walsh.

"McCray could be one of our key players," Fitzgerald said. "He is 6-2 and 215 pounds, runs well and looks good on defense. I think if he had played last year, he would definitely be one of the best around this season."

At tackle are Dan Mahoney, Jim Kelly, Gravales, a starter last year as a sophomore; Ganno, Bob Willard, Harte, Dennis Obert and a promising newcomer, Dennis Carr.

"We should be strong at quarterback with Martin and Bob Mudge, who quarterbacked last year's undefeated sophomore team," Fitzgerald said. "Martin took over late in the season when Ron Pettinelli was injured and in three games accounted for 11

"The cutting of the sophomore schedule poses a problem," Fitzgerald said. "We have 55 sophomores and they will have to play on the junior varsity squad. But what happened to all the varsity reserves who got experience playing jayvee ball?"

"We have a lot of raw talent but most of the players, especially on offense, need experience. If we can start off well, we should be all right with a few games under our belt."

The Quincy coach was pleased with last Saturday's scrimmage at Everett, but the inexperience showed. Quincy opens Sept. 19 against Cambridge Rindge and -Latin.

Quincy will scrimmage Arlington Saturday and Fitzgerald, starting his 30th year as a schoolboy coach, will be able to tell a lot more after that scrimmage.

Fitzie has Peter Chella, Joe Goguen and volunteer Bill Maver back as assistants, although none is now in the school system. He has one newcomer, John Sullivan, a Quincy star in the early 60's who was a Little All-American at the U. of Vermont.

Presidents Marathon Sunday

Entries are still coming in for the second annual City of Presidents Marathon (26.2 miles) which will be run Sunday starting at 9 a.m., with the course being run almost entirely within the city of Quincy.

Many veteran marathoners are entered. Last year Quincy's Jim Capezzuto was the winner in 2:36:47. The race is run twice over the same 13.1-mile loop.

There are some hills, but the course is flat and fast for the most part, taking the runners by the John Adams and John Quincy Adams birthplaces, the Adams Historical site and other nationally known landmarks that have made a place in history. The race starts and finishes in front of the First Parish Church.

Entry fee is $5.00. T-shirts will be given to all those taking part and certificates will go to all finishers. The race is sanctioned by the N.E. Athletic Congress, is fully certified and can be used to qualify for the Boston Marathon.

The race is sponsored by the South Boston Savings Bank and the Patriot Ledger.

Further information can be obtained by calling race director Brian Devin at 436-3000, or writing the City of Presidents Marathon, 79 Coddington St., Quincy 02169.

LaBrique Wins Junior Girls Softball Crown

LaBrique Playground won the Recreation Department junior girls' softball championship with a 12-9 victory over Pollard.

Leader Carol Brillo's Pollard team stayed in the game on the clutch hitting of Julie Coste, Patty Higgins and Tracy Thornhill. Kathy Carmody's LaBrique team was led by the hitting of Chrissy Loud and Nancy Powers and the fine fielding of Karen Picarski.

The powerful Fore River senior girls' softball team bombed

Squantum, 18-0, to win the championship. Heather Slicis and Kathy McBride were outstanding for the champions.

Mass Fields won the midget boys' baseball title, squeezing by LaBrique, 2-1, in seven innings. Fran Donovan's LaBrique team took the lead in the top of the seventh on singles by Scott Logan, Tim Murphy and Bob Bogan, but Dean Zoia's Mass Fields club came back with two to win it on a clutch triple by Dan McDonald. Bob Hubbed was the winning pitcher, striking out 14. LaBrique blanked Pollard, 5-0, to win the junior boys' baseball crown.

Steve Austin, Chuck Hughes, Chris Boussey and Chad Hallet stood on for the winners.

Elm Street defeated Montclair, 4-2, for the senior boys' baseball title as John Balzano struck out 14. Jim Bandera's extra base hits and Dennis Cronin's key single were the keys to the Elm Street win.

JV's, Sophs Keys North Experience Lean

Last fall North Quincy's football team came back after two losing seasons to finish 6-3-1 and defeat Quincy for the first time in three years.

But Coach Dave Burke and his assistants face a difficult task this year if they hope to equal that mark.

The Raiders have virtually no varsity returnees and their hopes rest upon last year's junior varsity and sophomore players.

"We have a lot of work ahead of us," Burke said. "We have only a couple of experienced players both on offense and defense. We accomplished quite a bit in our first week of practice and we didn't do badly in a scrimmage against Braintree. But we are very inexperienced both ways and there is a lot of work to be done.

Burke greeted 86 candidates, which included 27 sophomores.

The only offensive players with any real experience are center Neil Fisher and halfback Joe Dudek. Several others saw a little varsity action but still lack experience.

Billy Gray, Pat McDonough and Jim Hutchinson are the leading end hopefuls, Bob Pound and Steve Lee lead the tackles, Mike Panaro, Paul Cifarella and Darby Flaherty head the guards and Fisher, Jerry Connolly and Mark Costa are the top center aspirants.

Other line candidates include Dave Ceurels, Peter Clarke, Pat Fitzgerald, Kevin Johnson, Joe Spellman and Brian McGuinness.

Pat Burke, Mike Pimental and Vin Barry are battling for the quarterback spot vacated by Jack Brown; Dudek, who did some outstanding ball carrying last year, Ray Linehan, Ray Mallory, Dave Di Carlo, Bob O'Brien and Dennis LaCorte are the leading halfbacks and Mike Cullen and Rich Brown are the fullback hopes.

The most experienced players on defense are Lee, Panaro, Steve Howley and Mallory.

Lee, Fisher, Jim Kelly, Clarke and sophomore Anthony Befera are the defensive ends; Panaro and Connolly, both 215 pounds; Ed Leary, Fred Peterson, Ken Johnson, Tom Morrill and Adam Weiner are the tackles, Mark Miceli is a nose guard, linebackers include Steve Howley, Rich Stevens, Bill Bradley, Bob Leonard, Neil Leonard and Shawn Cunningham, Rich Comeau, Walter Sullivan, sophomore Jack Bolster and Rich Tapper are cornerbacks and Ray Mallory, Dudek, Burke, Brown, Pimental, O'Brien, Steve Mallory, Jay Pillard and DiCarlo are defensive backs. The safety men will be selected from among this group.

North again has a place kicker who could be a key player and score a lot of points. Bradley, a soccer star, has been kicking well and can kick them long. Burke had two outstanding kickers in Ed McLaney and Jackie Leone and Bradley can be another.

Burke has two returning assistant coaches, Ted Sadowski, starting his 24th year at North, and defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. Ken McPhee, who lost his teaching job, had been reappointed, but was forced to resign and Gene Macomber, who has 18 years experience as a high school and junior high coach in Quincy is an emergency fill-in.

Macomber was an assistant coach at Quincy High for 10 years and for the past eight was the highly successful coach at Broad Meadows Junior High, leading his team to several city championships.

Pete Zoia, a star for North Quincy's first football teams in the mid-30's under Jack Donahue, is also back as a volunteer aide.

The sophomore schedules have been dropped and it is uncertain what will be done with the sophomores. They probably will be playing for the junior varsity. Sadowski has coached the sophs for many years.

North will scrimmage Scituate Saturday and will open its season Sept. 19 at Milton.

Halloran On NU Team

Ken Halloran of Quincy will be playing his sophomore season with the Northeastern University football team when the Huskies open their season at University of Connecticut Sept. 19.

Halloran, a 6-foot-1, 210-pound defensive end, is expected to back up sophomore Carmine DelTocco at left end, as well as see extensive duty on the specialty teams. He saw limited action at center last season, but switched to defense this year and should see more playing time under first-year coach Paul Pawlak.

Halloran, a business administration major, is a 1979 graduate of Boston College High School, where he earned three letters and one in football. He captained the hockey team as a senior.

In the first flight consolation Frank Guilfoyle of FB and Roy Caviechi of Ponkapoag defeated Harold McCarthy Jr. of FB and Henry Berry Jr. of Wollaston, 2 and 1.

Peter Ashmanskas of FB and John Davis of Ponkapoag defeated Tom Tehan of FB and Bill Froberg of Ponkapoag on the 19th hole to win the second flight.

Henry Berry Sr. of FB and Bob Berry of Walpole defeated Fred Luty of FB and Guy Spezzano of Rockland, 2 and 1, in the second flight consolation.

Charlie Rizzo of FB and George Niles of Walpole defeated Jon Adams of FB and Dick Salvucci of Green Harbor on the 20th hole to win the third flight.

Charlie Harris of FB and Walter Pendergast of Pembroke defeated Frank Noonan of FB and Bob Francis of Warcham on the 19th hole in the third flight consolation.

Al Citrano of the host club had a hole-in-one on the par 3, 2.5-yard sixth hole, using a four iron.

The tournament, the longest continuing member-guest event on the South Shore, began last Friday with 110 starters (55 teams) and continued through Labor Day.

Local 259 Wins Easter Seals Softball Marathon

Teamsters Local 259 softball team, managed by Ed Little, raised $1002 and topped 80 other teams at Kincaid Park in Quincy and North Junior High field in Randolph during the recent WCOZ-Quincy Cooperative Bank Softball Marathon for Easter Seals.

The marathon involved more than 4000 players from some 260 teams on fields in Quincy, Randolph, Boston, Dorchester, Malden and Burlington. Their combined efforts raised more than $75,000 to benefit Easter Seal programs for people with physical disabilities in the Greater Boston area.

The top fund raising team in the event was sponsored by 99 Restaurants. It played in Burlington and raised $2200. The players will be eligible for a team brunch at either the Sheraton Tara in Braintree or Delmonico's at the Hotel Lenox. Individual high money raiser, Kevin O'Donoghue of the Malden Restaurant, has won a weekend for two at the Radisson Ferncroft Hotel and Country Club in Danvers and has become eligible for the state-wide prize of a trip for two to Aruba donated by Trans National Travel. Among other teams participating were South Shore Bank and Hancock Bank of Quincy.

Greater Boston Easter Seal child Mary Sacco was on hand to kick off the Quincy Co-op game at Kincaid Park. Leo Sheehan, vice president of the Quincy Co-op Bank, said, "Everybody really enjoyed themselves and were happy to be part of such a worthy cause."

Gymnastic Team Tryouts At Y

Gymnastic team members receive training in dance, floor exercise, balance beam, uneven bars, and vaulting four times a week.

Beginning level team members compete in U.S.G.F. compulsory routines only. Intermediate and advanced level team members compete in both compulsory and optional routines.

For further information, phone 479-8500.

Buckley, LoGuercio Win Commissioners Cup

Brian Buckley of Quincy and Dr. Richard LoGuercio came from behind to shoot a net 58 in the final round and win the recent Commissioners Cup Member-Guest golf tournament at Presidents Golf Course in Wollaston by two strokes over Joseph Trocki and Bob Ronayne.

Buckley, who coaches the Quincy Junior College basketball team, had four gross birdies and LoGuercio one during the final round after managing only one between them in opening day. It was back to back birdies by LoGuercio on the 15th and Buckley on the 16th (both net eagles) that accelerated the duo into the lead for good as Buckley managed par on 17 and 18.

Trocki and Ronayne, the first round leaders with a net 60, both hit out of bounds on 16 the second day, ruining their chance for victory.

"We really didn't think we had a legitimate chance for victory after the ninth hole during the final round," said Buckley, who lives and works in Quincy. "But Dr. Rich changed his grip a little because I told him he might as well try something the way he was playing."

And as it turned out, the change was worth the try. LoGuercio eagled 15 along with net birdies on 10, 11 and 14.

"Brian said not to worry, that I'd have some good holes on the back nine, that relaxed me and I finally helped the team out," said Dr. LoGuercio, a dentist who lives in Norwell and practices in Randolph.

"I hope he fills cavities better than he fills the golf hole," Buckley concluded jokingly.

The summary:

Buckley and LoGuercio, 63-58-121; Trocki and Ronayne, 60-63-123; Perry Brynes and Frank Still, 61-67-128; Rod MacIsaac and Tony Cibotti, 62-68-130; Bruce Ryan and Jeff Burrell, 67-64-131; Steve Drysdale and Ed O'Toole; 66-66-132; Wally Reardon and Vinne Sangster, 64-69-133; Doug Kehoe and Ed Alpers, 66-67-133; Pearl Sylvestre and Tom Kelleher, 66-69-135; Jack Murphy and Dr. Leigh, 67-70-137; Robert Reardon and Al Carr, 67-70-137; Tom Giannino and Ed Mansfield, 68-72-140; David Bryson and Tom Bryson, 74-69-143.

BURGLARS ARE HUMAN

According to the FBI, serious crime has increased 150 percent in the past 10 years and home burglaries have more than kept pace. However, burglars are human, and if you put yourself in their shoes (mentally only), you can reduce your chances of being burglarized.

Experts estimate that only one percent of burglaries are committed by "professionals". Most are crimes of opportunity committed by youngsters under the age of 21. They're scared, will take the easy way out, and won't battle obstacles.

For example: burglars don't like barking dogs (whatever the size) and go elsewhere. Also effective are good window latches (that are used) and burglar-proof door latches. There are inexpensive alarms that make enough noise to scare away all of the amateurs. Burglars are human. You can outwit 99% of them - if you try!

McGrath Requests School Crossing Guard In Wollaston

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath has asked Police Chief Francis X. Finn to assign a crossing guard for school children at the corner of Elm Ave. and Hancock St., Wollaston.

McGrath noted that youngsters who would have attended the closed Beechwood Knoll School will now have to cross Elm Ave. and Hancock St. to get to the Massachusetts Field School.

"Parents of small children have contacted me and expressed concern that there be some police presence at this intersection," said McGrath in a letter to Finn.

"This is a busy intersection.

particularly in the morning, and I strongly feel that some provision should be made for the safety of these young children."

McGrath suggested that the regular Wollaston Center police officer be assigned the crossing guard duty during the early morning hours.

Cortese Scores Hiring Outside Revaluation Firms

Joseph F. Cortese, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 2, has criticized the hiring of outside firms to revalue the city of Quincy.

"I strongly feel that our full-time city assessors are well qualified to have taken this responsibility, thereby saving the taxpayers' money," he said.

"Assisting these assessors, we could have used many of the people who have been terminated because of Proposition 2 1/2 from various city departments instead of out of state firms whose knowledge of our city is minimal.

"It is my understanding that between 1965 and 1966, an outside firm from Ohio, whose knowledge of our city was completely foreign, was paid a sizeable sum to create inequities which in the final analysis, if completed, would have had to be justified by our own city assessors.

"This study proved to be a waste of taxpayers' money so it seems another problem of a similar nature has risen again, this time from Virginia.

"The firm reappraising property in the city, P.R.C. Jacobs, Inc., reports it erased an important computer disk, wiping out information and setting the revaluation in the city back.

"Haven't we heard something like this before in regard to tapes being erased?"

Newcomb Completes ROTC Training

John W. Newcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newcomb of 74 South Bayfield Road, North Quincy, recently completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC basic camp at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Newcomb plans to enter the ROTC program at Northeastern University, Boston. He is a 1979 graduate of North Quincy High School.

cross town road.

"This is just another way to waste the taxpayers' hard-earned money," he said. "Let's invest our money in what we have right here in Quincy Square. Let's hand out to what we now have.

"Remember one thing. City planning must take into consideration the interest of the entire community. The East-West Connector just doesn't meet this criterion."

Brooks Sees East-West Connector As 'Disaster'

Gregory P. Brooks, a candidate for the City Council at-large, has expressed his opposition to the East-West Connector.

"I think the road will be a disaster," he told a breakfast meeting of campaign aides. "It will just divide the center in two. I think it is a totally ridiculous idea."

Brooks said he agrees with Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, that the question of the connector should be put to the voters in the form of a referendum.

"Let Mayor Tobin and all other proponents of the connector bring their case to the people," he said, "and let the opponents of it, like myself, carry our message to the citizens."

"Let the people decide. Let the chips fall where they may."

Brooks noted that Hancock St. is already accessible from School, Dimmock and Granite Sts. so there really is no need for another

Brownell Urges More Money For MDC Police

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has urged Gov. Edward J. King to submit a $1.4 million deficiency budget to maintain the present level of public safety personnel in the Metropolitan District Commission.

The request came in response to MDC Commissioner Terrence Geoghegan's announcement that he is dismissing 55 school crossing guards and a number of police officers.

"The MDC needs a full complement of police officers and crossing guards to fulfill its mandate of insuring public safety," said Brownell.

"Hazardous roadways in Quincy and other metropolitan areas must be adequately staffed to protect school children as well as the citizenry at large. I will not stand by and see public safety diminished."

The $1.4 million deficiency came about when the 1982 state budget authorized 579 positions in the MDC police budget but failed to fund an already approved collective bargaining agreement.

The shortfall has forced the MDC to make across the board cuts in the Police Department.

The group will leave Granite Place at 10 a.m. and lunch at the Pier Restaurant in Newport on quahog chowder and either Maryland chicken or the fresh fish of the day.

I'M NOT GOING TO THE FUNERAL TODAY.

Did you know that students of human history have found ceremonies for the dead in every culture. Egyptians, American Indians, Orientals, Africans, Latin Americans and Eskimos are examples of the many cultures that hold ceremonies for their dead. Ceremonies vary to meet local needs. Ceremonies serve the living! American funerals bring friends and loved ones together to give mutual support. They give the living a positive way to honor the memory of the deceased. When you hear people wondering about the value of funerals, remember that funerals meet the deeply seated needs of the living. When a loved one dies, attend the funeral and visitation to honor the deceased, to support the family and appropriately express your feelings.

New Quincy Choral Society Seeking 80-100 Members

Between 80-100 voices are needed for the newly formed Quincy Choral Society which will hold its first rehearsal Monday, Sept. 14, 8 to 10 p.m. at East Congregational Church, 610 Adams St., East Milton.

Those interested in joining the chorus are asked to come to the first rehearsal, or other weekly Monday rehearsals this month.

Auditions will not be required for experienced church singers or former choral members. A simple, informal audition will be given to new choral singers to establish vocal range and level of ability.

There is no age restriction and chorus members do not have to be able to read music.

The chorus, will be associated with the Quincy Symphony Orchestra and will be directed by Robert E. Brown, who conducts the symphony.

Performances with the symphony will be held at Christmas and in the spring at North Quincy High School's auditorium.

According to Andrew W. Nelson of Wollaston, he and fellow Quincy singers decided to form the chorus because they found they had to travel to Braintree or Weymouth to join such a group.

"Most other organizations have to hire an orchestra," continued Nelson, "so it seemed very logical to form a chorus in association with the Quincy Symphony Orchestra if they agreed, and they did."

Nelson noted that Quincy did have a chorus years ago.

According to Nelson, the concerts will probably consist mainly of music by Brahms, Mendelssohn, Handel and Verdi. Nelson says he has contacted every church choir in Quincy and Milton to spread the word about the chorus. He has also sent out about 300 letters.

A bass, Nelson concludes that joining the chorus is "a way to make a major contribution to fine arts in the city."

More information is available by calling Mrs. Andrew Nelson at 479-6343.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 10, 1981

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Focus is on teaching, as old and young flock to you for information. Use the week to enjoy favorite hobbies and experiment with new ones; you're a good student, now, too.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

The limelight destined to be yours must ultimately be shared... but be gracious. Financial dilemmas are solved now, thanks to older and wiser friends or relatives.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Repeat performances is the theme of the week. An important success is relived while a memory from the past - perhaps a rather bitter-sweet one - is rekindled.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Argument involving moral position can't quite be resolved. Hang on! Meanwhile, ideas are bright and should be acted on before they're borrowed or stolen.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Technical and mechanical breakdowns require more than a do-it-yourself treatment. Athletics accounted now - for you or dependents - especially if a contest is involved.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Spirit of adventure is awakened but you may not be able to be as mobile as you'd like. Best bet is to tap creative resources, plan future travel, and design a room or wardrobe.

LEO - July 23-August 22

A small financial windfall blows toward you... but don't spend it till you have it. Social mixups are embarrassing - but can provide sweet laughter in years to come.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Your sympathetic approach wins both admirers and hangers-on this week. If making home improvements or investments, extract every ounce of information before beginning.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

A good week for building - not rushing into - a relationship. You see how an educational goal will shape up, but again - don't expect too much to happen too quickly.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Friends are supportive and loving, but in a platonic manner. Selling and buying of small objects are favored. It's a splendid week for sponsoring or attending auctions and garage sales.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Accents is on health, which means that a sensitive area can be acting up, or that extra time is spent looking after ailing friends. Dispute over ethical matters can be concluded now.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Week may find you developing plans for important future event, and meticulous work done at this stage will pay off handsomely when the big occasion finally takes place.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're eager and generous about helping others... provided they follow your suggestions. Your talent this year is in helping friends through hard times, helping employers through creative dry spells. And in so doing, you help yourself - tremendously.

BORN THIS WEEK

September 10th, actress Judy Geeson; 11th, actor Earl Holliman; 12th, singer Maurice Chevalier; 13th, singer Mel Tormé; 14th, actor Eric Bentley; 15th, actor Jackie Cooper; 16th, actor Peter Falk.

PUBLIC NOTICE

OF

PERMIT APPLICATIONS

The Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control has received applications for permits for construction of sewer extensions or connections to the municipal systems listed below. Section 43 of Chapter 21 of the General Laws, as amended by Chapter 546 of the Acts of 1973, requires that public notice be given of every permit proceeding.

The applications are available for inspection and copying at the Division's offices at the above address. Persons desiring to comment upon or to object to the tentative determination of the Division or to request a Public Hearing thereon should submit their views in writing to the Division at the above address within 21 days of publication of this notice. All comments received within this 21-day period will be considered by the Division in formulating the final determination regarding these applications. A Public Hearing will be held only if the response to this notice indicates, in the opinion of the Director, that the public interest would be served thereby.

Following this 21-day comment period, a final determination to issue or deny the proposed permit will be made by the Director of the Division with respect to each permit application. Where the final determination remains substantially unchanged from the tentative determination indicated in this public notice, the Director will so inform the applicant, and any person who has filed written comments during this 21-day comment period, of his final determination and of the right of any party aggrieved by the final determination to request a formal adjudicatory hearing within 14 days of the final determination.

Where the final determination is substantially changed from the tentative determination in this public notice, the Director will publish a public notice of the final determination in addition to the written notice provided above. Persons other than the applicant who feel they may have a right to and may wish to request a formal adjudicatory hearing should file written comments during the 21-day public comment period in order to assure receipt of written notification of the final determination.

Within 14 days of the final permit determination, parties (as defined in sections 1, 10 and 10A of Chapter 30A of the General Laws) aggrieved by the determination may file a written request with the Director for an Adjudicatory Hearing under the provisions of Chapter 30A (the Massachusetts Administrative Procedure Act) and the Standard Adjudicatory Rules, Practice and Procedure (801 CMR 1.00).

Dan Raymondi answers to a very large special interest group.

The people of Quincy.

Dan Raymondi has served us faithfully ever since we elected him into office ten years ago. He's done a good job because he understands the problems we face.

He understands how difficult it is for the elderly just to make ends meet.

He knows the problems young people are having affording new homes and raising a family.

He understands the plight of the working man who's working more and affording less.

And he knows how difficult it is for businesses to prosper and grow in times like these.

It's this understanding that's enabled Dan Raymondi to do so much for the people of Quincy.

Now, Dan Raymondi wants to do more.

He wants to see Proposition 2-1/2 implemented fairly.

He wants to control city spending.

And he wants to keep our taxes down so we can afford to stay in our homes.

That's why he's running for Mayor.

As Mayor, Dan Raymondi will bring this understanding to City Hall. And that's no election time promise.

That's just the way he is.

Raymondi Mayor

Parking, Downtown Quincy

METER MAN Tim Lynch tags cars at expired meters in the Hancock parking lot at 2:30 p.m. last Friday.

AT THE SAME time there were 37 cars like these illegally parked between "No Parking Anytime" signs on Chestnut St. across from Quincy District Court alongside the Hancock parking lot.

THOSE CARS AND these on the opposite side of Chestnut St. also parked between "No Parking Anytime" signs were allowed to remain without being tagged.

AND FOUR OTHER cars and this truck were parked not only between "No Parking Anytime" signs but halfway on the sidewalk on Maple St. Again, no tickets. (See Sunbeams Column Page 4)

New Location Possible Video Game Center Not Quite Dead

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The controversial video amusement center may have been voted out of downtown Quincy, but the idea appears to be still alive, possibly in another part of the city.

The License Board voted Tuesday to reconsider and then to deny a license to two city officials for the center in Quincy Square to the applause of some 125 residents who crowded the City Hall Council Chamber.

"The issue is far from dead," said Atty. Richard Rogalin who represents applicants Charles Shea, acting city purchasing agent; Dennis Harrington, assistant city solicitor; and Andrew D. Holland, Shea's brother-in-law.

Rogalin said that either he or his clients will meet with representatives of the business community and other groups opposed to the center as was suggested at the License Board meeting before the vote to deny was taken.

"Hopefully, the committee will come out (of the meeting) with a broader understanding of what the thing is," said Rogalin, "it's not an arcade."

The nature of the business, operation of such a venture, and alternate locations are among the subjects Rogalin expects will be discussed.

Rogalin also said he considers the boards reconsideration and denial of the license "illegal" and "improper".

"The license was issued and it should only be revoked for cause," said Rogalin.

Police Chief Francis Finn made the motion to reconsider granting of the license after Building Inspector Allan MacDonald pointed out that the video center's location had been incorrectly advertised as 1358 Hancock St.

MacDonald said the address should have been 1368 Hancock St.

Citing the incorrect advertising and "because of a lot of reasons heard today", Finn said "it is in the best interest of the city to ask reconsideration of the granting of the license."

Finn praised Shea as, "one of the finest public officials in the city of Quincy."

Fire Chief Edward Barry seconded the motion and

Corner To Leave QCH Post, O'Donnell Seen Chairman

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said Richard W. Corner planned to resign his seat on the Hospital Board of Managers Tuesday night due to pressure of outside work.

His resignation could clear the way for election of Atty. Lawrence F. O'Donnell as chairman of the board.

Tobin said Corner will move to place O'Donnell's name in nomination for the post, which has gone unfilled since March when Corner failed to win it on a 4-4 deadlock.

Ruth Janus has been acting chairman.

Tobin praised Corner, a certified public accountant, for his work on the board, especially for his part in the selection of the Hospital Corp. of America to manage the hospital.

Tobin said if Corner placed O'Donnell's name in nomination "I would say that O'Donnell will have a minimum of six votes."

Suit Filed To Block Executive House Condos

The city of Quincy and 11 residents have filed for a preliminary injunction to prevent Executive House, 1025 Hancock St., from being converted into condominiums.

Hearing on the petition will be held today (Thursday) at 9:30 a.m. in Norfolk Superior Court in Dedham.

Tenants of Executive House, a rental apartment complex, owned by 1025 Hancock Street, Inc., were served with a notice two weeks ago that the owner had decided to convert to condominiums.

The tenants had a short time to decide whether or not they wanted to purchase their apartments.

The bid for a preliminary injunction was filed Tuesday by William Golden, attorney for the Executive House Tenants Association.

Listed as plaintiffs in the suit are:

The City of Quincy, Joseph O'Brien, Carol R. Burke, Edward F. Burke, Priscilla Galeuski, Paula M. Golden, Elenda J. Lipsitz, Saul Lipsitz, Bernice Mader, Maureen Mazrimas, Michael J. Mazrimas, and Ruth A. Murray.

State Education Dept. May Move To Downtown

Only a word from Gov. Edward J. King is needed to move the State Department of Education offices into downtown Quincy.

The Site Selection Committee last week recommended that the new headquarters be located on three floors in the Quincy Center Plaza, which is under construction at the corner of Hancock and Granite Sts.

"Now it's up to us to lobby the governor for it," said Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, a candidate for mayor, urged Sen. Paul D. Harold to arrange a meeting between Gov. King and the Quincy delegation to convince him to make the move.

"This relocation means much for Quincy," said Raymondi in a letter to Harold. "It will add to the city's present revitalization, especially the positive growth which we see in the downtown area."

"Locating the State Department of Education in Quincy will offer this community stability in terms of financial investment and in growth for local merchants who will serve the department's 450 employees."

Planning Director James Lydon said it is planned for the Department of Education to rent 20,000 square feet of office space on the second, third and fourth floors of the 10-story building.

The ground floor will be occupied by retail outlets and the top floors by the headquarters of the Stop and Shop Co.

"If the Education Department takes the three floors it means that the entire building will have been leased," said Lydon.

"This is significant in that it will enable us to go ahead and consider other office buildings in the downtown area."

He explained that the rents are lower in the Quincy Center Plaza because of its 121A tax agreement. Once it is leased out, other office buildings will not be in competition for renters.

19 Residents Selected For Jury Duty

The names of 19 Quincy residents have been drawn to serve on Norfolk County Superior Court juries during the month of October. They are:

Norma C. McDonnell, French St.; Leo Green, Belmont St.; Barbara L. Oriola, Campbell St.; Elizabeth E. Fronduto, Colby Rd.; Martha L. Elliott, Highland Ave.; John M. Tehan, Town Hill St.

20% Turnout Forecast

Council At-Large Race Primary Main Attraction

By TOM HENSHAW

A 10-candidate field for three City Council at-large seats is the main attraction in the Sept. 22 preliminary city election.

Eight contenders—including the three incumbents—are after nominations for three seats on the School Committee.

But, says City Clerk John Gillis, it won't do much to bring out a heavy vote.

He sees only about 20 percent of the city's 48,121 registered voters casting ballots next Tuesday.

The fact there is no preliminary contest for mayor and only one ward council race are the reasons for his light turnout prediction.

Mayor and ward contests have more appeal to the voters because they are closer to the people, says Gillis who has been supervising city elections for more than 20 years.

The predicted 20 per cent turnout is better, however, than the actual 18.5 per cent that voted in the last preliminary election two years ago when the only race was a virtually uncontested three-way encounter for mayor.

But it's well behind the 46.6 per cent tally of four years ago when a six-man struggle for mayor and contests in four of the six wards excited the voters' fancy.

City Councillors Francis X. McCauley and Daniel G. Raymond are sitting out the preliminary election for lack of a third candidate but will battle it out in November for mayor.

The only ward fight is in Ward 2 for the seat being vacated by Raymond to run for mayor. The three contenders are Joseph F. Cortese, 48 Ellerton Rd., Theodore P. DeCristofaro, 17 Murdock Ave., and John H. McDuff, Jr., 216 South St.

Cortese, 48, is a retired Quincy police detective who traces his family's residence in Ward 2 back 125 years.

A graduate of Quincy Junior College and Northeastern, he is a member of the Ward 2 Civic Association, the Quincy Sons of Italy, and former secretary of the Quincy Police Betterment Association.

This is his first try for elective office.

DeCristofaro, 48, works for the U.S. National Parks Service and has been a member of the Quincy Park and Recreation Board since 1972.

He is one of the founders of the Ward 2 Civic Association; and he has won Community and Youth Service Awards from St. Joseph's and the Quincy Point Congregational churches.

This is also DeCristofaro's first bid for election.

McDuff, 47, is a processing supervisor at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

A graduate of Emerson College, he has been active in such organizations as the Conservative Caucus, Citizens for Limited Taxation, Massachusetts Citizens for Life and the National Rifle Association.

McDuff ran unsuccessfully for School Committee in 1979.

The 10-candidate field for six nominations for three City Council at-large seats is the largest since 1967 when 11 hopefuls went to the post.

One of the three seats is being vacated by McCauley in his quest for the mayor's office.

Two incumbents, John J. Quinn, the dean of the Council, and Joseph J. LaRaia, are seeking re-election. The third incumbent, Francis X. McCauley, is leaving the Council to run for mayor.

Both Quinn and LaRaia are Council veterans.

Quinn, 57, a Blue Cross-Blue Shield executive, was first elected in 1957 and is now seeking his 13th consecutive two-year term.

LaRaia, 49, who is general manager of National Orthotics and Prosthetics Corp., Providence, R.I., is a former mayor (1976-77) who served six split terms on the Council since 1959.

The best known challengers are Patricia M. Toland, who is in the midst of her second four-year term on the School Committee, and Richard J. Koch, Jr., who lost by 197 votes to LaRaia in his first Council bid in 1979.

Mrs. Toland, 49, is a former elementary school teacher turned housewife, who has been active in the League of Women Voters and the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Koch, 26, a claims representative for Kemper Insurance Co., is the son of Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park and Recreation Board, himself an unsuccessful Council candidate 30 years ago.

The remainder of the councillor-at-large ballot contains a number of attractive young candidates who are making their first serious efforts for political office.

William J. O'Hare, 27, 322 West Squantum St., Montclair, is a lawyer with a Boston office. He is a graduate of North Quincy High School, Middlebury College and Suffolk Law School.

Timothy P. Cahill, 22, 35 Packard's Lane, Quincy Point, is a graduate of Quincy High School, where he was assistant wrestling coach, and Boston University with a degree in political science.

Jason A. Feldman Square Dedicated

"If he saw his name up here," said Paul Feldman, "he would have blushed. But as his face turned red he would have felt grateful and proud as his family does today."

Paul Feldman spoke for his family Sunday as the intersection of Hancock and Cliveden Sts. was named Jason A. Feldman Square in honor of his father.

The elder Feldman, a downtown Quincy merchant for many years as was his father before him, died last November.

In addition to his son Paul, a reporter for the Bergen County, N.J., Record, Feldman was also eulogized by Charles Ross, a member of the staff of WJDA, and Bernard Reisberg, his friend and neighbor since childhood.

Ross told how Jason Feldman three times gave him a job when he needed money and he added, "there are two men I can honestly say never had an enemy in the world, my father and Jason."

"I am proud that the parking lot over there is named for my grandfather (former Mayor Charles A. Ross)," he said, "and I'm proud that this intersection is being named today for a man I miss."

Reisberg, who is also a downtown Quincy merchant, noted that Feldman "worked daily to make Quincy Center a better shopping world for our people."

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin also spoke on the brief program.

The plaque honoring Feldman was unveiled by his widow, Marion, and his family, who were escorted to the unveiling by John P. Comer, John Gillis and Irving Isaacson, leaders of the Quincy veterans organizations of which Feldman was a member.

Parking, It's Ridiculous

The more you think of it, the more ridiculous it is.

In recent weeks, the municipal metered parking lots in Quincy have become the target of a stepped-up if not over zealous enforcement of violations.

It's simple: if you park there and you don't get back before your money runs out on the meter, you're going to get a $2 ticket.

But during this enforcement crackdown you can pretty much do as you damned please with your car on downtown streets without anyone bothering you. Why?

Why has the shopper and others who park in the municipal lots at meters become Quincy's Public Enemy No. 1 while others illegally park elsewhere and seldom get bothered? Why?

By now, some of you may be tired of hearing about Chestnut St. (also known as Nut St.) but it symbolizes the inconsistency and ridiculousness of violations enforcement in downtown Quincy.

Last Friday, this writer and photographer Dave Gillyooly made a random tour of Chestnut St. and the Hancock parking lot at 2:30 p.m.

We found Tim Lynch, meter man busy writing out tickets at expired meters in the Hancock lot.

While he was doing that, Gillyooly and I walked up and down Chestnut St. from Maple St., past Quincy District Court, to McGrath Highway.

We counted 37 cars — 24 on the court side of Chestnut St. and 13 on the other — all parked between signs that boldly proclaim "No Parking Anytime". Not one of them had a tag on the windshield.

As we turned onto Maple St. there were three cars and a truck parked half-way on the sidewalk between "No Parking" signs. Again, no tags on them.

Anyone getting a $2 tag in the Hancock parking lot and then seeing all those illegally parked cars on Chestnut St. and the Sidewalk Specials on Maple St., would be a bit irked, to say the least.

And, if you were a shopper, how quick would you come back to Quincy to shop?

Well, you can't hide a camera. Word got around that pictures had been taken of the illegally parked — but untaxed cars on Chestnut St. The Photos are on Page 1.

And, on Monday, guess what? A number of cars were tagged on Chestnut St. and only one car could be found on the sidewalk on Maple St.

But how long will it last before it's "anything goes" again on Chestnut St., Maple St. and other downtown areas while parkers in the Hancock lot take the brunt of violations enforcement.

If they are going to allow cars to park on Chestnut St., why not take down the signs? They don't mean anything, anyway. They're a joke and make Quincy look silly. And, they're an open invitation to motorists to illegally park anywhere in the downtown area. If they can get away with it on Chestnut St., why not do the same on another street?

The city's enforcement policy doesn't make sense. Innocent shoppers wind up paying a $2 fine because their crime is getting back to their cars too late while others can commit various other violations and frequently go untouched. It smacks of double standard and privileged characters and/or places.

It doesn't make sense. And it isn't fair.

If the meter man's salary is coming out of parking meter receipts and fines, he seems to be earning it. He says he is using up four or five books of tags a day — 25 tickets to a book. "I'm only doing my job," he notes.

But what about all the other violators on the street? The ones who speed down Hancock St. The ones who make U-turns on Hancock St. The ones who park on crosswalks. The ones who park at sidewalk ramps for the physically handicapped. The ones who park on sidewalks. The ones who sail through pedestrian lights? Etc. etc.

What Quincy needs is a consistent enforcement policy.

Why single out the ones who put 30 cents in a parking meter and don't make it back to their car before the time runs out?

There's a rumor of a real tagging blitzkrieg being planned for the Hancock parking lot, soon. That's all we need. If that should come about and more bright ideas like that, it won't be too long before there will be no cars in downtown Quincy and grass growing on Hancock St.

Maybe it's time for a controlled validating ticket system in the municipal parking lots where you pay your fair share on the way out or enterprising merchants pick up the tab.

Right now, the overall enforcement situation is ridiculous. Even if they did tag a few cars on Chestnut St. this week.

It's ridiculous and Quincy looks ridiculous because of it.

Doesn't Approve Of Elementary School Hour Change

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Before writing this letter, I talked with other mothers who also do not approve of the change in the elementary school hours.

Last year, the hours were 8:30 to 2:30, except on Tuesday, when they were 8:30 to 11:45; now without giving parents a chance to make other plans, the school hours are changed to 8:15 to 2:15 except on Tuesday, when they are 8:15 to 11:15 a.m.

Since at least half of the mothers are working mothers, I have always thought even Tuesday afternoon poses a very real problem to working mothers, but now with the kids getting out at 11:15 on Tuesdays, it is getting out of hand, especially since Quincy is the only school (or one of the very few) that gives Tuesday afternoons off.

Some elementary schools in Quincy have the hours of 9 - 3 p.m. which has the advantage of allowing older children in high school to be home in time to mind the younger children. If Tuesday must be an afternoon off at least give the junior high and the high school students off also. If any other parent feels the same way, please write to the Quincy School Committee.

Thank you!

Hurricane Batters Quincy; Wipes Out Yacht Club Fleets

An unexpected hurricane struck Quincy with 88-mile-an-hour winds and gusts up to 100 miles an hour, tearing up thousands of ancient trees and virtually wiping out the yacht club fleets.

No one was killed but Mrs. Samuel W. Wakeman of 115 Munroe Rd., wife of the vice president of the Fore River Shipyard, spent the night clinging for her life to a tree top near her Marion summer home.

The Wollaston Yacht Club's flagship, Mil-Ed, owned by Harry Arion, was lost when hundreds of yachts broke their mooring and were driven ashore at the Crabtree Estates, Squantum, by the southwest wind.

Most of the power in the city was lost at 5:30 p.m. and the Rev. Daniel W. Staffeld of the Adams Shore Community Church took the communion candles from the altar and distributed them to neighbors.

The roof was blown from the garage of Arthur Olson, East Squantum St., Squantum, flew 100 feet and hit the home of Mrs. Ellen M. Garneau, 735 East Squantum St., demolishing the bedroom and living room.

The huge elm tree at the gate of Dr. Walter G. Kendall's estate in Atlantic was torn up by the roots and crashed into his orchard, destroying many of his prized cherry trees.

Three years of work by Amedeo Nardini was wiped out when the wind uprooted his vineyard containing vines imported from Italy and the roof of the pavilion on his Italian villa in North Quincy was torn off.

A 15-ton crane was blown over at the shipyard, tombstones in the Hancock Burying Grounds were broken by falling trees and tiny Acton St., Wollaston, was closed for days by 15 fallen trees.

WHITON, CARSON RENOMINATED

Reps. Joseph Whiton and Eddie D. Carson easily won the Republican nominations for re-election to the State Legislature from the Third Norfolk District from four challengers.

Former Mayor Thomas J. McGrath finished a poor fourth.

Rep. Horace T. Cahill of Braintree defeated former Quincy Court Judge Kenneth D. Johnson of Milton for the nomination for lieutenant governor as running mate for Leverett Saltonstall.

NO WAR IN EUROPE

Miss Lena Allen of 66 Chestnut St. returned from her first visit in 19 years to her old home in England and reported that rumors of an approaching war in Europe are just "paper talk."

"During the three months I was in England nothing was said about war or preparations," she said. "But in New York they seemed to think there'd be a war any minute."

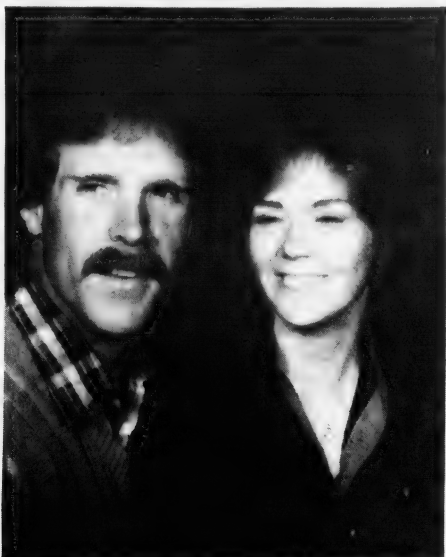

KOCH SUES FOR LIBEL

Lucien Koch of 45 Lawn Ave., Quincy Point, a CIO organizer at the Fore River Shipyard, filed a $225,000 libel suit against two New York publishing firms for defaming him in magazine articles.

The stories in question were "Rah, Rah, Russia," which appears in Liberty magazine, and "Mr. Koch Comes to Town," published in a magazine called "Iron Age."

United Way Campaign Underway At City Hospital

Squantum Community Association

8th Annual Flea Market

Sat., Sept. 19

Robert I. Nickerson Post
Moon Island Road

$10 per car

Quincy City Hospital, kicked off its United Way campaign Tuesday with a flag raising ceremony on the front lawn of the hospital.

The campaign, which will include raffles, cake sales and other activities, will run through Sept. 30.

Helping to coordinate campaign activities are Barbara Sage and Hal Coose from the hospital's personnel department.

Michael D. Kitchen is hospital director.

A new addition to the organization, supported by the United Way this year, is the American Cancer Society.

The Quincy office of the State Registry of Motor Vehicles was especially crowded Tuesday as the new policy of "walk-in learners' permits" went into effect.

It was also the first day of operation with reduced personnel due to layoffs.

Joan MacDonald of 49 Pleasant St., South Quincy, reported that she arrived at the Registry at 12:15 p.m. to get a duplicate license and found a line 50 people long waiting at the cashier's cage.

Relaxed Rules, Layoffs Blamed For Registry Jam

"I had to get in line to pay my $5," she said, "or I couldn't drive the car. They told me that six girls had been laid off in the Quincy office and that the lines in Boston were just as bad."

Donald Cragin, a spokesman for the Registry, said it was just as bad all over the Commonwealth.

"It's like a sale in Filene's basement," he said.

Cragin explained that the regulations governing issuance of learner's permits had been relaxed due to budget cutbacks. Now it is possible to just walk in off the street and get a permit without a test.

"It seems like everyone was just waiting for this," said Cragin. "Everyone came out of the woods at the same time. I hope that when it shakes down we can cut the waiting period."

Cragin said 149 of the Registry's non-law enforcement personnel were laid off on Monday.

Life Saving Course At Lincoln-Hancock

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct an advanced life saving course as part of its swimming program at the Lincoln Hancock Community School.

The program is taught in accordance to the standards of the American National Red Cross, to provide individuals with the knowledge and skills designed to save his own life or the life of another in the event of a water related emergency.

Persons are eligible who are 15 years old and are able to pass a swimming prerequisite under supervision of the Recreation Department Swimming Staff. The course will meet on Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 P.M. at the Lincoln Hancock Community School. Registration can be done in person beginning immediately at the pool office during any Recreation Department swim program. The course will start on Wednesday, Sept. 23. Registration is limited and participants will be taken on a first come first serve basis.

'Sunny Side Of Life' At Memorial Congregational

Memorial Congregational Church of Atlantic, 65 Newbury Ave., will hold an evening of entertainment and dance instruction by Roger and Claire Vaka of Marshfield Saturday, Sept. 26.

The evening's activities will begin at 8 p.m. in the parish hall

"Sunny Side Of Life" is a light program for "children" ages one to 150. It includes songs, dance and comedy.

Refreshments will be served. For reserved tickets, call the church office at 328-5240.

Sheets Urges Quick Passage Of Condo Bill

City Councillor James A.

Sheets has urged the Quincy legislative delegation to do all they can to expedite the passage of legislation allowing cities and towns to control condominium conversions.

He asked Rep. Michael W. Morrissey to be sure to notify the City Council, the Quincy Tenants Association and other interested parties when the bill (Senate 2201) is scheduled for hearing.

"It is critical that this legislation pass quickly," said Sheets.

"The housing crisis being created by the conversion of rental apartments to condominiums and the suffering of individual tenants who are being forced out of their homes must be alleviated."

THE CAHILL FAMILY CARES ABOUT QUINCY

For the past 25 years, Theresa and Paul Cahill have committed themselves to raising a family. They have raised nine children, two of whom are college graduates, two of whom are presently enrolled in college, and five currently in Quincy public school system.

And now that their eldest son, Timothy Patrick is running for Councilor-at-Large, they and their children have committed themselves to helping him get elected. They believe that Quincy needs a councilor who will speak for the family above other interests. They believe that Quincy needs a councilor who will concentrate on strengthening public education and public safety. And they believe that Quincy needs their son and brother Timothy Patrick Cahill, not simply because he's family, but because he cares.

Board To Vote Next Week On Wollaston Recreation License

The City License board voted Tuesday to continue for one more week a request for a common victualer all alcoholic at Rosie's located at the Wollaston Recreational Facility.

City Clerk John Gillis told the applicants the request must be voted on next week when the legal time for such requests expires.

The request had been continued from last week's hearing pending a ruling on zoning for the facility.

The board has since learned that the facility, administered by John Nourse, planning director for Norfolk County, is exempt from local zoning.

Councillor John J. Lydon told the board an alcoholic license at the family recreation facility would not be in the best interest of Norfolk County or the Montclair community.

Lydon pointed out that an all alcoholic license would increase the value of Rosie's license, and a future holder of the license could come back to the board for expanded hours.

"The license should be non-transferable," said Lydon.

"I couldn't agree with you more," said Gillis. "I'd like to see the county have the license, but the law won't allow that."

Gillis said he would check out the possibility of Norfolk County holding the license at an Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission meeting later that afternoon.

Nourse had argued at last week's meeting that the facility needed the liquor license to get the budget in the black.

Video Game Center Not Quite Dead

MacDonald was also in favor. City Clerk John Gillis and Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh reiterated their earlier position on the issue by voting against the reconsideration.

MacDonald made the motion to deny the license. Barry and Finn also voting to deny. Gillis and McKeogh were opposed.

"It was the hardest vote I've ever had to make," Finn told McKeogh after the vote was taken.

Action on the video center license was taken after more than an hour of almost exclusively negative testimony by city officials, business leaders, and residents who urged reconsideration of the license voted last week.

Daniel Raymond, Ward 2 Councillor, chairman of the Downtown and Economic Development Committee, and mayoral candidate, presented the board petitions signed over the past three days by 3337 Quincy residents opposed to the video center.

Raymond said he's never felt "this kind of emotion and outrage" from the public over an issue before.

"The people here think the whole thing stinks," said Raymond, "the issue" goes right to the heart of the integrity of the board, and city officials."

Councillor at large Francis McCauley, the other mayoral candidate, said he doesn't want to see "a penny arcade, Scollay Square or Nantasket Beach" across the street.

"We don't need that downtown," said McCauley, "the license was rushed through for officials from a lame duck administration."

"It appears the boys wanted to grab what they can before the ship goes out," said McCauley who urged board members who voted for the video center to recognize that they had made a mistake.

"You'll have the gratitude of the city if you do," said McCauley. School committee member Frank Anselmo raised the question of conflict interest in granting the license, and said the board "shouldn't condone additional potential growth of crime among young people."

Speaking for Progress for Downtown Quincy (PDQ), William Austin, President of the South Shore Bank, said his organization is strongly opposed to the video center.

"It's the antithesis of progress we've made," said Austin.

Peter Anderson opposed the venture on behalf of the board of governors, executive committee, and minister of historic First Parish Church, Quincy Center.

Bernie Reisberg, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association which opposed the video center, said the License Board was not being consistent with its past policy.

"We ask the board to take strong opposition to the video center, said Reisberg. "We don't want such an operation in the Quincy center area."

Joseph Brett, former city councillor and state representative said he didn't want Quincy Center to become a combat zone or Paragon Park."

Quincy City Wide Parents Council member Mary Lou Petrelli opposed a video center anywhere in Quincy.

Ted DeCristofaro of the Ward 2 Civic Association also urged reconsideration of the video center licensing.

The owners of Blazing Salads, which is operating at the proposed location for the video center, was praised by Michael Jovanovic as a successful business that is being evicted.

Sarah McLeod of the President's Cranch and Hospital Hill Association, said the video center was not in the best interest of the children of the community.

Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, opposed the venture "because it puts too much temptation in the way of youngsters."

Also opposed were William Arienti, David Leitch of Burgin Plainer and Co. Insurance, Donna Neal of Wollaston, and Eleanor Johnson of Quincy.

Mary Corbett of Chickatabot Rd. rallied against Finn for delays in police responding to calls, and called Dr. McKeogh "a disgrace" for voting for the license.

Atty. Rogalin said there had been slander, innuendos and misstatements made during the hearing, and that Fr. McCarthy's was the only valid reason for possible denial of the license.

Rogalin suggested sitting down with community people who had spoken at the meeting and reaching a resolution.

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce and a member of PDQ, implored one of the three License Board members who voted for the license last week to reconsider.

Shea told the board that he complied with every facet of the law.

"I don't want to hurt Quincy. I never have in 54 years" said Shea who added that he would be happy to sit down with any group and explain what he intended to do.

Also recorded as opposed to the video center were Councillor Joseph LaRaia, Anne Fabrizio, Council president Leo Kelly, Catherine Spiliotis of 136 President's Lane and former mayor Thomas S. Burgin.

LOW VOLTAGE CAN KILL TOO

Everyone knows that a high-power line can strike you dead in an instant, but there's a dangerous misconception that low voltage (110-120 volt) house current isn't capable of causing electrocution. Actually, low voltages are sometimes more lethal than high ones. As little as 50 volts can fatally shock a man; while some people have survived a jolt of 750 volts.

The key to electrocution is whether or not the victim is grounded. Electricity always seeks the easiest, quickest route to the ground, through the path of least resistance, which may be you.

It is also well to know that water is an excellent conductor of electricity. In fact, your chances of being shocked shoot up over a thousand times if you are wet and in contact with electrical current.

Joseph F. Cortese Asks DO YOU KNOW?

P.R.C. Jacobs, Inc. of Virginia has been revaluing Quincy for almost two years. We were told that it would be completed last spring and we would have our new valuations. Now it is September - we have been told nothing about our valuations and will have to wait until the election.

They tell us that this delay is necessary because the computer tapes are missing — missing tapes, haven't we heard that one before!

Don't you think you have a right to know your valuation BEFORE the election?

This and many other questions are unanswered!

- If your assessment increases ten times, will your taxes be more than doubled?
- What is happening to the assessments of the large company interests in Ward Two - Quincy Oil Company, Procter & Gamble Company, General Dynamics?
- Why are your tax records being held out of state and who has access to them? Are they being changed now?
- Why are these outside experts being paid if their job performance has not been satisfactory? Why do we have to borrow millions of dollars and still pay these outside experts top dollar for their missing tapes?
- Is this new tax billing procedure (an estimated tax for the first half of the year) going to leave us with a massive tax increase that we have to pick up in six months instead of a year?
- Who can you go to if you feel you are overassessed and what legal avenues do you have available to you to protect your investment in your homes?

If you don't have the answers to these important questions, come and hear the answers from experts

Wednesday, September 16, 1981, 7:30 p.m.

at the Woodward School, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy

These experts are being provided by

Joseph F. Cortese, candidate for Ward Two City Councillor

Invited are representatives from:

- City of Quincy Assessors Office

Condon Asks Supervisors Return

City Councilor Joanne Condon has asked for the return of traffic supervisors to help school children across the intersections of Atlantic St. and East Squantum St. and Bayfield Rd.-Botolph St. and East Squantum St.

She told Police Chief Francis X. Finn that statistics gathered in a study to establish the number of young people involved in the crossing warrant the permanent replacement of the supervisors at the corners.

The supervisors were originally removed due to the closing of the Quincy School, said Mrs. Condon, but the volume of both commercial and pleasure traffic requires their return.

School Committee Needs Youth, Energy, Says Conroy

"The problems facing the School Committee in the 1980's are numerous, and many of them are without precedent," says Patrick Conroy. "Solving these problems will be a difficult task, but I'm prepared to accept the challenge."

Conroy, a candidate for School Committee, spoke at the home of Mary Boness, 39 Elm Ave., Wollaston.

"Since the incumbents have proven they are unable to deal effectively with the problems which have arisen during the past four years, it is unrealistic to expect them to handle the problems which are sure to rise during the next four years," he said.

"On the other hand, I can bring to the School Committee young, energetic and creative thinking, along with the maturity and tact required to change an institution as large as the Quincy Public Schools."

"In addition, I can provide the management skills needed to use available resources more efficiently, and the will to make the public schools more effective."

Conroy said the first significant change I will propose deals with principals. I believe we should hold principals accountable for good results. We should reward good results. We should give them the authority they need to achieve good results.

"And we should deal with underachievers in the same way that private industry deals with management people who don't produce."

"Giving more control to the individual principals will also allow us to significantly reduce the administrative budget.

Think Positive On Schools, Collins Urges.

Mary P. Collins, a candidate for re-election to the School Committee, has urged Quincy residents to approach the current school year positively despite the difficulties the schools have faced.

"In spite of all the cutbacks and the agony of layoffs," she said, "our students are still the most important youngsters anywhere and we must unite to give them the best we can under the circumstances.

"The only way to accomplish this goal is to work as well as we can together and override the problems of the past.

"I strongly believe that negative accusations will not improve the school system. Our children deserve the best we can give them in every way."

Dolen Proposes Way To Rehire 2½ Layoffs

Louis E. Dolen, a candidate for the City Council at large, has suggested that the state immediately pass an emergency law to "eliminate waste and rehire proportion 2½ layoffs."

Dolen's proposal includes "impounding of funds by the governor with federal approval of unemployment compensation for 2½ layoffs, followed by an immediate allotment of these funds to the towns and cities to rehire persons laid off by 2½."

This would be followed by "the state eliminating waste and increasing human services to an efficient and effective level," he said in a campaign statement.

Dolen congratulated the Quincy firefighters who recently voted down changes in their contract that would have resulted in 10 firefighters being restored to the payroll.

Toland Backs Sewer User Charge

Patricia M. Toland, a candidate for the City Council at large, says one of the great issues facing the city that cannot be postponed is a sewer user charge.

"Quincy is risking the loss of state and federal sewer funds already allocated" by not having a user fee, she told a coffee hour at the home of Regina and Frank Moriarty, Wesson Ave., West Quincy.

"Upgrading and expanding the sewer system to meet the city's needs must be a long range goal. How we are to do it is the question.

"The City Council has turned down several proposals submitted by the mayor but hopefully will act on a proposal before the deadline of Sept. 30."

Mrs. Toland said she believes that councilors are chosen by the voters to take a leadership position to be responsive to constituents and help them to understand complex issues.

Bethany Church Holds A Rainbow Celebration

A colorful "Rainbow Celebration" was held in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy Centre, Sunday at the 10 o'clock worship service.

The special service marked the reopening of the church school and welcomed the returning children.

Registration for the church school took place prior to the celebration in the lower narthex.

Donna Zanolli, chairperson of the Christian Education Committee and Jean C. Smart, superintendent, were in charge of the enrollment.

There was also a 9 a.m. worship service in the chapel conducted by associate minister Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern.

The rainbow celebration was designed by Joan and Bill Arnold who helped lead it.

The service, which centered around the Noah Story from the Bible, was filled with color, including streamers and balloons.

There were glad hymns, poems, litany prayers, action readings, and special songs led by Charlene and Ed James, guitarist.

Martha Donaldson, a young person from West Newton, was guest soloist, with Thomas Vozzella at the organ console.

The service, based on the idea that it is alright to laugh, rejoice, and have fun during the worship of God, was designed to appeal to the child in everyone, regardless of age.

Those attending celebrated the fact that all are God's children together as persons are open to the movement of the Spirit.

Children of the church school entered with the choir and sat in the front pews for the first half of the worship. Then they recessed to their classrooms for an orientation period. The worship service concluded with a sermon by Pastor J. William Arnold.

The Bethany all-church picnic was held in Faxon Park that afternoon.

Fall Season Of Services Begins At Squantum Church

The fall season of services began Sunday at the First Church of Squantum with the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preaching on "Witnesses to His Resurrection."

Except for special Sundays and holidays, sermons this year at the church will follow narrative experiences of the early Christian Church as recorded in the Book of Acts.

Sunday's sermon was based on a passage in the first chapter of that book.

The Chancel Choir, directed by Mary Ruth Scott, sang as the offertory G. Alan Smith's, "Because You are God's Chosen Ones".

Luther and Ruth Swenson were greeters for the morning. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Earlier, Cinnamon Toast, a Christian educational program for young people in grades seven to 12, began its fall term with a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. Cinnamon Toast will meet each Sunday at that time.

Two other church youth groups also met Sunday for the first time in a while. Seven-Up, a group for seventh and eighth graders, met at 3:30 p.m. Orange Crush, a group for teenagers in grades nine through 12, met at 7 p.m. Those times will be the regular

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Capezzuto Finishes Second Greene Wins Presidents Marathon

Jim Capezzuto of Quincy, who won last year's inaugural City of Presidents 26.2 mile marathon, hoped to defend his title last Sunday but the heat got to him and he had to be satisfied with second place.

Jim ran a 2:32:49, but Rocky Greene, a 27-year-old runner from Brunswick, Me. who just last week transplanted himself in Milton, led all the way and won in the record time of 2:29:06.

Capezzuto stayed with Greene for much of the way but faded after 20 miles.

"The sun was really hot and it bothered me a lot," he said. "My whole right turned numb and after the 21-mile mark all I wanted to do was finish."

Mike Slavin of Cambridge was third, Wayne Swanson of Warwick, R.I., fourth and Dennis Evangelos of Lowell fifth.

Other Quincy finishers included Kevin McCarthy, 14th; Bill Connolly, 22nd; and Arthur Reed, 25th.

Nancy Babine-Kucinski of Marshfield was the women's winner, finishing in 3:22:56.

Charlie Ratti of Weymouth successfully defended his senior championship, winning in 3:57:31, and Charlie Pratt of Roslindale won the masters division in 2:51:42.

Capezzuto was the first Quincy finisher, Sue Dixon was the first Quincy woman finisher, Betty Klien of Belmont the women's masters winner, and Tom Aniolowski of Whitman received the James Gibbons Memorial Award as the first finishing firefighter.

Raiders Inexperienced

North Opens Against Old Rival Milton

Last year North Quincy's football team opened with a 21-0 victory over Milton and went on to record its first winning season (6-3-1) in three years.

Saturday, Dave Burke's Raiders again open against their oldtime non-league rival at Milton's field at 1:30 p.m. and Burke doesn't know just what to expect.

"We are awfully inexperienced both ways," said Burke, a former North all-scholastic starting his seventh year as coach of his alma mater. "We have only a couple of boys both on offense and defense with any real experience. And Jack Bowes (Milton coach and a former North Quincy assistant) always comes up with a good club. They beat us two years in a row before we won last year."

North has scrimmaged Braintree and Scituate and Burke felt the Raiders did pretty well in both. Defensive coordinator Jack Raymer was pleased with the work of the defense.

Pat Burke will get the starting call at quarterback with Joe Dudek and Ray Mallory at halfback and Mike Cullen at fullback.

Mike Pimental will back up Burke at quarterback and others due to see action on offense are Jerry Connolly at tackle, Steve Howley at end, Danny Linehan, Dave DiCarlo and Rick Stevens at halfback and Rich Brown at fullback.

A key man on the offense will be soccer star Bill Bradley, who will do the placekicking. Burke had two of the best in schoolboy circles in Ed McElaney and Jack Leone, who won many games with their field goals and extra points, and Bradley has been looking good in practice.

On defense Mike Miceli will start at nose guard, Panaro and Connolly at tackle, Lee and Fisher at end, Mallory and Rich Comeau at cornerback, Howley and Stevens linebackers and Dudek and Burke at fullback.

Also set for defensive action are Dennis LaCorte at nose guard, Jim Kelly at end, Bob Leonard and Pimental at halfback, Walter Sullivan and sophomore Jack Bolster at cornerback and Bradley and Rich Tapper as linebackers.

"Our big need is to find some backup players to give the starters a rest," Raymer said. "We have an awful lot of boys playing both ways and we'd like to platoon more."

"The players are in good shape but we could find ourselves in North is in the Suburban League and Milton in the Bay

State League. Next week the Raiders open their league season against defending champion Brockton, which is reportedly loaded again and favored to go to the Super Bowl one again.

Quincy Hosts Cambridge Latin In Opener

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team goes into its opener Saturday at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium against Suburban League foe Cambridge Rindge and Latin pretty well set on defense, but with a lot of question marks on offense.

"We have quite a bit of experience on the defense but we are inexperienced on offense and have been working hard there," Coach Tom Fitzgerald said. "The defense has looked good in scrimmages against Everett, Boston Tech and Arlington and the offense has been coming along. We have a lot of raw talent and it is just a case of gaining experience. We have an awful lot of juniors who were outstanding on last season's undefeated sophomore team."

Fitzgerald is all set at quarterback with Sean Martin, who accounted for 11 touchdowns either by passing or rushing last year after taking over for the injured Ron Pettinelli for the last three games. And Bob Mudge, who starred for the sophs in 1980, looks fine and will be an excellent backup.

Co-Capt. Mark Picot will probably start at fullback with Steve Goguen and Chris Dracchio as the halfbacks. Ted Walsh at fullback and Mark Righini and Chris McCray at halfback will see a lot of action. Picot will again handle the punting.

In the line the starters are expected to be Mike Shaughnessy and Paul Quigley at end, Dan Mahoney and big Joe Harte (6-5, 250 pounds) at tackle. Capt. John Taglieri and Bob Willard at guard and Al Carpenter at center.

They will be backed up by Willie Cullen and Kevin Riggs at end, Jamie Gravalese and Joe LaRaia at tackle. Co-Capt. Mike Nevins and Dave Donnelly at guard and newcomer John Carr at center.

"I really haven't decided on the starters and several of those listed as backups could be starting," Fitzgerald said. "At any rate, all of them will see a lot of service."

Among others who will play on offense are Mike Miller, Joe Bush, Steve Ganno, Rich Gustin, Dennis Obert and Mike LeBlanc.

The probable starters on defense are Quigley and Picot at end, Mike Connors and Gravalese at tackle, Harte middle guard, Nevins, Taglieri and Goguen linebackers, Steve Spencer and John Oliverio halfbacks and Shaughnessy safety.

Also slated for defensive action are Riggs, McCray, LaRaia, Carr, Bob McIsaac, Paul Martin, Ganno, Rich Ready, Bush, Bob Burns, Tony Richards, Dracchio, Jim Zupkofska and Glen Oriola.

Fitzgerald received a tough break when Steve Aluisi, a letterman at center who could have been a key man this year, tore

Quincy Game
On WJDA

Radio Station WJDA will begin another year of broadcasting high school football games Saturday with the play-by-play of the Quincy-Cambridge Rindge and Latin game at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

tendons in his knee in a scrimmage and could be out for the season.

"Quigley has been a most pleasant surprise and Bush, Harte and Goguen have looked especially good in scrimmages."

said Fitzgerald, starting his 30th year as a schoolboy coach and his fourth at Quincy. "Nevins, Ganno and Shaughnessy also are looking good, as are Riggs, LaRaia and Dracchio.

"Another bright spot has been the two-way showing of McCray (6-2, 215), playing his first year of football.

"The boys have a lot of desire and I've seen improvement in each of our scrimmages. I think we will be ready for Cambridge and hope to get even for that defeat last year."

The Presidents were upset, 8-7, at Cambridge a year ago and ended with only a 3-6-1 record.

Frazier, Ojala Lead QHS Win Over Manchester

Little Gerry Frazier caught a pass and ran 25 yards for the first touchdown and Walter Ojala bulled over for the second score as the Quincy High School football team upset Manchester, N.H., 14-0.

Frazier, Ojala, Vin Salvucci and Henry Carlson were the big guns for the Presidents as they rolled up 236 yards on the ground and in the air in evening their season's record at 1-1.

The Quincy lineup:

Ends, McCormick, Volpe, Sansone, Long, Marsters, Cipriano, MacDonald, Veno; tackles, Luongo, Tempesta, Flynn, Hughes, Hassan; guards, Jacobson, Quintiliani, Thrower, Cirillo, Kennedy, Helander, Barry; centers, Keefe, Furtado, Scheurch, Lindberg.

Backs, Carlson, Salvucci, Frazier, Ojala, Oriola, Lake, Myers, Sheppard, Tait, Ricciarelli, Pollard, Flint, Derbes, Walker.

WOLLASTON UCT TAKES TITLE

Lou Williams' home run with the bases empty in the fifth inning provided the margin as the Wollaston UCT team defeated the Granite Trust nine, 3-2, to win the Quincy Little League championship.

Bret Hall pitched four-hit ball and struck out the side in the final inning and Jim Travers saved the game with a sensational catch in the fifth to insure the victory for Paul Bandini's club.

The UCT lineup: Anderson 1b, Williams ss, Hall p, Clapp c, Travers 3b, Brazas cf, Kelly rf, Joyce lf, Kantarow 3b.

BARRY, CARLSON WIN FALLON CUP

Phil Barry of Wollaston sank a 35-foot putt on the 17th green to sew up the Fallon Cup for himself and Charley Carlson of Blue Hills with a 2 and 1 decision in the final match at Wollaston Golf Club.

Barry, who won the state caddy championship more than 20 years ago, and Carlson, a former hockey player, were five under par for the 17 holes in besting John Duane of Wollaston and Johnny Pope of Ponkapoag.

SHIPBUILDERS WIN OPENER

John Boyle took a sensational pass from Danny Miller and scored the only goal of the game as the Quincy Shipbuilders defeated Clan Sutherland, 1-0, in the District Soccer League opener on Boston Common.

Goalie Jim Oag turned in the play of the day with a spectacular save on a penalty shot.

DONAHUE'S 20TH OPENER

Handicapped Persons May Serve On Juries

Handicapped persons may not be disqualified from jury selection because of their infirmity under new legislation effective next month, noted Senator Paul D. Harold.

The new law adds to last year's jury selection amendment which prohibited discrimination against the blind from jury service.

Harold said the new law, effective Oct. 7, bars disqualification from jury service solely because a person is physically handicapped.

He noted that the law allowing persons to be excused from service on juries if it would impose undue hardship remains in effect.

"The new law is intended to insure that handicapped persons are not discriminated against, and can serve on juries if they are able to do so without undue hardship," Senator Harold said.

Kiwanis Readies Contribution To Kids Trauma Center

The Quincy Kiwanis Club will make its contribution to the new Pediatric Trauma Center at New England Medical Center on Monday, Sept. 28, at 12:15 p.m. at Christ Church.

Wallace Carson, chairman of the Health Fund, will present the check to Raymond Wolfson, New England Governor of Kiwanis International for the center, which is now under construction.

The Kiwanis Foundation of New England voted to lend its support to the center a year ago.

Also expected to attend the presentation are Irving Talbert, secretary of New England Kiwanis; Mike Sances of Milton Kiwanis, and a member of the staff of the trauma center.

Accidental injury (trauma) is the leading cause of death in the pediatric age group but unlike other fatal or crippling diseases, it has been neglected by both the public and medical profession.

Cortese Holds Forum On Revaluation Queries

"Don't you think," asked Joseph F. Cortese, "that you have a right to know your valuation before the election?"

Cortese, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 2, says he has a lot of questions about valuation, which is the reason he called a meeting for yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Woodward School.

Over the weekend, he said, his supporters distributed more than 5,000 flyers in Ward 2 inviting people to his forum to hear answers to his questions from experts who also were invited.

They included representatives from the assessor's office, the attorney general's office, the county commissioners, a South Shore realtor-builder, and someone from PRC Jacobs, the reval firm.

"PRC Jacobs, Inc., of Virginia has been revaluing Quincy for almost two years," he said. "We were told that it would be completed last spring and we would have our new valuations.

"Now it is September and we have been told nothing about our valuations and will have to wait until the election. They tell us that this delay is necessary because the computer tapes are missing.

"Missing tapes, haven't we heard that one before!"

Cortese said some of the questions that would be asked last night included:

If your assessment increases 10 times, will your taxes more than double?

What is happening to the assessments of the large company interests in Ward 2 -- Quincy Oil Co., Procter and Gamble, General Dynamics?

Why are these outside experts being paid if their job performance has not been satisfactory?

Who can you go to if you feel you are overassessed and what legal avenues do you have available to you to protect your investment in your homes?

Verenis Warns School Closings Still Problem

Nicholas Verenis, a candidate for the School Committee, has warned that school closings is still a serious problem that faces the public school system.

"Summer vacations usually bring a forgetfulness to most people and it seems that for some the issue of school closings has disappeared," he said.

"Not only has the issue not disappeared but it is looming over us more than ever and we must be ready to deal with it in an open, positive constructive manner.

"The manner in which schools were closed last year must not be repeated."

Verenis said he is not convinced that the present School Committee's decision to close the schools was the most cost efficient.

He said it lacked enough research to determine the social impact on the immediate community and did not adequately involve those citizens who were directly related to those schools.

"School closings cannot be avoided," he said.

"But it is imperative that decisions incorporate the opinions of all citizens in a school area and that decisions be planned for the long range."

"Ultimately all closing plans must pay close attention to details such as staff transfers, learning materials be continuous for each child, proper advance notice of transportation routes and schedules and the placement of guards at dangerous crossings.

"These issues have not been adequately addressed in the closing on schools and this policy must not be allowed to continue."

Tobin To Ask Funds To Rehire 10 Teachers

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin says he plans to ask the City Council at its Monday meeting to approve the use of $191,000 in state reimbursements to rehire 10 teachers.

He said he was moved to take the action by a recent decision by the Quincy Education Association to drop its "work-to-rule" edict for its teacher members.

Two city councillors had urged Tobin to make such a proposal.

Council President Leo J. Kelly wrote to the mayor asking him to fund a full time instrumental music teacher for each of the high schools as well as additional industrial arts, physical education and art teachers.

"It is my feeling," said Kelly, "that these programs are essential to insure a complete education for our young people and should be part of the curriculum."

Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, a candidate for mayor, also urged the use of the funds to rehire teachers in a talk at the Merrymount Association candidates night.

"The key to these funds," he said, "is that their use does not require the cutting of any other city department budgets; these funds come strictly from the state offers."

"This is the first time the state has reimbursed the cities for the special needs program. We should take full advantage of it. Teachers can be hired to continue the quality education that the Quincy School system represents."

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon said the teachers to be rehired will include four music, two industrial arts, one art, one physical education and two other teachers.

THE MAGIC OF BONDING

Q: A friend of mine had to have one of his front teeth extracted in an emergency. His dentist put the same tooth back as a temporary bridge. Is this possible?

A: Sometimes an extracted tooth can be re-attached for a while, using the technique of enamel bonding. The root is cut off the extracted tooth, and the crown of the tooth is "bonded" back in place by attaching it to the tooth on either side of the space.

27.2% Vote LaRaia, Collins DeCristofaro Top Primary

By TOM HENSHAW

Joseph J. LaRaia, 49, a veteran politician who has held public office off and on since 1959, and Richard J. Koch Jr., 26, a newcomer, were the big winners in Tuesday's preliminary municipal election.

JOSEPH J. LARAIA
Councillor at Large

MARY P. COLLINS
School Committee

THEODORE P. DeCRISTOFARO
Ward 2 Councillor

JOSEPH F. CORTESE
Ward 2 Councillor

LaRaia, a former mayor taking another step in his political comeback, topped the ticket for the City Council at large with 7,044 votes and Koch was not far behind with 6,816.

Others to qualify for the Council at large on the Nov. 3 ballot were Patricia Toland, Timothy P. Cahill, John J. Quinn, the dean of the Council, and William J. O'Hare.

Mary Collins easily qualified to run for re-election to the School Committee while her colleagues on the current board, Joan Picard and John J. Sullivan, finished second and third, one vote apart.

Patrick J. Conroy Jr., Nicholas G. Verenis, and James J. O'Brien also earned spots on the final ballot in November.

Theodore P. DeCristofaro ran up a margin of almost 3 to 1 in topping Joseph F. Cortese as together they eliminated John H. McDuff Jr. from the race for Ward 2 councillor.

The turnout for the preliminary election was a slim 13,121, some 27.2 per cent of the 48,121 registered vote. It was, however, more than the 20 per cent predicted by City Clerk John Gillis.

The last precinct counted, Precinct 1, Ward 2, came in to City Hall at about 12:15 a.m.

LaRaia, who was mayor in 1976-77, ran up big margins in his home Ward 4 and his former home Ward 2 in topping the ticket. He had 400 votes more than Koch in Ward 2 and more than 350 margin in Ward 4.

In the 1979 election, LaRaia barely edged out Koch by 197 votes for the third and last at large seat.

It was the only previous time that Koch, son of Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park and Recreation Board, has run for public office.

Toland, a member of the School Committee, was third in the at large race with 4,748 votes.

The big surprise in that fight saw Cahill, a 22-year-old Boston University graduate and assistant wrestling coach at Quincy High School, top the veteran Quinn by 37 votes.

Cahill had 3,588 while Quinn, 57, who is seeking his 13th consecutive term on the Council had 3,551 votes.

O'Hare, 27, a Boston attorney, won the sixth and final spot on the Nov. 3 ballot with 2,102 votes.

Eliminated from the general election were Gregory Brooks 1,290, Dennis Buckley 996, Robert J. Niven 401, and Louis Edward Dolen 401.

Collins, who is seeking a second term on the School Committee, amassed an impressive

House Moves Toward Referendum On Facility

The Legislature has taken the first step toward resolving the problem of the Norfolk County Recreational Facility in Wollaston at the polls next year.

The House voted 81-64 to place the question of the sale of the facility on the November 1982 ballot as a non-binding referendum.

A number of county legislators have been itching to dispose of the facility in the light of its annual deficit and Quincy's refusal to issue a liquor license for the clubhouse.

The referendum question now goes to the Senate.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said he is not too concerned about the prospect of the facility losing in a referendum.

"It's non-binding, for one thing," he said. "And it will also require a 2/3 vote of the Legislature to sell it and we proved that we can get 64 votes to support it."

"The referendum won't solve the problem," said Rep. Thomas W. Borwnell. "The answer is what can be done to make the place self-sustaining."

The refusal to grant a liquor license, he said, has a turned a lot of people in the county against it. Meanwhile, Rosemary Foster, who was seeking the license, withdrew her request, pending a decision on whether the license can be awarded to the county commissioners.

"I hope to be back sometime in the future," she said.

6 To Receive HN Community Awards

Six Houghs Neck residents will be honored at the annual awards banquet of the Houghs Neck Community Council Oct. 18 at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Patrick Kearney of 246 Winthrop St., a long time resident, will receive the "Good Neighbor" plaque, for his courtesy, generosity and kindness to older citizens of the community.

Fred and Betty Bythrow of 128 Spring St. will be cited for their many years involvement with young people. Fred has been active with the Boy Scouts, from whom he received in 1977 the Blue Granite District Award, has worked also with an Explorer Post, was a coach of the Pirates Baseball Farm League and with his wife, assisted in the Houghs Neck Teen Group. Mrs. Bythrow has been involved in church work, the Girl Scouts Program as well as Cub Scouts. They have six children.

Seldom awarded citations for heroism will go to Thomas Logan of 85 Edgewater Drive, Kiernan Regan of 3 Wall St. and Donald Wray of 19 Bird St.

On April 3, all assisted in the rescue of William Hoefslot from Mine Hill, N.J., who fell from his boat while fishing. When he was brought ashore by a companion, Wray sounded an alarm bringing the Quincy Fire Department to the scene, then found Logan and Regan nearby who applied cardio-pulmonary resuscitation until an ambulance arrived.

The Awards Committee, who received 20 letters of nomination, included Edythe Nigro, 1980 "Good Neighbor", chairman; Patricia Murphy, 1981 banquet chairman; Commander John Christensen of the Houghs Neck Legion Post; Madelon Sibert; and David MacMillan, 1969 Civic Award recipient.

License Board Under City Council Fire

By TOM HENSHAW

For as long as many people can recall, the five members of the Quincy Licensing Board have met each Tuesday morning, issued a few licenses, suspended or revoked a few more, and have gone back to their regular city jobs with a sense of a quiet job well done.

Then came Quincy Video World, Inc., and its license for an 80-machine amusement center in downtown Quincy; and the Strand Theater and its non-license for the punk rock group, the Plasmatics, and its bizarre star, Wendy O. Williams.

Things have not been the same since.

Last week, City Solicitor Robert Fleming, after a perusal of state law, decided that at least some of the Licensing Board's duties and responsibilities actually belonged to the mayor, including the licensing of live performances and public amusements.

And City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond asked the Council Tuesday night to study the possibility of doing away with the current Licensing Board and substituting one which would include seven elected members plus two from the Council and the School Committee.

The Council also moved to assume some of the duties and responsibilities of the Licensing Board itself through an ordinance that would limit video-pinball licenses to four per establishment and even prohibit outright video amusement centers in the city.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin acknowledged that he and Fleming have been discussing the mayor's expanded role in licensing.

"We were made aware of it," he said, "but the City Solicitor has advised me not to comment on anything that might come up."

Tobin said no application has been made to license a performance by the Plasmatics at the Strand or any place else in Quincy.

"If the application comes in, we will take the appropriate action," he said.

The mayor declined to comment on the possibility of a license to operate a video amusement center for acting City Purchasing Agent Charles L. Shea and Assistant City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington, which was what touched off the whole controversy.

Shea, Harrington and Andrew D. Holland, Shea's brother-in-law, were awarded a license Sept. 8, the day after Labor Day, to operate an amusement center with 65 video games and 15 pinball machines at 1358 Hancock St., in the heart of Quincy Center.

A week later, under the pressure of the public, the board reconsidered its vote and withdrew the license.

It was the way it was done as much as the machines themselves that upset Raymond.

"I'm not maligning the integrity of the five individual board members," he said, "but "The Licensing Board acts as a watchdog on behalf of the residents of this city and all too often it becomes encumbent on ward councillors to, in a sense, watch over the watchdogs."

"While people were on their Labor Day vacations a few weeks ago, there was a Labor Day pay day granted to a few city officials. This has an awful lot of people very much concerned."

Raymond noted that the Licensing Board is made up of the heads of five major departments, Police, Fire, Public Health, Building Inspection and the City Clerk.

"We are pulling these people away from their public responsibilities every Tuesday morning," he said. "Thirty to 40 per cent of their time during the day is spent on license board matters."

Raymond said the Licensing Board "let the people down" when members awarded the video license to Shea and Harrington.

"The Licensing Board is not involved in getting out and finding out how people really feel," he said. "In a sense, they've lost contact with the very people that they're there to watch over."

Raymond then introduced his resolve for a home rule petition to the legislature to change the composition of the Board.

His proposal would have nine members, all unpaid, six elected from the six wards, one elected at large, with the City Council and

Cable TV Right On Schedule

Installation of cable television in Quincy is right on time and subscribers in Quincy Point and some parts of South Quincy will be able to tune in their favorite programs in December.

"I am confident Phase I residents will begin being serviced by December," said David J. Keefe, general manager of Quincy Cablesystems Corp. The work is being done in five phases.

Since the final license was granted in June, Keefe said, crews from SDF Inc. of Duxbury have placed 60 miles of cable support and 36 miles of cable. It will take 180 miles to wire all Quincy.

Keefe said another company, Ellsworth Cable Contractors Inc. of Westboro, has already started attaching transmission equipment to the cable.

Crews will soon start on Phase II, Squantum and Wollaston, said Keefe.

Phases III is North Quincy; Phase IV is Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Merrymount and Germantown; Phase V is West Quincy and sections of Quincy Center.

Your Sun Is 13 Years Old

The Quincy Sun is 13 years old with today's issue and we're certainly not going to be superstitious about noting it.

We're pretty proud of it and looking forward to the next 13 and more.

Where do the years go? It doesn't seem that it has been 13 years.

The Sun was established in September, 1968 as "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper" in a small second floor office on Foster St. We are proud to carry the name Quincy in our banner. Because that is what we are all about — Quincy!

In the 13 years since we have maintained the role of Quincy's newspaper and made two more location moves, the last five years ago to our present spacious street floor headquarters at 1372 Hancock St., in the heart of downtown Quincy.

We have expanded our news coverage these past 13 years and will continue to do so in the future. We want to bring our readers the best weekly newspaper we possibly can. And, expand our news coverage in other ways.

The Sun has been blessed with loyal readers from the very first issue. They are mainly readers of all ages who want a community oriented newspaper — a newspaper devoted to their community interests.

A newspaper has a responsibility to its community and to its readers to report the news fairly and accurately.

We have tried to do that — giving those on both sides of an issue the opportunity in The Sun's news columns to present their side of that issue.

Editorially, we have taken strong stands on various issues. Some readers, of course, have sometimes disagreed with the way we see it. They have the right to their opinion. We have the right to ours. Sometimes we agree, sometimes we don't. But most of the times we do, from the reader reaction we get.

We will continue to offer responsible persons on both sides of an issue the opportunity to air their views. And we will continue to speak out editorially.

As we prepare to begin our 14th year, we want to again thank you — our readers and advertisers — for your support and encouragement. And, as always, a special "thank you" to our ever growing army of faithful newscasters who bring The Sun to your home.

We've said it before and we'd like to say it again: All of you are as much a part of The Quincy Sun as we, the staff.

Without you, we never would have reached this 13th milestone. With your continued help — and encouragement — we look ahead with confidence to our 14th year and the years after that.

Again, thank you — all of you — sincerely.

Flak And Applause

The City Licensing Board has been on the receiving end of both flak and applause in recent days.

Flak over the board's original action on the controversial video amusement center planned for downtown Quincy.

Applause over the board's stand against allowing the punk rock group Plasmatics and wild Wendy O. Williams from performing at The Strand Theater because that moviehouse did not have a required license for the live entertainment show.

Overall, week after week, year after year most of the board's votes have been good ones which have been a major factor in keeping Quincy's image clean.

But it's original vote on a license for a video amusement center in downtown Quincy, was not one of them.

No reflection on the applicants Charles Shea, acting City Purchasing Agent, former auditor and councillor and Assistant City Solicitor Dennis Harrington are men of integrity and have served the city well.

The vote to issue the license came too fast. It should have been postponed a week as Building Inspector Alan MacDonald and Fire Chief Edward Barry sought. On a Tuesday morning following a Labor Day holiday, few people were aware of the fact that an amusement center was even planned. Despite the fact it was advertised in a legal notice. A lot of people don't read legal notices. But they do read news stories.

Maybe the board should consider a new policy: no license (except in an emergency situation) can be voted on at the first meeting it comes before the board. A week's continuance be automatic.

That way, the press has the opportunity to report a license has been requested giving everyone ample notice to be present to speak for or against.

It might be a simple solution check against hasty decisions.

Regardless of who was seeking the video game center license, downtown Quincy is not the proper place for it. The proposed location is also in the city's historic district just a few feet from First Parish Church where two Presidents and their wives are buried.

On one side of Hancock St. we have the Quincy Center Plaza building under construction. A big step forward for Quincy. Across from it would have been the amusement center. A big step backward.

A week later, with pressure and protests mounting, the board found a way out of the hornets' nest on a technicality: the video center's location had been incorrectly listed in the legal notice.

Police Chief Francis Finn cited the incorrect address and "a lot of reasons heard today" to move for reconsideration. He was joined by MacDonald and Barry who originally had voted against the license and it was over with.

FINN

Frankly, instead of using a technicality as the reason for killing the license, I'd have liked to have heard someone candidly admit: "We made a mistake." It also left the door ajar for a future Quincy Center location.

Chances are good there will never be a video game center in downtown Quincy. But that doesn't mean there will never be one anywhere in Quincy.

And, if downtown Quincy is no place for a video game center, it is also no place for an act like the Plasmatics and Williams put on.

She's a pretty wild one. Smashes a TV set on stage. Shreds an electric guitar with a chain saw. (I must confess I'd like to try knocking out a few of them myself.) And, of course, her other big deal is wearing only shaving cream or whipped cream from neck to waist. The Plasmatics have also dynamited a car as part of their act.

A sad state. Nowadays it's less and less talent and more and more noise with the accent on freaky acts. Today's success formula is simple: Make it as loud and as outrageous as possible.

The Strand Theater has 1,700 seats and owner Tony Delpidio was optimistic Williams and company would fill them all.

Delpidio who has had a few violations problems at the Strand has spent money renovating the theater which in the 1930's and 1940's was one of the finest around. No one wants him to be hurt financially. And no one wants to see The Strand closed for good.

A show like the Plasmatics and Williams isn't the right kind for the downtown Quincy area.

Sure, six police officers were going to be hired for security. Maybe they could have kept everything under control at the theater.

But then, when the show was over, what would or could happen when some 1,700 young people — after being worked up to a frenzy — were let loose in downtown Quincy.

After watching Williams smash a few things, would some of them streaming through the downtown streets smash a few things themselves like windows, automobiles or maybe one another?

Punk rock shows have a track record for creating problems. Lawrence Welk doesn't.

Maybe somewhere in between Delpidio can find a good show to keep the kids and his downtown neighbors happy and The Strand open.

And leave the freaky acts where they belong: in a carnival sideshow.

McCauley Seeks Donor Of $500 Campaign Check

The Committee to Elect Frank McCauley is trying to find out who contributed an unsigned bank check for $500 to McCauley's campaign for mayor.

If the McCauley people can't come up with a name, they'll have to send the money back to the bank.

The check was received in the mail the other day, a $500 treasurer's check issued by the Dorchester branch of the South Boston Savings Bank.

It can be cashed without a name but it can't legally be accepted as a campaign contribution unless the committee has a name to list on its financial report.

The McCauley committee plans to keep the check for a week in hopes the contributor will come forward and identify himself or herself.

If he or she doesn't, then it will have to be sent back to the South Boston Savings Bank.

The motto of the District of Columbia (Washington, D.C.) is Justitia Omnibus: Justice to All.

License Suspension Blacks Out Plasmatics

"This licensing board hearing will sell more Plasmatics records than the concert," predicted Paul Carchidi, attorney for the Strand Theater and impresario Tony Delpidio.

As it turned out, it was a prediction that couldn't lose for the Plasmatics and their controversial punk rock star Wendy O. Williams never got to play the Strand at all.

The Licensing Board effectively cancelled the Saturday concert by suspending the Strand's license for three days on grounds of safety violations and lack of a live entertainment permit.

Later, the Saturday-Sunday-Monday suspension was changed to Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday but, since Delpidio never got a permit for the Plasmatics, only movies were shown at the Strand on the weekend.

The Plasmatics caper was the big issue of last week, drawing cameras from the three Boston TV stations and both mayoral candidates to a special meeting of the Licensing Board on Thursday. Actually, the Plasmatics were not even on the agenda.

The meeting was called to review the Strand's license in the light of alleged violations of the fire laws, failure to cooperate with police and failure to obtain a permit for a previous live performance.

"We are not here to sit in judgement of their act," said Police Chief Francis X. Finn as a member of the board, but everyone else was ready to have their say on the Plasmatics.

"I want to address the citizens of Quincy," said Jack Hoffman of Framingham, promoter of the concert, sitting sideways in his chair before the licensing board so he could face the big crowd.

"There have been a lot of innuendoes in this town about me and the Plasmatics," he said.

City Council President Leo J. Kelly noted that star Wendy O. Williams occasionally smashed TV sets and sawed up guitars on stage as part of her act and the Plasmatics were known to blow up cars.

"This act is not going to stick dynamite in a car," said Hoffman archly. "We are not going to do this in Quincy, Massachusetts."

"She (Williams) is a political act. That's why she smashes television sets. How many of you parents out there have wanted to smash a television set?"

Mayoral candidates Francis X.

McCauley and Daniel G. Raymond spoke against the Plasmatics license (even though it wasn't on the agenda) and so did Austin Wickens, executive secretary of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"Why must the roof always come down on young people?" asked Hoffman.

Building Inspector Allan Mac Donald told his colleagues on the board that a recent visit to the Strand had turned up five safety violations and he moved to suspend Delpidio's license for three days.

Police Officer Lawrence Kelly testified that during a Sept. 10 concert by the Lines (for which the Strand had no permit) he was unable to stop smoking in the theater and the management did not cooperate.

When he asked Delpidio for his cooperation, Kelly said, he was told, "You didn't hire me, I hired you."

The licensing board voted 4-0 to suspend the license for three days.

Carchidi called the suspension, "punitive in nature ... grossly unfair ... a smokescreen to keep the Plasmatics out of Quincy."

Foy Claims Dedication Political Rally

Frank H. Foy, a candidate for mayor, charged that Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa was using the dedication of the Charles A. Ross Parkingway as a campaign rally on the eve of election.

The dedication was scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 6, two days prior to preliminary balloting in the city election.

"Here we taxpayers are struggling to pay our excessive taxes and our part-time mayor and his political cohorts at City Hall have schemed up a political rally under the guise of a dedication to a former mayor," said Foy.

He added that his friend, ex-Mayor Ross, "was above capitalizing on a dedication two days before election for personal gain."

Della Chiesa ignored the charge and the dedication went on as scheduled.

GIRLS MISSING

Lack of girls at the lunch table was blamed for a one-day protest by the boys from Quincy Trade School against their new lunch schedule in the Quincy High School cafeteria.

The boys complained that the change in their lunch hour from 12 noon to 11 a.m. made it impossible for them to eat lunch with the girls from the high school.

The change was made to relieve crowded conditions.

NEW SCIENCE BUILDING

Edward S. Mann, president of Eastern Nazarene College, announced that the Board of Trustees had approved plans for a new science building, the first in a $2 million development program.

Dr. Mann said it was expected construction would begin in March and by January, 1959, the three-story, $450,000 building would be ready to house the biology, chemistry and physics departments.

TRUTH CAN HURT

Lincoln Zonn, president of Truth Associates of Boston, demonstrated lie detector techniques to members of the Quincy Kiwanis Club and stunned Kiwanians with the comment:

"No person alive can go 24 hours telling the absolute truth and have a friend or a nickel left in the world."

License Board Under Fire

the School Committee electing one of their members each to serve. Board meetings would be held in the evening.

The resolution was sent to the Ordinance Committee for study.

The resolve to limit the number of video and pinball games to four per establishment was filed by Councillor Francis X. McCauley. It would not restrict licenses now in effect.

Raymond had some trouble with that last line.

"What I fear would happen is that someone would go down there (to the mayor's office) tomorrow morning and receive a license and when the ordinance is passed we would not be able to take action against them," he said.

Councillors James A. Sheets resolved to ask the mayor and the licensing board to "refrain from issuing any new licenses until the Council passes an ordinance dealing with it."

The ordinance to prohibit video amusement centers in the city was offered by Councillors Joanne Condon and John J. Lydon Jr. It would do the job either by ordinance or by creating prohibitive zoning.

The stumbling block was a section that resolved to ban the issuance of further licenses by the Licensing Board until the ordinance of prohibition is voted on by the Council.

"You can't usurp the authority of the Licensing Board," said Solicitor Fleming. "Some reasonable regulation would stand the test of any court challenge but an outright ban would concern me."

All the resolves and ordinances were moved into the Ordinance Committee for further study and debate and Chairman Condon set the hearing on them for Tuesday, Sept. 29, at 7 p.m.

McCauley, Raymondi Assail MBTA Shuttle Bus Extension

The City Council's Transportation Committee will meet Tuesday, Sept. 29, at 6 p.m. to discuss the proposed extension of MBTA shuttle service from Dorchester to North Quincy.

The service, which is being conducted while the Dorchester Red Line is being repaired, was to have ended in mid-October but has been extended to the end of the year.

Councillor Francis X. McCauley, who is chairman of the committee, said he is concerned about the shuttle particularly because the school vacation season is over and the children are back traveling to school.

"Delays of up to 30 minutes at the North Quincy station have been reported," he said, "and the situation could become worse as the winter weather sets in."

McCauley said he invited General Manager James O'Leary to attend the Transportation Committee meeting.

Meanwhile, Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, who is running against McCauley for mayor, fired off a letter to O'Leary emphasizing his opposition to the extension of the shuttle.

"At the public hearings on the shuttle," he said, "the public expressed disbelief that the MBTA would complete the project that forced the shuttle route on us on time."

"I agreed with them and spoke out against the shuttle bus route. The public's fears and my fears have been justified."

"With the winter months coming up and their accompanying inclement weather, the shuttle bus will cause innumerable traffic and safety hazards."

"The sooner the shuttle route is stopped in Quincy, the sooner those problems and hazards will be reduced."

"On behalf of Quincy's residents and users of the MBTA, I urge you to reconsider your extension decision and stick with the original closing of the shuttle route."

"When this building went up, my cost of living went down."

For Tony Seminara, Granite Place is the perfect place to live.

Designed for the elderly and handicapped, Granite Place means fewer worries for people like Tony. Its special construction provides extra security, and its unique solar heated hot water system lowered living costs for all 300 residents.

A home-based life insurance company helped finance Granite Place because they knew it would benefit a lot of people. Even while the complex was under construction, it helped the city of Quincy by providing hundreds of new jobs. So to everyone in the area, Granite Place is a big success. To people who live there, like Tony, it's a dream come true.

That's Tony Seminara's story. And we're telling it to you because it's our story, too. We're the 14 home-based companies that make up the Life Insurance Association of Massachusetts. And we're doing everything we can to put Massachusetts to work.

We've invested nearly $2 billion in industry, shopping centers and housing developments like Granite Place. And last year alone, we financed more than $100 million worth of construction in Massachusetts.

We also employ 22,000 people in our own industry across the state, and in the past 12 months purchased $80 million in Massachusetts-produced goods and services.

So you see, the life insurance industry is a great deal more than life insurance. We're jobs. We're opportunity. We're people. And together, we hope to make Massachusetts better for all of us.

The Life Insurance Association of Massachusetts and its fourteen member companies.

"I used to worry about retiring and not having enough money to make ends meet."

Mrs. Margery Grenon of 60 Brackett St., Quincy, is the winner of 300 gallons of heating oil awarded in a Quincy Center Business and Professional Association shopping promotion.

Mrs. Grenon had the choice of the oil or 300 gallons of gasoline. A non-driver, she selected the oil.

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

CHECKUP OF THE TONGUE?

Q: My friend told me that when she went to the dentist for an examination, he looked at not only her teeth, but also checked all surfaces of her tongue, and the glands in her neck. Why is this necessary?

A: Many diseases have symptoms that appear in the mouth. The lateral border of the tongue is one of the most common sites of intra-oral cancer. At least once a year, a dental check-up should include a check-up of the tongue, and a test to look for swollen glands in the neck. Heavy smoking, alcoholism and the associated neglect of oral hygiene, and chronic irritation, whether from a broken tooth, or a loose or sharp denture, can all lead to a pre-cancerous or cancerous condition.

All those who would love a clear, concise explanation of All-Savers Certificates, please raise your phone.

is virtually all you need to know about the All-Savers Certificates that will be available at all 16 Hancock Bank and Trust offices beginning October 1, 1981, through December 31, 1982 for as little as $500.00.

Dial this number any weekday during banking hours and someone equipped with an in-depth knowledge of the opportunities these new certificates offer will be pleased to explain them and answer any questions you have.

Interest earned on All-Savers Certificates — up to $2,000.00 on a joint return and $1,000.00 on a single return will be tax exempt. This is a lifetime exemption, and you only get it once.

The interest rates paid will be 70% of the one year Treasury Bill rate, set periodically (12.61% starting October 1), and guaranteed for one year.

Presently outstanding 6-Month Money Market Certificates may be converted without penalty to All-Savers Certificates.

Plans For All Savers

As you may already know, All-Savers Certificates will be of most interest to those whose Federal tax bracket is 30% or greater.

However, it's very likely that a call or visit to any Hancock Bank office will be profitable even for those in lower brackets.

You see, we also offer a number of other investment certificates in a range of maturities and rates, and a variety of other attractive savings plans. One may be perfectly suited to your needs and we invite your questions on them as well.

The introduction of All-Savers Certificates has been plagued by some confusion. But now, you have a way to clear up that confusion and get all the answers you need right at your fingertips.

Simply dial 773-0500.

What's October 1, 1981? It's All Savers Day!

That's when Quincy Cooperative Bank will begin offering All Savers Certificates. Here are five quick facts about this new way to save:

1. Tax Exemption

You may exclude from Federal Income Tax up to $2,000 in interest if you file jointly, $1,000 if singly.

2. Interest Rate is based on 70% of the yield of a one-year U.S. Treasury bill.

3. Term - One Year. (Federal regulations require substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.)

4. Fully Insured.

5. Minimum Deposit - $500.

Whether or not you will earn more with All Savers Certificates as compared with other investments, such as six-month term deposits, depends on your income tax bracket. For details on this and other matters you may need to know before acquiring your All Savers Certificate, visit any office of the Quincy Cooperative Bank.

Deadline Nears With No Sewer Use Charge

The approach of Sept. 30, the end of the federal fiscal year, is making the City Council a little nervous.

That's the day Quincy loses up to $3 million in federal aid to revamp its ancient sewer system unless it can come up with a federally acceptable sewer user charge.

The Council voted unanimously Tuesday night to ask Mayor Arthur H. Tobin to submit a proposal quickly so that they can vote on it before the Sept. 30 deadline.

"I laughed like hell when I heard about it," said Tobin. "We have been out there with sewer user plans for the past year and they've turned all of them down."

"Now, eight days before the deadline, they want action. I find the Council's actions confusing. They are confusing the mayor's office and they're confusing themselves."

The Council's Public Works Committee held a meeting last week at which it was said that Tobin had a plan ready for submission to the Council, which appeared to be ready to accept it.

But there was no plan on the Monday night agenda.

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath said he noticed a story in the Patriot Ledger earlier this week quoting the mayor as saying that "the votes aren't there" in the Council.

"I don't mind being criticized for what we do," said McGrath, "but I resent being criticized on the basis of his appraisal of what he thinks we're going to do."

McGrath and Councillors Joanne Condon and Daniel G. Raymondi said they were prepared to vote for an ad valorem sewer use charge Monday had it been on the agenda.

"The mayor is not acting responsibly," said Raymondi.

"We have to put politics aside on this issue. The people know that there is a game being played here."

"He (Tobin) continues to talk about the problem," said Councillor Francis X. McCauley, "but he hasn't presented anything before us since last February."

Tobin said the Sept. 30 deadline is not as critical as it was in the past.

"When we were down in Washington," he said, "we learned that the Reagan people are prepared to fund a sewer program for $2.4 billion in fiscal 1982, so the money does not disappear on Sept. 30."

REACHmobile Debuts On City Streets

The REACHmobile has made its debut on the streets of Quincy. How long it remains depends on how well City Councilor Daniel G. Raymond does in his race for mayor in the November election.

The REACHmobile is a green and white six-wheel mobile van that Raymond is using to reach out to the voters of Quincy with information on his campaign.

After the election, if he is elected mayor, Raymond says he plans to use it for neighborhood visits to listen to the comments, suggestions and criticisms of the citizens.

It would also be used to disseminate useful information about what is going on in the city.

Raymond has designed a four-point REACH (Residents' Easy Access to City Hall) program to be used after election "to allow citizens a more effective voice in the city's planning policy."

It includes a hot line to the mayor's office, monthly meetings with the mayor in the neighborhoods, a radio call-in show for the mayor on WJDA, and meetings with city department heads.

Avis Gets 'Sell-A-Car' License

Avis, most well known as a rent-a-car company, will soon be in the sell-a-car business at 618 Washington St., Quincy.

The City License Board granted a Motor II (used car) license Tuesday to the company which will sell one and two year old rental cars from its Boston fleet. The license allows 50 such cars to be displayed on the premises, along with 10 employees' cars.

Richard Bonyman will manage the business which is to install and maintain landscaping as a restriction of its license.

A ground sign must be approved by the Building Inspector and Zoning Board of Appeals.

Tots Movement Exploration

The South Shore YMCA will begin a six-week Movement Exploration Class for Young Tots ages three to six, Sept. 30, 2 to 2:40 p.m.

The class is designed to improve the child's overall body awareness, as well as coordination.

N.Q. Merchants Debate Take-Out License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
A variety store owner's request for a license to sell coffee and donuts turned into a somewhat heated discussion when a neighboring merchant opposed the license at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Mary Lima's request, which was continued to next week's meeting, was for a common victualer-take out only license for Montclair Market, 45 Safford St.

Other owners of the store are Gary and Irene Hansen and Leonard Lima.
Mrs. Lima told the board she did not intend to sell sandwiches or other such items.

Board members appeared ready to grant the license when Charles Reardon of Alumni Pizza, 41 Safford St., objected.
Reardon, who said he was not opposed to the selling of just coffee and donuts, indicated that he did not want competition in the same building. He also said he thought there was a restriction in his lease to that effect.

who contended that only coffee and donuts would be sold for take out.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said the board couldn't restrict what food was sold if a common victualer license were granted.

"You can't put restrictions on such a license when it's granted," said Barry who recommended the board consult with the city solicitor.

"It's a matter of law," said Barry.

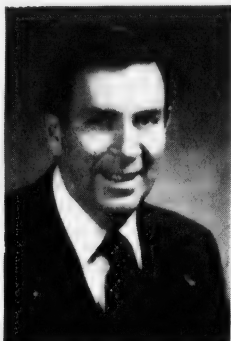

"I don't know what you're trying to start," said Mrs. Lima

No Money For Guards Crime Watch Not A Hit With All Oceanview Residents

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Not all of the elderly residents of the 275 unit Oceanview Apartments in Germantown are in favor of a crime watch group set up by a group of tenants recently.

"I don't like the idea of elderly women going down to stand guard 'til 2 a.m.," said one woman who asked not to be identified for fear of reprisal by other residents or neighborhood youths.

"Maybe it's okay for men," she continued, "but I'd hate to see anything happen to them."

"It's up to the Housing Authority. They should provide regular guards," said the woman who explained that at least 50 other tenants feel as she does.

The woman said that when she moved in about five years ago, there were two guards.

"It was never like it is now," said the woman who told of "devilish kids" pelting apartments with stones, stealing pocketbooks in the elevators, and causing disturbances at night which keep "old, sick people awake."

"Not all of the kids are bad," added the woman who said her own children have asked her to live with them in suburbs farther away from the cities.

But, said the woman, "I like the place (Oceanview). I couldn't get around out there. I couldn't go into the square like I can here."

"I wish we could supply security," said Clement O'Brien, Quincy Housing Authority director, "I'd like to give the tenants gold lined bath tubs."

"There's no obligation on the part of the Housing Authority to furnish security."

The guards provided in the past were CETA workers who are no longer available, explained O'Brien who added that the authority does provide locks for doors and closed circuit TV as well as other measures.

"But we can't supply guards," said O'Brien who continued that the Executive Office of Community Development won't fund such measures.

O'Brien said the community development office puts the obligation of security on the local government and police, just as it is for private citizens.

Said O'Brien, "The fact that the people (at Oceanview) are concerned and want to make a reasonable effort, is very laudatory."

"It's something that the people who live there decided to do. The Housing Authority didn't request it."

O'Brien doesn't see any danger to those that man the crime watch which will monitor the area and inform police if trouble is suspected.

"It's done at other complexes," he said.

Concluded the Housing

Authority director, "It's a sad commentary on society today that the elderly are prayed on. It's not just in Quincy, it's all over the world."

"It's too bad. I'm elderly myself. I feel deeply and personally concerned. Our ability to move about is restricted by fear."

All day services will start Thursday, Oct. 8 at 8:30 a.m. Yizkor (memorial prayers) will be followed by a sermon by Rabbi Jacobs at 11 a.m. After a brief intermission at 2 p.m., services will resume at 4:30 p.m. and conclude with the sounding of the shofar about 7 p.m.

Dr. Herbert Hodess is president of Temple Beth El and Sumner E. Greenberg, past president, is in charge of the services.

Leo Lofchie and Abe Greenspan, co-presidents of Congregation Adas Shalom, 435 Adams St., announced the following schedule for the High Holy Day Services.

Rosh Hashanah family service will be Monday Sept. 28 at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday morning services, Sept. 29-30 will be at 9 a.m. Afternoon services on both days will start at 6:45 p.m.

Shabbat Shuva services on Saturday, Oct. 3 will be at 9 a.m.

'Bridge'

In Concert At Wollaston Nazarene

Bridge, a gospel music group consisting of five vocalists and seven instrumentalists, will perform Friday at 8 p.m. at Wollaston Nazarene Church.

The group, created and directed by Jim Van Hook, has recorded seven albums. Their music is gospel, middle of the road, with a touch of "big band".

The chanting of Kol Nidrei will usher in Yom Kippur services Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 6:30 p.m. All day services on Thursday, Oct. 8 will start at 9 a.m., and conclude at sundown.

Rabbi Allan L. Press, the new spiritual leader of the Congregation, and Dr. David Kahn, special cantor for the High Holy Days, will officiate at all the services.

On Saturday evening, Sept. 19, Selichot (forgiveness) services will be recited about midnight. They are very special penitential prayers.

In some of the special home rituals for Rosh Hashanah, festival candles are lit and blessed, the Kiddush is chanted over the wine and a round Challah is eaten and blessed. The round Challah reflects the continuous cycle of years and seasons. Slices of apples are dipped in honey which symbolizes a sweet year.

Rosh Hashanah (New Year), the most solemn day next to Yom Kippur, is based principally on Leviticus XXIII:24.

"In the seventh month, in the first day of the month shall be a solemn rest unto you, a memorial proclaimed with the blast of horns, a holy convocation."

The passage in Psalms LXXXI:5, referring to the solemn feast, which is held on New Moon Day when the Shofar is sounded, as a day of "Judgement" is taken to indicate the character of Rosh Hashanah.

The blowing of the shofar during the morning service, except when Rosh Hashanah falls on Saturday, symbolizes the call to every Jewish soul to awake from its lethargy and be alert in the performance of religious duties.

During the High Holy Day season, Jews greet each other in this manner: "Leshanah Tovah Tikatevu," which means "may you be inscribed for a good year." This greeting grew out of a spirit of well-wishing as well as a belief that people could help others. It is an expression of fellowship and sincere good wishes for all Jews.

Prayers are chanted and read in Hebrew, however, in some Synagogues they are recited in English so that everyone may participate in the services.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, marks the climax of the "Ten Days of Penitance" that begins with Rosh Hashanah, New Year's Day. It occurs on the 10th day of the seventh month (Tishri).

The service in the synagogue opens on the evening before, with the chanting of the Kol Nidre. The Kol Nidre is written in the Aramaic dialect that was in use in the Babylonian Jewish academies and constitutes a formula of absolution of vows.

The original purpose of the Kol Nidre was not to absolve man from obligations toward his fellowman, but rather to absolve him from rash promises that affect his own conscience in his relation to God.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow. Through a faith that is Christ-centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Presidents Hope To Rebound At Weymouth

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy football team's troubles began last week when it lost starting quarterback Sean Martin with a knee injury two days before its opening game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

And the Presidents' troubles continued right on through the Cambridge game in the rain Saturday when they twice fumbled on the Cambridge goal line and dropped a 6-2 Suburban League decision to their jinx team.

Coach Tom Fitzgerald and his troops hope to regroup this Saturday when they play at Weymouth South at 1:30 p.m. in a non-league game.

Weymouth South, which next fall will join the Old Colony League, opened last week by tying Hingham, 6-6.

Martin, who had been outstanding in the last three games last year after replacing the injured Ron Pettinelli and accounted for 11 touchdowns by passing or rushing, suffered his knee injury during practice Thursday and junior Bob Mudge, quarterback for last year's undefeated sophomore team, had to start his first varsity game.

"Martin will be out for at least a couple of more weeks and maybe longer," said a despondent Fitzgerald following the loss to Cambridge. "It was tough on Mudge to realize just two days before the game that he would be the starter."

"Bob did a good job and, with that game under his belt, he should be more relaxed in the Weymouth game. But we did miss Martin, who is an outstanding passer and runner. We will work with Mike Shaughnessy as Mudge's backup quarterback."

Fitzgerald couldn't believe the two fumbles which killed apparent touchdowns last week. After the first few minutes of the game when Cambridge drove to its touchdown on seven plays following the opening kickoff, Quincy outplayed the visitors and seemed to have the game won.

"I do think we should have had a touchdown on the first fumble," Fitzgerald said. "People who were in a good position to see the play said the fumble was made in the end zone, but the officials thought differently." The rules state that if the ball carrier fumbles after going over the goal line it is a touchdown.

Fitzgerald was pleased with the running of Mark Righini and Steve Goguen, who gained the bulk of Quincy's 128 net yards on the ground.

"They both ran very well and both of them also played strong defensive games," Fitzie said. Chris Dracchio also picked up good yardage.

The veteran coach also had good words for Bob Carpenter and Paul Quigley in the offensive line and Steve Spencer, Glen Oriola, Righini and Goguen on defense.

Righini came up with a big play on the very first play of the game. Cambridge's little speedster, Ron Bentubo, took the kickoff on his 20 and broke into the clear. Righini, the only man between him and the goal line, brought him down with an open field tackle on Quincy's 42. Bentubo and Bob Hoog combined to bring Cambridge to the eight from where Bentubo scored.

After that Cambridge had only one scoring opportunity and it was a big one.

Cambridge recovered a fumbled punt on Quincy's 41 late in the half and drove to a first down on the eight. The Presidents held and took over on their seven with eight seconds left.

Just before that Quincy had driven from Cambridge's 39 to a first down on the two, with Dracchio and Goguen doing most of the running, but then came the first goal line fumble.

The Presidents began their best drive late in the third period, starting on their 20 following a Cambridge punt into the end zone.

After going to its 42, Quincy appeared to be stopped after a quarterback sack and a 15-yard penalty, but Mudge completed his only pass to Mark Picot, who bulled his way to Cambridge's 42 for a big first down.

The Presidents, led by Goguen and Righini, clicked off three first downs and had a first down on the two. The disaster struck again and another fumble was recovered by Cambridge on the one.

Cambridge quarterback Mike Harshbarger, on fourth down, took an intentional safety.

He punted to Quincy's 45 but Mudge's pass was intercepted. Quincy held, Cambridge punted again and the Presidents had one last chance but another pass was intercepted and Cambridge ran out the clock.

Quincy had a net gain of 128 yards on the ground to 93 for Cambridge. Each team completed only one pass in the rain and Quincy had 11 first downs to six for Cambridge.

Sports

Quincy, Weymouth S. Game On WJDA

Radio Station WJDA, besieged by technical problems last week which resulted in the cancellation of both its scheduled play-by-play broadcasts, will do the play-by-play of Saturday's Quincy at Weymouth South game at 1:30 p.m.

It also will bring in reports of Brockton at North Quincy and Weymouth North at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Charlie Ross and Roy Lind also will do the play-by-play of Sunday's Abp. Williams at Marian game.

Trouble with the telephone lines forced cancellation of last week's morning play-by-play of the Cambridge at Quincy game and the afternoon Weymouth North at Braintree game. However, the station did substitute the play-by-play of the Hingham at Weymouth South contest.

Lombardi's TDs Pace Quincy In Stadium Opener

Sophomore Lanny Lombardi scored touchdowns on runs of four and five yards to pace the Quincy High School football team to an 18-6 victory over Braintree in the first game played at the city's new $175,000 municipal stadium.

The game, which was played before a disappointing crowd of 2,000, also marked the coaching debut of Munroe MacLean, who succeeded Harry Downes at the helm of the Quincy team. Downes is coaching Brookline, the Presidents' second opponent.

The Quincy-Braintree game was almost switched to a field in North Quincy when Mayor Thomas S. Burgin decided that it would not be right for the schoolboys to tear up the turf in the new stadium the day before dedication ceremonies were scheduled.

The Quincy lineup included:

DiBona, Ferndale, Murphy, Mollica, Shea, Erwin, ends; Kilrain, Lucier, Schmitz, Wolf, Carlson, Pohlsen, tackles; Henderson, Myrbeck, Pece, Grossman, DiRado, guards; Beston, Gray, centers.

DeSantis, Comi, Bertoni, Kroesser, Salvucci, Quintiliani, Pettinelli, Hurley, Banks, Lombardi, Barba, Buckley, backs.

SHIPBUILDERS EVEN SERIES

Bones Greenhalgh had three hits and Jay Desmond drove in four runs as the Fore River Shipbuilders evened their South Shore League playoff series at two games apiece with a 10-5 win over the Brookside CC behind Franny Desmond.

The Brooksidians had gone ahead in the series the previous day with a 15-6 decision that included 17 safeties off Tiger Joe Moran and Nardi Goldberg, the Fore River hurlers.

The Shipbuilders' lineup: Bowles ss, Greenhalgh lf, Courtney rf, Malvesti 3b, Wright cf, J. Desmond 1b, Grocott 2b, Shapiro c, F. Desmond p.

NORTH WINS OPENERS

Joe Larkin ran 41 yards for the only touchdown in the second period as Coach Jack Donahue's North Quincy High School football team opened the season with a 7-0 victory over Milton.

The North Quincy lineup:

Bray, Underwood, Bruce, Rooney, ends; Day, Assmus, Quinn, tackles; Hanson, Jennings, V. Larkin, guards; Young, center; Johnson, Moody, Hurley, Horstedt, J. Larkin, backs.

BROUILLARD BY KAYO

Former world welterweight and middleweight champion Lou Brouillard of Quincy and Worcester put away Joe Glasgow of Quincy in the sixth round of their schedule 10-round feature bout on the Goodwin AC card at Boston Garden.

MANETS BOW

The New Bedford Whalers scored twice in the last period to defeat the Quincy Manets, 13-6, in a game that was scheduled at such short notice that only 16 players answered Manager Jake Casna's call to action.

SQUANTUM TAKES TITLE

Gunk Dinsmore singled home the key runs in the sixth inning as the Squantum Racketeers won the South Shore B League title in two straight games with a 5-3 win over the Weymouth Merchants at Weston Park, Weymouth.

'Green' Raiders Host Powerhouse Brockton

North Quincy's inexperienced football team faces the unenviable task of meeting Brockton's Suburban League powerhouse, favored to make the Super Bowl again this year, Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North coach Dave Burke knows his Raiders are in for a busy afternoon. (Brockton rolled over New Bedford, 34-14, last week), but he found out one thing in last week's 3-0 opening day win over non-league rival Milton. He has another capable place kicker who can make the difference in close games.

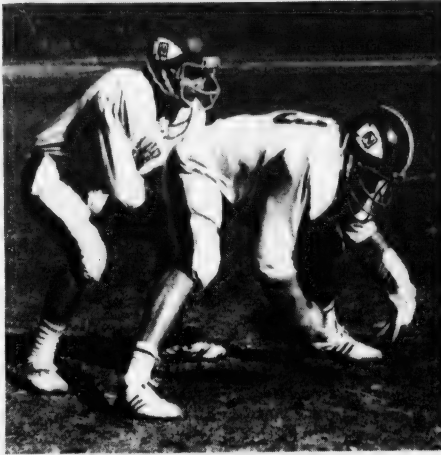

Burke had two outstanding kickers in recent years, Ed McLaney, who led North to the Super Bowl a few years back with several game-winning field goals, and Jack Leone the last two years, who could kick them long and had a 51-yarder carry several field goals.

This year it is senior Bill Bradley, a tri-captain of the Raiders' soccer team last year as a junior, who decided to try his hand at football this fall.

Last Saturday, with 6:49 left in the game at Milton, Bradley kicked a 26-yard field goal for the only points of the game.

"Bradley is a good kicker and he can kick them longer than that," Burke said. "He could be a key to us this season."

Neither team could mount much of an offense due to the elements. The game was played in a steady rain which resulted in nine fumbles, five by North and four by Milton.

"We moved the ball pretty well and I felt we did about as could be expected under the conditions," Burke said. "Joe Dudek ran well and Pat Burke threw some good passes. Two good passes were dropped."

The veteran coach also praised the blocking of Mike Cullen and the play of the entire offensive

"The defense played very well," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "Jim Kelley did a fine job and had a key pass interception, Bob Leonard, filling in for Ray Mallory, who is ill, did well at halfback and Steve Howley and Jerry Connolly, playing his first game, were outstanding. Connolly had three sacks."

A key play in the game was a pass from Burke to Danny Linehan, which brought the ball to Milton's 15 and set up Bradley's game-winning field goal.

North gained 101 yards on the ground to 61 for Milton, with Dudek gaining 65 of them on 11 carries. The Raiders completed only two passes for 17 yards, while Milton hit on six for 75 yards.

Mike Ellis, grandson of the late Walter "Cap" Bryan, an all-time North Quincy great, did some outstanding punting, averaging 34 yards on six punts. Most of them angled out of bounds, preventing Milton runbacks. His longest was 42 yards. Bryan was also an outstanding punter playing for North's first teams in 1933 and 1934.

LONG CORDS - UNSAFE

In New Hampshire recently, a mother was brewing hot coffee in an electric coffee pot on the kitchen table. The lengthy cord stretched along the floor to an outlet on a nearby counter. Unknowningly, her three-year-old tripped on the cord and received permanent burn damage over a large portion of his body from the scalding coffee. According to a recent report from the Department of Health Education and Welfare, thousands of accidents per year are attributed to entanglements in appliance cords.

As a result, Underwriters' Laboratories, the watchdog of the nation's electrical safety codes, revised its standards to provide coffee-makers and other liquid heaters with cords that are a minimum of 2 feet and maximum of 3 feet long. This should greatly decrease the number of household burn accidents.

Take a hint: If you're using a cord that's overlong, shorten it for your own safety.

Milton Jayvees Rule North, 20-14

By PETE ZOIA

The Milton junior varsity football team defeated North Quincy, 20-14, Monday, with the winning touchdown coming in the final minutes of the game on a pass up the middle.

A scoreless first period was highlighted by a 42-yard punt return by North's Richie Brown to the Milton 28. A pass interception stopped that threat.

Milton scored first in the second period. A fumble on its 45 and a 15-yard penalty for a late hit put Milton on North's 12 and, after two line smashes were stopped, the winners scored on an end run for six yards.

Another North Quincy fumble recovered by Milton on the Raiders' 27, setting up its second touchdown which came on a pass. Milton kicked both extra points and had a 14-0 halftime lead.

It was a different story in the third period. North recovered a fumble on Milton's 36. Two rushes failed and a Milton defender plucked a North pass out of the air and raced up the sidelines.

The Raiders' Dave DiCarlo alertly stole the ball and raced the two tying points into the end zone. A two-point conversion try failed.

DiCarlo's smart move gave North a boost and twice its defense sacked the Milton quarterback for big losses. North took the ball on its 35 and DiCarlo knifed through the Milton line and outran the secondary for a 65-yard touchdown run. A Vin Barry to DiCarlo pass produced North Coach Ted Sadowski was pleased with his team's showing, realizing that this was the first time the Jayvees had been together as a unit and hadn't practiced as a team.

"DiCarlo does everything well," said Sadowski. "He was easily the outstanding player of the game." Ted also praised the line play of Kevin Johnson, who sacked the quarterback twice, and lauded the running of Brown.

With the sophomore schedules being dropped in the Suburban League this year, the schools will have a junior varsity game one week and sophomore contest the next week.

Next Monday it will be the North Quincy and Brockton sophomores playing at Cavanaugh Stadium.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You're good at coming up with moneymaking ideas, and if looking for a sponsor, luck is with you. Socially, an enjoyable but potentially expensive period.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Series of deadlines leaves you exhausted, but a bonus of congratulations from a V.I.P. thoroughly refreshes you — and provides the energy for taking on more hard work.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Draw on people with expertise rather than on novices, especially if creative plans are involved. If visiting faraway friends, you may find the journey to be the best part of the trip.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Thursday-Saturday emphasize business negotiations in informal settings. Weekend can be liveliest of the month. Stories about friends are more fiction than fact.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Don't commit yourself to long-term contracts without receiving outside advice. Work cuts into social activities. Differences with associates can be mended now.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Good week for organizing personal plans and goals. You're in the right places at the right times now. Supervisors seem impatient, but you can't let that affect performance.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Misunderstandings or mistakes, especially involving money matters, accent the first half of this period. You and partner reconcile now over longstanding family matter.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Friday-Sunday accent hosting with a novel touch — perhaps a spur-of-the-moment costume party? Monday-Wednesday is more serious and may include a lecture or two.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
This is one week when you prefer not to play the diplomat. Effective communication is most effective tool; make sure your instructions, complaints are understood to the letter.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
A splendid week for puzzle solvers. You have an ideal occasion for proving your skills. More tact than usual needed in dealing with romantic and business matters.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
A quiet period that ends on an upbeat note, with the accent on friendship. Home conditions improve significantly. Financial obstacles won't go away by themselves.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Early part of week is deceptive, and it's easy to make errors, especially if numbers are involved. Weekend experience shows that friendship and finance don't always mix.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You love people — all kinds of them in fact — and this year the accent is on variety and sociability. Intellectually you achieve a key accomplishment by spring. Just try to proceed with more determination than usual.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 24th, singer Anthony Newley; 25th, commentator Barbara Walters; 26th, actress Julie London; 27th, actress Sada Thompson; 28th, singer Olivia Newton-John; 29th, actress Madeline Kahn; 30th, singer Johnny Mathis.

Children from families whose income is at or below those shown are eligible for milk and meals free or at reduced prices. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other special hardship conditions due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply. Further, children having parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced price meals or for free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income caused the family income during the period of unemployment to be within eligibility criteria. Should your income or family size change, contact the approving official.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the following statement is placed just above the parents' or guardians' signature on the application: "I hereby certify that all of the above information is true and correct. I understand that this information is being given in connection with the receipt of Federal funds; that the school officials may verify information; and that deliberate misrepresentation may subject me to prosecution under applicable State and Federal criminal statutes."

Parents should clearly understand that every meal served in schools is subsidized to a greater or lesser degree by State-Federal reimbursements. Those lunches served at full price are subsidized as well as those served free or reduced. Therefore, there should be no reluctance to apply for either a free or reduced price meal. If your family size, and gross income is within the "Income Eligibility Criteria" for free or reduced price meals, we urge you and all eligible parents to fill out the application. The intent of these programs is to improve the nutrition of all children.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home with a letter to parents. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. In certain cases foster children are eligible for free milk and free meals or reduced price meals regardless of your family income. Under the provision of the policy, the principal will review all applications and determine eligibility. LaRaia, Collins, DeCristofaro Top total of 5,208 votes in leading those candidates to the wire.

Picard, 41, proprietor of the Let's Have Fun Nursery School in Wollaston, came up with 4,864 votes and Sullivan, 64, who was elected to the committee for the first time in 1973, had 4,863.

Conroy, 24, finished a surprisingly strong fourth with 3,884 votes. It is his third run for public office, having lost for Ward 6 councillor in 1977 and for School Committee in 1979.

"It was a little hard work and I spent more money than I spent before," he said. He said he spent $725.

Verenis, 34, a former civics teacher at North Quincy High School who was laid off in the recent Prop 2½ cuts, got 3,361 votes and O'Brien, manager of Wendy's Restaurant in Wollaston, had 2,975.

O'Brien's total barely edged out Donna Neal, 26, a UMass-Boston graduate, who had 2,589.

John J. Tompkins Jr., 41, a food worker, came in last with 1,282. Neal and Tompkins were eliminated from the November ballot.

DeCristofaro, 58, who works for the U.S. National Parks Service, stunned Cortese, 48, a retired police detective and his chief competitor, by running up a 2,041 to 751 margin.

Both were making their first tries for public office.

McDuff, who ran unsuccessfully for School Committee two years ago, was eliminated with 275 votes.

There was no contest for mayor on the preliminary ballot since there are only two candidates.

Daniel G. Raymond, who is giving up his Ward 2 council seat, faces Francis X. McCauley, who is passing up his at large council seat, in the November election for mayor.

The fine showing by LaRaia, a McCauley political ally, figures to give a lift to the McCauley campaign.

There will also be a contest for Ward 1 councillor in November with Council President Leo J. Kelly seeking re-election against a challenge from David MacMillian.

The same two candidates faced each other in the 1979 election and Kelly won handily.

Unopposed in November are Councillors John J. Lydon Jr., Ward 3; James A. Sheets, Ward 4; Stephen J. McGrath, Ward 5; and Joanne Condon, Ward 6.

Quinn Gets New Constituent On Election Day

City Councillor John J. Quinn got one expected vote in Tuesday's primary election—and signed up another voter for 18 hours hence.

Quinn's daughter, Mrs. Andrea Santoro, cast her vote for her father at the First Presbyterian Church in South Quincy at 8:01 a.m.

Then she hurried to City Hospital where she delivered a baby boy at about 12:45 p.m.

Mother and future voter are doing fine, said Grandfather Quinn, who easily qualified to run for his 13th consecutive term on the Council.

The boy, as yet unnamed, is the second child for Mrs. Santoro and her husband, Charles, and the sixth grandchild for Quinn and his wife, Lorraine.

The Santoros have a daughter, Nicole, 2½.

QCBPA Backs Board PDQ Urges Video Games Be Limited To 4

Video games and similar amusements were still a big issue in Quincy this week.

In the latest action, Progress for Downtown Quincy (PDQ), a business group, voted its support for a proposal to limit video games to no more than four in any one location in the city.

The proposed ordinance, offered by Councillor Francis X. McCauley, was scheduled to come up for hearing Tuesday night at a meeting of the Council's Ordinance Committee.

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA) went on record last week in opposition to a proposal that would change the makeup of the Licensing Commission to an elected body.

That proposal, made by Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, also was scheduled to be discussed at Tuesday night's Ordinance Committee meeting.

"Because of the unquestionable integrity of our License Board, we feel that the present officials and the departments that they represent should not be changed now or in the future," said the QCBPA.

The furor over the video games grew out of the License Board's approval of a video game center on Hancock St. operated by Charles L. Shea, acting purchasing agent, and Assistant City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington.

The license was granted Sept. 8 and taken away Sept. 15 and last week the attorney for Shea and Harrington notified the board that they did not recognize the annulment of the license.

Raymond's proposal was that the License Board should be made up of seven elected members (one from each ward and one at-large) plus one city councillor and one member of the School Committee.

"The implementation of such a process would allow for greater citizen participation and input into all licensing board matters," said Raymond.

Also on Tuesday's Ordinance Committee agenda was:

- A proposal by Councillors Joanne Condon and Stephen J. McGrath for the study of an ordinance banning video machines from the city outright or from certain areas by prohibitive zoning.

- A letter from PDQ reflecting an earlier vote "to change any and all zoning regulations to prohibit video centers and similar enterprises to be allowed in Business Zones and/or Historic Districts of Quincy."

- A proposal by Donald C. MacLeod, president of the Cranch Hill Association, that the number of video games at one location be limited to three and a maximum number be set for all of the city.

"There is nothing inherently evil about a game machine," said MacLeod, "but many young people tend to squander substantial sums of money on

North Quincy Projects

$3 Million In New UDAGs For City

By TOM HENSHAW

Quincy has received two more federal grants totalling $3 million to spur planned developments in or near the State Street South of North Quincy.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and Cong. Brian J. Donnelly announced Tuesday that preliminary approval has been given to a $2 million Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) to be used in connection with construction of Monarch III.

Peter O'Connell, the developer, said that work on the $34 million seven-story office building in the State Street South Complex will begin with site grading around the end of this week.

A few hours later, Tobin and Donnelly announced that a second UDAG of $1 million had been given approval involving the $12.5 million, seven-story North Quincy Executive Office Tower.

The tower is to be built by the Dickinson Development Corp. of Braintree over the MBTA Red Line tracks at North Quincy Station.

It was the third UDAG of the day to be announced by Donnelly, who also landed federal grants for the old Walter Baker factory in Dorchester Lower Mills and the old Garland Mill in Brockton.

Tobin praised Donnelly for his work in obtaining the grants for Quincy, particularly his technique of inviting local officials to Washington to meet with the folks who make the grants.

"We've found that personal meetings in which city officials and developers can sit face to face with the bureaucrats are very effective," said Donnelly.

"They get to know each other as people, not as figures on pieces of paper. The people who run the UDAG grants are developers themselves and personal meetings establish rapport."

Donnelly said he developed the style of personal meetings when he was asked to help obtain a $3.8 million grant to build a parking garage for the Quincy Center Plaza building.

"There was so much pressure on me as the new kid that I had to do something," he said. "It was my first time at bat and I had to produce."

Both of the latest grants to Quincy, he said, are actually loans to the developers who will pay the money back to the city to be used

Court 'Clarification' Sought On Saccone Reinstatement

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said Tuesday that the city solicitor is asking a clarification of a court order before restoring Sarah Saccone to an accountant's job with the city.

Superior Court Judge Andrew Gill Meyer on Sept. 18 upheld a Civil Service decision that Saccone, an accountant in the auditor's office, be restored to her job with back pay.

Tobin said, however, that "her job no longer exists in the present budget and there is no funding for it," that, he said, is the part of the ruling that needs clarification.

Meanwhile, City Councillor Francis X. McCauley, a candidate for mayor, applauded Tobin's decision not to contest Saccone's reinstatement any longer.

He said he was dismayed by the possibility that "the mayor planned to place Miss Saccone in another city position rather than restore her to her position in the auditor's office."

"Miss Saccone's absence from the auditor's office during the past 15 months is a major reason that the city's bookkeeping fell so far behind," said McCauley.

Saccone worked for the city for 12 years, including two years as budget coordinator for former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia. She was terminated by the auditor's office shortly after she returned.

Judge Meyer concluded that "there is ample evidence that the discharge of Sarah Saccone was for political reasons and not fiscal reasons."

Board Continues Complaints Against Sagamore Inn

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"There's no way police officers will take abuse while doing their job while I'm sitting here," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald at a license board hearing Tuesday regarding the Sagamore Inn.

The hearing, which was continued to next week's meeting, involved police complaints against the establishment at 78A-78B Sagamore St.

The complaints stem from a July 26, incident which "got blown out of proportion" according to John Haddigan, attorney for inn owners Michael L. Dormady, a Duxbury policeman, and Daniel C. O'Leary of Quincy.

According to the police report, Quincy police were tagging cars outside the establishment when the bar room emptied out. The officers put in a call for assistance.

Dormady allegedly accused Officer John Kelly of "picking on the place" and screamed, "You've had it. You're going to get it."

He also allegedly swore at Kelly and made threatening gestures.

"There's no excuse for his (Dormady's) action," said Haddigan. "I don't think it will ever happen again."

Haddigan also said when Dormady and O'Leary took over the establishment it was "the pits" but is now "a real good operation" with "no problems inside."

"You of all people should be able to get along with the police," City Clerk John Gillis told Dormady.

Fire Chief Edward Barry suggested rolling back the inn's closing time to 11 p.m. "to see how it goes for six months."

"I think it's wiser to suspend the license," said Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh.

Asked for his opinion, Officer Kelly said, "It was a one shot deal. I don't want to hurt the guy."

Motions by Dr. McKeogh to suspend the license for two weeks, by MacDonald to close the inn for two days, and by Barry to roll back the hours, failed to pass.

Gillis suggested six months probation and compassion by the board.

"Good God, we all make mistakes," said Gillis. "This fellow got overheated one night."

The matter was continued to allow input next week from Police Chief Francis Finn who was not in attendance at the meeting.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a permanent Motor II (used car license) for seven cars, making a total of 12 cars to Rudy's Service Station, 68 School St. A temporary Motor II license has been granted May 12.

- Granted licenses for machines at the following establishments: Sub Chef, 195 Newport Ave., one video game; Pizza Chef, 661 Hancock St., one video game; and Pizza Chef, 33 Temple St., two video games. The licenses had been granted for a trial period May 5.

- Continued for one week a hearing on alleged selling to a minor at Brewers Corner Package Store, 371-371A Granite St.

- Granted a license for two video machines at Liberty Lounge, 73 Liberty St.

- Voted to take under advisement for one week a request from Gull Oil Co., 1284 Furnace Brook Parkway, for a permit to store 22,000 gallons of gasoline under ground and a one car lube in addition to present storage of 1035 gallons of gasoline and oil above ground and 19,000 gallons of gasoline and oil underground and a two car lube.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said consideration could be given to raising the current limits of 25,000 gallons of flammable fuel above and below ground.

Barry said a higher rate would reduce hazard by cutting down on the number of trucks making deliveries.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to Quincy Youth Hockey for a dance Saturday, 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

A request from Mary Lima for a common victualer - take out only license for Montclair Market, 45 Safford St., was withdrawn Sept. 25.

A hearing on the 2 a.m. closing granted March 10, for a trial period to Sherry's, 579 Southern Artery, was postponed to next week.

Donnelly Urges 'Let Public See Successes' In Mental Health

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly has urged those who deal with mental health to "make sure the electorate sees your successes" in these times of cutbacks in human resources budgets.

Donnelly spoke and received a leadership award Sunday at the annual meeting of the South Shore Mental Health Center, Inc. at Kemper Insurance, North Quincy.

Awards also were presented to Quincy City Clerk John Gillis, Atty. Joseph R. Welch of Randolph and Lloyd Wilkie of Milton, who received the center's distinguished service prizes.

Gillis called it "an award for all the people of the city with the big heart, the city of Quincy. We have compassion. This will be placed in my office so that all can see it."

Donnelly warned that people who work in the area of social services face difficult times, what with Proposition 2½ at the local level and budget cutbacks at the state and federal levels.

The federal budget, he said, "is being architected by people who are advocating a new economic recovery program."

"I'm afraid," he said, "that the new economic recovery program is going to need another economic recovery program to right the wrongs and injustices that this new program is bringing.

"It is a lonely time for those of us who believe that the human resource is as valuable to this nation as capital formation and investment and economic development.

"But the onus is upon us because I think we have a perceptual problem with the electorate.

"The electorate does not see your successes. The electorate does not see the people who leave your institutions and return to the community to live normal, healthy lives.

"Too often the electorate and sometimes the media highlight those who are still on the road to recovery, those who take a little bit longer to return to the mainstream of society.

"I think it is a responsibility of those of us in positions of leadership to let the electorate know that the investment they have made over the last 20 years ought not to be tossed out the window."

Donnelly noted that President Reagan has advocated what he called "volunteerism" to make up for some paid services that will have to go in the wake of budget cuts.

"Volunteerism", he said, "is only available if there is a place and if there is an organization to volunteer at.

"South Shore Mental Health Center provides that opportunity for volunteerism and the state and federal resources that are made available on a limited basis are resources that are well spent."

Donnelly was presented with Membership Certificate No. 1 in the Friends of South Shore Mental Health Center.

The first annual membership campaign was announced by Governor's Councillor Peter Eleev, a member of the center's board of directors. "to build a strong, caring constituency in Quincy, Milton and Randolph."

Dr. Ronald G. Hersch, executive director of the center, said the new headquarters that is being built by the state at the corner of East Howard St. and Quincy Ave., Quincy Point, should be open by next fall.

"The new site," he said, "will provide the first in-patient psychiatric beds between the Bourne Bridge and the Neponset River Bridge.

"Over the past few years we have expanded our services and provided them to local neighborhoods. Today we have sites in 15 different places, 10 of them on an out-patient basis.

"We will maintain all of these sites."

Anselmo Gives His Side Of Issue

By FRANK ANSELMO
Quincy School Committeeman

"People everywhere are concerned with discipline," says Mary Collins, running for re-election for the Quincy School Committee. Is that a new discovery, was it not always so? Have you not also said that, "The Quincy school system has done a good job."

But if people are concerned about discipline in school, and justly so, are they also, in our present period of time, not concerned with the ever growing rate of crime in the streets as well as in a multitude of homes?

You compare discipline in private schools with discipline in public schools and therein you and some members of the School Committee show a shallow background of analysis of the problem. A private school is a private corporation or usually a religious institution which selects those that enter its portals; but a public school must, by law, take all students under the age of 16 - all the good and the bad students, and under 766 all that may be impaired by nature or by accident.

Did it ever occur to you and those that voted as you did, how kids, less fortunate than yours, have now and in the past been thrown out of their so called home, because of economic conditions or because of the ignorance of their parents? There is so much talk about care for dogs and pets and people rebel at the idea of throwing them out, abandoning them.

Do you care what may happen to that ill equipped youngster who is thrown out to that economic jungle now when even teachers by the thousands and, yes, even PhD's are looking for jobs? His animal instinct of self survival will force him to live by his wits; an easy prey for those that don't live by the forgotten Golden Rule. He in desperation may commit suicide, or resort to any of the many channels of crime.

So you and the teacher got rid of good rubbish, forgetting that he or she are human beings. That makes it easier for some lazy teacher, and in the process you have proven to your constituents that you are the modern Joan of Arc, the savior of our school system.

If the teachers, the QEA, are supporting your views then I say shame on them for certainly better ways can be found than throwing a kid, under age, without due regard to what will become of him, or her.

You are concerned and so am I. I am concerned at the fallacy of your position. Why don't you do a little research and become better acquainted with the facts of real life.

There is nothing new that you are offering, but if you reflect you may realize that while, today, it may cost about $2,500 to keep a kid in school and hopefully make a decent citizen out of him or her, it costs now as much as $25,000 a year to keep a criminal in jail; and it all comes out of the taxpayer!

If "a stitch in time saves nine" a little patience, a little compassion, a little understanding of what makes the human being tick, a little better method than getting rid of the bum, will certainly be more productive, more beneficial, and more economical in the long run for the taxpayers?

Yours for a better public school that can never be a private school.

Discipline: About Time

The Quincy School Committee's strong stand on discipline is a good one and long over-due. Rules on expelling troublesome students should have been tightened a long time ago.

The vast majority of students in high school are there trying to get an education with plans to go on to higher learning and with personal goals in life.

But there are others who are there just being a first class pain to everyone - to principals, teachers and students trying to learn.

A few of them even think they are running the schools. It's time they learned they are not. And time to weed them out.

The new policy, proposed by School Committeewoman Mary Collins and approved by a 5-1 vote (Frank Anselmo dissenting) requires high school students with four suspensions in one school year to either withdraw from school for the remainder of the school year or be expelled unless the committee hears a valid reason to given them another chance.

Students with four suspensions will now have to go before the School Committee for a hearing on possible expulsion. An option for them would be to withdraw from classes for the rest of the school year.

The School Committee has an option too; it could, after hearing the student, give him (her) another chance.

ANSELMO

Anselmo questions the legality of the new policy and says the school system is turning its back on those students.

He says (see his side elsewhere on this page) that by being "thrown out" of school, these kids may wind up in a life of crime or even "in desperation may commit suicide."

That seems somewhat exaggerated. First of all, under the new policy, no one is being "thrown out" of school. If a student wants to stay in school, he can.

All he has to do is act like a student and live by the rules. And, if he gets into trouble, he has still ample opportunity to turn himself around and win the right to stay in school. It's up to him.

No one is "throwing" anyone out.

As for crime, one of the reasons for its sharp rise, is the fact that too many kids for the past couple decades or so have been allowed to do what they please at home and in school. Rules and regulations have been for others, not for them.

Then, as adults, they think they can thumb their nose at society's rules and regulations and wind up becoming a burden and problem to others.

If they were taught discipline in the home and in school, they might not have the problems and mistakes they have later in life. Problems and mistakes that cost those who do live by the rules money and headaches.

"People everywhere are concerned with discipline," says Mrs. Collins. "They think we're too tolerant and it's too loose in school."

That's putting it mildly.

Actually most people are just plain fed up with what some kids have been getting away with in high school.

If they don't want to go to school to learn and to live by the rules, why keep them there? They're disrupting classes, wasting teachers' time and interfering with students who are there to learn.

The staff of Quincy schools is now down by about one third due to cuts under Proposition 2½. There aren't enough teachers and other school personnel to waste on misfits. Isn't it about time the youngsters with a purpose in life got the attention?

Anyone who gets expelled under the new policy has only himself (herself) to blame. Four suspensions don't come easily. You have to work at it.

For example being tardy six times without a good excuse makes one suspension. Cutting classes, giving a teacher back talk and other acts of misbehavior aren't necessarily a suspension but count towards one.

Mrs. Collins notes that some 232 students were suspended four times or more last year. Some as many as 13 times. Is there any better argument for tightening discipline?

Until now, students were expelled for offenses of major criminal nature.

That has given some kids a wide range of trouble to roam.

The new discipline policy hopefully will change that. Providing, of course, it is properly enforced.

And, just maybe it might straighten out a few youngsters and turn them in the right direction.

Once they realize the schools are not going to put up with their nonsense any longer everyone will be a lot better off. Including them.

'Guardian Angels' In Quincy!

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Recently I was the victim of a handbag snatcher in the Stop and Shop market on Southern Artery. I alerted an employee of the store, Steven Squatrito, who, without a second's hesitation, took off after the thief. Stephen was joined in the pursuit by Joseph Sutherland, store manager, and Debra Radley, a clerk, and several customers.

I am recovering from recent vascular surgery on my leg and am unable to move very quickly, but I tried to follow the chase. I shouted to some motorists in the parking lot who also heeded my call for help. I do not know the names of two men in particular who boxed the thief in from McGrath Highway. Mr. Thomas Moore, another motorist who joined the chase, was instrumental also in the capture of the man.

I would like to thank publicly all those who spontaneously reacted to my dilemma. The instant response from so many strangers was absolutely fantastic! We in Quincy, as in our neighboring city of Boston, certainly have our own "Guardian Angels!"

Taxpayers Association Still Favors 2½

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Taxpayers Association, Inc., actively supported Proposition 2½. We did so with the hopeful understanding that the voters of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts would stand by their vote and see that the representatives they elected to office would follow through and see that the fat be cut from all budgets and all essential services be strengthened. This is common sense government we want and we demand that elected officials stand and be counted by their actions.

We are hopeful that our elected officials have received the message! We are hopeful that every elected official will have a responsible, qualified person opposing him or her in the coming election. Let the vote of the people decide whether he or she did the job expected of them.

We have listened to all the scare tactics and we realize there is and will continue to be a lot of money spent in opposition to the people's will. However, we still and will continue to be for common sense law in government.

All the voters and taxpayers of the Commonwealth, in and out of government, want is a properly run Commonwealth, including all cities and towns and counties. So is that too much to ask? We are paying the tax and we want our tax dollars spent prudently!

So we say to the elected officials, "Get your act together! There is no political machine larger than the aroused voting public! The founders of The Quincy Taxpayers Association Inc., and its present members and its Board of Directors and its officers are obligated to uphold the purpose of the association, which is to encourage, foster, initiate and promote a non-partisan interest in and study of business and fiscal activities of all federal, state, county, and municipal government agencies, in relation to the taxpayers of the City of Quincy and to help such governing bodies in maintaining an economic and efficient administration. The main object of the association is to secure and to insure an intelligent, economical and efficient expenditure of public funds and administration of the municipal affairs of the city of Quincy, with fundamental principle being that the best use of the tax dollar be made.

The association shall have all the powers and enjoy all the privileges granted by the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to this type of corporation organized under the General Laws.

At Kitchen Tables O'Neill Finding Out What Bothers People

Thomas P. O'Neill III, the lieutenant governor who'd like to be governor, says he has come over to the side of the people in their struggle against government.

He was motivated to change, he said, by the people's rejection of his good friend, Gov. Michael Dukakis, and what he calls their coming rejection of his foe, Gov. Edward J. King.

"They failed to keep their promises," he said, "so the voters rejected Mike Dukakis and they are in the process of rejecting Ed King."

"People finally said, 'We don't trust you politicians anymore. You don't keep your promises. So now we're going to give you government by referendum.' And they voted for Proposition 2 1/2."

O'Neill said his political philosophy has undergone a sharp change since he was Dukakis' right hand man and, after the latter's defeat, he became an outsider in the King camp.

"The most dramatic thing that made me change," he said, "was that over the past year I went to 400 or 500 homes and over kitchen tables and cups of coffee I found out what it is that bothers people."

"They tell you, 'We're getting taxed out of our homes. We're getting taxed out of our businesses. We're getting taxed out of the state.' Nobody talks about hope anymore."

"If we really want it to work we've got to move for fundamental change."

O'Neill, who announced his candidacy, Sept. 21, and immediately took to the hustings, listed these fundamental changes:

THOMAS P. O'NEILL

- Abolition of Civil Service. "I don't think it works anymore. It came in to do away with the spoils system. What you've got now is an institutionalized spoils system. I'd replace it with strong merit hiring, strong collective bargaining and arbitration."

- A freeze on local property tax assessments. "I want to make taxes for the first time in the history of this state predictable. I want assessments on residential property to go to 100 per cent, put 2 1/2 on top of them and freeze them. It doesn't lock in commerce and industry."

"I want to get repugnant about the word 'taxachusetts,'" he said. "Why is it we lose our affluent seniors? The tax structure is forcing them to go to New Hampshire or Florida. We are losing their savings dollars when they move."

O'Neill conceded that he was against Proposition 2 1/2 when it appeared on the ballot as a referendum last November but he has since come to accept it as something to live with.

"If you repeal it or change it," he said, "people are going to revolt and dump tea in Boston Harbor because they've had it. The burden is too high. That's why we have to make the tax base more equitable."

"Then it's up to the government to adjust to it, to use it as a challenge. Don't intimidate the people. Don't be spiteful. They're only telling you what needs to be done because they can't afford it anymore."

O'Neill said he doesn't regard his challenge to an incumbent governor as disruptive of the Democratic party, like Lt. Gov. Francis Bellotti's run against Gov. Endicott Peabody in 1964.

"In fact," he said, "you're the only one who has brought it up to me. Obviously times have changed. The people didn't like what Dukakis was doing and they don't like what King is doing."

"I think the party needs the debate."

"The Democratic party's greatness was that it built the middle class of this country. For the past 10 or 12 years it forgot to represent them. It's in trouble when Ronald Reagan steals the middle class away."

"The Democratic party got fat sitting back on it haunches simply being the majority party and didn't percolated up new ideas to keep itself current and representative of the people."

Volunteers Needed To Construct Indoor Thermal Shutters

The Quincy Community Action Energy Crisis Intervention Program is recruiting volunteers to assist in constructing indoor thermal shutters for windows.

Volunteers will take part in an energy saving project which will have an impact on project participants' increasing energy costs.

Heat loss through windows, can be a significant contributor to high energy costs. Movable window insulation, such as thermal shutters, is becoming a popular method of reducing that loss, according to Quincy Community Action.

The thermal shutter project is another of the energy saving programs administered by the Quincy Community Action Organ-

Other programs designed to reduce high energy costs include the Weatherization Program and the Low Cost/No Cost Energy Conservation Program.

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Observer Finds Candidate Nixon 'Direct, Sincere'

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the Republican nominee for vice president, spoke for 20 minutes to a dinner crowd of some 4,000 people from the steps of First Parish Church on a whistlestop tour.

"No man in America in the world is better qualified to keep America strong than Dwight Eisenhower, who has come through every time," he said, speaking of his presidential running mate.

Nixon, who arrived from Boston in a motorcade at 6 p.m. with his wife, Pat, was presented a replica of the Abigail Adams Cairn and taken on a tour of the Adams crypt in the church.

"His approach is western in that it is direct, sincere and free from any affected mannerisms," said an observer.

"He talks to you about political principles with the same forthrightness a farmer would talk about the effect of rain or drought on laid-by corn."

DIRTY BOOKS AROUND

The Patriot Ledger conceded that its campaign to get dirty books off the Quincy newsstands, begun with the establishment of the Quincy Literary Review Board in 1948, "has completely collapsed."

"Not only are the 25-cent pocket-sized reprints back but they have brought company — the 50-cent reprint — twice as much filth for twice as much money," said the newspaper.

It was reported that the novels of two authors, Donald Henderson Clarke and Nelson Algren, whose works had been banned from Quincy three years ago, were back on display.

POLICE CHIEF EXAM

Seven captains and lieutenants were preparing to take the Civil Service examination for appointment as police chief to succeed the late Chief Joseph F. Hughes, who died in February.

They were Capts. William Ferrazzi, the acting chief, William F. McIntyre and Joseph P. Flaherty; and Lts. Anthony Caperci, William Devine, Charles L. Ferrazzi and Frank Vallier.

MONTCLAIR ADDITION

School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard told members of the Montclair School PTA touring the four-room addition to the school that students were unhappy with drinking fountains in each classroom.

"It spoils the best racket that the children had for getting out of the rooms," he said.

QUINCY-ISMS

Mayor David S. McIntosh and Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston agreed to sponsor a bill through which Quincy would be able to purchase Squantum Park for $25,000 ... Catherine C. Ryan presided at a meeting of the Quincy Kennedy for Senate Committee at the Elks Home ... Gertrude F. Callahan took over as director of the Thomas Crane Public Library succeeding Galen Hill, who died a few days before his retirement ... A 15-year-old Cape with four bedrooms and 1 1/2 baths on Forbes Hill was $24,500 with Town and Country Homes, Inc., 45 Willard St., West Quincy ... City Councillor David J. Crowley, the Democratic candidate for Congress, charged that Cong. Richard Wigglesworth of Milton is "typical of the decadent dry rot that causes governments to fall" ... A threatened strike of some 450 draftsmen at the Fore River shipyard was averted when the Bethlehem Steel Co. agreed to its first contract with the union at a State House conciliation session ... Residents of Post Island complained that the two-year-old bridge from Mallard Rd. was 12 feet too short and they had to wade in water up to their knees at peak tide ... Hamburger of 59 cents a pound at the Town Food Mart, 1626 Hancock St. ... Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mariano of 39 Lancaster St., Quincy Point, received word that their son, John, 20, was killed in action in Korea Sept. 19 ... Richard J. Koch was named Ward 6 chairman of the Kennedy for Senate campaign ... Rear Adm. L.A. Moebus, chief of Naval Air Reserve Training, said "weekend warriors" will move from Squantum to the new Naval Air Station in South Weymouth around April 1 ... Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford were starring in "Affair in Trinidad" at the Strand ... The Army disclosed that the Fore River shipyard was making carriages for the world's first 280 mm atomic cannon being developed at Watertown Arsenal ... Wilfred A. Creighton was seated as worshipful master of the Manet Masonic Lodge, succeeding J. Lawrence Widdow ... The oldest Quincy-owned volume of scripture was displayed in the Granite Trust Co. window, a New Testament printed in Greek in 1567 loaned by the Rev. Joseph D. Parkman of the Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church ... Earl Rand and his danceable band were playing Friday and Saturday nights in the Terrace Room in the municipal parking area ... CLICKING DENTURES

Q: I have a friend whose new set of teeth make a clicking noise. What causes that?

A: Perhaps your friend's teeth are loose and pop up, causing them to hit against each other. More likely, especially since they're new, they may be a little too large for her mouth, so she doesn't have enough space to speak without them hitting together.

Q: My old dentures look brand new, but the front teeth seem to have gotten shorter. How is that possible?

A: What probably has happened is that the underlying bone has worn down from the pressure of chewing, causing the denture to ride up higher in the mouth, with a shorter appearance of the front teeth. You need a new denture.

All those who would love a clear, concise explanation of All-Savers Certificates, please raise your phone.

is virtually all you need to know about the All-Savers Certificates that will be available at all 16 Hancock Bank and Trust offices beginning October 1, 1981, through December 31, 1982 for as little as $500.00.

Dial this number any weekday during banking hours and someone equipped with an in depth knowledge of the opportunities these new certificates offer will be pleased to explain them and answer any questions you have.

Interest earned on All-Savers Certificates -- up to $2,000.00 on a joint return and $1,000.00 on a single return will be tax exempt. This is a lifetime exemption, and you only get it once.

The interest rates paid will be 70% of the one year Treasury Bill rate, set periodically (12 61/2% starting October 1), and guaranteed for one year.

Presently outstanding 6-Month Money Market Certificates may be converted without penalty to All-Savers Certificates.

Plans For All Savers

As you may already know, All-Savers Certificates will be of most interest to those whose Federal tax bracket is 30% or greater.

However, it's very likely that a call or visit to any Hancock Bank office will be profitable even for those in lower brackets.

You see, we also offer a number of other investment certificates in a range of maturities and rates, and a variety of other attractive savings plans. One may be perfectly suited to your needs and we invite your questions on them as well.

The introduction of All-Savers Certificates has been plagued by some confusion. But now, you have a way to clear up that confusion and get all the answers you need right at your fingertips.

$3 Million In New UDAGs For City

for further development. "Basically," he said, "we are building a pool for Quincy to use in the future."

"This is awfully good news for the city," said Mayor Tobin.

He noted that in the four years that he has held the office of mayor, some $152 million worth of new construction has been brought to the city.

"That's stuff in the ground," he said. "Things you can point to. This is actual, not political. When I leave office in January, I hope I am loved by the citizens of Quincy by the things I have done."

Not included in the $152 million figure, he said, is $8.5 million in state and federal grants, $1.6 million for rehabilitation of two existing buildings, and $8.3 million in grants for neighborhoods.

"We are working on legislation now to permit leased parking for cars under the Neponset Bridge ramps to make way for the construction of the $16 million Gateway building," said Tobin.

Peter O'Connell, whose Forge O'Connell Properties will be the beneficiary of the $2 million UDAG, said it is expected that Monarch III will be completed in about 15 months.

He said he has commitments for the leasing of about one-third of the 328,000 square feet of office space.

Forge O'Connell is a joint venture of the O'Connell interests, Monarch Insurance Co.

of Springfield, and the State Street Bank.

Monarch I and II, also in the State Street South Complex, have been completed and are now occupied fully by the Commercial Union Insurance Co. and the Boston Financial Data Corp.

These two buildings were built for $16 million and $20 million respectively.

Tobin listed some of the other buildings that have been or are being built under his administration as:

The $16 million Quincy Center Plaza, the $11 million Louisburg Square Condominiums; the $11 million National Fire Protection Association headquarters, and the Clipper Associates complex at $8 million.

these games."

The youth of Quincy also was in the mind of Joseph Tocchio, whose letter to the committee was the only expression of support for video centers on its agenda.

"Our youth are now driving to Natick, Nantasket, Lynn, Revere, and other sites of great distance in order to spend their free time in video game centers," said Tocchio.

"It is my belief that we should keep our kids in Quincy. We can see where their time is spent. We can see the clean, well-run establishments where our youth enjoy themselves."

"We can keep them off the highways and near home. I worry about our kids on the roads, especially during the winter months. Snow and ice cause accidents and deaths. Video games give pleasure and enjoyment."

DUBLIN EXECUTIVE Michael Traynor, center, is presented a plaque designating him as an honorary citizen of Quincy by Mayor Arthur Tobin, right. Traynor, son of James Traynor, left, of Quincy, was making his first visit to this country.

Most investors find the idea of tax-free interest quite appealing. That's why our new tax-exempt All Savers Certificates have such great interest. Especially for people in the 30% tax bracket, or above.

All Savers earn 70% of the average investment yield of the one-year Treasury bill in effect when the certificate is purchased (which can be any time between October 1, 1981 and December 31, 1982). The rate, when you choose to buy, then is guaranteed for a full year. Because the rate is set monthly, the current All Savers effective rate of 12.61% will remain in effect only through October 5th.

Whatever amount you invest (the minimum is $500), all interest on your All Savers Certificate has a lifetime tax exemption of up to $1,000 on an individual Federal income tax return, $2,000 if you're married and file jointly.

You should also know that six-month money market certificates can be converted to one-year All Savers Certificates with no penalty.

Your investment also is risk-free, because all deposits at Quincy Savings are insured in full by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and Deposit Insurance Fund of Massachusetts.

All Savers. The term certificate that's tax-free, risk-free and guaranteed for a year.

With reasons like those, shouldn't you call us at 471-3500 or talk with one of our customer service representatives right away?

All Savers.

A new tax-free, risk-free investment.

Pretzels For Children At Squantum Church

Each of the children at the First Church of Squantum Sunday received a pretzel from their pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

Dr. Langevin explained that, historically, the first pretzels were used as rewards for children who remembered to say their prayers.

Viewed from the proper angle, the pretzel has the same general shape as the arms and hands of a child whose hands are folded for prayer.

The pastor said he hoped the treat would remind the children to pray everyday.

Sermon for the adults was "Our Ministry To Those Who Are Sick", continuing the series from the Book of Acts.

The Chancel Choir sang "I Will Not Leave You Comfortless" by Titcomb.

Cliff and Shirley Mason were greeters for the morning. Edward Perkins, Paul Paulson, Tore Wallin and Steve Williams were ushers.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Kathy Hansen, Shirley Mason and Sandy Sumner.

On Monday nights, Willpower, a church-related weight control group, meets at 6:45 p.m. There is a Leadership Workshop at 8 p.m.

Bible Study meets at 10:15 a.m. Wednesdays in the church parlor. Participants are to bring their Bibles.

Three different choirs meet on Thursdays. The Junior Choir meets at 2:30 p.m., Boys' Choir at 3:15 p.m. and Chancel Choir at 7:30 p.m. The Youth Choir rehearses Sundays after the Fellowship Hour.

Friday nights, one of the church youth groups, Seven-Up, meets 7 to 9:15 p.m. Dues are fifty cents.

On Sundays, Cinnamon Toast begins at 8:30 a.m., Sunday School (grades three to six) at 9:15 a.m., and Sunday School (nursery to grade two) at 10:15 a.m.

Next Sunday, World Communion Sunday, the Lord's Supper will be observed.

It will also be a day for church members to renew their church covenant.

Workshop Planned On Friendship Bible Coffees

A Friendship Bible Coffee and Sharing Shoppe Workshop with Velva Ford, FBC national representative, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 9:30 a.m. at First United Presbyterian Church hall, 270 Franklin St., South Quincy.

The event will start at 9:30 a.m. with optional coffee.

At 10 a.m., there will be prayer, an introduction and Sharing Shoppe. Subjects will be: how the FBC ministry began; why FBCs are different; introducing people to Christ; explanation of guidelines and handling situations; how to multiply FBCs; relationship between FBC and CB & PW/CWC; explanation of contact advisor/coordinator of position and her responsibilities; how to follow up on those who make commitments; and promoting FBC at dinner and luncheon meetings.

There will be a challenge at 11:30 a.m., and brown bag luncheon at noon. A Book Browse during lunch is optional.

A meeting with area representatives, consulting coordinators, coordinators and potential coordinators will take place at 1 p.m.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Meetings On Catholicism At St. John's

St. John's Church, Quincy Center, is hosting a series of meetings for those interested in knowing more about Roman Catholicism Sundays at noon during October and November.

The informal meetings will take place in the conference room of St. John's School, 26 Phipps St.

There will be no meeting Oct. 11.

The meetings are attended by people such as those who are baptized or unbaptized, from other faiths or from no particular faith, "born Catholics" but had no Catholic upbringing, desire to raise their children as Catholics but feel unprepared to do so, or those who have been attending Mass without being a member of the church.

Such people can become acquainted with parishioners of St. John's at the meetings, and consider the basic concept of Christianity as taught by the Catholic Church.

Ample time is allowed for discussion and questions as this is strictly a period of inquiry.

At the end of November, the inquirer who has a basic understanding of Catholicism and who desires communion with the Catholic Church can decide to enter the Catechumenate.

Persons can prepare for reception of the sacraments of initiation such as Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist.

For more information, contact a member of the catechetical team: Mrs. Janet Blakely, 471-9052; Fr. Dan Graham, 773-1021; or Joseph Papile, 479-6163.

Bar Association To Meet

Reservations should be made by Oct. 12, for the Quincy Bar Association's first meeting of the 1981-1982 fiscal year, Monday, Oct. 19, at Mr. Kelly's, Quincy Point.

There will be an open bar, 6 to 7 p.m. Dinner will follow.

The board of governors has invited Atty. Earle C. Cooley, and Thomas R. Kiley, first assistant Attorney General, to be guest speakers.

The Quantum Barbershop building, often regarded as the discussion center for community affairs, has been sold by Joseph LaCamera, the town barber, to John R. Herbert of Squantum, President of The Quincy Co-operative Bank.

LaCamera is retiring and moving to Florida. His barbershop has been leased by Herbert to Bob Cuilla, formerly of the Razor's Edge in Quincy.

The Alpha Book Store, a mail order shop, which occupied the other store in the building, is moving to North Quincy. The new tenant will be Mrs. Margot S. Herbert, wife of the new owner.

The building will shed its name of The Town Barber Shop and will be renamed "The Piano Factory".

Mrs. Herbert will do piano repairs in the shop. The International Association of Piano Craftsmen, which was founded by Mrs. Herbert, will be located in the building and its official publication, "Keyboard News", of which Mrs. Herbert is editor, will be published from the new office.

Squantum Barbershop Building Purchased By John Herbert

In choosing The Piano Factory for the name of the building, Mrs. Herbert is paying tribute to the late Alfred Johnson of Squantum, who was a supervisor of piano making of Hallett and Davis in Neponset. Mrs. Herbert owns Mr. Johnson's tools and piano making equipment.

The barbershop reopened Monday under the management of Cuilla, and Mrs. Herbert expects to begin operations in the building by the first of October.

The building has been a landmark in Squantum for many years. It occupies a site where a World War One French engineer constructed aircraft.

Cuilla lives in Hull and is married to Diane Pagington of Hull. The couple has six children. Cuilla was born in Sicily and came to the United States when he was six. He spent the early years of his life in South Boston and has been a barber for 19 years. Associated with him in the new shop will be his nephew, Phillip Cuilla, and Jane O'Malley. The shop will specialize in men and women's hair styling.

Mrs. Herbert is the daughter of Joseph L. Upping and the late Marjorie Upping. She is a graduate of Thayer Academy, Garland Junior College, and she studied piano technology at The Pulister school in Newton. She is a certified piano technician.

PARENTS AND YOUNG DRIVERS

Young drivers (under 25) are involved in over twice as many accidents as any other age group. Traffic safety experts agree that the single most effective influence on improving their driving performance is parental control. Here are some of their suggestions.

Make sure your teenager takes advantage of a driver education course. Many schools offer them and they'll save you money on your insurance bill.

Most teenagers begin their driving in the family car. Don't be afraid to assert your authority from the start and be consistent. Learn to use the word "no" when you feel you should.

Make it your business to know your drivers' whereabouts and how they behave on the road. Don't hesitate to restrict driving privileges when unsafe driving warrants such action.

Do your best to control drinking and driving by youthful drivers in your family. Alcohol is a factor in 71% of deaths of drivers under 21.

May Become Statewide Model

Life Center Beechwood School New Role

By TOM HENSHAW

The Beechwood Knoll School became the Beechwood Community Life Center this week in a move that could become a statewide model for what to do with an abandoned school building that's too good to give up.

The 29-year-old school building on Fenno St., Wollaston, was declared surplus recently in the cutback of school facilities.

Next Monday (Oct. 5) it will resume its educational function again, this time as a self-sustaining school of art, music, drama and kindred subjects for young and old alike.

Fees range from $25 to $100 for 10-week courses and registration is currently being conducted from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, at the school.

Under a plan approved by the School Committee last week, the Beechwood Community Life Center has a three-year memorandum of agreement with the School Department to use the school at no charge.

"Actually, we are saving the city $24,000, the cost of closing the building, storing furniture and securing the doors," says Dr. Cecil Paul of Eastern Nazarene College, the executive director of the center.

"We are responsible for full maintenance of the building, utilities and insurance for the full replacement value."

The School Committee also has the authority to evaluate the agreement in nine months if there is a possibility that the building may be needed for educational purposes.

In addition, the Quincy Recreation Department will have the use of the school gym on certain afternoons.

The Beechwood Community Life Center is newly incorporated to provide the Intergenerational Enrichment Program, coordinated by Betty Southwick, a Quincy school teacher who was rified in recent cutbacks.

Its component parts are the Beechwood Players, Frank Santoro, coordinator; Musik Schule, Carolyn Seifert, coordinator; and the Quincy Art Association, Anet Paglierani, coordinator.

The idea got started last spring when the School Committee decided to close the Beechwood Knoll School and neighbors were concerned that it was going to be converted into a warehouse.

"A group of us got together and formed the Beechwood Knoll Community Council to come up with another use for the building to present to the School Committee," said Ginny Kurtzman, who lives on Perry Rd.

"We learned that Dr. Paul had a plan so we got together and presented it to the community. They liked it and, when they realized that the community was behind it, so did the School Committee."

Also incorporated into the program is the Wollaston Counseling Associates, of which Dr. Paul is director, and Campus Kinder Haus, a day care center sponsored by Eastern Nazarene.

The Beechwood Community

Life Center is a non-profit organization which is supported by the fees it charges for its programs.

Dr. Paul and Associate Director Janet S. Powell are unpaid. So are the two dozen volunteers. Teachers - 10 in music, 10 in art, about 25 in all -- will be paid out of tuition.

The Quincy Art Association plans an exhibit of paintings as early as November; Musik Schule hopes to be able to hold a concert sometime around Christmas; and Beechwood Players are readying a show for late January.

Cortese: Let's Debate; DeCristofaro: Why?

Joseph F. Cortese, who lost the preliminary election for Ward 2 city councillor by a 3-1 margin, has challenged his triumphant opponent, Theodore P. DeCristofaro, to a debate.

DeCristofaro said he'd think about it, adding, "I don't know what he has to debate about. He's just grasping at straws."

"An open forum would provide the people of Ward 2 with an excellent opportunity to decide who should represent them," said Cortese in a letter sent to DeCristofaro by certified mail.

Cortese, a retired police detective, said he envisions three or four debates at various locations in the Quincy Point, South Quincy and Quincy Center areas.

"The sponsors, moderators and locations for these debates can be found quickly if my opponent agrees to accept my challenge by Oct. 5," said Cortese.

DeCristofaro noted that a candidates' night has been scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Fore River Clubhouse.

"We'll both be there," he said, "I don't know why that wouldn't suffice. Why should there be anything other than that?"

DeCristofaro got 2,041 votes to 757 for Cortese in last week's preliminary election in which both men qualified for the ballot in the Nov. 3 general election.

DeCristofaro Rally Saturday

The Committee to Elect Ted DeCristofaro Ward 2 Councillor will hold a campaign rally Saturday, Oct. 3, from 7:30 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Fore River Clubhouse, Nevada Rd.

Tickets at $5 a person are available from Ray Dunn at 479-5964 or at the door. There will be dancing to music of Collage, door prizes, desserts and a cash bar.

Board Discusses Parking Problems At Bay Inn

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A License Board hearing Tuesday on a permanent 2 a.m. closing for Quincy Bay Inn turned into a debate over a familiar topic—adequate parking.

The matter was continued for two weeks but not before area residents and the ward councillor had their say on the inn's performance since a temporary 2 a.m. closing was granted May 5.

Mrs. Carolyn Timcoe of 25 Denmore St., complained of trash in the area from inn patrons.

Area resident George O'Brien said that there are still parking problems caused by inn patrons on Newbury St. O'Brien said that emergency vehicles would have a difficult time getting through the crowded street.

Louis Zagami, Jr., of 16 Newbury St., also told of parking problems on his street in a letter sent to the board.

In another letter, Gayton Fitzgerald of 28 Newbury St., said there was enough "noise and mess" with the inn's original hours.

"Quincy Bay Inn has cooperated," said Councillor Joanne Condon, "but problems are not completely solved."

Mrs. Condon said that officer details the inn was required to have are not being filled by police the majority of the time.

Police Capt. Paul Nestor said Quincy police had had trouble over the summer filling details.

Mrs. Condon said the major problem was, "there are more patrons than parking spaces" and "cars are in areas where they don't belong."

Fire Chief Edward Barry and Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh asked Atty. Richard J. Vita of Quincy Bay Inn about the possibility of an additional parking area at a nearby boatyard owned by the inn.

Vita said that parking in that area, which is actually owned by a trust, is a possibility. But, said Vita, an office building is also being discussed.

Vita said he would make more of an effort to clean up trash and keep traffic off the side streets.

When Mrs. Condon said she felt the inn's allowed occupancy of 505 was too high, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald agreed saying, "the zoning law is wrong."

MacDonald said he asked the Planning Department to upgrade the occupancy law, but "it goes in one ear and out the other."

He agreed with fellow board members that the boatyard should be used for parking.

"It would solve all the problems," said MacDonald.

Board members instructed Vita to investigate the possibility of using the boatyard land for parking, and to report back to them.

Pet Stock Show Saturday At Mass. Fields School

The annual Pet Stock Show of the Massachusetts Fields School Parent Teachers Organization will be held Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school yard and adjoining ballfield.

Schedule of events for the day will be: 10 a.m., judging of pets; 11 a.m. finals of foot races; and 2 p.m., costume and doll carriage, tricycle and bicycle parade.

There will also be games, rides, food and crafts and other attractions for the family.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Proceeds will be used to provide extra equipment for the children to use throughout the school year, as well as extra functions throughout the year.

Raymondi Backs Federal Anti-Condominium Bills

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, a candidate for mayor, has announced his "strong support" for federal measures that would effectively halt the conversion of apartments into condominiums.

"These measures are desperately needed throughout the nation," said Raymondi. "In Quincy, many renters are losing their homes to condominium conversion.

Some of these persons have been living in their homes for years, especially the elderly, and many can't afford to buy their apartments after they have been converted.

Senior citizens and young persons seeking reasonable rentals are getting nowhere. As the number of condominiums rise, the apartment market decreases and rents skyrocket.

For persons like Quincy's senior citizens living on a fixed income, this trend can mean doom.

And for the young couple or single person seeking a place to live, Quincy is increasingly becoming too expensive to live in."

One of the bills would prohibit condominium conversions for two years. Federally-related loans would be barred from conversions or for the purchase of converted units.

The second bill would effectively discourage real estate speculation through condominium conversion by revamping the taxing rate from ordinary income to capital gains.

"Quincy's residents are scared and rightfully so," Raymondi wrote, "because many elected officials are avoiding their duty to protect those who need it most: senior citizens and middle and low-income earners."

"Affordable and decent living units are a basic right; a right I have fought for in Quincy and will continue to fight for."

Roger Whitcomb Nominated Veterans Council Commander

Roger Whitcomb has been nominated as commander of the Quincy Veterans Council.

The election will take place the third Thursday of October at 6 p.m. at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Also nominated were Larry Visco, senior vice commander; Paul Eldridge, junior vice commander; Edward Boland, finance officer; Lawrence Perette, public relations officer; Thomas Mills, assistant finance officer; Ralph Paul, historian; Joseph P. McDonough, judge advocate; Joseph Sullivan, chaplain; William Ash, assistant chaplain; and Lawrence Carnali, grave registration officer.

Burger King Withdraws Extended Hours Request

Burger King will have to do some housekeeping at its 670 Adams St. location before the Quincy License Board will consider granting extended hours for that and the two other local restaurants.

District manager Robert Halterman had requested the following revised hours for the three Quincy Burger Kings: 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. at 670 Adams St., and 6:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. at 68 Granite St. and 505 Quincy Ave.

That request was withdrawn without prejudice, however, at the suggestion of Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh who called the Adams St. location "inferior."

Dr. McKeogh said that location can't be adequately kept clean and told Halterman, "You've been Mickey Mousing the Health Department for seven years."

"It's not up to the quality of the other two," said McKeogh who found fault with the texture and design.

Halterman said he'd like to update the facility but can't because of a rental agreement.

He also said he hadn't heard from health inspectors that the facility had failed inspection.

McKeogh called the facility "poorly designed" with overhangs that can't adequately be kept clean.

When Halterman asked that the hours revision be considered separately for each location, McKeogh declined saying, "This is the only chance I have to muscle you."

"The facility should be totally refurbished, or knocked down," said the Health Commissioner.

City Clerk John Gillis backed up McKeogh and said, "You're not going to get my vote unless you do something."

The request was withdrawn when Fire Chief Edward Barry warned that if the hours were voted down, Burger couldn't re-apply for one year.

Ward councillor James Sheets notified the board by letter that he also opposed extended hours for the Adams St. location.

Should we have a funeral and visitation for Grandpa?

He was very old,
maybe he doesn't have any friends left

The choice of a funeral or visitation for the elderly should not be made on false assumptions. It is easy to believe that old people have no friends. Many have spent their last years in a nursing home away from others. Many of their friends may also have preceded them in death. Nevertheless, today there is a larger population of the elderly than there has ever been before, and that population is growing! Many families who have chosen a visitation and traditional funeral have been gratified to meet friends of the deceased who call to pay their respects because they cared about the person. Others come to express support of the family. When an older person dies, a funeral and visitation, gives friends a chance to express their feelings.

Raiders Host Newton North At 10 A.M.

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team, which lost to Brockton by a deceiving 26-0 score last week, will host Newton North in a 10 a.m. Suburban League game Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Newton comes into the game 2-0, having defeated Framingham North, 23-14, and Medford, 15-8. Last year North Quincy and Newton played to a 14-14 tie.

Brockton came into Veterans Memorial Stadium last Saturday touted as another Eastern Mass. powerhouse and expected to play in the Super Bowl again this year.

However, Dave Burke's underdog North Quincy team controlled the ball most of the game and with a little luck the score would have been much closer.

North ran off 60 plays to just 32 for Brockton but lost two apparent touchdowns, one on a dropped pass in the end zone and another on a fumble on Brockton's three.

The outstanding defense, which was outstanding, pressured Brockton into six turnovers, recovering four Brockton fumbles and intercepting two passes.

Veteran back Jay McGee was virtually the whole Brockton offense, as he scored every point and gained 86 of his team's 128 yards on the ground. However, the North defense contained him in the second half, holding him to 23 yards.

Joe Dudek was North's leading ground gainer for the second week in a row, picking up 78 of the Raiders' 96 yards on the ground.

Pat Burke did some fine passing for North. Although he completed only seven of 22 for 91 yards and two interceptions, at least a half dozen perfectly thrown passes were dropped, including the one in the end zone. The Brockton defense put heavy pressure on Burke and he sacked several times.

"I think we proved today we are a good ball team," said North coach Dave Burke. "The score should have been much closer. McGee is an outstanding runner but we shut him down in the second half. If it wasn't for dropped passes and fumbles, we might have surprised them. We are going to win some games this year."

Burke hailed the running of Dudek and the passing of Burke and also had good words for Danny Linnehan and Dave DiCarlo.

He also singled out Bob Pound, Steve Lee, Mike Panaro and Steve Howley in the offensive line.

"The defense really played well today," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "They really contained McGee in the second half and they came through several times with their backs to the wall. We had some juniors in the secondary who looked good and I really think we'll do well the rest of the season."

Raymer was especially high on junior Jim Kelly, who was outstanding all day. He also had good words for junior Bob Leonard, Mike Hutchings, Howley, Rich Comeau, Rich Stevens, Neil Fisher, Mark Miceli, Gerry Connolly, Burke and Dudek.

North drove to Brockton's 24 following the opening kickoff but Brockton held. The Raiders then staged their best drive of the afternoon, marching 76 yards, with McGee doing almost all of the carrying, and he scored from the nine. He also rushed for the two extra points.

Brockton's Jim Noone recovered a North fumble on the Raider 13 and McGee carried twice for the score, going over from the three.

North, sparked by Dudek, drove to the Brockton 28, clicking off three first downs, but the Raiders held. North's Stevens recovered a fumble on Brockton's

40. Burke threw a perfect pass to Dudek, who dropped it in the end zone.

Brockton's Bob O'Neill, who played an excellent game at quarterback, threw a 55-yard bomb which Burke intercepted on the Raiders' 26.

A North pass was intercepted and O'Neill threw a long pass to McGee for 52 yards and a touchdown.

North's Dudek stopped a Brockton threat by intercepting a pass in the end zone in the third period and soon afterward North's Kelly recovered a fumble on the North 32.

North Quincy staged its best drive of the afternoon, with a pass-lateral from Burke to Bill Gray to Kelly picking up 24 yards. North picked up five first downs and went to the Brockton three where it lost the ball on a fumble.

Brockton scored once more when Paul Collett intercepted a pass and ran it back 45 yards to North's 14. McGee scored his final TD from the eight.

Sterling Rolls Over Broad Meadows, A-N

By PETE ZOIA

The Sterling ninth grade football team rolled to a 20-0 victory over Broad Meadows and Atlantic-North defeated Central by the same score last week as the junior high season got underway.

Darren Tucker and Mike Drachio were the offensive stars for John Gostainian's Sterling team. Tucker set up the first touchdown with a 58-yard punt return and scored eight points in the first period. Drachio scored twice, the first from the six-yard line in the second quarter and on a 10-yard run in the third.

John O'Callahan also helped out with a fine catch of a Tucker pass. Tucker scored the last eight points on an eight-yard run and the two-point conversion.

Two perfect pass plays from quarterback Dave Zurum to Jerry Coughlin accounted for touchdown plays of 18 and 31 yards for Atlantic-North.

A Central drive was stopped in the last quarter and A-N, with Steve Kelly, Joe Bangs and Dave Cook doing the ball carrying, scored on John Rency's three-yard run.

The Central eighth grade team topped Atlantic-North, 14-6, with a first quarter blocked punt giving A-N the ball on the eight. Ron Bowles scored from the three. A 12-yard run by Mike Haynes tied the game for Central in the third period but a 44-yard pass play from Scott Miller to Dave Ayles gave A-N the winning touchdown in the final period. Mike Barron added the two point conversion.

For Central Frank Nolan had a 45-yard kickoff return and Ted Shoronis, Eric Roukey and Leo LeMay all played well for Atlantic-North.

The Broad Meadows eighth graders squeezed by Sterling, 8-6, with Sterling taking the lead on Don Parry's seven-yard sweep for the only points of the first half. BM retaliated in the final quarter when Bob Hunter ran for 50 yards to tie it. Paul Hussey rushed for the winning two-point conversion. Frank Freedman of BM had two key pass interceptions.

Panthers Edge Manets, 8-6

The Quincy Point Panthers defeated the Houghs Neck Manets, 8-6. Sunday in a Quincy Youth Football League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Panthers' attack was sparked by Billy Shaughnessy, Jimmy Mayo and Kevin Salmon, but they were unable to score in the opening period. In the second quarter a 30-yard pass from Shaughnessy to Bobby Pitts set up the only Panther score. Salmon scoring from the three. Pitts took Shaughnessy's pass for the winning two point conversion.

In the third period the Manets were stopped on the Panthers' three yard line by the defensive efforts of Salmon and Shaughnessy. Chris Marshall stopped another Manet drive with a pass interception.

Early in the fourth quarter the Manets scored but missed the try for the tying points. Steve Montgomery sparked the Manets' attack and Chris Doyle was the defensive standout.

David Britt and Mike Minichello played key roles in the victory.

The North Quincy Apaches lead the league with a 2-0 record, followed by the Manets, 2-1; Panthers, 1-1; Squantum Sailors, 1-2; and West Quincy Elks, 0-2.

Sunday the Panthers will face the Sailors at 2:30.

Jackie Coveney Leads Weymouth Over Quincy, North

Little Jackie Coveney, a 148-pound fullback, spelled disaster on consecutive Saturdays as he led the undefeated, untied Weymouth High School football team to identical 14-0 victories over Quincy and North Quincy.

Coveney, third brother to star for the Maroons, scored one touchdown and ran 25 yards to set up the other as Weymouth overwhelmed the Raiders, running up 255 yards on the ground.

North Quincy lost most of its offense when its best back, Dick Worthley, suffered a second period injury.

Coveney scored one touchdown on a two-yard run and helped Weymouth to accumulate 165 yards with his running speed in the Maroons fifth straight victory over Quincy.

Charlie Sacchetti, Quincy's perpetual motion man, ran up most of the Presidents' yardage despite a bad leg. Quincy gained 39 yards rushing, lost 41.

Presidents Home To Revere At 1:30 P.M.

Quincy's football team, which bounced back from a disappointing loss to Cambridge Rindge and Latin to wallop Weymouth South, 27-7, last week with a fine second half showing, will be home to a strong Revere team Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Revere, a Greater Boston League entry, is 2-0 with a 39-21 win over Wakefield and an 18-0 decision last week over Arlington. Last fall Quincy and Revere played to a 7-7 tie.

"We really played a game today," Quincy Coach Tom Fitzgerald said. "We trailed at the half but had two touchdowns called back and we really played football in the second half.

"We went with our game plan to open them up in the second half and, with Mark Picot and Steve Goguen running well up the middle, it paid off. Picot and Goguen did a great job all afternoon and ran hard.

"Bob Mudge, in his second game at quarterback, was much more relaxed than in his first game and he played an excellent game. He ran the option well and did some good passing. He passed for one touchdown and had a 45-yard scoring pass called back."

Although Picot and Goguen spearheaded the ground game, which accounted for more than 200 yards, Chris Dracchio and Mark Righini also ran well.

In the offensive line big Joe Harie, playing his first game at center, played well and Dan Mahoney and Dave Donnelly were outstanding at tackle. Also shining offensively were John Taglieri, Paul Quigley and Mike Shaughnessy.

On defense the coaches singled out Mike Nevins and Taglieri, the linebackers. "They were just great and intimidated them," Fitzgerald said.

Also standing out defensively were Quigley and Picot, who played both ways. Mike Connors who blocked a punt setting up a score, Jamie Gravalese and Joe Bush.

"Our special teams did well and Mike LeBlanc was outstanding on kickoffs," Fitzgerald said.

Weymouth took an early lead when quarterback Rob Lyons hit Ed Kinsella with a 15-yard touchdown pass and the kick made it 7-0.

The Presidents, frustrated by having two scores nullified, scored in the second period when Mudge passed to Shaughnessy for 10 yards. The try for points failed and Quincy trailed, 7-6, at the intermission.

In the third period Picot and Goguen scored on four-yard runs and Righini rushed for two points as Quincy took a 20-7 lead into the final period.

In the finale Connors blocked a punt and Picot recovered in the end zone for the final touchdown of the game. Haite kicked the point.

Quincy Soccer Team Off To Slow Start

Bob Jack, who has a wealth of soccer experience and formerly coached at Eastern Nazarene College, has taken over as boys' coach at Quincy High and hopes to improve the soccer fortunes there.

The Presidents, who have had little luck in recent years, got off to another slow start, losing to North Quincy, 3-1; Newton North, 2-0, and Waltham 7-0.

Quincy will play at Brockton Friday and will host Weymouth North Tuesday at Veterans Stadium soccer field. Both games will start at 3:30.

"There seems to be a real state of depression at Quincy over soccer and I hope that by teaching the boys the real fundamentals of the game, how to shoot, dribble and overall ball control, we can, first of all, better last year's 2-14 record, and at the same time make the boys better soccer players," Jack said.

"I have ten seniors back, of which only seven played any status last year. Fortunately, I have four sophomores who look good."

Jack's starting lineup includes senior Jeff Morrison in goal, seniors David Church, David Goulbert and Carl Lockhart fullbacks, seniors Bob Burrelli and Peter Papile and junior Jim Perry halfbacks and senior Jim Hapennie, juniors Bill Rollins and Brad Kenyon and sophomore Steve Thurston forwards.

"The strength of the team lies down the middle, namely Morrison, Lockhart, Papile and Rollins," said Jack.

Rounding out the squad are

Hapennie scored Quincy's goal in the opening day loss to North Quincy.

Braves 2nd In Junior Tourney

The Quincy Braves made the annual 16-team Quincy junior baseball tournament an all-Quincy final this year for the first time.

The Braves handed the champion Quincy A team its only defeat in the tournament and lost a 5-4 squeaker to the A's in the title game.

The Braves defeated Hingham A, Norwood Colombos, Norwood Police, Milton, South Braintree and Quincy A to gain the spot in the finals. They were one of the top defensive clubs in the event with infielders Bob Callahan and Dave Tocchio making particularly outstanding plays along with the other infielders, Bob Laracy, Steve Haggas, Brett Heeney, Joe Rabb, Kris Meyer and Dennis DeCoste, who played almost flawless ball.

In the outfield Mark Bilton, Jamie McArdle, regarded by most people the fastest player in the tournament, Amal Abouzeid and Sean Gately played fine ball. Tom Tegen did the coaching backed up by Dan Santry, also a designated hitter.

The pitching was handled by Mike Dever (3-1) and Laracy (3-1), who posted impressive figures. Laracy allowed five earned runs in 22 innings.

Bilton and Tocchio batted over .500. DeCoste and Tegen over .400. Abouzeid, Laracy, McArdle and Rabb over .300. Bilton had three home runs and Tegen one. Laracy and Bilton were named to the all-tournament team. The Braves also traveled to Norwood after the tournament to play the Norwood Colombos under the lights and broke even, winning the first game, 5-3, and losing, 5-1.

The team was managed by Bob Foley, who has 23 years in the Junior League, assisted by Dick Laracy and Gildo Carrera. George Santry was the scorer.

Milano Fuel Wins Hancock Softball Tournament

Milano Fuel defeated the Weymouth Naval Air Station, 19-14, to win the annual Hancock Bank softball tournament held for the benefit of the United Way.

Thirty-two teams started the event.

In the consolation game Hutch's walloped Factory Mutual, 18-9. In the semifinals Milano edged Hutch's, 9-8, and Naval Air Station nipped Factory Mutual, 5-4.

The big stars for Milano were pitcher Don Carlson, third baseman Eddie Giblon, left fielder Harold McManus, designated hitter Mike Milano, second baseman Dave Henson and shortstop Alex Barghout.

Sparking the Naval Air Station were Stan Morse, who had three hits, Ernie MacLaughlin, who had a home run, Capt. Bob Hicks, pitcher Don Ray, second baseman Dave Devioic and center fielder Stan Morse.

Chuck DeNicola had three hits for Hutch's and pitched well, while third baseman Tony Camillo, Bob Wirtz and Jim Rogers all played well.

Fred Chok was outstanding for Factory Mutual, having several timely hits and playing well on defense.

North Booters In Win, 2 Ties

The North Quincy boys' soccer team is off to its best start, going unbeaten in its first three games with a win and two ties.

Paul Bregoli's Raiders will host Brookline Friday at Veterans Stadium soccer field and will play at Waltham. Both games will start at 3:30.

North started off with a 3-1 victory over Quincy in the season's opener for both teams.

North scored first as senior co-capt. John Keenan scored off a corner kick in the first period. The Presidents tied it with one second to go in the half as Bill Hapenne scored. The Raiders came out fired up in the second half and scored the game winner midway through the third period as Dwayne Wilcoxon scored with Steve Sacchetti having an assist. Sacchetti added the insurance goal in the final quarter.

North Quincy and Weymouth South played to a scoreless tie, although North dominated the game, peppering the Weymouth goaltender with 25 shots. North's Pat King had only four saves.

The best scoring chances for the Raiders were by Rich Palma, Jim Boudreau, Sacchetti and Bourikas. Dennis White and Steve Hawes also played well.

North battled back to tie Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 1-1, with Cambridge taking the lead early in the third quarter. North refused to fold and scored the equalizer early in the fourth quarter as Wilcoxon took a nice pass from Philip Morris and beat the Cambridge goalie cleanly.

North swarmed the Cambridge end but was unable to capitalize on several scoring chances by Palma, Sacchetti and Boudreau. King had one day in net with 15 saves. Palma and Lester Gerry had their best offensive showings to date. Greg DiBella had a strong two-way game.

"Our defense has been sensational," Bregoli said. "We have given up only two goals and one was a fluke. The back line of DiBella, Courtis and Flynn has shut down the other teams' scorers. Our offense has sputtered a bit, but has the potential to break out. When they do break out, we'll have an excellent club."

O'Malley, Murray Tennis Tourney Winners

Tony O'Malley won the men's singles title and Sue Murray the women's singles crown in the 11th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament co-sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Cooperative Bank.

Thirteen champions were crowned with O'Malley teaming with Dick Hutton to win the men's doubles and Murray teaming with Sue Coleman to win the women's doubles.

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 1

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
If making a point or taking a stand, opt for a firm but never shrill approach. Friends could use a talk on self-confidence. Emphasize good news in long-distance correspondence.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Excellent week for catching up on domestic chores or family obligations. Best approach to a tricky work situation is experimentation — but only to a degree.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Small domestic pets are in the picture... perhaps you're adopting a kitten or pup. Travel becomes complicated. Collecting money becomes simplified.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Thursday-Friday accent negotiations and you generally have the edge. Weekend is favorable for spoiling yourself. Monday finds you cleaning up errors, clearing up misunderstandings.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Branching out is favored. Perhaps you decide to offer a new service, expand your educational horizons or take up a new hobby such as calligraphy or birdwatching.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
You're voted peacemaker of the week, and after tackling neighborhood and/or office disputes, you feel suited for a U.N. post. Relax. Your reward is far more enjoyable.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Time spent worrying over problems of a friend is counter-productive, if not just depressing. Good week for launching partnership ventures, especially if they include a creative angle.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
First part of this period is filled with social activity, but after weekend things grind to a halt. Actually, allies are promoting you behind-the-scenes.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
This week's emphasis is on practical matters. Your talents and skills are crisply defined and you see how you can apply them to future projects, personal and professional.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Ideas of friends can benefit you now, but it's also easy for a neighborly dispute to erupt. Important meeting about future planning should not be delayed.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Relationships are spotlighted, and this may prove a lovely time for launching a business or romantic partnership. People involved in the performing arts enter your circle.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Good week for sounding your own horn — as long as you're being melodious. Travel or other plans may be rearranged by a third party. Unexpected guests enliven weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Venus rules your sign, which means that love and art and beauty are all important to you. However, your greatest successes this year happen in practical ventures. Self-discipline and patience become your best tools.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 1st, actor Stanley Holloway; 2nd, actor Moses Gunn; 3rd, writer Gore Vidal; 4th, actor Charlton Heston; 5th, director Joshua Logan; 6th, actress Carole Lombard; 7th, actress June Allyson.

Long-Range Planning Crucial, Says Toland

Patricia Toland, a candidate for the City Council at large, says long-range planning, prioritizing issues and setting goals is more crucial to the city than ever before.

"We have just seen a funding opportunity from federal and state sources for sewer improvements slip through our fingers because of lack of foresight," she told a coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr of Squantum.

"The city's redevelopment effort is now substantially hindered because the problems of the sewer system remain unsolved."

"Obviously, not only does the city have to be concerned with redevelopment, it must be concerned with maintenance of the existing plant.

"Quincy's politicians have to discipline themselves and stop postponing resolutions to ever mounting problems. Our city, like so many others across the state, is in a fiscal crisis."

"Next year, Quincy's budget squeeze will be greater than the present one. Other sources of cash, federal revenue sharing, block grants and state aid will generate less money probably than this year."

"It is time to start talking about our priorities for next year's budget. It is time to talk about how we will approach putting the municipal house in order."

In 88 Days Wollaston Man Completes 4,900-Mile Cross-Country Trip On Bicycle

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

He rode on his own through scorching temperatures, swarms of grasshoppers and biting flies, and headwinds which sometimes gusted to 50 miles an hour.

At one point, he crept past buffaloes not more than 15 feet from his unprotected bicycle.

Another time, he conquered Mingus Mountain to be rewarded with the town of Jerome, an old copper ghost town literally built on the side of the mountain.

And, says Peter Larkin, 27, of Wollaston, "It was the best trip I ever had."

Larkin took three months off from his job as a messenger-dispatcher this summer to ride his bicycle 4,900 miles across the United States. He crossed the country vertically as well as horizontally, and in the process, touched all four sides of the United States.

The trip, accomplished in 88 days, began in San Diego, Calif., where Larkin had flown with his seven year old, Schwinn 10 speed bike.

Loaded with 100 pounds of gear and protected with a bicycle helmet, Larkin set off across the country.

The longest day's ride took place towards the beginning of the trip when Larkin travelled from Yuma to Gila Bend, Ariz., and covered 126 miles in 11 hours, aided by a favorable wind.

As the trip continued, Larkin rode through the red rock country of Oak Creek Canyon, and then enjoying the peace and quiet afforded by a sparse week-day crowd at the Grand Canyon.

Navajoland yielded Larkin glimpses of the Indians' struggles to survive in a barren, harsh environment.

In Zion National Park, he was escorted by a ranger through an unlit, mile long tunnel.

Since stretches between towns were commonly 50 miles, Larkin had to plan wisely to make it safely through desert regions.

In Colorado Springs, he visited friends who took him to the top of Pike's Peak.

After riding into the Black Hills of South Dakota, he took a mile long tour underground through Wind Cave in the national park of the same name.

Larkin encountered the heaviest rain of the trip in South Dakota where four inches of rain fell in one day. In that state, he was also plagued with broken spokes on the freewheel side of his bike.

His back tire began yielding problems in Wisconsin where three spokes broke almost at the same time. Larkin finally had his parents send him a new back wheel built by Crout's Bike Shop of Quincy, and he experienced no further problems with broken spokes.

He entered Canada at Sault Ste. Marie and travelled 220 miles on the Trans-Canada Highway which he considered the most frightening ride of the trip since the highway is not designed for bicycles.

After arriving safely in Ontario, he rode across the Manitoulin Island, and then crossed the Georgian Bay by ferry on a "picture perfect" day.

He found the Adirondacks of New York less difficult than expected, and finally entered New England across Lake Champlain.

Larkin's brother, Tim, accompanied him the last 18 miles of the trip home. He crossed a home-made finish line to the cheers of his parents, Pat and Greg Larkin, as well as other relatives and friends.

"It was a good chance to find out how people treat strangers," said Larkin of the trip which he planned for two years.

"I was never harassed one time on the trip. And I was never injured."

"I got to see how I managed on my own, and to see the country. He recommends that other people try such a trip."

"It's not so taxing that you can't handle it."

He had previously taken just day trips on his bike.

A member of the League of American Wheelpeople and Charles River Wheelmen, Larkin has also been a runner for the past five years.

In preparation for the trip, he walked a lot to build up his patience for the slower pace of a bike trip. He also worked out in weight rooms.

He obtained maps and other information by writing to state police, chambers of commerce and national parks and forests.

Larkin doesn't know if he'll make such a trip again. For the time being, he's got plenty of memories to look back on.

And in case his memory gets a little rusty, he can always pull out the photos he took during the trip.

There are 1,100 of them.

Herald Distribution Center Draws Neighbor Complaints

The Boston Herald American may be winning some readers with its new format, but apparently its distribution at 494 Hancock St., Wollaston isn't winning neighborhood fans.

Several area residents complained at Tuesday's License Board meeting of noise disturbances at the center between 2:30 and 6:30 a.m., the use of Hancock St. as a loading dock and other matters.

City Clerk John Gillis told the residents the disturbances were a noise matter, but that the License Board would listen to the matter as a courtesy.

Kathleen Rohan, representing the residents, gave the board a letter of complaint signed by more than 20 mostly Albion Rd. residents.

Gillis suggested that residents get together with representatives of the Herald.

Atty. Steve Keefe representing the Herald told Gillis the distribution center will be moving within a month to six weeks.

In the meantime, said Keefe, a person will be posted at the center during the early morning hours to keep noise to a minimum.

Collins Urges More Volunteers For Schools

Mary Collins, a candidate for reelection to the School Committee, has called for the increased use of volunteers to help youngsters in Quincy schools.

"Our cutbacks in the Quincy Public Schools have been severe at every level," she said, "and the loss of teachers aides has hurt every building. The aides were valuable and not replaceable and their services will be sorely missed."

"As I've been meeting the citizens of Quincy, I've become more and more convinced that there are people of all ages, from all walks of life who would be happy to volunteer some time in the schools and whose expertise and good will will be of great value to our young people."

"In addition to the great benefit that would occur to our schools, I feel that such an endeavor would contribute much to mutual understanding between student and members of the committee."

City Considers Radios For All 165 Policemen

The city is investigating the possibility of equipping all 165 patrolmen in the Police Department with their own radios as a public and personal safety measure.

The Council Monday night directed Councillor Stephen J. McGrath to meet with Chief Francis X. Finn, Auditor William Grindlay and Henry Bradley, president of the Police Betterment Association.

They will investigate the financial feasibility of purchasing 125 new radios at an estimated $1,650 apiece for the patrolmen to keep with them 24 hours a day like they do their guns.

Finn and Bradley testified before the Public Safety Committee that the Police Department has 20 radios "in hit or miss working condition" plus 40 new and workable radios.

The workable radios are passed around from shift to shift and Finn said they would be better cared for if each officer were allowed to keep it as part of his personal equipment.

Bradley told how one police officer was under attack by a pipe-wielding prowler and he could not radio for help a few blocks away because the other officer had one of the 20 old radios.

"The officer suffered an arm injury that has kept him off duty for three and a half weeks," said Bradley. "It has cost the city the same amount of money as one and a half radios."

The 125 radios needed to equip the 165 patrolmen would cost the city $206,250, he said.

Finn testified that the Police Department is short about 23 officers and Council President Leo J. Kelly noted that the money spent for the radios would hire eight new policemen.

Will Not Sue

Shea Won't Resign Over Video License

By TOM HENSHAW

Charles L. Shea is not going to resign as acting city purchasing agent. Nor is he planning to sue the city over the Licensing Board's withdrawal of a license to operate Quincy Video World, Inc., and its 80 video and pinball games in downtown Quincy.

City Councillors Daniel G. Raymondi and Joseph J. LaRaia Monday night called for the resignation of Shea and his video partner, assistant City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington.

"I am not going to resign," said Shea Tuesday. "If someone wants to fire me they can. I don't think that just because I'm a city official I am supposed to be a second class citizen."

"I have no intention of suing the city. I would not put the city through the ordeal of such a suit. Besides, I'm not sure we have anything to sue them on."

Harrington was not available for comment at press time.

Shea noted that a letter sent by an attorney for himself and Harrington to the Licensing Board claiming the license was still valid made no mention of a suit.

"We have had elected officials in this city who have held licenses," he said. "No questions were raised. There was nothing wrong with it."

Shea named no names but it was public knowledge that former Councillors J. Vincent Smyth and Joseph E. Brett held liquor licenses at the same time they held public office.

"At least," said Shea, "I've given the candidates a good issue to kick around."

"Here we are faced with Proposition 2½, revaluation, reduced federal aid, and a potential 400 layoffs next year and the candidates for public office are more interested in Space Invaders and Asteroids."

Meanwhile, John Gillis, chairman of the Licensing Board, told the Council that "our official position is that the license has been rescinded. They do not have a license."

The letter to the Licensing Board said Shea and Harrington do not recognize the withdrawal of the license and that claim sent the City Council into a quandary Monday night.

How could City Solicitor Robert Fleming defend the Licensing Board in any court contest against a suit by a member of his own staff?

"There was a letter sent to the Licensing Board but I don't believe there is any litigation," said Fleming. "If there is we would refer the Board to outside counsel."

This promptly led Councillors LaRaia and Raymondi to call for the resignations of both Shea and Harrington.

"Because of this conflict of interest," said LaRaia, "the city has to go to the expense of hiring outside counsel."

"I agree with previous calls for the resignations of two individuals

City Bows To Court, Saccone Reinstated

Sarah Saccone, the accountant who was ousted from her job in the Auditor's Office, was scheduled to report back to work yesterday (Wednesday) after the city exhausted its last appeal from a Civil Service reinstatement order.

Miss Saccone said a letter ordering her to report for work in the auditor's office at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday was hand delivered to her by Quincy police late Tuesday afternoon.

Earlier, Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said he planned to file an order with the City Council—possibly at a special meeting—creating and funding the accounting job for Saccone.

Superior Court Judge Paul G. Garrity Tuesday apparently removed the last road block thrown up by the city in the way of restoring Saccone to the job she lost June 27, 1980.

"No problem," said Tobin. "We'll just go to the Council with an order to create and fund the job and then it's up to the Council. We'll do it and get the whole thing behind us."

Tobin said he would have the order ready for the next City Council meeting Oct. 19 or maybe even before at a special Council meeting.

The status of Saccone was brought up at Monday night's Council meeting by Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia. She served as budget coordinator during his two-year term as mayor.

LaRaia elicited from acting City Auditor William Grindlay that his department is behind in closing the city's books on fiscal 1981 and that he could use more accounting help.

LaRaia, reading from a report given him by Grindlay, noted that 11 people were employed in the auditor's department on Oct. 1 while it had 16 employees on Jan. 1, 1980.

"It is obvious," he said, "that lack of personnel is a major reason why the department is playing catchup."

"In this report, Mr. Grindlay says, 'I am also in need of additional, competent and dependable help. Regardless of who the next auditor is he will not be able to perform in a manner in which the City Council would like without additional personnel.'"

Under questioning by Councillor Francis X. McCauley, Grindlay told the Council that when he succeeded Charles L. Shea as auditor in March "the department was behind in posting entries."

"I feel there should be several accountants in the office," he said. "If adequate funding could be brought, I would have no objection to her (Saccone) in the job."

Joseph McParland, the assistant city solicitor who handles labor negotiations, told the Council that Saccone had been offered an accountant's job in the Public Works Department but she refused.

"I have been directed by the mayor that she be reinstated and that she be paid whatever the court

A Notice To Our Readers

Due to rising production costs and inflation, the price of The Quincy Sun will be increased to 20 cents effective with the Nov. 5th issue.

High costs in labor, newsprint, ink, photographic and typesetting materials, postage and in other areas involved in the production of a newspaper, make this move mandatory.

The Sun has tried to absorb these increased costs but now finds it impossible to continue to do so.

This will make only the second price increase in The Sun's 13-year history.

Part of the increase will go to our more than 400 news carriers who faithfully bring The Sun to your homes each week and to newsstand vendors.

The Sun, as we have often said, has been blessed with loyal readers and advertisers who believe in the need for a community newspaper.

We have tried to give Quincy a good community newspaper and to continually expand our news coverage.

The cost of producing a community newspaper—like everything else these days—is up considerably from what it was 13 years ago.

For just the second time since 1968 we find it necessary to increase the price of our newspaper to meet those costs.

We hope our readers will understand this reluctant but necessary move.

$27,000 Vandalism At Furnace Brook Golf Course

They had to call off the Boston Police Golf Tournament at Furnace Brook Monday.

Vandals used a vehicle to batter down a steel door to the cart shack, destroyed 11 of the club's 12 golf carts and tore up the fifth green so badly that it is unplayable.

Club President Harold

McCarthy estimated damage at $27,000.

McCarthy said the vandalism took place sometime between 1:30 p.m. and 6:45 a.m. Sunday, shortly after police were called twice to break up a gang of youths gathered in the parking lot of the club.

"This just about puts us out of business," he said. "It was no casual thing. It must have taken a gang of 10 three or four hours to do this much damage."

Furnace Brook has long been plagued by vandals. Not long ago, they broke into the cart shack through the doors which were then replaced with steel reinforcements. They were broken down Sunday.

Board Approves Increased Storage At Gulf Station

"It's a step in the right direction," said Fire Chief Edward Barry Tuesday when the Quincy License Board approved increased storage permits for the Gulf station at 1284 Furnace Brook Parkway.

The increased storage should allow Gulf trucks to reduce deliveries of flammable fluid to the station from once every five days to every eight days, according to Richard Nothelfer of Gulf.

Gulf obtained a variance from the Zoning Board of Appeals to exceed the 25,000 gallon storage limit in the city.

"I have no objection," said Barry, "before this came up, I was considering advocating increased storage myself."

Barry had said at last week's meeting that updating the zoning regulations with regard to fuel storage would reduce the hazard of trucks coming into the city, save fuel nationally and reduce costs.

He specified this week that the Gulf station could store 40,000 gallons of flammable fluid underground, and 1,000 gallons above ground.

Barry also listed regulations for installing the larger tanks.

Gulf will have to discuss the matter with the Zoning Board of Appeals before installing the tanks, since the variance stated work was to be completed before school re-opened in September.

Tax Rate Not Until Jan. 1, Says Comer

Chief Assessor John P. Comer told the City Council Monday night that, due to revaluation snafus, the Quincy tax rate for fiscal 1982 probably won't be set until after the first of the year.

This is why, he said, it is so important for the city to obtain state approval to send out estimated tax bills for the first half of the tax year.

A bill that would give such approval passed the Senate for the first time Monday.

Comer said the newest data assigned to the city by the State Department of Revenue for review of its revaluation is Nov. 2.

"When they are satisfied that the method we used is in order they will permit us to send out notices of the new valuation," he said. "Then comes the two-month review process."

After that, he said, the city still has to get a classification "factor" from the state in order to classify property as residential, commercial, industrial and open space.

"When the City Council and the Mayor set the classification rates and the state certifies them and the tax rate is set, then the actual tax bills could go out," he said.

Comer defended the work of PRC Jacobs, the Virginia firm that has been revaluing the city and lost three weeks work in a computer malfunction.

But the City Council was skeptical.

It reluctantly approved an $18,000 appropriation to cover the mailing of the estimated tax bills after some councilors tried futilely to pin the cost on the Jacobs firm.

"It's a problem for Jacobs, not the city," said Councilor Daniel G. Raymond, but it was decided that the money could not be charged to the reval account.

Seniors, Handicapped MBTA ID Cards Registration Oct. 22

Area residents 65 years and older, and the handicapped will be eligible for identification cards for reduced rates.

Registration day will be

To qualify as a handicapped person you must have a disability that restricts or limits your use of public transportation.

Proof of age and residency is required. There will be a 50 cent charge for a photo for the ID card.

What is gray, weighs 800 pounds and is getting a lot of smiles from passersby at 1568 Hancock St?

It's a granite cemetery stone topped with a parking meter in front of Beacon Fabrics & Furniture Co., in memory of Quincy Shopperstown USA — 1949-1981.

"I'm not doing it to be funny" says Beacon owner Sandy Rounseville, "I'm serious."

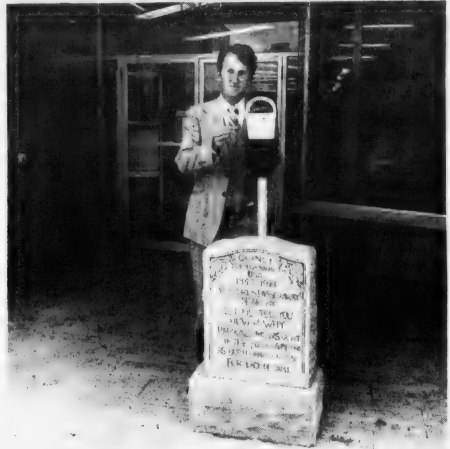

"They're really choking us with parking tickets. The more we try to get people in, it seems like the more they're trying to squeeze us."

The stone's epitaph reads, "35 stores passed away near by, let me tell you how and why, parking meters did it in the fullness of time, as death came on us, for lack of dime."

Rounseville says he has gotten mostly favorable reaction to the stone erected Tuesday. At least half a dozen merchants also favor the cemetery marker, he says.

"People come from Duxbury, Hingham, Cohasset and Scituate. They get a parking ticket and they don't want to come back to you again," said Rounseville.

"We've got to do something," said Rounseville, "before they put us all out of business."

SANDY ROUNSEVILLE, also known as "Paul Revere", and "Comfortman" has erected an 800 pound granite grave stone in front of his Beacon Fabrics & Furniture Co., 1568 Hancock St., in memory of Quincy Shopperstown. Rounseville, shown placing a dime in the meter vows the marker will remain until all parking meters are gone.

Rounseville vows the stone will stay outside during business hours until the parking meters are completely gone.

Board Deliberates QSD Problems

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"I'd like the backing of the license board, the city and the city council in getting the MDC moving to make Quincy Shore Drive safer," said Police Chief Francis Finn at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Finn's comment came as the license board again tried to get a handle on traffic problems along the roadway by Wollaston Beach which was the site of several fatalities this summer.

The matter was continued to Jan. 12, after board members, a merchant along Quincy Shore Drive, and a ward councillor discussed the problems and possible solutions.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh said he has written to the Insurance Institute of Highway Safety for help with the problem.

He also said he has tried to figure out a way that patrons of the Beachcomber can exit from the parking lot without going back on Quincy Shore Drive.

But, said Dr. McKeogh, "It's impossible."

He did suggest that James P. McGettrick of the Beachcomber talk with an architect about draining and surfacing the off street parking area to encourage patrons to use it.

Ward 5 Councillor Steve

McGrath said the Quincy Traffic Commission had several recommendations:

- to request that the MDC install sodium vapor lights along the boulevard; and

- make traffic lights from Furnace Brook Parkway to Beach St. working signals to slow down traffic and reduce speeding.

McGrath pointed out the recommendations can't be mandated since the drive is not in the Quincy Police's jurisdiction. "We don't control it," said McGrath, "I think it would be better if we did."

Another suggestion by McGrath was that an MDC detail be mandated at the Beachcomber 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. during the summer months.

Police Chief Francis Finn said he wasn't sure if restrictions, such as requiring a police detail, could be placed on a license after it has been granted.

Finn said he would like the opinion of the city solicitor on that question.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald suggested the Quincy Planning Department take part in deliberations over the traffic problems.

The matter was continued to allow time for further consideration.

It's Quinn Time Again

Well, it's John Quinn time again.

For nearly a quarter of a century now, around this time in a city election year, political observers start wondering: "Is Quinn in trouble?"

Actually, they start wondering when the results are in preliminary election night.

QUINN

Down through the years, Quinn hasn't exactly set the political front afire during a preliminary election campaign.

He doesn't get up steam until after the preliminary election and keeps coming on to keep his Council at-large seat.

Each time he finishes out of the top three in the preliminary election, the familiar question is heard: "Is Quinn in trouble?"

Quinn's stock reply: "No, I'm just getting going."

And come final election day he finishes a winner. Then two years later, the familiar question again.

The "dean" of the City Council at age, 57, Quinn was first elected in 1957. He is now seeking his 13th consecutive two-year term.

In that first try in 1957, when all City Council candidates ran at large, he finished ninth in a preliminary field of 27 and ninth and a winner in a field of 18 in the final election — incidentally beating out by 490 votes no less than John Gillis, the current city clerk.

GILLIS

In the preliminary elections since 1957, he has finished second three times, third three times, fourth four times and this year — fifth. (In 1979 there was no preliminary for council at-large.)

It is when he finishes below third in the preliminary that political observers start wondering whether he's going to make it.

In 1959, he was fourth behind David McIntosh, Joseph Brett, and Carl Anderson and ahead of Francis McCauley and Daniel MacLeod. In the final that year, it was McIntosh, Quinn, Anderson in that order. Brett was fourth, McCauley fifth and MacLeod, sixth.

In 1963, Quinn was again fourth, behind George Burke, David McIntosh, and Kenneth Fallon. Anderson and George Fallon, Jr. were fifth and sixth. In the final, it was Burke, McIntosh, Quinn, Anderson, Kenneth Fallon and George Fallon.

In 1967 again Quinn was fourth, this time behind Arthur Tobin, George McDonald and Francis McCauley with Anderson and Frank Anselmo trailing fifth and sixth. In the final that year, Quinn surprised everyone by taking the top spot with Tobin second and McDonald third. McCauley was fourth, Anderson fifth and Anselmo sixth.

In 1977, the last preliminary election for council at-large before this year's, Quinn once again finished fourth behind Paul Harold, Brett and McCauley. Dennis Harrington and Michael Faherty trailed. In the final election, it was Harold, Quinn, McCauley, Harrington, Brett and Faherty.

Two years ago with no preliminary, Quinn was second behind McCauley in the final with former Mayor Joseph LaRaia third, Richard J. Koch, Jr. fourth (197 votes behind) and Faherty.

Praises Reconsideration Vote On Video Game Center

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The City Licensing Board's vote which denied the license for a video arcade in Quincy Center was to be praised.

The extraordinary reaction by Quincy's residents was due to a very understandable fear of the arcade creating a number of social and criminal ills in an area struggling for an economic rebirth.

The video arcade could have stopped that rebirth.

I was one of those who spoke in opposition to the license measure being granted and I want to thank those public officials and private citizens who actively fought this

This year, however, Quinn dropped to fifth in the preliminary — losing his familiar fourth spot to political newcomer Timothy Cahill by 37 votes.

LaRaia topped the field with 7,044 votes. Koch was second with 6,816 and School Committeewoman Patricia Toland third with 4,748. Cahill had 3,588, Quinn, 3,551 and William O'Hare was in the sixth spot with 2,102. Quinn's fifth place finish position — even though by only 37 votes — has refueled the old question: "Is Quinn in trouble?"

"No, I'm just getting going," he again replies.

He has come from behind in the past to top some good names. But he certainly has to reckon with Koch and Toland, both proven vote getters. And young Cahill looks like a bright prospect. The answer to the traditional question will come, as it has in the past, on final election day.

THE QUINCY SUN based Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day pledge center is claiming national long distance pledge honors. State Senator Paul Harold was touring the Near East on Labor Day and tried to phone a pledge to The Sun while in Turkey. He couldn't get through, however, because, a trans-Atlantic call from there has to be pre-scheduled at a central telephone office. Harold, however, didn't give up. He cabled his pledge from Bucharest, Romania while waiting for his flight back to New York. The pledge didn't arrive for several days but it brought the total pledges here to $41,004.

Both School Committeeman John Sullivan and Joseph O'Brien who were away during the telethon came by later with donations to put the fishbowl figure up to $5,398. Meanwhile, special events money is still coming in. Final figures won't be available for awhile yet.

Jill Becomes A U.S. Citizen

'We Had Room In Our Home And Room In Our Hearts'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Wearing a colorful Hang Bok ceremonial dress from her native Korea, young Jill Susanne O'Connell celebrated her newly acquired U.S. citizenship at a party with her adoptive family in Wollaston recently.

Jill, who will be two years old Sept. 24, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Connell of 40 Hathery Rd. Mr. O'Connell is president of O'Connell Brothers Construction.

She had become a U.S. citizen at ceremonies earlier in the day at Faneuil Hall, Boston.

Though she was a little young to grasp the significance of the citizenship ceremony, she did have fun climbing up and down the stairs at the event, says her mother Marcia O'Connell.

The full length dress she wore at her party was in bright colors such as hot pink and lime green. It was brought back from Korea by former Mayor and Mrs. James McIntyre who visited that country about a year ago.

Jill, who was born in Seoul, was adopted by the O'Connells in March, 1980. While she was generally healthy, Mrs. O'Connell reports, Jill arrived with bronchitis, a bruise on her head and a crushed toe.

She also weighed only 10

pounds at five and a half months of age, but her weight was up to normal in a very short time, says her mother.

Though her adoption papers listed her as "hot tempered and peevish" Mrs. O'Connell explains that once Jill's diet was converted from the rice gruel she had been eating, she was fine.

"She's a good little girl, very loving," says Mrs. O'Connell whose biological children are Thomas, 14; Robert, 11, and Laurie, 8.

Mrs. O'Connell says she and her husband decided to adopt a child because, "we had room in our home and room in our hearts."

They decided not to adopt an American youngster because there are so many American couples who can't have children and would like such a child, says Mrs. O'Connell.

A little girl in Laurie O'Connell's nursery school was from Korea and the O'Connells decided to look into adopting a child from that country.

The adoption was through the Protestant Social Service Bureau in Quincy which met with the O'Connells and their children, visited their home and helped prepare them for the adoption.

Caroline McElroy was assigned to work with the O'Connells who attended group discussions and meetings.

After a two year wait, Jill arrived in the United States.

All of the O'Connell children get along well reports Mrs. O'Connell who noted that her son Tom was particularly kind and gentle to Jill when she arrived.

Asked whether the O'Connells might adopt another child in the future, Mrs. O'Connell says she doesn't know.

"We're just getting into a good (sleeping) pattern now with Jill," Mrs. O'Connell says, "but there's always a chance. We don't close the door."

Quincy's Yesterdays

North End Gets The Short End, Herbert Charges

Dr. Charles J. Herbert, former president of the City Council, told members of the Montclair Improvement Association that the north end of the city was getting short shrift when it came to representation in government.

Wards 5 and 6, he said, pay 42 per cent of the taxes but have only two ward councillors while the remainder of the city pays 58 per cent of the taxes and has four ward councillors plus the attention of three at-large councillors.

"While Ward 6 has doubled its population in the last 15 years," said Herbert, "it remains somewhat dormant and it is this condition that the councillors at-large rely on apparently."

"So long as they get votes by giving promises there is no reason why they should exert themselves to work for North Quincy. A good illustration is the loss of the new wing to North Quincy High School."

RABIES EPIDEMIC

Dr. E. A. Varennes, the city veterinarian, said the most serious epidemic of rabies in eight years was developing in the Atlantic section where five dogs were diagnosed as positive cases in the past week.

The owner of one of them was bitten in the face and had started to undergo the painful Pasteur treatments.

Public Health Commissioner Dr. Edmund B. Fitzgerald said that if any more outbreaks of rabies occurred anywhere in the city he would order every dog quarantined for 60 days.

AIR-SEA RESCUE

Pilot Frank Luke of Dennison Airport and Commodore Manuel Prada of the Squantum Yacht Club participated in the air-sea rescue of Harold Seavey of 935 East Squantum St., whose Frostbite dinghy overturned in Quincy Bay.

Luke spotted him from the air and landed to notify the yacht club. Prada went out in his cabin cruiser and picked up Seavey some 300 yards off Squantum while Luke circled over head in his plane. The rescue took 45 minutes.

ZONING SUPPORT

City Councillor Leo J. Mullin said he planned to introduce a zoning ordinance in the Council similar to one that was defeated three years before when its only support had come from Wollaston and North Quincy.

Mullin said the ordinance now had the support of the Quincy Point section where a lot of oil tanks had been built which would have been kept out if the previous ordinance had passed.

All's Quiet On The Ambulance Front

"There's certainly been a marked improvement" said Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh Tuesday as the Quincy License Board reviewed Bay State Ambulance's performance since the Sept. 8 meeting when excessive use of sirens was reported.

Fire Chief Edward Barry and Police Chief Francis Finn agreed that the situation has improved and that the ambulance company has cooperated in limiting use of the siren.

"It's going to stay that way," said John Felci, director of training at Quincy City Hospital where the ambulances are sent by Quincy Police.

Felci reported to the board that since Sept. 8, there have been 170 requests for an ambulance by the police.

The siren was only used in 33 instances said Felci who added that ambulances will be equipped by the end of November with tachographs which record speed and other details when the units are dispatched.

Felci also said the units will have a system which enables them to talk to physicians while they are transporting patients.

Both Barry and Dr. McKeogh told Michael Kotzen of Bay State that comments by the company's Quincy supervisor, in a Patriot Ledger interview Sept. 17, were "uncalled for".

Hackett had said in the interview that not using the siren endangers patients, his employees and others on the road.

"He's learned his lesson", said Kotzen.

"Many times you don't need the siren," said Barry, "the patient and public get upset (by it)."

The signal SOS does not stand for "Save Our Ship" or "Stop Other Signals." It is merely the most easily understood and the most easily transmittable signal—only coincidentally translatable as SOS.

Like A Homecoming Dr. Nease New ENC President

It was like a homecoming for Dr. Stephen Nease.

Dr. Nease, who grew up in Quincy, was inaugurated as president of Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston Tuesday.

His father, Dr. Floyd Nease, was the second president of Eastern Nazarene from 1923 to 1930.

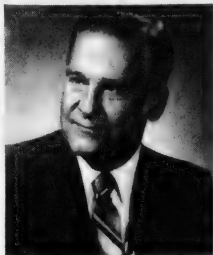

He also served as instructor, dean of men, executive field secretary and director of development at the college from 1950 to 1966.

Dr. Nease formerly served as president of Mount Vernon Nazarene College in Ohio, 1966-72; Bethany Nazarene College in Oklahoma, 1972-76; and the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, 1976-81.

A graduate of Brown University, he received a theology degree from Eastern Nazarene, a degree in education from Boston University, and he studied at Harvard Divinity School.

He holds an honorary doctor of divinity from Eastern Nazarene.

Dr. Nease was pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Newark, Ohio, from 1948 to 1950 before he returned to the Wollaston campus as an instructor.

The inauguration of Dr. Nease took place in conjunction with the annual meeting of the ENC board of trustees.

The ceremony included participation by the Eastern Nazarene Concert Band and A Cappella Choir and the benediction was delivered by Dr. Edward S. Mann, a former ENC president and member of the Quincy School Committee.

Shea Won't Resign Over Video License Center

who are city employees who enjoy the benefits of a city job and take advantage of the influence behind it to benefit in other ways.

"It should be one or the other—the license or the job. They owe it to the city of Quincy if they are true employees that have dedication and the interest of the city first."

"The sending of the letter to the licensing board was the last straw," said Raymond.

"They overstepped any reasonable bounds of ethics and moral consideration once they began their attacks on the integrity of the Licensing Board.

"They threw the law off into conflict of interest and we will be spending the taxpayers money outside the normal course of business.

"The two should have resigned or the mayor should have sought their resignations."

Acting City Auditor William Grindlay told Raymond that there is no way he could prevent the hiring of outside counsel since the city solicitor controls the funds budgeted for that purpose.

Fleming promised that he would "respect the directives of the City Council if they directed my office not to spend money to hire outside counsel."

But, he added, "the only way we could represent the Licensing Board would be through the retention of outside counsel—unless there was an offer of (free) services by outside counsel."

Saccone Reinstated

judgement directs that she be paid," said McParland.

"The only question is whether she is an accountant in the auditor's department where there are no jobs and no money or in the Public Works Department where there is a job and there is money.

"The compensation is exactly the same in both jobs."

Judge Garrity removed that question Tuesday by ruling out any other job than the one in the auditor's office specified in an earlier court decision.

Saccone, who worked 2 years in the auditor's department and two years as budget coordinator, was laid off June 27, 1980, in what was called an economy move.

A Civil Service examiner and the court later called it a political move and ordered her reinstated. The city apparently exhausted it's last appeal Tuesday.

McParland said Saccone would receive about $3,000 or $4,000 in back pay, after money she earned on a job in Canton and six months of unemployment compensation was deducted.

LaRaia called Saccone's dismissal "a little game that is being played here."

"It is a battle now for the mayor to leave office before he appoints Miss Saccone to any position," he said.

"When I was mayor I fought the chief of police, the housing authority and a few other heavy hitters. Who does this mayor fight? city employees who are harmless and who can't afford to fight back."

Tobin declined to comment on LaRaia's remarks adding:

"I only wish he was as concerned for the citizens of Quincy as he says he is during his administration when he cast a cloud over this city with investigations, buggings and indictments. People in his administration went off to jail."

The induction took place at Colorado Women's College, one of four sites where institutes were conducted.

Legislators Meet To Save Rail Service

More than 20 legislators or their aides attended a recent meeting called by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce to discuss strategy for saving railroad service in southeastern Massachusetts.

All rail service east of the Attleboro is tentatively scheduled to be eliminated March 1, a move that will affect freight service to General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard and Procter and Gamble.

One of the possibilities discussed at the meeting was passage of Gov. Edward J. King's transportation bond issue, which includes some $20 million to purchase and rehabilitate the rail lines.

"It is obvious that the time for rhetoric has passed," said Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce. "Quick, immediate action is needed."

"This can only be done by money being made available via to governor's bond transportation package for acquisition of these rail lines."

"Our hope is that we can attract short-line railroads to provide the service Conrail will be eliminating in 90 days."

Attending the meeting were Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Thomas Brownell and Regina Moriarty, representing Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

The Charles B. Kettering Foundation selected 600 educators in this country to participate in the institutes which has as their theme, "Quality Education for the '80's'."

Presenters included Ernest Boyer, Nolan Estes, Ned Plummer, Betty Ann Edwards, Colleen Galyean, Tony Gregore and Sam Proctor.

The Denver institute included 170 school administrators from all 50 states and for American dependents who attend schools for armed services families in Germany, England, Taiwan, Guam and Spain.

Miss Iannoni has been with the Quincy Public Schools for the past 29 years as an English teacher, counselor and head counselor.

She is an active member of Massachusetts School Counselors Association, American School Counselors Association, American Personnel and Guidance Association, Quincy Historical Society, Quincy Education Association, Brockton Italian Scholarship Club and Monhegan Associates.

There's a big difference between Dan Raymondi and the other guy:

Your money.

When you get right down to it, a mayor does one of two things. He saves money. Or he spends money.

Your money.

So it makes sense to look for a candidate who watches the City's budget as carefully as you do your own. Someone like Dan Raymondi.

Last year, Dan developed a financial plan to live within the City's budget limit prior to Proposition 2½.

Frank McCauley, the banker, had nothing. No plan at all.

At a time when Dan was working to limit City spending, the banker voted to exceed the spending limit by $4.7 million on one vote alone.

Look it up. It's a matter of public record. The banker voted to give the School Department every penny it asked for at a time when other departments were tightening their belts.

Worse, Frank McCauley's vote would have meant a $16 increase in our tax rate!

Fortunately, Dan's plan passed.

Dan also led the fight to make Quincy Junior College self-supporting.

And just recently, Dan has been working full time to make Proposition 2½ work; to cut city spending and to control taxes.

We don't know where his opponent stands on these issues.

Most important is this simple bit of history: Dan Raymondi was the only city official to vote against the disastrous $35 tax hike five years ago. He stood alone by standing up for the taxpayer long before it was popular.

Today, you've got a choice. Dan Raymondi or the other guy.

Remember, it's your money.

Raymondi Mayor

WHY DO MY GUMS BLEED?

Bleeding of the gums is so common that many people think it is normal. In fact, years ago dentists told their patients to massage their gums hard, and that there was nothing wrong with a little bleeding.

Now we know that bleeding is an important sign of gum disease. Tender gums bleed because they are inflamed. This inflammation is caused by germs contained in the dental plaque which forms on all teeth.

The problem is that people whose gums bleed often don't brush and floss their teeth thoroughly because they are afraid of injuring their gums. They brush their teeth improperly, the plaque stays put, and their gums continue to bleed.

Thorough cleaning of the teeth to remove this plaque is important. The gums will bleed at first, but within a week or two the gums will heal and become firmer. Bleeding will lessen and stop.

Squantum Church Observes World Communion Sunday

Members of the First Church of Squantum observed the Lord's Supper Sunday morning as did other Christian congregations on World Communion Sunday.

Church members also renewed their promises to God and to each other by reading the church covenant together at the Communion Table.

Barbara Colwell gave the call to worship, Barbara Fluhr led the opening prayer and Steve Williams and Stewart Scott read the two Scripture readings.

The Chancel Choir sang "A Faithful Shepherd Is My Lord" by Johann G. Nageli.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, showed the children of the church at large, three-dimensional picture of the Last Supper and explained the story to them.

Later, for the adults, he preached on the topic, "What Will You Give?"

His text, which came from the book of Acts, was "...no one said that any of the things which he possessed was his own..." This verse refers to the first Christians' practice of sharing their worldly goods with the whole church.

Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Katherine Hansen, Tom Williamson, Joan Hansen, Leon MacIntyre and Ralph Dougherty. Eva Martin and Jennie Preston were greeters.

The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Barbara Anderson and Vera Malmgren.

Next Sunday's service will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Communion Supper Oct. 26 For St. Mary's Guild

A turkey dinner will be served.

Entertainment will be by the "Singing Sisters". Alice Stevens is chairlady, assisted by Mary Noonan, co-chairlady.

For tickets, call Rose Flaherty at 479-0813.

Mormons Create South Shore Stake

Mormons on the South Shore now have a stake of their own.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (the Mormons) divided the Providence, R.I. Stake to create an additional unit known as the Hingham, Mass., Stake.

The reorganization took place recently under the direction of church authorities from Salt Lake City.

Dr. Brent W. Lambert of Hingham, an ophthalmologist

Eloise Sos Named Nursing Services Director

Norfolk County Commissioner James J. Collins announces the appointment of Eloise Sos as the Director of Nursing Services at the Norfolk County Hospital for Respiratory Care in Braintree.

Mrs. Sos, previously employed with an office in Quincy, was named president of the new stake.

Since the church has a lay priesthood and no paid ministry, Dr. Lambert will continue in the medical field while devoting from 20 to 30 additional hours a week to church service.

The new stake is composed of congregations in Hingham, Foxboro, Brockton, Cataumet, Dennis, North Dartmouth and Newport, R.I.

as the Director of Quality Assurance at Leominster Hospital, received her nursing and M.B.A. degrees from Columbia and Boston Universities, respectively.

Theodora E. Edson, 128 Centre St., South Quincy, has been called to fill a position in the women's auxiliary, the Relief Society.

She will assist in planning the activities for the single women's Special Interests groups.

Both she and Lambert are members of the Hingham congregation.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Stay Alive!

PLAY IT COOL

A Seattle man decided to heat up a pressure can because the flow of the contents was sluggish. The top blew off, struck the man in the face and cut off his nose. In New York State, an attendant at a village incinerator opened the door to stoke the fire. A spray can exploded and destroyed one of his eyes. In Ohio, a man put an aerosol container onto a pile of burning leaves. It exploded, hurling a sliver of debris into the man's leg, slashing an artery and causing him to bleed to death. In San Diego, a man put an aerosol paint can into a pan of boiling water. The can exploded and the man lost the sight of his left eye. In Virginia, a 4 year old boy's eye was injured when a spray starch can exploded in a backyard incinerator.

There are many unique ways of getting injured by exploding aerosol cans. The morale is - keep them away from heat or you'll have an unguided aerosol missile. Play it cool with pressure cans!

FALL HOME IMPROVEMENT

Windows serve as passive collectors

Location—location—location are the words homebuilders and developers live by.

Homeowners should, too, especially when it comes to windows.

According to the U.S. Department of Energy, properly designed and located windows can actually reduce heating and cooling costs.

Even in the northernmost climates, says Andersen Corporation, a leading manufacturer of windows and gliding doors, south-facing, double-glazed windows can serve as collectors of passive solar energy.

They allow the warmth of the low winter sun to pass through the glass where its heat is trapped. Roof overhangs, awnings or shade trees protect the windows from excessive heat build-up in summer when the sun is high.

Andersen offers the following guidelines to proper window planning:

In cold climates where winter design conditions are vital—

- Locate the largest window area facing south to take advantage of winter solar heat gain, with lesser glass areas facing east and west. The smallest window area should face north.

- Use double-pane or triple-pane insulating glass to reduce heat loss through the glass.

- Select operating windows that can be opened to cool breezes, thus reducing air conditioning loads in warmer months.

Casement windows, for example, open out to 100 percent of their sash opening. Double-hung and gliding windows open to nearly 50 percent of their area.

In warm climates where summer design conditions are important—

- Locate the largest window area facing north to reduce summer solar heat gain, with lesser amounts to the east, west and south.

- Use double-pane insulating glass to reduce heat gain through the glass.

- Shade windows with trees, awnings, external blinds or a large roof overhang to reduce excessive heat gain in warmer months.

- Use operating windows that can be opened to cooling breezes to help reduce air conditioning loads.

Today's energy concerns spur home improvements

Today's homeowner isn't remodeling for aesthetics alone. Of primary concern to those who remodel these days is the lowering of fuel bills, according to a recent homeowner study.

Conducted by an independent research firm, the study included more than 800 in-depth interviews with homeowners in 11 Northeast and Midwest metropolitan areas.

Although nearly half the homeowners interviewed said they are using less energy than a year ago, three-fourths say their heating and cooling bills increased an average of 21 percent during the 12 months preceding the survey.

Shift in remodeling

The shift in what's prompting home remodeling is reflected in the fact that cutting fuel bills rated highest as a reason to remodel, with two-thirds of those surveyed rating it very important.

Consumer enthusiasm for selecting a remodeling project as a way to save energy does not conceal the fact that home heat loss facts are actually quite different from homeowner perception.

Points of heat loss

Nearly 60 percent of homeowners consider windows the biggest heat loss area in the home, followed by ceilings and doors.

According to industry research, however, more than half of the heat loss in today's typically insulated home is through the frame, walls and foundation. Only six percent of respondents considered walls a major heat loss area, while a mere two percent cited foundations.

Eighty-one percent of those interviewed considered a contractor's reputation as "very" to "extremely important" as a factor in choosing a contractor.

"Professional affiliation," notes John Hammon, executive vice president of the National Home Improvement Council, "is one mark of quality, since it ensures that contractors meet certain standards." He noted that half the homeowners surveyed said they would be more likely to hire a contractor with a professional affiliation over a contractor with none.

Bath spruce-up ideas for creative penny-pinchers

The bath that nobody has done anything with since the days when everybody liked like is one of America's most common remodeling headaches.

For, while the room functions well enough to discourage a major overhaul, it tends to look dowdy, and no amount of new towels or "funny" shower curtains sporting topless ladies from Pompeii seems to help.

But, take heart. For, the Tile Council of America has some super ideas that are sure to transform your bath from bedraggled to beautiful.

Expert advice

First, the Council wants you to consider the implications of newly developed technology, which make it possible to install new ceramic tile right over old tile work.

This, in short, is your chance to rid your life of those lavender tile walls and without enduring yesteryear's messy and costly rip-out process.

Install the tile yourself, and that spruced-up tub area will probably cost no more than a set of new towels and one of those "novel" shower curtains. (The Tile Council issues fair warning, however, that the surface to be tiled must be structurally sound and well-bonded.)

If the old tile work ends three quarters up the wall, install wallboard on the upper part of the wall to make up for the thickness of the tiled area below it. Then, tile the entire wall for floor-to-ceiling sleekness.

Tile yours a one-of-a-kind wall. Make it as simple as a broad ribbon of red on gleaming white, or as intricate as a stained-glass window. Geometric designs adapt most easily to tile work.

Tile over an outmoded floor, too, be it ceramic tile, linoleum or marble.

If you like Chinoiserie, think of using ceramic mosaics to tile an Oriental "carpet" underfoot. Or, how about a gingham or barge-painted floor?

Tile it bright!

But, remember, that if you love bold color, there's no better place than the bath to put it to use.

For, since this is a room where you spend relatively little time, even heavy concentrations of color won't tire the eye quickly.

If you are interested in do-it-yourself tiling, you will find the Council's how-to leaflet helpful. Send 50 cents to Tile Council of America, P.O. Box 2222, D.I.Y., Princeton, NJ 08540.

INSULATING WINDOWS IS VITAL

With continuing concern for energy conservation, homeowners have discovered that a vital factor in saving fuel is adequate insulation.

Windows are no exception. After a house is fully insulated, considerable heat loss can occur with ordinary windows.

The single-pane glass in such windows offers little insulation, notes the National Woodwork Manufacturing Association. Heat easily escapes through the glass making the job of maintaining a comfortable temperature an expensive proposition.

Separate storm sash is one solution. Another is factory-engineered wood windows with double-pane insulating glass—two panes of glass separated by an insulating air space.

Heat loss through the insulating glass is sharply reduced. In unusually cold climates, triple glazing is recommended.

Double-pane insulating glass, combined with the natural insulation provided by wood frame and sash and factory-applied weatherstripping, guards against excessive heat loss and fuel wasting air infiltration.

Another factor to consider is window placement. Large glass areas, for example, should face south to take advantage of the heat from the low winter sun.

Awnings, shade trees or roof overhangs shade the windows from excessive heat build-up when the sun is high.

Operating windows in the east and west walls also help conserve energy by providing cross-ventilation when there are cooling breezes. This reduces dependence on air conditioning.

You'll think you bought a custom kitchen until you see the price tag...

You expect a lot out of your kitchen . . . and you should. It should be planned for efficiency and convenience to fit your family's lifestyle. Your kitchen cabinets should have all the latest custom features and accessories without a custom price. And it should be as maintenance free as possible.

REPLACEMENT WINDOWS

There is a vast difference between custom made replacement windows and ordinary storm combination windows. Replacement windows are designed specifically to take the place of worn wooden windows in your home. They are incredibly superior to wood windows and well worth your consideration and investment. Their vinyl/aluminum construction contributes to thermal efficiency because they are actually two windows in one. Best of all, when cleaning is necessary, the window tilts in for cleaning of all surfaces. Just ask us for a quote on Carefree's Insulator II replacement windows. There are more advantages and we'll be happy to tell you about them.

INSULATION

You can actually make money by insulating your home. The advantages are astounding. Consider a single family home in the Quincy area - (two full stories, walk-up attic) - install 8" of mineral wool insulation and your savings will approach 25%. Just think of it. You can most likely reduce your heating bill by 25% for spending only about $650 for an average size, 1,000 sq. ft. attic. Certainly it won't take long to recover your insulation costs.

And, you will get an energy saver bonus from Uncle Sam. He'll give you a tax credit of 15% (about $100 on the average job).

Our recommendation is that you consider using BLOWN-IN Mineral Wool. Sometimes it is called Rock Wool.

It is 100% natural, will not corrode, sink, settle, cause fire or present a health hazard. It's greatest benefit though is that it is efficient.

Not every company has the sophisticated equipment necessary to BLOW-IN mineral wool. If someone tries to talk you into something less effective - Beware!

We will measure and determine the costs of insulating your home without obligation if you simply take the time to call.

ROLL-UP PATIO DOOR PROTECTION

Some people want security, others want protection from storms, the sun, wind and heat. The Roll-a-Way Security Shutter provides this protection for glass patio doors.

The Roll-a-Way door can be controlled by either an electric motor or by a hand-operated crank. It completely covers your glass doors with a solid vinyl panel, or if lifted slightly, offers a ventilating effect similar to an ordinary screen.

It will withstand 100 mph winds; provide protection from burglary or vandalism; conserve energy and add to the beauty and value of your home. All homeowners who have a large expanse of glass should inquire. We particularly invite those homeowners living along the shore to avail themselves of our offer.

Repair, replace that badly weathered roof before severe damage occurs

If you've got a leaky, worn-out roof over your head, those

"pennies from heaven" every time it rains could leave you awash in repair bills costing hundreds of dollars.

Ignored, a badly weathered roof can lead to severe water damage in the roof deck and rafters, walls and floors—even furnishings.

Since a roof tends to wear uniformly, even the best roofing materials eventually succumb to weathering.

And, warns the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association, limited repairs won't help an old and badly worn roof.

The biggest enemies of roofing are the sun, wind, rain, hail and variations in climate.

The signs of a weathered roof are excessive loss of protective mineral granules and cracked, curled or missing shingles.

If a roof of standard shingles is more than 15 years old, it's a prime candidate for reroofing.

To avoid premature roofing problems, ARMA suggests seasonal inspections in the fall and spring. Go up in the attic with a flashlight to inspect the rafters and underside of the roof deck for signs of leaks.

Outdoors, check the condition of the roof from a ladder or from the ground using binoculars. Avoid walking on the roof. It is dangerous and could damage the shingles.

If the roof appears to be worn, call in a professional roofer to conduct an on-the-roof inspection. He will be able to determine the condition of the roof.

He can also offer expert advice on materials and the use of color to improve the curb appeal of your home.

Increasingly popular in reroofing these days is the use of three-dimensional asphalt shingles in handsome earthen tones of browns and beiges that serve to relate a home to its surroundings.

Designed to last many years with minimal maintenance, these shingles create deep, rugged shadowlines that give a home a distinctive appearance.

Wallcoverings stretch decorating dollar

In today's inflationary economy, one of the best values in decorating is wallcoverings.

They can make more decorative impact per dollar spent than any other single element in a room, require little care, and retain their original freshness for many years.

Wallcoverings can play the most important role in a room, yet few people realize the average cost for covering a room, particularly if they hang it themselves, can be far less than a piece of furniture such as an upholstered chair or even a lamp, according to the Wallcovering Information Bureau.

Variety of wallcoverings

The variety of wallcovering patterns available today is practically endless, giving the home decorator limitless possibilities to express her personality and transform her environment at an affordable price.

For the traditionalist, there are toile, oriental motifs, the stencil look, documentaries and all kinds of florals.

For the casual look there are plaids, batiks and paisleys. In contemporary designs there are the new subtle geometrics and brush strokes.

High in popularity is the country look, featuring tiny geometric and floral motifs, gingham checks, grills, calicos and patchworks. Depending on the other furnishings in the room, this look can be one of simple charm or ultra sophistication.

Novelty patterns feature such diverse subjects as antique cars, boats, cartoons, football, baseball and basketball players, joggers, nursery rhyme characters and the animal world.

Using one pattern or coordinating patterns everywhere—on walls, in draperies, slipcovers, bedspreads, dust ruffles—unifies the room and creates a dramatic, customized look.

A coordinating border outlining a door, window or alcove, or applied as a chair rail or ceiling molding, will add instant character and dignity to a room.

Mike's Corner

By Representative
Michael W. Morrissey

This is the 51st in a series of articles written by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

The Legislature has picked up its pace and numerous pieces of important legislation are making their way through the process. The bill that would allow the City of Quincy to send estimated tax bills out to improve their cash flow situation and (cut down borrowing because of the delay in re-valuation was reported favorably out of the Taxation Committee. The bill that would allow multi-family property owners to get a rebate because of over assessment by the City of Quincy has left the House and gone to the Senate for consideration.

The House of Representatives is also considering campaign finance reform including some aspect of limited public finance and limitation on corporate political action committee contributions. The bill also requires stiffer penalties for non-compliance and would strengthen the Office of Campaign Finances so that it would be able to perform more audits of campaign reports.

The House will also be considering a bill to reform the Massachusetts Auto Insurance System that would allow the various companies to set their rates based on a competitive market system which differs from our current system where the Insurance Commissioner and often the Courts set our insurance rates. Proponents of the bill point to the failure of the current system especially its inability to punish the bad driver. Opponents of the bill point to the 1977 experience where the companies were allowed to competitively set their rates. The rates sky rocketed and the Legislature had to intervene.

If you have any comments or suggestions please don't hesitate to call me in the State House at 722-2470 or at home at 328-0900.

Raiders Look For Cambridge Rebound

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team unleashed its most impressive offensive of the season last week, grinding out 203 yards on the ground and another 125 through the air but it went for naught as it bowed in a heartbreaking 15-14 Suburban League loss to unbeaten Newton North.

The bitter defeat dropped the Raiders to 1-2 and Newton North improved to 3-0.

North Quincy is home Saturday to Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a 1:30 p.m. league game at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Cambridge comes in with a 2-1 record. Cambridge defeated Quincy, 6-2, and Weymouth North, 16-0, and losing last week to B.C. High, 14-6. Last fall North easily defeated Cambridge, 33-0.

Dave Burke's Raiders outplayed Newton for most of the morning game but the key play, which killed them, came midway in the third quarter. With North Quincy ahead, 14-6, it drove from its 41 to Newton's 23 and appeared headed for an insurance touchdown. But a fumble was recovered on the 20, Newton clicked on two long passes, scored the touchdown and added the winning point.

"This was a real tough one to lose, but give Newton credit, they didn't quit and came from behind," said Burke, who saw his Raiders take a 14-0 lead. "We played two very tough teams in a row and I thought they looked almost as good as Brockton. They killed us with their passing, but I was pleased with the way we moved the ball. Joe Dudek (114 yards in 15 carries and another 32 yards on two pass receptions) ran very well as did Rich Stevens, and Pat Burke threw some nice passes today. We are still comin' along and will win our share of games."

North's defense held Newton to 68 yards rushing, but Tim Brandon and Rion Foley hit on 11 of 15 passes for 188 yards, passing for one score and setting up the other.

"I am proud of the defense, although their passes picked our secondary apart pretty well," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "We have mostly juniors in the secondary and they are making some mistakes, but, on the whole, the defense did another outstanding job."

Raymer praised the performances of Steve Howley, who had an especially outstanding game, sacking the quarterback several times and making a large number of the tackles.

The North defenders brought Newton's backs down for 27 yards in losses.

Also singled out for their defensive performances were Jim Kelly, Neal Fisher, Mike Miceli, Gerry Connolly, Dudek, Bill Bradley and Mike Hutchings.

Burke completed seven of 16 passes for 125 yards but had three intercepted.

Following a North Quincy punt, Newton drove to the Raiders' 30 thanks to a 20-yard pass play, but North held. It couldn't move and Mike Ellis punted. A long pass from Brandon to John Coppolla appeared to be completed but he fumbled when hit and North Quincy recovered on its 44. North drove to its first score from there with Dudek showing the way. He scored from the seven and Bradley kicked the point.

Three completed Newton passes brought the Tigers to the Raider 14 where North held.

Stevens and Dudek carried to the 32 and Burke hit Jim Hutchinson with a long pass which went to Newton's 32. Stevens then broke through the left side of the line and went all the way for the Raiders' second score. Bradley again kicked the point.

Newton staged its best drive of the day after the kickoff, driving 70 yards and clicking off five first downs. A pass from Brandon to Jim Mulvey for 13 yards was good for the touchdown and Brandon passed to Coppolla for the two points.

North Quincy took the second half kickoff and went all the way to Newton's 23 with two passes from Burke to Bill Gray accounting for 34 yards. Stevens went through the left side but fumbled when hit hard and Newton's Tom Keefe recovered on the 20.

Foley threw a bomb to Coppolla which was good for 47 yards to North's 33 and another pass from Foley to Mulvey brought the ball to the three. Al Fortune scored the touchdown and Peter Munsat kicked the winning point.

North stopped a Newton drive on its 15. Dudek ran for 20 and later broke away for 30 yards to Newton's 27. Newton held and Bradley tried a 47-yard field goal which had the direction but fell about 10 yards short. North had the ball twice more but Newton's second and third interceptions foiled the Raiders.

Sterling Rolls By Point, Atlantic-North

Sterling Junior High's ninth grade football team improved its record to 3-0 by defeating Point, 24-0, and Atlantic-North, 20-12.

Wasting no time against Point, Sterling put 16 points on the board in the first period when Darren Tucker scored on a 45-yard run and Gerry Frazier put a 23-yard scoring run and also scored the two extra points. A safety accounted for the other two points.

Tucker was instrumental in the third period Sterling score when he passed to John O'Callaghan for a 55-yard scoring play. Brian Mahon added the two points.

The game with Atlantic-North was much closer and, after a scoreless first period, Sterling intercepted a pass on the A-N 40. A Tucker to Frazier pass went for 27 yards to the 13, Frazier carried to the eight and Tucker scored from there.

In the third period Tucker and Mike Dracchio alternated carries, and helped by a 15-yard face mask penalty, scored on a run by Dracchio.

A back-in-motion penalty hurt A-N, nullifying a 61-yard scoring pass from Dave Zuroms to Gerry Coughlin. This didn't discourage the Northenders and, after halting Sterling on its next series, Zuroms connected with Coughlin on a 39-yard touchdown pass, cutting Sterling's lead to 12-6.

A 49-yard run by Frazier around his left flank gave Sterling its third TD and Tucker added the two-point conversion.

Two 10-yard runs by Joe Bangs started an A-N drive which ended in a touchdown. A Zuroms to Coughlin pass went to the Sterling 12, and Zuroms, back to pass again, saw daylight on his left side and raced in for the score.

The win put Sterling in sole possession of first place in the city league.

Central and Broad Meadows played to a 6-6 tie in the other ninth grade game. The rival coaches, Mario Casali of Central and Hank Conroy of BM, longtime friends, met after the game and congratulated each other. Conroy, who coached Quincy High for several years, replaced Gene Macomber at Broad Meadows this year when Macomber became a North Quincy High assistant.

BM scored first in the second quarter on a 13-yard run by Paul Miller. This was matched by a 75-yard kickoff returned by Andy Lenhardt.

In the eighth grade games Sterling defeated Point, 16-6, and also topped Atlantic-North, 18-8.

All 16 points against Point were scored in the first half with Ed Gore scoring on a 54-yard run and adding a pair of two-point conversions. The other Sterling TD came on a 25-yard pass from Don Parry to Tony Venturelli. Point scored its points in the final period on a quarterback sneak by Robert Fitzgerald.

Against A-N Sterling scored on its first series of play, Ron Luisi scoring on a 29-yard run.

Sterling's Parry intercepted a pass and ran it to the 41, Parry carried all the way to the eight and then passed to Venturelli for the touchdown.

Parry raced 68 yards for another Sterling score and A-N scored when Leo LeMay raced 41 yards. Bob Bradley added the two points.

Broad Meadows and Central played to a scoreless tie.

The game was played for the most part between the 30-yard lines until Frank Freedman of BM raced 28 yards to the Central 13, but Central held.

Quincy's Rodrigues Knocked Out In Bid For World Title

Al Rodrigues of Quincy was knocked out by Joe Knight in the seventh round of their fight for the National Boxing Association's world light-heavyweight title at Coral Gables Coliseum in Miami, Fla.

The crown was bestowed upon Knight, a southern favorite, when the NBA deemed that champion Maxie Rosenbloom had failed to defend it enough after boxing a 12-round draw with Knight last winter.

Rodrigues, whose mother lives in Houghs Neck, was knocked down by a long left in the fifth round and was floored three times in the sixth but came back gamely to take the fight to Knight in the seventh.

It ended when Rodrigues' seconds threw in the towel with their fighter helpless before Knight's blows.

The Quincy fighter's manager, Sam Price, said Rodrigues suffered from the intense heat in the Florida ring. If he were to do it over, Price said, they would have come to Florida three weeks early to get acclimatized.

NORTH UPSETS WEYMOUTH

Pete Zoia and Bill Morrison ran for touchdowns as the North Quincy High School football team defeated Weymouth for the first time, 14-0, before some 2,000 spectators at the Coddington St. Field.

Coach Jack Donahue's defensive line was outstanding in holding the Maroons with Capt. Sonny Fay at end, Grover Clark at tackle and Paul LaHive at guard hitting hard to stop the Weymouth attack.

The North Quincy lineup:

Fay, Beebe, Hutt, Orcutt, ends; Rogers, Assmus, Clark, Leith, tackles; King, Murphy, LaHive, guards; Butterfield, Dooley, centers; Harding, McAvoy, Zoia, Rucky, Morrison, Garden, Mathurin, backs.

POINT DEFEATS LYNN

Johnny Brown, shifted back to center forward, scored two goals, including the game winner, as the Quincy Point Boys Club edged the Riversides of Lynn, 3-2, in a Boston and District Soccer League game at Fore River Field.

The Boys Club lineup:

MALVESTI STARS

Nick Malvesti led the Quincy High School football team to a net gain of 208 yards and 11 first downs in a 9-0 victory over Brookline. Frank Purpura scored the only touchdown.

The Quincy lineup:

Corella, Freel, Monaco, Flaherty, Kapsis, DiBona, MacDonald, ends; Service, Keefe, McLaughlin, Kusser, D'Olimpio, Sommontes, tackles; Finn, Hill, Jago, Battista, Hill, Ostrowski, MacArthur, guards; Koyner, Simpson, centers.

DiGravio, Anderson, Burns, Malvesti, Dunn, Wardell, Franchuk, Moscardelli, M. DiBona, Dreyfus, Oliverio, Lemon, Purpura, Pinzari, backs.

HARRIERS BEAT SANDWICH

Freddy Brennan, Bob Frank and Walter Porter finished in a three-way tie for first place as the Quincy High School cross country team outclassed Sandwich High, 17-51, at Coddington Field between the halves of the Quincy-Hyde Park football game.

STEAMROLLER UPSET

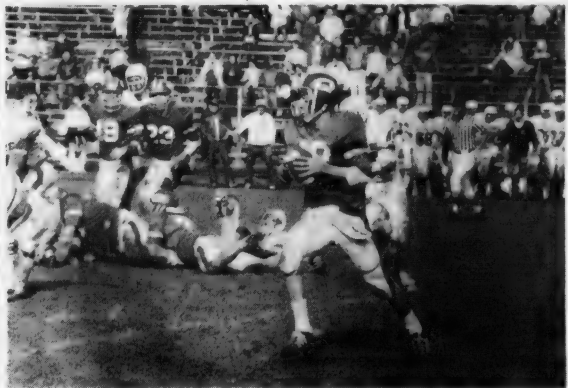

Tony Collucci's extra point was the difference as the Fore River Shipbuilders defeated the Providence Steamroller, 13-12, for the first time ever in the Cyclodrome in Providence.

Presidents Must Shed Mistakes At Waltham

Mistakes did the Quincy football team in last Saturday as it fell before Revere, 13-12, at Veterans Memorial Stadium in a game it should have won.

The loss dropped the Presidents' record to 1-2. Revere improved to 3-0.

The Presidents hope to regroup this week but face one of the top teams in Eastern Mass., unbeaten Waltham (3-0) Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Waltham. Waltham has defeated Natick, 27-14; Brookline, 28-16, and Weymouth North, 27-6. Last season Waltham romped over Quincy, 26-0.

Everytime Quincy would start to do something, a penalty would set it back. The most costly penalty came at the start of the final period. With Quincy leading, 12-7, Mark Picot got off a booming punt which rolled dead on Revere's 20, but a penalty called it back and this time Revere blocked the punt and recovered in the end zone for the winning touchdown.

"This was awful, I can't remember us playing a worse game," said Quincy coach Tom Fitzgerald. "We really beat ourselves out there today. We never should have lost it."

"And now we must play one of the hottest teams around. If we don't regroup and rectify our mistakes, we'll be blown away. We have a lot of work to do in preparation for Waltham."

Defensively the Presidents played well and Glenn Straughn, playing his first game as outside linebacker, was particularly outstanding. He intercepted a pass, sacked the Revere quarterback and made numerous tackles.

Also looking good on defense were Picot, Mike Nevins, John Taglieri, Mike Shaughnessy and Steve Spencer.

Quincy couldn't do much right on offense, although Jamie Gravales played well in the line.

"We couldn't do anything on offense and the line just wasn't blocking," Fitzgerald said.

to break his stride and he ran 35 yards to complete the picture play. Quincy tried a rush on a fake kick for the two points but it failed.

Quincy was vastly improved in the third period and dominated play, taking the lead late in the period. Steve Goguen and Mark Righini sparked a long drive and Mudge scored from the three to put Quincy in front, 12-7. A pass for the crucial two points failed.

After Picot's long punt (he got off several good kicks) was voided and the next one was blocked, Revere's Pat Walsh fell on the ball in the end zone for the winning touchdown.

Quincy had a couple of late chances but an interception ruined the last opportunity after a partially blocked punt had given the Presidents the ball on Revere's 36.

Quincy's only first down of the first half came on a 66-yard scoring bomb from quarterback Bob Mudge to Shaughnessy for the Presidents' first touchdown with two seconds left in the half.

Revere's first score was set up when Quincy was offside twice in a row on Revere punts, giving Revere a first down on the 35 instead of Quincy getting the ball.

The Patriots' touchdown came on the second play of the second period on a 12-yard run by Bob DeSisto. Mike Siquin kicked what later proved to be the winning point.

The bomb from Mudge to Shaughnessy was perfectly thrown, Shaughnessy not having

Sterling Girls Defeat, Tie Broad Meadows

Sterling Junior High girls' soccer team, through a quirk in the schedule, faced Broad Meadows in its first two games and played to a 1-1 tie in the first game and won the second, 2-0.

Kelly Crowe scored all Sterling's goals with Christine Boland having two assists.

Coach George Colarusso described both games as "complete team efforts" and the main penetration was by the front line of Sheryl Jollimore, Debbie Clements, Kelly Crowe, Debbie Estrella, Gina Goss and Christi Pearsons. The field position was maintained by Lori Vanelli, Ginger McGee and Chris Boland.

Excellent work by sweepers Kristen Deware and Theresa Kelly kept a lot of pressure off Diane Dewever, who has looked good in goal.

The Sterling team is made up of only five ninth graders, one eighth grader and six seventh graders.

Sterling will play Atlantic Tuesday at 3 o'clock at Perkins Field, Merymount.

Apaches Over Elks, Panthers Sink Sailors

The North Quincy Apaches ran their record to 3-0 and held first place in the Quincy Youth Football League with an easy 30-6 victory over the Elks last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Jim Milano continued his fine performance by scoring three of the Apache's touchdowns, two of them after Elks' fumbles which were recovered by John Ainsley and Steve Miller.

The fourth touchdown was scored by Gary McNamara, after Mike Kubera had run 35 yards and Pete Furtado 11. Kubera rushed for over 100 yards.

Quarterback Mike Peters had an excellent game as did Sean Toland, George Hartford, John and Joe McCarthy, Mike Carnevali, Brian Morris and Scott Kearns.

Also playing well were junior varsity players Larry Taglieri, Paul Moody, Jim Mulvey and Jeff Norton.

The Quincy Point Panthers defeated the Squantum Sailors, 14-6, to improve their record to 2-1.

The Sailors' Greg Knight raced 94 yards in the second period but was brought down on the four-yard line by Kevin Salmon. The Panthers held for four downs with Jimmy Mayo spearheading the defense.

The Panthers fumbled on the one and the Sailors' Tony Palmer recovered on the three. On the next play Tim McDonough scored the Sailors' touchdown.

Two plays after the ensuing kickoff Billy Shaughnessy passed to Salmon, the play covering 63 yards for the tying touchdown. Shaughnessy hit David Britt for the two extra points. Britt was injured on the play when his shoulder pad gashed his chin and he required seven stitches.

In the third quarter the Panthers scored the insurance touchdown on a reverse, with Salmon scoring.

Mayo, Salmon and Mark Cronin stood out for the Panthers, while Knight and McDonough were outstanding for the Sailors.

The Panthers will face the Elks Sunday at 1 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The standings: Apaches, 3-0; Panthers, 2-1; Houghs Neck Manets, 2-1; Sailors, 1-3; Elks, 0-3.

Nearly 100 Sign Up For Quincy Choral Society nearly 100 singers, most from Quincy, have responded to the invitation to become members of the newly formed Quincy Choral Society.

"Overwhelming" is the word used by Robert Brown, choral society director, to describe the enthusiasm of the singers.

Brown is also conductor of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, which he has directed since 1967.

"We plan to do our first concert with the orchestra on Dec. 11, in the North Quincy High School auditorium which will feature Robert Shaw's arrangement of "The Many Moods of Christmas", says Brown.

"I'm sure those who attend will be impressed with the talent of this new chorus."

The choral group, the first in over 40 years to be located in Quincy, has been rehearsing Monday evenings.

It is expected the chorus will perform at Quincy's annual Christmas Festival.

47 N.H. Tourists To Visit Quincy Historic Sites

The first ever bus tour conducted by the Norfolk County Tourist Council will arrive in Quincy Thursday with 47 tourists from Concord, N.H., to see the historic sites.

Arrival time is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. at the Adams Academy for coffee and doughnuts on the Quincy Historical Society.

It is the kickoff in what John C. Nourse, director of the tourist council, hopes will be a long series of similar group visits from all over the country.

The idea for group bus tours of the historic spots in Norfolk County came to Nourse a year ago when he and a friend took a foliage trip to Old Sturbridge Village.

"There must have been two dozen buses in the parking lot, some from as far away as Colorado," he said. "I said, 'Why not get our fair share?'"

The result was an advertising campaign in senior citizen and travel agency publications that so far has produced Thursday's tour of seniors from Concord and a dozen other inquiries.

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 8

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

The accent's on friendship and the launching of new relationships. Associates may be secretive and unpredictable, but financial transactions progress more smoothly than expected.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

A significant week for family activities — from intimate gatherings to large-scale reunions. Creative work is expensive; complete old jobs before launching new ventures.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Friend may be too demanding and you shouldn't be afraid to tell him/her how you feel. With complaints or congratulations, take your remarks to the very top people.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Business agreements should not be signed lightly, no matter how much pressure is on you. Family member is overprotective — which is probably the best thing for you now.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

An important week for partnership matters, and finances in particular are promising. Loved ones are easily hurt and your good-natured chiding could be taken quite personally.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Self-indulgent streak is prominent. It's not the best time to plan long-range diets or budgets. Good news from abroad more than compensates for hassles from family members.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Differences may develop over the investment of family resources, and whatever the situation, impulsive action should be avoided. A favorable week for a late holiday.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Information related to academic or career advancement is painfully slow in arriving, and some gentle reminders may be necessary. New faces live up to the weekend.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Delays over an educational matter are ended, but get your confirmations in writing. Shared interests bring you together with a much younger — or older — person.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Personal misunderstanding can turn into a sticky problem if you don't speak your mind at the right moment. Flair for design can be put to practical, profitable use now.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Loved one adopts a new policy of openness, which can take some getting used to. Long-awaited shakedown — on the job or in a community organization — at last takes place.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

You may have to put an important decision on hold as the information at hand remains somewhat suspect. Creative competitions tap resources you never really knew you had.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You socialize easily, communicate effectively and you adore the good things in life. Difficulties? Making decisions and taking a stand. Next nine months find you laying groundwork for series of advances that take place July-September '82.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 8th, actor Chevy Chase; 9th, actor Edward Andrews; 10th, actress Helen Hayes; 11th, choreographer Jerome Robbins; 12th, comedian Dick Gregory; 13th, singer Art Garfunkel; 14th, actor Roger Moore.

Business/Real Estate

Conway Petitions Aim For Lower Interest Rate

Realtor Jack Conway is starting a petition drive aimed at bringing home mortgage interest rates, now hovering at the 20 per cent mark, down into the range of the average American.

He promised to personally deliver the petitions to President Reagan and the Congress.

The program, which Conway calls Campaign HOME (Home Ownership Makes the Economy), is aimed at delivering the message to Washington "that the vast numbers of buyers and sellers have been frozen out of the real estate market."

Conway was New England

chairman for Reagan for President in 1980.

City Plans Fines Hike On Illegal Parking

By TOM HENSHAW

The cost of illegal parking may be going up in Quincy.

Members of the Traffic Commission met with Mayor Arthur H. Tobin Tuesday to discuss a draft plan that would divide the city into zones carrying fines of $10, $5, and $3 for illegal parking.

The Red Zone ($10) would be in the business areas, and around the MBTA stations; the Yellow Zones ($5) along the city's main arteries; and the White Zones ($3) in residential areas.

Mayor Tobin said it is hoped to have the draft plan ready as an ordinance for the Nov. 16 meeting of the City Council so the plan can be in effect by the Christmas season, if the Council approves.

The plan is an outgrowth of the problems the city has had with Boston-bound commuters who are willing to pay the $2 fine for illegal parking to leave their cars in Quincy while they board the T.

"We have to stop Quincy from becoming the dumping ground for MBTA parkers," said Police Capt. Paul Lahive, a member of the commission.

"We have a policy of strong enforcements around the stations so the commuters have moved out into the business and residential districts to park their cars all day."

"This is something that's long overdue," said Tobin. "It is the answer to a lot of complaints that have been lodged by residents and city councillors alike."

The plan would also make the Red Zones tow zones and the cost of parking that interferes with snow removal would be upped to $20.

Estimated Tax Bills In Mail By End Of Month

Estimated tax bills should be in the mail to Quincy property owners before the end of October.

Gov. Edward J. King last week signed legislation permitting 102 cities and towns that have not completed the revaluation process to send out estimated bills in their first mailings.

Then, once the actual tax rate is established, the adjustments will be made during the second mailings in May.

"I don't want to set a specific date for mailing tax bills," said

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin. "We still have to have the forms approved by the state. But we're shooting for the end of the month."

Assessor Patricia Ceriani said the estimated bills that are sent out will be the same as those that were mailed out for the first half of fiscal 1981.

The estimated bills, she said, will save the city considerable interest that would have to be paid on money borrowed to keep the city running.

The city has been borrowing money in anticipation of taxes since the start of the fiscal year. July 1, and Mrs. Ceriani said the latest borrowing brought the interest payments to $363,210.

Tobin said he feels that the State Department of Revenue will approve Quincy's forms quickly because the city has been in constant touch with the department to make sure it has done things right.

"I don't think we will run into the problems that we have had in the past," he said.

School Children Unhurt In Shore Drive Mishap

City, Tenants File

$1.3 Million Suit Against Executive Condos

The city of Quincy and residents of Executive House have brought suit for $1,370,000 against 1025 Hancock St., Inc., the owners who are trying to convert the 175-unit apartment house into condominiums.

The suit charges, among other things, that the owners "engaged in acts, conduct and practice which were intended to inflict emotional distress" on the tenants of the building.

Their conduct, said the suit, "was extreme and outrageous, was beyond all possible bounds of decency and was utterly intolerable in a civilized community."

Tenants of Executive House were notified Sept. 2 that the building was to be converted into condominiums and the tenants were given a certain amount of time to purchase their apartments.

Many of the tenants are senior citizens, the suit said, who "suffer ongoing emotional harm and physical distress arising from their fear and anxiety that they will lose their homes."

The city became involved in the suit because the apartment house was built in 1965 under a Chapter 121A agreement which limits the amount of taxes that its owners pay the city.

It is also claimed that the owners of the building profited excessively through the use of excess management fees, user fees for dishwashers, air conditioners, parking and laundry facilities.

Profits from the building were limited to 6 per cent by the agreement with the city.

In addition, the suit claims that 1025 Hancock St., Inc., notified tenants on Sept. 28 that a substantial rent increase had been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development when in fact it had not.

The money is sought in these increments:

- $100,000 by the city of Quincy for profits received in excess of the 6 per cent permitted by the agreement.
- $150,000 by the city of Quincy for failure to comply with the Chapter 121A agreement.
- $100,000 by the city of Quincy against the Dewey Square Realty Co., Inc., chief stockholder in 1025 Hancock St., Inc., for receiving "unlawfully distributed money" under the agreement.
- $20,000 by Matthew Calligan, a resident on behalf of all tenants in class action, for inducing him to sign a lease on his apartment knowing it was to be converted into a condominium.
- $1,000,000 by Rita M. Foley, a resident on behalf of all tenants in class action, for causing "physical and emotional distress which distress was severe and of a nature that no reasonable person could be expected to endure."

"We've got a heck of a lot to be thankful for," said Mrs. Betty Swanton of 10 Samoset Ave., Merrymount. "We lucked out this time but we can't expect to luck out too often."

Mrs. Swanton figured that the parents of youngsters at the Merrymount School, and she is one of them, lucked out when their children escaped injury at a Quincy Shore Drive school crossing Tuesday morning.

While the children were waiting to cross the busy Drive at Squanto St. shortly after 8 a.m. a car heading south went out of control, knocked down a tree and overturned.

The Squanto St. crossing was one of those from which the MDC removed its crossing guards in a cost-cutting move this fall. There was, however, an MDC policeman supervising the corner.

But the officer, Patrolman Robert Kelly, had to leave his post to go to the accident scene a block away at the intersection of the Drive and Samoset St.

MDC Police at the Old Colony station identified the driver of the 1979 Buick as John Barnes, 26, of North Weymouth. He was taken to City Hospital and released after treatment.

Police said Barnes told them he was driving south when another car came at him in the wrong lane and he had to swerve his car to avoid hitting the second vehicle.

Mrs. Swanton said her children told her that there was a group of kids waiting to cross the Drive when the accident happened. Patrolman Kelly told them to stay where they were while he went to the accident.

After a while, said Mrs. Swanton, a neighbor, Elaine Lyons, came out and helped the youngsters across the street to school.

"This was one of the things we dreaded when we first heard that the guards were to be taken away," she said. "We were lucky this time. But how close can you come?"

Garage May Open For Christmas

If a few technicalities and legal questions can be straightened out, the federally funded (UDAG) parking garage at the corner of Granite St. and Burgin Parkway may be opened in time for the Christmas rush.

"The garage is completed, except for some minor things," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin. "It can be opened once we settle the question of responsibility, city permits and insurance."

Tobin met with city officials and Donald Moscone, the contractor, Tuesday morning to see if matters could be hustled along.

"I am told," he said, "that the biggest shopping day historically is the day after Thanksgiving.

The week after Christmas is also busy so we're talking about a period of five to six weeks.

"I'd like to have it opened in time for the Christmas Festival parade Sunday, Nov. 29."

The only important feature of the 550-car garage that remains to be finished is the elevator system.

After Police Complaints

Sagamore Inn Gets 2 Day Suspension

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The City License Board voted 4 to 1 Tuesday to suspend the license of the Sagamore Inn, 78A-78B Sagamore St., for two days, Oct. 19 and 20, after complaints against the inn were made by police.

Voting against the two day suspension was Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh who had recommended a two week suspension at an earlier meeting.

The complaints stemmed from a July 26 incident when, according to the police report, Quincy police were tagging cars outside the establishment and the bar room emptied.

The officers put in a call for assistance.

According to police, inn owner Michael Dormady, a Duxbury policeman, accused Officer John Kelly of "picking on the place" and screamed, "You've had it. You're going to get it."

Dormady also swore at Kelly and made threatening gestures according to police.

Atty. John Haddigan said at the Sept. 29, meeting, that the situation "got blown out of proportion."

"I don't think it will ever happen again," Haddigan said. Asked for his opinion on what action should be taken, Officer Kelly had said, "It was a one shot deal. I don't want to hurt the guy."

After board members failed to agree on action ranging from six months probation to a two week or two day license suspension, the matter was continued to allow input from Police Chief Francis Finn.

At this week's meeting Finn went along with the two day suspension saying, "the police officer is more or less satisfied with the milder punishment."

"I would've gone along with the 12 days, but the officer himself spoke up."

"That area is one of the most difficult to police," said Finn, "and when people see the police abused, our authority is negated."

The inn's license was also placed on six months probation.

Both Fire Chief Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald told Daniel O'Leary, also an inn owner, that "the next time, you've had it."

"You're not going to come into the city and abuse the police," said MacDonald.

QCA Urges Police Retain Canine Patrol

The Quincy Citizens Association has urged Police Chief Francis X. Finn to reconsider his decision to discontinue the department's canine patrol as an economy measure.

Said the QCA in a letter to Chief Finn:

"We believe that the dogs have proven their worth to the Police Betterment Association as well as the residents of our city and the relatively small amount of money needed for their care and upkeep can be afforded by the taxpayers."

"Certainly if a town the size of Stoughton thinks the dogs are valuable enough to spend its funds on, our 90,000 residents can benefit from the services of the canine patrol even more."

$125,240 In Wiring

The Wire Inspector issued 111 permits for wiring estimated to cost $125,240 during the month of September.

A total of $2,457.25 in fees was collected.

The inspector issued 43 certificates of approval to the Mass Electric Co., made 111 inspections, noted five defects and made three reinspections.

Your Very Own Money-Making Tax Shelter

That's what a Quincy Cooperative Bank All Savers Certificate may mean to you. Here are five quick facts about the new way to save:

1. Tax Exemption - You may exclude from Federal Income Tax up to $2,000 in interest if you file jointly, $1,000 if singly.
2. Interest Rate is based on 70% of the yield of a one-year U.S. Treasury bill. Rates will change periodically and Quincy Cooperative Bank will pay the highest rate allowed by law.

Under Revaluation Homeowners' Tax Bills Going Up Despite Prop. 2½

By TOM HENSHAW

"Some people have the understanding," said Chief Assessor John P. Comer, "that we are going into revaluation but it doesn't matter because we have Proposition 2½ so tax bills are going down."

"That's not so."

Comer was called upon to explain to the City Council some of the facts, figures and myths surrounding the actual fiscal 1982 tax bills, which won't be in the mail until sometime next year.

"In this city," he said, "over the past 15 to 20 years, we have been tucking it to business and industrial property everytime we needed a value increase."

"Now homeowners are going to pay and commercial and industrial is going to go down."

Comer said that most residential properties in Quincy are assessed at 10 to 15 per cent of true market value.

"I wouldn't sell my own home for less than $70,000," he said. "It's assessed for $6,900, about 10 per cent. But if General Dynamics is assessed for $20 million, that doesn't mean it's worth $200 million."

When the Quincy tax levy finally gets down to $37 million, as specified by Prop 2½, in about three years, he said, "homeowners will appreciate a tax reduction. But they won't see it the first year."

"Revaluation just takes the tax levy and redistributes it fairly."

Comer said he is sure that the vast majority of Quincy homeowners will understand that, just as they did back in 1973-74 when the last equalization was done.

"They were expecting hundreds and hundreds of homeowners to come in and file appeals," he said. "But when the dust settled they realized their valuations were right and they had been getting away with murder."

"We had homes in some parts of the city assessed for $1,000 and people paying $180 a year in taxes. They knew it was ridiculous."

"When they finally had the opportunity to appeal I don't think we had 10 taxpayers go to the appellate tax board out of thousands of changes and we won all 10 because they were ridiculously low."

"I'm hoping the same thing will happen here."

Comer said that current expectations are that P.R.C. Jacobs, the revaluation firm, will finish revaluing residential property before Nov. 2.

"That's the date that has been assigned to us by the State Department of Revenue to start reviewing the methods they used in arriving at the assessment," he said.

"They will spend four to six working days going over the values with P.R.C. Jacobs. When they are satisfied the method is in order, they will permit us to send notices to property owners."

After that, he said, comes the two-month review process for those who question their values and then the Department of Revenue gives the city a formula, called a "factor", to determine classification.

"When the mayor, with city council approval, sets the classification rates, then we can send out tax bills," said Comer.

A bill signed last week by Gov. Edward J. King enables the city to send out estimated tax bills for the first half of fiscal 1982 and, said Comer, the adjustments will be made on the second half bills.

"Applications for abatements can be turned in but they will not be processed right away," he said.

"The 30-day period to appeal overvalues and the three-month period for veterans, widows and the elderly will start from the date the second bills go out."

Comer was praised by Councilor Francis X. McCauley about the work of Sal Ruocco of Capital Appraisal Services, Appalachin, N.Y., who was hired to monitor the work of P.R.C. Jacobs.

Ruocco failed to appear when summoned to a Council meeting Sept. 16 and McCauley said he had written to him three times, July 31, Aug. 12 and Aug. 30, and never received an answer.

"I am getting more interested in what Mr. Ruocco is doing than I am in the revaluation firm," said McCauley.

Comer explained that Ruocco's car broke down between Albany, N.Y., and Quincy the day he was supposed to appear before the

McIntyre Mall To Be Dedicated Oct. 25

George R. Riley, will give the main address Sunday, Oct. 25, at 2 p.m. when McIntyre Mall is dedicated to the memory of the late Police Capt. William F. McIntyre.

Riley's father, the late Lt. Edward Riley and Captain McIntyre were close friends and colleagues.

Former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin will add his comments, "Reflections -- Father and Son," on Capt. McIntyre and his son, former Mayor and Sen. James R. McIntyre.

Capt. McIntyre's daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hunt, will read a poem for the occasion, after which a memorial to her father will be unveiled.

Former Mayor McIntyre also will speak.

The Quincy Veterans Council color guard, under Commander John M. Gillis, will raise the flag and the 215th Army National Guard Band, CWO John Yunits, director, will play the national anthem.

The band will also play "God Bless America".

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin will act as master of ceremonies and bring the greetings of the city.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Scally of St. Ann's Church will give the invocation; the Rev. Peter Corea of Houghs Neck Congregational Church, the dedication prayer; and Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue the benediction.

License Board To Hold Monthly Night Meetings

The City License Board will hold a night time meeting one Tuesday a month beginning in January, according to City Clerk John M. Gillis.

Meetings are currently being held Tuesdays at 10 a.m. in City Hall.

Gillis said the meetings will be held for gasoline and liquor license requests only.

If there are no such requests pending, there will be no night meeting, explained Gillis.

A time for the evening meetings has not yet been set.

The board agreed to schedule some evening meetings, which presumably would allow more of the public to attend, after a suggestion from the City Council.

A Challenging Act

With the city election less than three weeks away, it looks like the mayoral campaign is finally getting started.

Until a few days ago, mayoral contenders Francis McCauley and Daniel Raymondi appeared to be on a bicycle built for two.

They were in tandem on the three recent controversial issues: the proposed cross-town connector, the downtown video game center license and the planned appearance of the Plasmatiks and wild Wendy O. Williams at The Strand Theater.

Both were opposed to all three.

The two had been in agreement enough on so many matters — or so it seemed — that it spawned a joke: Let's make the winner mayor and the loser vice-mayor.

In fairness to both candidates, however, they have conducted a clean campaign. Neither has stooped to pick up a speck of dirt — never mind a handful of mud.

RAYMONDI

Looking back, it seemed Raymondi and McCauley were campaigning more against incumbent Arthur Tobin who is not on the ballot than they were against one another. He sort of became the issue.

Tobin has gotten banged around a bit by both candidates especially over the city's finances.

But actually, Tobin has done pretty well in that department and pretty well over-all in his four years as mayor.

The chief executive's seat is Quincy's hot seat and each year it seems the flame gets turned up a little higher.

If a mayor were unanimously elected, he'd start losing ground and popularity his first day on the job. Even if George Washington were mayor of Quincy, he'd be getting his lumps as Tobin has and his predecessors have. The next mayor whether his name is McCauley or Raymondi will get his share of lumps, too.

Running for mayor is one thing. Being mayor is another. Every man who has run and won, finds that out not long after he raises his right hand and takes his oath. Especially in recent years when the problems and headaches have come bigger and more often.

Tobin had to face two king-sized problems: working within the four per cent tax cap and then Proposition 2½. His was the first administration to have to live with these restrictive mandates.

TOBIN

History will be the final judge of Tobin's administration. Right now, overall, it appears to have been one of progress, despite the clashes with firefighters, nurses and teachers, — the pickets with paper bags over their heads.

Some $152 million in new development has been brought to Quincy during the Tobin years including the $16 million Quincy Center Plaza building, the National Fire Protection Association structure in West Quincy, the three Monarch buildings in North Quincy, the Louisburg Sq. apartments on Quincy Shore Drive, the Clipper Associates building in Germantown. Others are underway or on the drawing board.

There's also been community development programs like homes rehabilitation, smoke detectors, landscaping, curbing street lights, parks, playgrounds, Little League fields.

Quincy City Hospital — a long-time political football — is now under private management (Hospital Corp. of America) and doing well, thank you.

Quincy Junior College, the only municipal junior college in the state — was saved through an enterprise revolving account.

The city budget is balanced under the provisions of Proposition 2½. There is no appropriation deficit.

More important there is no cloud of suspicion hanging over the city. No scandals.

Arthur Tobin isn't perfect. He has his faults. So do we all.

But after his four years in office, Quincy's image is clean, its present progressive, its future bright.

For the next mayor, it may be a challenging act to follow.

Mass Fields Playground To Be Renovated

The Massachusetts Fields playground will be renovated in the next few weeks with funds from the federal Community Development Block Grant.

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath said the work will consist of resodding the open playfield, resurfacing the basketball court and replacement of the standards, improvement of the tot lot area and perimeter landscaping.

Detailed plans for the renovation were approved by area residents at an Oct. 7 meeting with McGrath and members of the Planning Department.

CHAPTER 54, SECTION 103P

Condon Concerned Over Webster St. Foster Home

"I am concerned," said City Councillor Joanne Condon, "that people's concerns are getting out of hand."

The concerns revolve around a house at 8 Webster St., Atlantic, which has been a foster home for four retarded adults, ages 18 to 22, since last August.

"There has been a lot of misinformation given out about that house around the neighborhood," said Mrs. Condon.

That's one reason why she called a meeting of Webster St. residents for Tuesday night at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center.

Scheduled to provide information at the meeting were Jack Hauck of the Quincy Welfare Office, and John Dern of the Justice Resource Institute of Boston, which operates the foster home.

One of Mrs. Condon's concerns was a flyer that was circulated in Atlantic notifying residents of the whole area about the meeting.

The flyer said the meeting was "regarding mental health rehab halfway house that was opened in the Atlantic area. Please come, it involves your neighborhood." The last two words were underlined.

"I don't know why they would flyer people eight streets away," said Mrs. Condon.

"They should have notified the people of Webster St. before they opened the foster home. I hope they won't do it again."

Mrs. Condon said she has heard two complaints about the house. One was that someone was standing in front of the house smoking marijuana. The second was that two residents were yelling at each other while one was taking out garbage.

"There have been no major incidents that I know of," she said.

The owner of the house, Robert Riddle, reported to police that someone poured sugar in the gas tank of his camper Sunday night but they would not say that the incident was connected with the house.

Mrs. Condon said she did not learn of the foster home until about 10 days ago when Cathy Narbonne of 18 Webster St. called to relay the neighbors' concerns.

The retarded adults are placed in foster homes under contract by the state to prepare them for living on their own under the state's new policy of deinstitutionalizing them.

Council and that the assessors had received regular reports from him.

He said that in addition to overseeing P.R.C. Jacobs, Ruocco also was hired to reassess exempt property (churches, schools, etc.) and 15 to 20 of the larger industrial properties.

These have been completed, he said.

Comer, responding to a question by Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, said the Department of Revenue had told him the city could not be granted a postponement of reevaluation without court permission.

City Solicitor Robert Fleming said he had contacted the attorney general's office and was told that that office "would vigorously oppose any such motion unless we could show compelling reasons."

Councillor John J. Quinn noted that P.R.C. Jacobs is being sued by the city of Buffalo for "dereliction of duty and inept practices" in its reevaluation of the New York city.

"I am 100 per cent opposed to reevaluation," he said. "I'm going to continue to fight it. I am going to do everything in my power to prevent reevaluation."

Atlantic Rehab Program Available To Low Income

A public meeting was scheduled to be held yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center to explain the new home rehabilitation and energy conservation revolving loan program.

The program, which will operate in the Atlantic Neighborhood Strategy Area, was announced recently by City Councillor Joanne Condon and Charles A. Pearce, president of the Quincy Savings Bank.

Through the program, five to 10-year loans up to $5,000 at 5 per cent interest will be provided to low and moderate income homeowners for the following types of improvements:

- Structural rehabilitation of homes to eliminate all health and safety hazards so each home is brought up to the quality standards of the Quincy Building Code and State Sanitary Code.

- Minor carpentry work, as approved by the Quincy Housing Rehabilitation Office.

- Installation of insulation or storm windows.

Other energy conservation measures as approved by the Housing Rehabilitation Office.

To qualify for participation, the home must be owner-occupied, or a two-family unit, and each applicant may have a maximum gross income from $12,200 to $21,800 according to household size.

Through this cooperative venture between the city and Quincy Savings Bank, loans can be made to low and moderate income residents to assist them in their home improvement efforts. "Only through a cooperative effort between the city and the financial community can Quincy's neighborhoods be conserved and improved for the benefit of all residents," said Mrs. Condon. "Charlie Pearce and Quincy Savings Bank have certainly been in the forefront and a leader in this effort."

Paul Grasso Playground To Be Dedicated Sunday

The recently rehabilitated Paul V. Grasso Playground on Columbia St., South Quincy, will be dedicated Sunday, Oct. 18, at 11 a.m. with the Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League performing.

The playground is named for Paul V. Grasso, a lifelong resident of Southwest Quincy, who was killed in action in Vietnam in 1968.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, City Councillor James A. Sheets and members of the Grasso family will speak briefly at the dedication.

NLRB Postpones Bargaining Vote At FR Shipyard

The National Labor Relations Board granted a request by the CIO Shipbuilding Workers Union to postpone the bargaining unit election at the Fore River Shipyard until Nov. 19 to give 1,445 workers who were furloughed in July a chance to vote.

The rival Independent Union of Fore River Workers, noting that the election had previously been postponed from Aug. 11 to Oct. 22, sent telegrams to Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire claiming the postponement would seriously harm national defense.

"The CIO can never win this election and the National Labor Board is helping them to the detriment of the working men, who are losing better wages and working conditions as a result," said the Independent Union in a statement.

NO STADIUM ADMISSION

Police Capt. Daniel H. Doran told the City Council that police officers hired to maintain order at football games in Municipal Stadium have been advised not to refuse admission to people trying to enter the stadium without a ticket.

Councillor Laurence J. Curtin, who brought the matter up after several youngsters had been hurt climbing into the stadium without tickets, said the stadium is a free and open field and admissions cannot be legally enforced at the gate.

"I think the mere presence of a police officer at the gate tends to create the false impression, particularly for youngsters, that admissions must be paid," said Curtin.

MORE POLICE LIEUTENANTS

The City Council, with Councillor Neil A. McDonald in opposition, voted to increase the number of lieutenants in the Police Department from six to eight and to decrease the number of sergeants from 10 to eight.

"I fail to see," said McDonald, "how we can create two new jobs on the Police Department at $2,500 a year or $5,000 together and eliminate two posts at $2,300 per year or $4,600 and not cost the city money."

'WAR DUTY OFFICER'

Acting Police Capt. William Ferrazzi, reporting on his recent refresher course at the FBI school in Washington, recommended that the city create the post of "war duty officer to supervise all war emergencies."

Among his duties would be maintenance of maps showing air raid precautions, reporting to the Chief on public morale, identifying dead and notifying surviving relatives and maintaining contact with military forces.

DOVE Needs $15,000 To Fix Up New Home

DOVE, Inc., which stands for Domestic Violence Ended, has found a new home.

Now it needs $15,000 more to make necessary renovations so it can be of service to abused women and children when DOVE is forced to leave its old home Thursday, Oct. 15.

The new home of DOVE, which will serve as a permanent shelter for women and children who have suffered beatings in their homes, was purchased for $90,000.

F. William Lawton, president of the South Weymouth Savings Bank, and Richard Cahill, vice president of the Quincy Division of Jack Conway, Realtor, were instrumental in securing the mortgage.

They played key roles in raising $27,000 in two months to make the down payment and mortgage payments for the first year.

DOVE is being forced to leave the shelter in Quincy where it has been located for the past three years because of lack of funds. In those three years it has aided some 8,500 women and children.

The new shelter will provide living accommodations for 20 to 25 women and children, plus community space, play areas and living space that the current shelter lacks.

Locations of DOVE shelters are not disclosed in order to protect the residents.

"Hopefully," said Dr. Bernie MacPherson, site chairman, "the general public and local businesses will keep their contributions coming in so that we can keep our vital services going without a time lapse."

She noted that DOVE has already helped some 600 women and 900 children and has taken about 7,000 crisis calls since it began in 1978 as an offshoot of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Toland Urges More Efficient Management

Patricia Toland, a candidate for the City Council at large, says the city can be managed more efficiently through better utilization of its existing resources. "Many of the existing resources are not used sufficiently by the city to the taxpayers' advantage," she told a coffee hour at the home of Mr.

and Mrs. Walter Burke, 74 Ocean St., Atlantic.

For example, said Mrs. Toland, the city has a lot of problems sending out bills on time while the school system has a computer capable of handling much of the city's billing needs.

"Citizens have a right to expect city government to be run in a modern, efficient manner, and not to be penalized by inefficient management of the city's business affairs," she said.

She promised that when she is elected she will seek ways to better manage the city's finances to give beleaguered taxpayers the most for their money.

Parent Board Meeting At Broad Meadows

The agenda will include program and organization for the school year.

Parent board members will invite parents to attend monthly and participate in the informational and advisory meetings.

Mrs. Elaine McGrail, parent board chairperson, will explain the value of regular membership.

Cortese Presses For Debate

Joseph F. Cortese, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 2, says his opponent has refused to debate him "on the issues and problems confronting the people of Quincy Point, Quincy Center and South Quincy."

Cortese issued the challenge to Theodore DeCristofaro on Sept. 28.

Instead of accepting the challenge, Cortese said, his opponent suggested that they meet during a Ward 2 Civic Association Candidates Night later this month in the Fore River Clubhouse.

Cortese noted that the candidates night will also include candidates for mayor, city council at large and School Committee.

"I strongly feel that this will greatly diminish the time allocated to discuss in depth the present and future facing the people of Ward 2," said Cortese.

Cahill Reception Oct. 16

A reception will be held Friday, Oct. 16, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Bryan VFW Post for Timothy P. Cahill, a candidate for the City Council at large.

A disc jockey will provide music for dancing and there will be a free buffet with hot food. There will also be a cash bar.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling 770-2452 or by stopping by Cahill Headquarters at 1246 Hancock St.

Dental Corner by Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

WHAT ARE CROWNS?

Crowns (caps) seem mysterious to patients, largely because they are made behind the scenes in a laboratory. Yet they perform a very simple function. They cover and restore the shape, function, and often the appearance of the crown (top part) of the tooth.

The dentist must first change the size and shape of the tooth, so that the crown can fit snugly over the tooth without extra bulk. The tooth is reduced to a thimble shape, and an impression (mold) is made. The laboratory custom-makes the crown to fit over the tooth, just as a cap fits on someone's head.

Crowns may be necessary when teeth have been repeatedly filled, and fillings can no longer be made to stay in the tooth. Crowns are also made to restore a good appearance to broken-down or stained front teeth, or to correct problems with the bite.

'The Building Block' Highlights Squantum

Church Service

Continuing at the First Church of Squantum Sunday the series of worship services based on the book of the Acts of the Apostles, the Cinnamon Toast Crowd taught the congregation a new piece of contemporary Christian music which illustrated that theme.

The song was "The Building Block" by Noel Paul Stookey, formerly of the Peter, Paul and Mary singing group and also the composer of "The Wedding Song." The song, led by the young people in the Cinnamon Toast Crowd with Mary Ruth Scott playing the guitar, is a folk-rock version of the statement made shortly after Pentecost by the apostle Peter about Jesus Christ, "This is the stone which was rejected by you builders, but which has become the head of the corner." (Acts 4:11)

Greeters for the morning were Pat and Henry Sorenson. The ushers were Harry Holmes, Paul Paulson, Robert Carr and Mark Paul.

Recilla Stamos led the opening prayer and Dorothy Abbe gave the prayer of dedication. The chancel Choir sang John Newton's "Amazing Grace" again accompanied by Mary Ruth Scott on the guitar.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached a sermon entitled "Why Is Jesus the Only Way?" It was based on the text in Acts 4:12 which reads, "And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved."

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Janet Sumner, Ida VonRiegers and Dorothy Abbe.

Next Sunday the morning service will begin at 10:15 a.m. with a Youth Service at 6 p.m.

Wollaston Lutheran Church Celebrates 50th Anniversary Sunday

Wollaston Lutheran Church, 550 Hancock St., will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the congregation's founding in a 10 a.m. Holy Communion Service Sunday, according to Rev. Frank J. Bauer, pastor since 1959.

The congregation has been served by only one other pastor, the late Rev. Elmer A. Kettner who conducted the first service in October, 1931, in the Little Theatre, corner of Hancock St. and Ferndale Rd., now Deware Brothers Funeral Home.

Preacher at the service will be Harvard University doctoral candidate Walter A. Maier III of Cambridge.

Maier is the grandson of the late Rev. Dr. Walter A. Maier, founder and first speaker of the Lutheran Hour, who preached at the congregation's first Easter service in 1932.

Also participating in the service will be Chaplain (Major) John A. Bauer of the U.S. Army Chaplain School at Fort Monmouth, N.J., son of Pastor and Mrs. Bauer.

REV. FRANK BAUER

He was a member of the first graduation class of the sixth grade Christian lay school operated by Wollaston Lutheran Church 1953 to 1966.

Music will be under the direction of the congregation's organist, Professor Charles E. Seifert of Eastern Nazarene College.

Speaker at the noon anniversary dinner in the church's lower hall following the service will be Adeline Kettner of St. Louis, Mo., widow of the founding and first pastor.

Members of the congregation will be joined in their celebration by residents of Fennu House and Town Brook House, two federally funded apartment buildings in Quincy for the elderly and the handicapped sponsored by Wollaston Lutheran Church.

President of the congregation is I. Bradford Hutchinson of Braintree. Mrs. Mary Sullivan, a Fennu House resident is president of the Womens Guild.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life — "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ — now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

The second annual Michael DeThomaso Memorial Bloodmobile will be held Friday, 3 to 9 p.m. at St. John's School, Phipps St., Quincy Center.

The bloodmobile is a memorial to the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeThomaso of 78 Prospect St., Braintree, who died of acute lymphocytic leukemia Nov. 1, 1979.

The DeThomasos became very aware of the importance of blood donors during their son's two year illness, and feel the bloodmobile is a way to help others while remembering Michael.

Friday would have been Michael's seventh birthday.

Last year, 96 pints of blood were collected at the bloodmobile. The DeThomasos hope to top that figure this year.

Raymondi Sees 'Clear Difference' Between Mayoral Candidates

"There is," said City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, "a clear difference between the candidates for mayor and that difference is responsibility to the voters."

Raymondi, one of the candidates, outlined what he said were the issues that divided him and his opponent Francis X. McCauley, at a coffee party at the home of Ned and Safarina Muscato, 74 Alvin Ave., Wollaston.

"In 1980," he said, "Quincy was facing the fiscal problem of a 4 per cent tax cap."

"I, in my capacity on the City Council finance committee, developed a plan which would allow Quincy to live within the constraints of the tax cap."

"A major part of the plan was a reduction in the amount of increased spending by the School Department."

"The School Department requested $4.7 million over the spending allowed by the cap. McCauley voted to give the school department every penny the School Department wanted."

"That vote alone would have increased every Quincy resident's property tax by $16 and thrown the city into fiscal chaos."

Raymondi said his plan also supported a petition to take Quincy Junior College off of "the city's tax property dole" and establish it as a "self-supporting, independent educational institution."

McCauley "did not have a plan," Raymondi said, and, in fact, if his vote had "prevailed over my plan, Quincy would have suffered a chaotic and destructive fiscal year."

When it comes to elderly concerns, Raymondi pointed out that he was a strong supporter of programs and housing for them."

"I initiated and fought for a home rule petition which allowed elderly groups throughout the city the right to rent school buses at a reduced rate," he said.

"As a member of the Quincy Housing Authority, McCauley voted against funding for the construction of the Oceanview Housing Complex on Bicknell St. which has 276 housing units."

Raymondi said McCauley supported in 1965 a revamping of Quincy's tax assessment procedure.

"I have consistently opposed reevaluation," he said. "It will have the most severe impact on seniors who reside in their own homes and struggle to make ends meet. A reevaluation will have the most dire effects on these particular persons."

"If McCauley's vote was implemented in 1965, the elderly would have suffered its resulting terrible consequences for the past 16 years."

Regarding the controversy over a proposed video arcade in Quincy Center, Raymondi said:

"Every city councillor receives an agenda on upcoming licensing board votes. I was the only city councillor present at the original hearing on the arcade which would have housed 85 games. I was there to record my opposition to the arcade; where was Frank McCauley?"

"After the licensing board approved the arcade, McCauley sent a letter to the board asking it to reconsider its vote. I, with my campaign staff, spend a weekend gathering signatures from persons opposed to the video center."

"At the subsequent hearing on the arcade's licensing, I presented to the board a petition asking it to reconsider and then deny the license to the arcade. On that petition, there were approximately 3500 signatures."

"Where was Frank McCauley when the original hearing was held and what did Frank McCauley do to truly stop the arcade?"

Three things we shouldn't forget on election day.

PROPOSITION 2 1/2

CITY SPENDING

TAX CONTROL

Some candidates are talking about such "important" things as how much time they're going to spend as mayor (it's a full time job for anyone no matter how you slice it) and the ills of seeking advice from others on the most efficient way to spend your campaign budget.

Well, each to his own set of priorities.

In Dan Raymondi's case, he has just one priority.

Saving our tax dollars.

You see, Dan is very concerned about how we're going to get through the economy of the '80s. While others are worrying about campaign styles, Dan is working full time on ways we can face the challenges of Proposition 2 1/2, city spending and taxes.

He thinks the economy is the Number One issue in this campaign. And saving your tax dollars is his Number One concern.

PROPOSITION 2 1/2

You start with Proposition 2 1/2. The bill is law. We've got to make it work whether we like it or not.

To Dan Raymondi that means making it work fairly. Without cutting back essential services like police and fire. And without placing the burden of cuts on any single group such as the elderly.

Proposition 2 1/2 can do the job it was meant to do. All we need is someone like Dan Raymondi to balance concerns of the budget with the concerns of people.

CITY SPENDING

Next you boost the economy by controlling city spending. A tight hand on the budget is the best way to cut the cost of government without cutting the services of government.

Last year, for example, Dan Raymondi developed a financial plan to live within the city's spending limit while Frank McCauley, his opponent, voted to exceed that limit by $4.7 million on just one vote alone.

Rubbish!

There's no reason a city can't be run efficiently. It just takes someone with the guts to set a no-nonsense city budget and stick to it.

Someone to put our pocketbook first and politics second.

Someone like Dan Raymondi.

TAX CONTROL

No one has to tell us what rising taxes are doing to the family budget. What's more, everyone seeking public office pledges to keep taxes down.

But this election time, remember this simple truth: Dan Raymondi was the only city official to vote against the disastrous $35 tax hike five years ago. He stood alone by standing up for the taxpayer long before it was popular.

Now, just think what he'll do as mayor.

McCauley Says His Finance Background Will Aid City

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley says his background in finance should help him "to restore Quincy to its former strong financial condition" in spite of the demands of Proposition 2½.

McCauley, who is president of the Presidential Cooperative Bank, spoke at a coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Marsters, 172 Wilson Ave., Wollaston.

McCauley told the group that "questionable financial practices in recent years are responsible for the city's financial problems and poor credit rating, not Proposition 2½."

"Shortly after I was elected councillor at large in 1977," he said, "I conducted a six months study of the city's financial condition and defined the cause of the city's problems."

"I provided the present administration with a specific method for correcting the city's financial problems but the administration chose to ignore the recommendations."

"Consequently, the financial structure of the city worsened."

FALL HOME IMPROVEMENT

How roofing can help sell your home

A "For Sale" sign in the front yard isn't enough to sell a home in these days of soaring mortgage rates. It's important that the home itself wear an invisible sign that says, "Buy me. I'm well worth the price."

And, what features of a home contribute to this appeal? According to realtors at a recent national convention, the "Buy me" message comes across strongest to today's prospective homebuyers in terms of insulation and roofing.

With skyrocketing energy costs, it's fairly easy to see why a prospective homebuyer is concerned with insulation. What may not be as easy to see, however, are the factors that contribute to the roof's importance.

Condition and quality are important

A recent survey of top professionals in the residential real estate business indicates in no uncertain terms that the condition and quality of one's roof are significant factors in selling a home.

Some of the experts believe that a top quality roof can even bring a higher price for a home.

"A new roof, if needed, will help sell a home faster and, possibly, at a higher price," said one of the experts.

And, as to the difference in price that a roof can make, one expert noted: "The condition of the home has a direct relationship to the value placed upon property by professional appraisers and, surely, nothing can be more obvious and important than the roof."

The quality of the roof also makes a difference, according to a noted real estate columnist: "The difference in cost between standard and top-quality shingles is not great, and there is no question that a roof with a 25-year guarantee can be a strong sales feature when you sell your house. So get the best-quality shingles you can afford."

The appearance of a top-quality roof is the most noticeable aspect of its "Buy me" appeal because the roof is one of the first things a prospective homebuyer sees.

And, top quality shingles make their presence known, in contrast to flat conventional shingles, through their distinctive styles, textures and colors.

CertainTeed's Independence Shingle[®], for example, features random overlay tabs that create a third dimension, resulting in a rustic-looking roof that complements contemporary, country and other style homes.

For the finest reproduction of hand-split wood shakes, CertainTeed offers its Hallmark Shingle[®].

In addition to noting a shingle's appearance, today's sophisticated homebuyer is likely to ask when the roof was installed and the length of the warranty it carries. Once again, top quality shingles enhance "Buy me" appeal.

Top-of-the-line shingles such as Independence and Hallmark carry a 25-year limited warranty in comparison to the 15-year warranties on most shingles.

To the homebuyer, this means that re-roofing is one project he won't have to tackle for quite some time—an important factor in the decision to purchase a home, according to the experts.

For more information on top-quality roofing, write for the free magazine "Home Appreciation." It's available from the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

A QUALITY ROOF in good condition can act as a silent salesperson for your home, according to a recent survey of top professionals in the residential real estate business.

Questions to ask before remodeling your kitchen

A kitchen today is more than its dictionary definition of "a room appropriated to cooking." It is an area in which to enjoy as well as prepare food; a storage center, an entertainment center, a sewing or hobby center, and frequently an office-at-home.

No wonder, then, that kitchens are being remodeled at the rate of an estimated 4.5 million this year in order to make them attractively efficient in the fulfilling of these many functions.

That estimate comes from the American Institute of Kitchen Dealers, the trade association of the kitchen/bath industry and the source also of statistics on costs and trends in kitchen design.

According to a survey of its 1,800 retail members, the AIKD reports that close to 50 percent of the kitchens these specialists installed last year, nationwide, cost between $5,000 and $10,000.

Takes careful thought

When it comes to spending that kind of money for home improvement, you think twice.

And you probably want the benefit of professional help in planning a layout, selecting cabinetry and appliances, and installing the components of your new kitchen with minimum disruption of its daily routine.

Granted, this is the day of do-it-yourself. And true, some families are perfectly capable of making a do-it-yourself project of a kitchen remodeling.

Before you elect to enter their ranks, however, ask yourself a few questions.

How extensive is the remodeling to be? Installing cabinets is one thing—encouraged by manufacturers through films and well-illustrated and detailed instructions.

Plumbing and wiring are something else. The more complicated tasks are better assigned to professionals than entrusted to amateurs.

Free directories available

Have you made a thorough enough study of the cabinet and appliance markets that you can separate the good products from those that better or best serve your needs? Price alone should seldom be the determining factor.

Have you the time as well as the talent to remodel your kitchen? Long-term projects do not lend themselves to limited hours; if the job to which you've allocated a vacation period drags through weeks and weekends, it can lead to family rebellion—or, at the least, become boring.

If your answers to all of the above questions are an unqualified yes, by all means remodel your own kitchen.

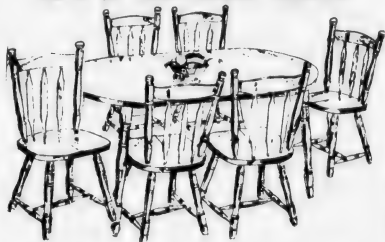

If they're borderline, employ a professional to plan and supervise your remodeling, and tackle only its easier aspects yourself.

If they're negative, trust the entire job to a kitchen specialist, identified in your newspaper or telephone book by the AIKD emblem, or having the initials CKD (Certified Kitchen Designer) after his or her name.

AIKD and CKD directories are available free from the American Institute of Kitchen Dealers, 124 Main Street, Hackettstown, NJ 07840.

REPLACEMENT WINDOWS

There is a vast difference between custom made replacement windows and ordinary storm combination windows. Replacement windows are designed specifically to take the place of worn wooden windows in your home. They are incredibly superior to wood windows and well worth your consideration and investment. Their vinyl/aluminum construction contributes to thermal efficiency because they are actually two windows in one. Best of all, when cleaning is necessary, the window tilts in for cleaning of all surfaces. Just ask us for a quote on Carefree's Insulator II replacement windows. There are more advantages and we'll be happy to tell you about them.

INSULATION

You can actually make money by insulating your home. The advantages are astounding. Consider a single family home in the Quincy area - (two full stories, walk-up attic) - install 8" of mineral wool insulation and your savings will approach 25%. Just think of it. You can most likely reduce your heating bill by 25% for spending only about $650 for an average size, 1,000 sq. ft. attic. Certainly it won't take long to recover your insulation costs.

And, you will get an energy saver bonus from Uncle Sam. He'll give you a tax credit of 15% (about $100 on the average job).

Our recommendation is that you consider using BLOW-IN Mineral Wool. Sometimes it is called Rock Wool.

It is 100% natural, will not corrode, sink, settle, cause fire or present a health hazard. It's greatest benefit though is that it is efficient.

Not every company has the sophisticated equipment necessary to BLOW-IN mineral wool. If someone tries to talk you into something less effective - Beware!

We will measure and determine the costs of insulating your home without obligation if you simply take the time to call.

ROLL-UP PATIO DOOR PROTECTION

Some people want security, others want protection from storms, the sun, wind and heat. The Roll-a-Way Security Shutter provides this protection for glass patio doors.

The Roll-a-Way door can be controlled by either an electric motor or by a hand-operated crank. It completely covers your glass doors with a solid vinyl panel, or if lifted slightly, offers a ventilating effect similar to an ordinary screen.

It will withstand 100 mph winds; provide protection from burglary or vandalism; conserve energy and add to the beauty and value of your home. All homeowners who have a large expanse of glass should inquire. We particularly invite those homeowners living along the shore to avail themselves of our offer.

The do's and don'ts of picking upholstery fabric

You feel the hard choice is behind you. You've selected new upholstered furniture for your home and, in order to carry out a particular style or color theme, you want to special order the fabric coverings.

You may be unprepared for the array of fabric options available, and become confused trying to decide on the best upholstery for that new sofa, loveseat, chair or modular group.

The Southern Furniture Manufacturers Association offers a few "Do's and Don'ts" that can help you make a wise upholstery fabric choice.

• Don't be afraid to ask questions and examine the fabric swatch.

• Do keep in mind that a high price might mean high fashion rather than high durability or quality.

• Do be aware that fabric mills do not guarantee fabrics and, therefore, the furniture manufacturer cannot either.

• Do realize that many fabrics today are made to offer greater flammability resistance.

• Do read labels on fabric samples for this and other pertinent information such as recommended care.

Most importantly, do think carefully about your family needs and lifestyles. Active children, pets, relaxed lounging, snacking and entertaining—all point to hardy practical fabrics.

Medium colors and patterns show dirt the least, and a high nylon or olefin content generally means greater durability because these man-made fibers are sturdy, easy to clean, and resist moths and mildew.

Fabrics treated to resist soils and spills are an extra plus, and better vinyls are often a good choice for high use areas.

However, remember that body oils and perspiration can harden vinyls, and fabrics are difficult to repair.

Rooms used only for quiet conversation, evenings of bridge or afternoon tea, are fine for delicate fabrics such as silk and damask with their long surface threads that can snag under frequent use.

Pastel colors and lightweight fabrics such as cotton and linen are best put here. Remember that lightweight fabrics wear better when quilted to allow the fabric "stretch" under stress.

Do take time to learn a few fabric fiber basics before you select upholstery you are planning to live with for several years.

Fibers may be animal (wool, silk); vegetable (linen, cotton); or man-made (olefin, nylon, rayon, polyester, acrylic and acetate—all of which can have company names).

Each has unique properties such as color retention, sturdiness and pleasant touch qualities.

Fibers are often all when blended in upholstery fabric. The most satisfactory combination of visual beauty, touch and durability.

Do rely on the salesperson who has firsthand knowledge about the attributes and anticipated performance of the upholstery fabrics you may consider. Also keep in mind that generally tightly woven fabrics wear better than loose weaves.

Hold the swatch up to the light and look for telltale spots of light showing through. Then pull the swatch diagonally.

Yarns should not slip or separate, nor should any backing show through. Rub the back of the sample together to make sure the backing remains firmly bonded to the fabric and that no flaking occurs.

A "woven in" pattern is usually more serviceable than one printed only on one side. Avoid any print that comes off when fabric faces are rubbed together.

Test for possible fabric pilling by rubbing the fabric with a pencil eraser to see if bits of fabric appear.

Remember that nubby fabrics are often subject to snagging and pilling. Incidentally, it's normal for cut pile fabrics such as velvet to change color slightly when nap is brushed in different directions.

Whatever your final choice, all upholstery fabrics require a certain amount of care. Weekly vacuuming or brushing helps prevent the embedding of soils and grime between fibers which can increase abrasion and wear.

Also, the weekly reversal of loose cushions will allow even distribution of wear over a longer period of time.

It is wise to avoid placing upholstered furniture in constant direct sunlight or near heating outlets as these often cause fading and/or discoloration.

These routine and minimal care steps will help keep your furniture looking attractive for many years.

New windows can save energy, rejuvenate a home

Replacing drafty old windows with energy-efficient new ones can do more than reduce heating bills and keep you warmer this winter.

Chosen as carefully as your other furnishings, replacement windows can also make your home more attractive and easy to care for.

Aluminum-framed replacement windows continue to gain in popularity because they need no painting, are rigid and strong and, despite their light weight, won't shrink, swell or rot like wood, or warp out of shape like vinyl plastic.

They come in a wide variety of shapes and colors that let you preserve and enhance the original appearance of your house or create an entirely new look.

The most popular replacement windows today are thermalized. These are considered the ultimate in reducing heat conduction throughout the entire window because they have a thermal insulating material in the aluminum frame and sash, along with insulating glass (two or three sheets of glass separated by a dead air space).

Measurements by the Electrical Testing Laboratories recently showed that thermalized aluminum windows insulate as well as or better than windows of any other material. By reducing conduction effectively, they can cut energy losses through these openings by as much as 40 percent.

A window's efficiency is based on its U-value, which is a measure of its relative energy efficiency. The lower the U value the more effective the window is in eliminating drafts coming through it.

Results from over 500 windows tested by AAMA (Architectural Aluminum Manufacturers Association) show that a thermalized aluminum, double-glazed window has an average U value of only 0.67 compared to 1.13 for a standard single-glazed window.

When combined with a storm window, that U value drops even further, resulting in more fuel savings.

Calculations by the Aluminum Association note that a typical homeowner in Sioux Falls, SD, with 250 sq. ft. of window area could save up to $460 a year on oil heating bills (at $1.40 a gallon) by replacing the old, single-pane windows with thermalized double-hung aluminum frame windows.

In Providence, RI, savings could reach $350; in Wichita, KS, $270. With electric heat savings would be three times greater and with gas heat a quarter less.

In the sun-belt, cooling energy savings from the same type aluminum window improvements could also result in savings each year. Uncle Sam helps, too, allowing you a 15 percent income tax credit up to a maximum of $300 for home improvements which help to conserve energy.

THE ADVANTAGES OF MODERN DESIGN and colonial style are combined in this thermalized double-hung aluminum replacement window, which helps to conserve energy by reducing drafts.

If you can't swing replacement windows for the entire house this year, you might start with the rooms you use most often, or replace the windows floor by floor.

Primary windows still in good condition can be repaired and fitted with new aluminum storm sash which will protect them and seal them effectively against air leaks. Such a measure will also reduce heat losses dramatically. Most of these are multitrack with self-storing screens.

Before you settle on any one particular type window, whether replacement or storm, shop carefully, check the U-values, and be sure the window bears the AAMA Certification label, which assures quality.

Look for window frames that have neat, strong joints and thick weatherstripping. Remember that the heavier the aluminum frame and general construction, the stronger and more durable the window.

You can learn more about replacement and storm windows by writing to the Aluminum Window Information Bureau, 250 West 57th Street, New York, NY 10019, for a free booklet "A Homeowners Guide to Choosing Windows."

TAKE CARE WHEN CHOOSING A CONTRACTOR

No one would buy a car or a house blindfolded, so why is it that so many homeowners do just that when choosing a contractor to remodel their home?

A number of questions should be asked and answered before a homeowner considering a remodeling project hires a contractor.

To avoid the disappointment of a poorly done job and assure increased value and pleasure, the National Home Improvement Council suggests following these basic rules when selecting a contractor:

- Employ a contractor with an established place of business, preferably in your locality.

- Check for adequate financial references.

- Get references of satisfied customers and check on them personally by phone. If your city has a Better Business Bureau, check to see if there is an adverse file on the contractor. In lieu of a BBB, check with your local Chamber of Commerce.

- Observe carefully how precisely he "sizes up" your proposed project, take note of his suggestions and discuss them thoroughly with him. Don't be rushed, and avoid snap judgments—either pro or con.

- Be certain to have a written agreement on plans and specifications (the materials to be used).

- Get bids from more than one contractor. But, keep in mind that the lowest bid is not necessarily the best bargain.

- Members of the National Home Improvement Council, the nation's largest association dedicated solely to the home improvement industry, are pledged to a strict Code of Ethics and follow the practices listed above.

Insulate your attic and conserve energy

Adding the right insulation to your attic is a home improvement that is easy to accomplish. It saves on the cost of heating and cooling your home. It's also economical. Do it yourself, says the Mineral Insulation Manufacturers Association, and the savings are even greater.

One of the most popular types of insulation is mineral fiber, either rock wool or fiber glass. It is available at home centers and building supply stores in the form of batts or blankets—with or without a vapor barrier—and as pouring wool, which is loose insulation in bags meant to be poured in attic floors.

For do-it-yourselfers

Some building supply stores have machines for rental by do-it-yourselfers. These machines blow mineral fiber insulation in attic floors or walls and are a fast and efficient way to insulate.

If you decide to insulate your attic, MIMA suggests you keep several things in mind:

- Look for R-values when shopping for insulation. R-values measure the ability of a material to resist heat flow. The higher the R-value, the greater the insulating power. Savings vary. Find out why in the seller's fact sheet on R-values.

- Check with your local utility to determine the correct R-value for your area. In general, if your attic has no insulation, install R-38 or R-30 mineral fiber.

Any desired R-value can be achieved with poured mineral fiber or with a combination of batts, blankets and loose wool.

- With cuts or blankets, be sure the vapor barrier faces down. With pouring wool, rake it level. Be sure not to cover the vents along the eaves with insulation.

- Remember to take advantage of the tax credit. In most cases, insulating your attic entitles you to a Federal income tax credit of 15 percent of the cost of materials, up to $300.

Some states have similar energy conservation incentives. Consult the tax officials in your state.

Additional information on attic insulation is in a booklet, "Save on Home Heating and Cooling Costs: Insulate Your Attic Now." It is available for 45 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope from MIMA, Dept. SR, 382 Springfield Ave., Summit, NJ 07901.

SOLAR HOME BUILDING: HOT PROPERTY

Presidents Home To Powerhouse Newton N.

By TOM SULLIVAN

Two weeks ago Quincy's football team turned in its poorest performance in some time and lost a game to Revere (13-12) that it never should have lost.

Coach Tom Fitzgerald was extremely upset as were his assistants and the players themselves.

Last Saturday the Presidents traveled to Waltham and were defeated by the undefeated Hawks, 28-7. But this time Fitzgerald was very pleased at his players' performances.

"This was far different from last week," Fitzgerald said. "We lost to a great team out there today and the boys did a tremendous job. I think Waltham (4-0) is one of the best teams around. Their outstanding runner El-Masry (John) killed us in the first half but we contained him in the second half and outplayed them most of the half."

Quincy faces another undefeated power Saturday when Newton North, which shocked Brockton, 22-16, last week, visits Veterans Memorial Stadium for a 1:30 p.m. game. Previously Newton had defeated Framingham North, 23-14; Medford, 15-8, and was fortunate to squeeze by North Quincy, 15-14.

"We had a hectic week (Assistant coach Joe Goguen resigned during the week when it was revealed he had broken Capt. John Taglieri's jaw during an emotional outburst following the frustrating loss to Revere) and the boys could easily have been down for Waltham," Fitzgerald said. "But they put their emotional experience behind them and went out and played an excellent game."

"The incident involving Goguen and Taglieri was blown all out of proportion. Joe is an outstanding coach and an outstanding person. The boys all love and respect him and were terribly upset when he had to resign. And Taglieri feels as bad as any of them. The boys knew about the incident but kept it from me because they didn't want Joe to lose his job. I didn't find out about it until Wednesday (four days after it happened). It was just one of those unfortunate things and we all miss Joe. The coaches miss him and so do the players. I was afraid it might affect the team's performance at Waltham but it didn't."

Taglieri was kept out of the Waltham game but is expected to play this week.

Quincy, the first team to hold El-Masry under 200 yards. It allowed him 90. But he scored all three Waltham touchdowns in the first half as the Hawks took a 21-0 lead.

Sean Martin, Quincy's starting quarterback who suffered a knee injury two days before the opening game, made his first appearance of the season in the third period and he led two long drives as the Presidents controlled the ball for most of the last two periods.

"Sean makes a big difference and he is ready to start his first game against Newton," Fitzgerald said. "Bobby Mudge was doing an excellent job at quarterback but we need Martin's experience. Our offense was weakened at Waltham with Steve Goguen sitting the game out with an injury. He would have made a big difference. He should be ready this week."

Fitzgerald hailed the play of Martin and Bill Cullen, who filled in for Steve Goguen and ran well. He also singled out Kevin Riggs, Jamie Gravelese, Dave Donnelly, big Joe Harte, Dan Mahoney and Joe LaRaia for outstanding performances on offense.

"The entire defense was outstanding," Fitzgerald said. "We missed Taglieri but Mike Connors turned in his best performance and Gravelese, Paul Quigley, Riggs, Glen Siraughn, Steve Spencer, Mike Shaughnessy, Glen Oriola and John Oliverio all were outstanding."

El-Masry scored from the three in the opening period and Tom Roche kicked the point.

In the second period the Waltham ace added two touchdowns, the first on a 14-yard run and the second from 24 yards out. Roche kicked both points.

A mixup on defense enabled Waltham to add a fourth touchdown in the third quarter on a 52-yard pass play from Mike Mula to Frank Crenna and Roche again kicked the point.

Martin led the Presidents on a long drive which reached Waltham's five but he was sacked twice to end the thrust. Later the Presidents staged another long drive and Mark Picot scored from the one. Harte kicked the extra point.

North Upsets Newton N.

The North Quincy boys' soccer team, described by Coach Paul Bregoli as "the best team I've had in four years," won its biggest game in six years last week, upsetting Newton North, one of the top teams in the Suburban League, 1-0, to improve its record to 3-3-3.

The Raiders, who played the top four teams in the league during the past two weeks, sought their second win over Quincy yesterday (Wednesday), will play at Weymouth North Monday and will be home to Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday at Veterans Stadium field. All games start at 3:30.

North turned in an outstanding two-way performance in the win over Newton. Newton had the better of the play early. John Keenan saved a certain goal by diving across the goal and stopping the ball with his chest. Terry Stark, a sophomore brought up to the varsity and now starting at center halfback, also made another outstanding stop to foil the Tigers.

North had many good scoring chances in the second half as Mike Bourikas, Rich Palma, Peter McGillicuddy and Jim Boudreau just missed.

Bourikas finally broke the deadlock as he took a Palma throw-in on his foot and rammed home a 12-yarder for the cherished victory.

In its previous game North gave unbeaten league leader Waltham its best game of the year and scored the first goal of the year against the Hawks, but bowed, 2-1, on a late goal.

North's defense, outstanding all year, was at its best, shutting out Waltham's leading scorer, Joe Costa, and his mates in the first half, which ended scoreless.

Costa gave Waltham the lead with a 18-yarder in the third period, but Palma scored the first goal on Waltham with a minute left in the third period. Pat King made the save of the game midway through the final quarter, diving to his left to knock away a direct kick by Costa. However, on the ensuing kick, the Raiders left a man uncovered and the Hawks scored the winning goal.

Earlier North had dropped a 3-0 decision to second place Brookline and bowed 4-0, to third place Brockton.

North trailed by only a 1-0 score at halftime on a disputed goal, as it missed several excellent scoring opportunities in the opening quarter.

North outplayed Brockton for most of the third quarter before a mixup between Pat King, North's goalie, and his fullbacks resulted in a Brockton goal. Rich Palma hit the post in the fourth quarter and Brockton scored twice in the last seven minutes. King was outstanding in goal with several spectacular saves and Jim Boudreau, Greg DiBella and Steve Hawes also played well.

The Raiders went to Sharon for a non-league game and came home with a 1-0 victory as it dominated every phase of the game. Defensively North played outstanding, allowing Sharon only two good scoring chances. Time and time again the fullback line of Bob Flynn, Alex Coutts, DiBella, Hawes and Dennis White shut down the Eagles' attack.

However, despite North's domination, the victory didn't come easily as the Raiders had trouble getting their defense untracked. Palma had several good shots but couldn't beat the Sharon netminder. Finally, in the fourth quarter, Boudreau scored the winning goal as he booted in a Palma cross which deflected off a Sharon defender.

Lester Gerry, who moved into Boudreau's halfback spot, played well as did Dwayne Wilcoxen, subbing for the ill Peter McGillicuddy.

North played to a scoreless tie with Weymouth North as the defense was again outstanding but the offense again sputtered.

Weymouth had the best scoring chances early but King made several good saves. North played with greater intensity in the third quarter and nearly put four goals in as John Keenan nearly directed a Palma throw in into an empty net, Steve Sacchetti hit the cross bar and Weymouth's goalie made a great save on his breakaway bid, and Wilcoxen and Gerry just missed connections.

Coutts, DiBella and Hawes played outstanding games and King registered his third shutout in six games and had a 1.00 goals against average.

"We are planning terrific defense and three of the six goals against us have been tainted in some way," Bregoli said. "Offensively we are getting good scoring chances but are just missing. I feel that once the goals start to come they'll come in bunches."

Goalies Turn In 10 Shutouts In Youth Soccer

The goalies were outstanding in last weekend's Quincy Youth Soccer League games with 10 shutouts and several other outstanding performances.

Dependable Cleaners topped Balducci's, 3-0, with Mike Hughes scoring twice and Jason Doyle once.

Sen. Paul Harold Club shut out Yamaha-Suzuki, 4-0, as Bill Monteith scored three goals and Mike Wood one.

Keohane's and Presidents' Pharmacy played to a 1-1 tie with Joey Shea scoring for Keohane's and Richie Fennessy for Presidents'.

In girls grades 1, 2 and 3, the Royals breezed past the Teamen, 5-0, as Laurie Novak had three goals and Maureen Fewer and Leigh St. George one each. St. George, Novak and Susan McCole had assists.

The Celtics and Flames tied, 1-1, Amy Bertrand scoring the Celtic's goal and Stephanie Quevillon scoring for the Flames with an assist for Julie Attardo.

In boys grades 1 and 2, the Strikers squeezed by Wickens & Troupe, 1-0, on Christian Ciavarr's goal.

The Spurs and Adams Cleaners tied, 1-1, with Chris Connors scoring for the Spurs and Chris Cunio for Adams.

In girls grades 4-9, Quincy Co-Operative Bank defeated the Stars, 3-1, on goals by Heather Dargin, Barbara Bell and Janice Murphy. Bell, Rachel Horn and Karen Miller had assists. Tarra Meyer scored for the Stars.

Patriot Insurance edged Razer's Edge, 1-0, on Tracy Wilson's goal.

The Sockers edged That's Italian, 2-1, with Sarah Harrington and Lee Coughlin scoring the goals and Karen Hendseeb having an assist. Colleen Ridge scored for That's Italian.

In boys grades 5 and 6 Jack Donovan walloped the Bucks, 5-0 as Mark Molloy and Matt Donovan had two goals each and Dan McCluskey one. Chris St. George and Jim McLarnon had assists.

The Rangers edged Giovanni's Bakery, 3-2, with Jimmy DiCarlo scoring two goals and Paul Adams one. Adams had an assist. Jimmy Fennessy scored for Giovanni's.

Moors & Cabot got by China Star, 2-1, on Kevin Duffy's two goals. Patrick Murphy scored for China Star. Goalie Kevin Roche of Moors & Cabot made an unbelievable save to preserve the win.

In boys grades 7-9, the Timbers edged the Sounders, 1-0, on Peter Quevillon's goal. Billy Capplis assisted.

The Cosmos and Aztecs tied, 2-2, with Jeff Barker scoring both goals for the Cosmos.

Leone Shines As Maine Shocks N.H.

Jack Leone, former North Quincy kicking star, has had a good season for the University of Maine football team. He had his biggest day last week as the Bears shocked unbeaten New Hampshire 26-16, for their first win.

Leone, who won several games the last two years for North Quincy with his field goals and extra points, kicked two field goals, one for 44 yards and the other for 39 yards, and added a pair of extra points.

The former Raider had previously kicked two field goals and was perfect in kicking extra points.

DAN LINNEHAN finds a hole and picks up good yardage for North Quincy in last week's win over Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

NORTH QUINCY quarterback Pat Burke, who had a big day, goes back to pass against Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

North Quincy 20, Cambridge 16 Raiders Seek No. 3 At Weymouth North

It wasn't a pretty win, but after what happened the previous week against Newton North, Coach Dave Burke was relieved and glad to accept the North Quincy football team's last minute 20-16 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders, now 2-2, will be favored to make it two wins in a row Saturday when they face winless Weymouth North at 1:30 p.m. at Weymouth's Legion Field. Weymouth has lost to Braintree, 9-0; Cambridge, 16-0; Waltham, 27-6; and Hingham, 17-6.

North Quincy which, two weeks ago led unbeaten Newton, 14-8, and appeared well on its way to another touchdown only to fumble on Newton's 20 and then lost a 15-14 heartbreaker, nearly suffered a similar fate last week.

The Raiders led, 13-6, and Cambridge threw a long pass. Mike Ellis, playing in the North secondary in place of the injured Joe Dudek, made a nice interception but, for some reason, raced back into the end zone where he was tackled for a safety, giving Cambridge two more points. North had to punt the ball back to Cambridge, which went on to score and take a 16-13 lead with less than three minutes to play.

But North Quincy battled back and scored the winning touchdown with 40 seconds left to play.

"That was strictly a case of inexperience on Ellis' part and, except for that lapse, he played a fine game," Burke said. "But we certainly needed that win. If we had lost that one, I don't know if we would have recovered. But I was pleased with the way the boys fought back and refused to quit after Cambridge scored."

Passing played a big part in the Raiders' win. Although Pat Burke had three passes intercepted, he hit on five of 11 for 124 yards. A 49-yard pass to Dan Linnehan was good for one touchdown and a 42-yarder to Dave DiCarlo set up the winning score. Another to Jim Hutchinson for 28 yards and an apparent touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

North Quincy also intercepted three passes by Cambridge's Mike Harshbarger.

North's attack was hampered when hard-running Dudek, who had rushed for 114 yards against Newton, injured his leg early and sat out most of the game. Rich Stevens took up much of the slack, running for 71 yards and scoring a touchdown. Linnehan and DiCarlo also did some good running.

The North defense did its job again and defensive coordinator Jack Raymer was especially high in his praise of Steve Howley, who was brilliant again. "I feel Steve is one of the best line backers anywhere around and he was just tremendous again today," Raymer said.

He also hailed the performances of Rich Comeau, Ellis, Mike Hutchings, Mike Panaro, Jim Kelly, Stevens, Burke, Mike Miceli and Gerry Connolly.

"The defense has done its job in every game and I'm very pleased," Raymer said.

North drove from its 32 after holding Cambridge on the first series and, paced by Dudek and Stevens, clicked off five first downs and Stevens scored from the 11. Bill Bradley's kick was wide, his first miss of the season.

Panaro recovered a Cambridge fumble on the Cambridge 48 and the Raiders apparently scored early in the second period on Burke's excellent pass to Hutchinson, but it was called back.

Cambridge then staged its best drive of the game and marched to the tying touchdown, Harshbarger passing to Bob Hoog for nine yards and the score.

It took North only three plays to regain the lead. It started from its 27. Burke passed to Hutchinson for 13 yards, Linnehan went for 11 to Cambridge's 49 and Burke hit Linnehan with a bomb for the touchdown, Linnehan running the last 20 yards. Bradley kicked the point.

North outplayed Cambridge but the score remained the same until late in the game when the lapse on Ellis' pass interception gave Cambridge the safety.

North punted to Cambridge's 40 and the visitors scored the go-ahead touchdown on a four-yard run by Ron Bentubo. Harshbarger passed to Hoog for the two points, the ball being deflected by a North defender.

The Raiders refused to quit and Burke's pass to DiCarlo was good for 42 yards to Cambridge's 18. Cambridge was penalized 15 yards, DiCarlo went to the one-yard line from where Burke scored. Bradley kicked the point. There were 40 seconds left and a last ditch Cambridge pass was intercepted by Bill Gray.

"We used Dudek as a decoy on the winning touchdown and I think Cambridge thought he was going to run with it," Burke said.

North Quincy had a net of 147 yards on the ground and 124 yards passing, while Cambridge had 105 net yards running and 65 yards through the air. Both teams had 14 first downs.

Raiderettes Win 3 In Row

Although coach Lou Tozzi lost three of last year's six top runners from the North Quincy girls' cross country team which won the Eastern Mass. Division 2 title, the Raiderettes are off to another fast start and won their first three meets.

The North girls, with their largest squad ever, opened with a 25-30 victory over Newton North, followed up with a 21-34 win over Weymouth South and then downed Weymouth North, 21-35.

The Raiderettes faced Waltham yesterday (Wednesday) and will compete in the Catholic Memorial Invitational Meet Saturday.

The North girls, who have had phenomenal success in cross country and winter and spring track over the last six years, had an 8-2-1 record last fall, tied for third place in the Suburban League, won the Suburban League meet and Eastern Mass. Division 2 meet and placed sixth in the all-state meet.

"Although we have our largest squad ever and will be able to run anywhere from seven to 10 girls in varsity races, the team is inexperienced," Tozzi said. "We have many newcomers and I hope people will be patient with us. This team is going to need some time to develop."

Junior Sheila Barrett is one of the top returnees. She was second in the Eastern Mass. meet, second in the league meet and was a Patriot Ledger and Globe all-scholastic. She has an outstanding attitude and should be one of the best this fall.

Junior Linda Kennedy is another outstanding runner who was third in the Eastern Mass. meet, fourth in the league meet and also Patriot Ledger all-scholastic. "Her asthma, which troubled her last year, is bothering her again," Tozzi said. "But she is a superb competitor and one of the most motivated kids I have ever had."

Senior Nancy McCarthy, a newcomer to cross country, was last year's state indoor 600-yard champion and the Eastern Mass. 880 champion in the spring. According to her coach, her potential is unlimited and she can be one of the best around.

Senior captain Deirdre Donovan, the only senior veteran, is an excellent cross country runner for someone who is primarily a sprinter. She is very talented and a versatile runner.

Junior Regina Nagle has been the biggest surprise, seniors Ann Gorczyca and Mary Ellen Timmins are track veterans out for cross country for the first time and junior Terry Jones is running well.

Among the young newcomers are sophomores Eileen Crehan, Bernadette Murphy and Tracey Corrigan and freshman Diane Lindenfelzer, whose sister Karen was a member of the Raiderettes' championship mile relay team. Crehan and Murphy compete for the Quincy Track Club and Corrigan ran at Central Junior High.

In the win over Newton last week North took four of the first six places. Newton North's Elizabeth Natale won the meet with North Quincy's McCarthy second.

The Raiderettes' other scorers were Barrett, fourth; Nagle, fifth; Kennedy, sixth, and Donovan, eighth.

Against Weymouth South McCarthy was the winner, Barrett was second, Nagle third, Kennedy fifth and Donovan 10th.

In the win over Weymouth North McCarthy won by an inch over Weymouth's Laurie Leonard, Barrett was third, Nagle fourth, Kennedy fifth, Donovan eighth and Corrigan 10th.

"The Suburban League is unbelievably strong this year with Newton the Class A champ and second in the all-state meet last year, Waltham second in Class A and third in the all-state, Weymouth South fourth in Class A and eighth in the all-state and Brockton and Cambridge also boasting outstanding teams," Tozzi said.

"At this point our priorities are to do well in the Eastern Mass. championships and secondly to do well in the league. We're going to be a good club as long as we keep our top three healthy and give our new people a chance to develop."

Tozzi is being assisted by Bart Petracca, a former North and Cornell standout.

Longridge Score Beats Hingham For North Quincy

Bill Longridge scored the only touchdown as the North Quincy High School football team marched 71 yards in 21 plays in the fourth quarter for a 7-0 victory over Hingham, the Raiders' second victory in five games.

The heroes of the game were on the North Quincy defense which limited the Harbormen to 129 yards on the ground and once stopped them short of a touchdown after they had rolled to a first down on the North eight. A field goal attempt was blocked.

A highlight of the game was the duel between first cousins Capt. Bob Johnson of North and quarterback Hal Hall of Hingham, who came in contact numerous times as Hall tried to sweep around Johnson's left end post.

The North Quincy lineup: Johnson, Reid, Jackman, ends; Reynolds, Bohannon, Kerrigan, tackles; Capilli, Hendricks, guards; O'Brien, center; Lindvall, Roach, Wallace, Prada, Driscoll, Woodie, Longridge, backs.

QUINCY-WEYMOUTH TIE

The Quincy and Weymouth High School football teams spoiled each other's chances for an Eastern Mass Class B title when they fought to a 7-7 tie in the "battle of the South Shore" before 6,500 at Legion Field, Weymouth.

The Presidents, who had lost only to Newton, drove 42 yards for the tying score in the second period with Morton rushing three yards for the score that snapped Weymouth victory string at 19 straight games.

SEAMAN BY KAYO

Light heavyweight Johnny Seaman of Quincy battered Roy Kelley of Brookline for five rounds before the referee halted the bout due to a cut over Kelley's eye and awarded Seaman the knockout on Mechanics Building, Boston.

In another bout, Eddie Ellis, Quincy welterweight, was knocked out by Garvey Young, the U.S. Marine champion, in the first round of their scheduled eight rounder on the opening card of the newly formed Boston Boxing Association.

MONTGOMERY'S TEAM BEATEN

Lanny Lombardi and Andy Adkonis scored touchdowns as the Quincy Point Warriors chalked up a 14-0 victory over the Boston Blackhawks, an all-black team led by Lou Montgomery, the former Boston College star.

NORTH HARRIERS BOW

Ed Johnston copped first place in 13 minutes, 11 seconds but Coach Curly Rogers' North Quincy High School cross-country team was edged out by Weymouth, 26-29.

Dick Coslow of the Raiders finished third and his other teammates finished in this order: Hart, sixth; Reidy, ninth; Connors, tenth; Williams, 12th; Richardson, 15th, Sullivan, 16th.

MANETS LOSE

Jake Casna's Quincy Manets won the battle of first downs, 12-1, but Albie Booth's Stratford, Conn., Rams won the decision, 7-0, in a hard fought exhibition game at Municipal Stadium.

North Sophs Edge Cambridge Rindge, 8-6

The North Quincy sophomore football team edged Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 8-6, at Cavanagh Stadium Monday in a game featured by hard hitting by both sides.

Coach Ted Sadowski's North sophs dropped Cambridge Rindge for several sizeable losses in the first half and had a good scoring chance thwarted on the Cambridge four.

Jim Kennedy recovered a fumble at midfield to start the Raiders on their way to their touchdown. Brian Ellis, Mike Gill and Kevin Kelly carried to the Cambridge one from where Dan Geurvels scored. Scott Messina rushed for what proved the winning points.

Cambridge opened up in the second half and, mixing its plays well, traveled to the North 29 and a 15-yard penalty moved it to the 14. Cambridge scored on a pass but the Raiders halted the try for the tying points.

North evened its record at 1-1 and the loss was the first for Cambridge after two wins.

Kennedy and Messina sparked a solid defense and each intercepted a pass.

"Nick Gelsomini was a standout," said Sadowski. "His defensive play was super and he also caught a pass for a good gain." He also praised Kelly, Messina, Joe Callahan, Gill and Mike O'Reilly for their performances. Also singled out on defense were Mark Wilkins, Paul Ceurvels, Jim White, John DeLappe and Paul Penzo.

Sadowski also hailed the offensive efforts of Joe Russell, Jack Burke, Ben Klingenstein, John Panaro, Phil Iacobacci and Vicker DiGravio. Eddie Page and Steve Kearns did well as backups at halfback and quarterback respectively and Peter Farren and Sean McAleney also helped out on defense late in the game.

A-N Downs Broad Meadows Central Wins, Bows

By PETE ZOIA

The Atlantic-North ninth grade football team, striving to get into the junior high championship race, defeated Broad Meadows, 20-6, last week.

A-N staged a 47-yard drive in the second period to take the lead. Joe Bangs, Bill Doherty and John Reaney carried to the BM 20 and Steve Kelly, on a smart piece of running, went the rest of the way. Quarterback Dave Zurums passed to Richie Horigan for the two-point conversion.

It took BM just two plays to score as speedy Paul Miller raced 57 yards for his team's only touchdown. The try for the tying points failed.

After an exchange of punts, the Northerners drove to their second score. With Bangs showing the way, the Baby Raiders reached the BM 15 and Zurums, who was running to his right and was just about to be pushed out of bounds, passed across the field into the end zone and Gerry Coughlin made the catch while lying on the ground.

A short punt gave A-N its final scoring chance on the BM 28. Kelly scored his second TD from the six.

Coach Mike Casali's Central team, forced to play twice in three days, broke even, defeating Point, 20-8, but losing to Sterling, 28-0.

Undermanned Point played Central to a standstill in the opening quarter but weakened as a Dean O'Malley to Andy Lenhardt pass clicked for 45 yards and the first Central touchdown. O'Malley passed to Pat Flaherty for seven yards and the second score. Ron Hanson passed to Mike Farrand for one two-point conversion.

Central concluded its scoring when Lenhardt sped 48 yards for his second TD.

Point struck back when it recovered a fumble on the Central five and Bob Rosemond passed to Tony Palmariello for the touchdown. The same duo accounted for the extra points.

Sterling had little trouble topping Central. Coach John Gostainian is blessed with a hard-hitting group of linemen and a talented set of running backs. The unbeaten club scored in each quarter.

Sterling marched 30 yards, with Darren Tucker and Gerry Frazier carrying, and Tucker scored from the one. Frazier rushed for the conversion.

A 19-yard run by Tucker to Central's 20 set up the second touchdown, Frazier and Mike Dracchio carrying to the one and Frazier scored on a reverse from Tucker. Tucker ran 32 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and Dracchio added the points. With Ted McCall directing the attack, Sterling scored its final touchdown on an 18-yard run by Sean Cahill.

The Broad Meadows eighth graders are still unbeaten (2-0-1) following a 22-6 victory over Atlantic.

A poor punt put BM deep in Atlantic territory early and Frank Freedman scored. John Picarski added the points.

Atlantic retaliated with Leo LeMay scoring on a 66-yard off-tackle cutback play.

BM scored twice in the second period, Paul Hussey passing to Freedman for 47 yards and one score, Walt Rollings adding the points, and Rollings going over the other score after a bad pass from center gave BM the ball on the one.

The Central eighth graders blanked Point, 22-0, and played to a scoreless tie with Sterling.

Dave Tapper started it off for Central against Point with a 56-yard scoring run and Frank Nolan added the points.

Nolan scored two touchdowns on runs of 59 and 85 yards and Dave Maimaron pass to Wayne Keddy added the final two points.

The Longest* Home Run In Baseball History

(Ed Spargo, a longtime baseball fan from North Quincy, is a retired printer and son of the late William Spargo, publisher of the Quincy Telegram, a daily newspaper that flourished more than a half century ago.)

By ED SPARGO

The ball sailed majestically over the fence in straightaway center field and was duly recorded as just another home run by just another minor league baseball player.

But, through a quirk of fate, the prodigious wallop by Quincy's own Harold (Bootus) Chapman has gone into the books as the longest home run in the history of baseball, although the record carries an asterisk.

The ball, you see, "traveled" all the way from Syracuse, N.Y., to Chicago and back.

But let Chapman, who died recently at the age of 88, recount the story as he told it to me a few years ago.

"I was catching for Syracuse of the International League way back in 1914," he said, "and the ball field was beside the railroad tracks that ran from Boston through New York state and on to Chicago."

"Anyway, a ball I hit cleared the fence with plenty to spare. I later learned that it landed on a moving coal car and was retrieved by one of the freight train guards who held it aloft and called out, 'On to Chicago!'

"Four days later, the same guy came into our clubhouse and wanted to know who hit the homer in Saturday's game."

"When I informed him that I did, he told us the story of the ball winding up in the Windy City and being brought back to Syracuse on the return trip and he handed it to me."

"I had the whole team autograph it. I figured that as long as the ball didn't stop moving I could claim the honor of the 'longest' home run ever hit."

The Quincy Track Club held its fifth annual awards banquet recently at Kings Hill Hall in Braintree with more than 260 in attendance.

Coach Jeff Hennessy was the toastmaster and head table

HAROLD (BOOTUS) CHAPMAN

Bootus told me the story, and many, many others, in his home just a long fly ball from old Merrymount park where, as small boys and young men, we idolized him six decades ago.

The toll of the years had fitted him with glasses and a hearing aid but it didn't dull his memory of his sense of a good story.

"I remember you," he told me once, "from the early 20s at Merrymount when you were covering games for you dad's Quincy Telegram and Percy Lane was doing likewise for the Patriot Ledger."

"How could I forget you two, taking up space on the bench while some of our players have to squat on the ground for lack of room?"

"Remember the overflow crowds when we scheduled the House of David, all wearing beards, of the Philadelphia Colored Giants or Lizzy Murphy's All Stars?"

"What a shame there was a color barrier in those days. I'm sure the Giants' super-battery of Will Jackman and Burlin White and some of their teammates belonged in the big leagues."

"Often when we booked clubs like the Giants or the House of David the Boston papers would publish special editions with the lineups and rush them to Fore River Field or the field where the Copeland Club played in West Quincy.

"Those were the glory days of South Shore baseball. Gone forever! We'll never see them again."

Bootus starred at baseball, football and basketball at Quincy High, Class of 1911, but baseball was his forte. He was attracted to catching when he was at Massachusetts Fields School.

"I was only about this high," he recalled, holding his hand not much more than four and a half feet off the floor, "when I saw someone wearing that equipment."

"The shinguards were up to my waist instead of my knees but I craved to be a catcher and wear all that stuff so I'd look like a big fellow."

Bootus fashioned a highly successful minor league career before he got a shot at the big leagues with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. But fate decreed that he would never get into a major league game.

"I could have," he insisted, "if I was willing to play for peanuts."

"Mr. Mack approached me in the dugout one afternoon and informed me, 'You can start catching tomorrow.' But I floored him when I said, 'No, I can't, you haven't offered enough money to satisfy me.'"

"I expected to at least get an increase over what I was making in the minors but the salary he quoted was so ridiculously low for a big leaguer, even in that pre-World War I era, that I rebelled."

"So I sat on the bench for a couple of weeks and occasionally warmed up the pitchers. When I again balked at signing on his terms and said I planned to leave baseball and go to college, Mr. Mack released me. That ended by brief stay in the big time."

Track Club Presents Awards

guests included club president Mrs. Irene Kelly, Coach Caryn Smith, Taunton TC coaches Brian Crowley and Roger Perrault, North Quincy Coach Bart Petracca, Doty Irvine of the Quincy Flyers, N.E. TAC treasurer Gloria Ratti and her husband, well-known marathoner Charlie Ratti.

Special fund-raising awards were presented to Geraldine Murphy for collecting the most money on tag day and Kevin Durn for selling the most raffle tickets. Frank Kelly awards for dedication and excellence were given to Harry Morash and Maria D'Attilio. Rookie of the Year awards went to Don Fink and Laura Ciulla and the Outstanding Athletic Awards went to Finn Kelly and Nancy Sullivan.

Hennessy cited the growth of the club and pointed out that Brian Donahue and Lianne Supple received scholarships to the U. of Texas and Boston College respectively.

The parents presented gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Coull, for their help and the athletes presented Hennessy and Coach John Jacoppo gifts.

First Busload Of Tourists Visits Quincy, Norfolk County

The first busload of tourists, encouraged by the Norfolk County Tourist Council, arrived in Quincy Thursday, receiving a rousing reception from the Quincy Historical Society.

The 47 senior citizens from Concord, N.H., were treated to coffee and donuts, visited the society's museum, and took part in a drawing for historic books and souvenirs.

John Nourse, director of the tourist council and promoter of the bus trip, pronounced the first half hour of the tour a success as the group sped off to visit the Adams National Historic Site.

Nourse has been conducting an advertising campaign for the past year to bring bus tours to Norfolk County -- "the County of the Presidents" -- an occurrence that is routine in other sections of the country.

On tap for the pioneer trippers from Concord were visits to the Adams Mansion, the Abigail Adams Birthplace in Weymouth, the Independence Gown Museum in Cohasset and lunch at Hugo's, also in Cohasset.

For the record, the first one off the bus at the Historical Society in the Adams Academy building was Tish Wetherell, who also won the Wedgewood plate that was first prize in the drawing.

ELDERLY VISITOR from Concord, N.H., gets a royal welcome from John Nourse, director of tourism for Norfolk County, as she steps from bus at Adams Academy. She was part of first group tour of county.

Other prizes included a Francis Parker bottle, an Ann Hutchinson bottle, a copy of the book "Quincy 350 Years" and a biography of Abigail Adams.

Arthur H. Tobin.

Former President William A. O'Connell was the official greeter for the Historical Society and Doris Oberg presided over the coffee and donuts table.

Society President Dr. James Cameron cut short one of his history classes at Eastern Nazarene College to welcome the visitors.

The tourists were welcomed to the county by Commissioner George B. McDonald of Quincy and to the city by Carol Pisano, director of tourism, for Mayor

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 15

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Thursday-Sunday is a lively social time, but as of Monday family pressures demand increased attention. Modest romantic triumph brings immense pleasure by Wednesday.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Financial surprises are varied and mixed, but you wind up a little ahead. After Friday you're absorbed in partnership matters — professional and/or personal.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Independence is strong — even for Aries — through the week, but avoid unnecessary risks. Invitations are interesting, especially those from recent acquaintances.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Energy level is high and you can inch ever closer to a personal goal. Information that comes your way — especially as it relates to higherups — is not consistently reliable.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Short-range career goals may appear in easy reach by the end of this period. Out-of-town friend or relative seems to need encouragement that only you can provide.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Long-distance news should be confirmed quickly, and necessary action taken promptly. Good week for persuading professionals to try out your new ideas.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Week favors launching of long-term projects, but delays regarding a business matter are frustrating. Social life is delightfully diverting — thanks to a new friend.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Conflict on the homefront is resolved when and if you take the initiative. Week offers good opportunities for professional advancement via dedication and determination.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Good week for persuading loved one to take the trip of your dreams. Workload increases and you should begin to delegate tasks before you're overwhelmed.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Sense of value is sharp and it's a fine week for making purchases of a practical nature. A new but shaky relationship is beginning to move on a steadier course now.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Your usual confidantes now come to you for encouragement and suggestions; don't underestimate the importance of your advice. Home improvements generally favored now.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Accent on recreation — especially team sports — through the week. Be wary of people making excessive promises or offering complicated deals. Family-wise, an upbeat time.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Ruled by Venus, you're peaceful, loving and have splendid taste. Somewhat of an escapist — and sometimes a rule-bender. Year accents self-improvement; with initiative, you can improve financial status by mid '82.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 15th, actress Linda Lavin; 16th, actress Angela Lansbury; 17th, actor Montgomery Clift; 18th, actress Pam Dawber; 19th, actress LaWanda Page; 20th, singer Isaac Hayes; 21st, poet S. T. Coleridge.

I'M NOT GOING TO THE FUNERAL TODAY.

Did you know that students of human history have found ceremonies for the dead in every culture. Egyptians, American Indians, Orientals, Africans, Latin Americans and Eskimos are examples of the many cultures that hold ceremonies for their dead. Ceremonies vary to meet local needs. Ceremonies serve the living! American funerals bring friends and loved ones together to give mutual support. They give the living a positive way to honor the memory of the deceased. When you hear people wondering about the value of funerals, remember that funerals meet the deeply seated needs of the living. When a loved one dies, attend the funeral and visitation to honor the deceased, to support the family and appropriately express your feelings.

With Conditions Solicitor Approves New School Discipline Rules

City Solicitor Robert J. Fleming has given tentative approval to the School Committee's newly passed rules for discipline at the high school — provided the students are given due process of law.

The new rules, approved by the Committee a month ago, require high school students with four suspensions in one school year either to withdraw from school or be expelled unless there is a valid reason to give them another chance.

"I believe," said Fleming in a letter to School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Crendon, "all parties would be better served if the student who has been suspended for the fourth time appears before the School Committee to show cause why he should not be expelled."

"The provision that the student be given a choice that he sign out, should, in my opinion, be stricken, since he or his parents have that option as of right."

"The appearance by the student before the Committee would certainly give the student the opportunity to be heard and a rational decision could then be made on the basis of the evidence presented at the hearing."

The new policy was proposed by School Committeewoman Mary Collins and was passed Sept. 23 by the Committee by a vote of 5-1, with Frank Anselmo dissenting. Anselmo questioned the legality of the move.

3 New Police Cars Okayed, Chief Nixes Canine Corps

Police Chief Francis X. Finn won three new marked cruiser cars, for a total of nine, Monday night after fighting off a determined bid by City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond for reinstatement of the canine corps.

Raymond tried to attach an amendment to the $26,253.37 appropriation for the cruisers that would make their purchase conditional upon retention of the three police dogs that made up the canine corps.

But Finn told the Council that he would not sign the order to purchase the cars if the amendment was adopted.

"I feel that the safety of the men and the Police Department's operation on behalf of the city is best without dogs," he said.

"If I have to go without the two cars I still want my men protected properly and the flexibility to manage the men properly, then so be it. It's men before dogs."

"The chief is obviously adamant," said Councillor James A. Sheets. "I won't sacrifice three cruisers for the dogs."

Most of the Council agreed with him, voting down Raymond's amendment, 6-3, with Councillors John J. Lydon Jr., John J. Quinn and Raymond voting for it.

Then the Council got together unanimously to give Finn his cruisers.

The three new cruisers are in addition to six that were approved earlier but have not yet been delivered.

"We are really down on cruisers very, very bad," Finn told the Council. "Our cruisers breaking down at an unbelievable rate. I've never seen anything like it."

In addition, he said, two cruisers were totalled in an accident that resulted from a police chase in Adams Shore recently.

South Shore Buick was the low bidder "by several hundred dollars per car" on the six that have already been approved.

Raymond introduced his amendment, noting that "people are concerned about the lack of police presence on the streets."

"The bottom line is one of public safety," he said. "I happen to disagree with the chief's judgement on the value of the dogs. The value of the dogs far outweighs the minimal expense."

Acting City Auditor William Grindlay estimated the cost of maintaining the dogs at less than $10,000 a year.

Now Up To U.S. State Gives Connector Green Light

By TOM HENSHAW

The controversial East-West Connector which would join the proposed Burgin Parkway Extension to McGrath Highway through the center of downtown Quincy has been approved by the state. The Quincy Sun has learned.

Both Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and Planning Director James Lydon Tuesday declined to confirm or deny the report.

"We have had no formal notification either way," said Lydon. "It is really an internal process within the State Department of Public Works."

"I understand that the proposal has been forwarded to the federal government for its consideration. I expect that we will have a response from Washington in four to six weeks."

The Tobin administration has maintained that the East-West Connector is necessary to the future of downtown Quincy by opening it up to shoppers from towns south of the city by way of Burgin Parkway Extension.

A public hearing held at City Hall July 23 drew support and opposition in about equal proportions.

The opposition maintained that it would be too disruptive of current businesses on Hancock St. and Revere Rd. and that it is premature since the plan did not call for any new development.

"The ultimate decision will be made by the feds," said Lydon. "They are the heavyweights in it. They'll examine the testimony taken at the hearing and make their decision."

The connector as well as the Burgin Parkway Extension would be built with mostly federal funds.

There have been no estimates of cost but a rule of thumbs on such federally funded projects is that the road would cost $10 million a mile. The Extension and the Connector would include two miles of roadway.

Limit Video Games To 4

The City Council Monday night passed an ordinance that will limit to four the number of video game and pinball machine licenses that may be issued to any one location.

The ordinance was proposed by Councillor Francis J. McCauley in the wake of the controversy over the license granted to two city officials that would permit 80 machines in one Hancock St. site.

The license approved for acting City Purchasing Agent Charles L. Shea and Asst. City Solicitor

Dennis E. Harrington was later withdrawn by the Licensing Board.

The McCauley ordinance would exempt those places that already have licenses for more than four games or machines.

Since Shea and Harrington have served notice through their attorney that they do not recognize the withdrawal of the license, it is legally uncertain whether they would be affected by the ordinance.

Raymond, McCauley To Debate Oct. 26

Mayoral candidates Daniel G. Raymond and Francis X. McCauley will meet in face to face debate Monday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sterling Junior High School Auditorium.

Each candidate will be allowed a five minute opening statement and three minutes of rebuttal before the program is thrown open to questions submitted through the moderator.

The question period will last one hour, from 7:51 p.m. to 8:51 p.m., after which each candidate will be permitted two and half minutes for a closing statement.

City Hospital Doctors Refuse Manet Referrals

By TOM HENSHAW

Pregnant women from the Manet Community Health Center in Houghs Neck are having their babies delivered at St. Margaret's Hospital because of a dispute with a group of doctors at City Hospital.

Diane Luby, director of the Manet Center, told the City Council's Public Health and Hospital Committee Monday night that the doctors are unhappy with the reimbursement they get from Medicaid.

"Manet Community Health Center had contracted with a Quincy-based OB GYN group to see our pregnant patients two to three times during their pregnancy at the health center and then deliver them at the hospital," she said.

"In August, however, we were informed on incredibly short notice that unless Manet Community Health Center guaranteed reimbursement for delivery on Medicaid patients, our contract would be terminated.

"This group refuses to bill Medicaid or to see pregnant Medicaid patients in their private offices.

"We are a non-profit corporation and cannot absorb a loss on all these deliveries."

Luby said Hospital Director Michael Kitchen tried to intervene to reach a solution but his proposal that the doctors and the Center split the difference was not acceptable to the group.

"Our only option," she said, "was to call all of our patients and tell them they couldn't deliver at City Hospital as expected and we were sending them to a new hospital with a new physician."

The doctors, she said, proposed that private patients be sent to their offices, those with no insurance to St. Margaret's, and Medicaid people to the basement clinic at City Hospital.

"This, of course, was totally unacceptable to us," she said. "As a consequence all of our pregnant women deliver at St. Margaret's."

She said 16 women had been referred to St. Margaret's since August.

Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. called it "a disgrace if the professional staff involved at the hospital does not understand that these rates are set by Medicaid and they as professionals refuse to accept that."

Kitchen told the Council that it was a matter between the Health Center and the group of doctors and that the Hospital was not directly involved, except to try to mediate the dispute.

Lydon asked that the matter be placed on the agenda of the next meeting of the Hospital's Board of Managers.

McIntyre Mall To Be Dedicated Sunday

Captain McIntyre was born in Quincy Aug. 4, 1901, of parents who came to America to seek a better life. His father worked in the granite quarries in Quincy and died when William was a small boy.

McIntyre had jobs as a truck driver, coal fireman on a freight train, and finally was appointed to the Quincy Police Department in 1924.

Elks Suspend Las Vegas Nights

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The board of directors of the Quincy Lodge of Elks unanimously voted Monday night to temporarily suspend its Las Vegas Nights which have come under attack for alleged overbetting.

Lodge members have denied the allegations by a Quincy police detective that the legal limit of $25 for each play was being exceeded at the Thursday night games.

The Las Vegas Night license, which does not fall under License Board jurisdiction, was issued Aug. 24, by Police Chief Francis Finn, whose department checked the applicants for any police records, and City Clerk John Gillis, who certified that the Elks were a charitable organization.

Finn said Tuesday that police are looking into the allegations, and that Las Vegas Night requirements should be enforced by the lottery.

"They want the police to enforce them," said Finn, "but we don't have the men."

Gillis added that the laws concerning Las Vegas Nights are "loosely written".

In a letter to the Massachusetts Lottery Elks Exalted Ruler David G. Montani, Jr. said, "the games would be suspended until such time as the Massachusetts Legislature and all other appropriate agencies reach a final determination as to the rules and regulations governing such events."

Montani explained in the letter that the Elks, as a fraternal and charitable organization, depend heavily on the revenues from such events to meet everyday expenses.

Over the past five years, Quincy Lodge of Elks has donated over $200,000 to charities from its beano revenues, noted Montani in the letter.

Montani also said that the Elks intend "to take a more active role in helping the legislature develop guidelines for the proper operation of these events."

QCA Urges 1 A.M. Bar Closings

The Quincy Citizens Association has urged the City Council to take immediate action on an ordinance mandating a 1 a.m. closing time for all liquor establishments in the city.

"The rash of accidents attests to the disaster of the currently permitted 2 a.m. closing and the situation needs to be rectified without delay," said the QCA in a letter to Council President Leo J. Kelly.

The QCA proposal would also have the liquor establishment's premises cleared of patrons by 1:15 a.m.

Police, Firefighters Not Exempt From Fundraising Registration

Police and firefighter organizations are no longer exempt from registering their fundraising activities with the attorney general under newly effective legislation, Sen. Paul D. Harold reported this week.

The new law was passed because of concerns about the legitimacy of some fundraisers who claimed to be raising money for police or firefighters' relief groups.

Harold said the law will now require these organizations to file a form and pay a $10 registration fee in order to be issued a registration certificate before they can raise funds.

"While I think it unfortunate that we have to have this law, it will weed out the legitimate police and firefighters' organizations from those who claim to be affiliated with such groups, but really are not," he said.

"The public wants to know to whom they are making their contributions, and that the money is going to a good purpose."

Harold said the new law bars organizations which use professional fundraisers from paying them more than 15 percent of the net proceeds of fundraising activities and provides a $1,000 fine and six-month jail term for violating the limit.

The new law does not affect religious groups, educational institutions, parent-teacher groups, fundraisers for specified individuals, organizations which raise less than $5,000 per year, charitable hospitals, libraries, or volunteer fire companies.

It Makes You Feel Sad

Women have come a long way in the equal rights department in recent years.

It should have happened a long time ago. They still have a way to go, but they're getting there. More speed to them.

I'm all in favor of equality. Though I must admit I just can't get used to the handle Ms. It still sounds like a buzzing mosquito to me.

But then, that shouldn't surprise too many people in town. I have a reputation for being old fashioned—if not a creature out of the dark ages.

A square with a capital S.

A sentimental slob who thinks Glenn Miller's "Moonlight Serenade" is perhaps the prettiest popular number of them all. And, is still puzzled over how a pile of noise called rock 'n' roll ever got such a stranglehold on youngsters back in the mid 1950's and is still hanging on.

Oh, I've got other hangups, too. Like I believe people should say "please", "thank you" and wash their hands.

And get married before they live together and produce children together.

If I were a judge, murderers and rapists would remember me as "Hanging Hank".

Some women think I'm somewhat chauvinistic when I start letting off steam in my little corner here. Maybe I am, sometimes. But I ask you, shouldn't a man stand up for his rights when some woman starts elbowing him aside at a store counter? Or scoots in front of him at the supermarket checkout? Or tries to take advantage of him in a business deal because she happens to be tall, well shaped and beautiful?

I'm in favor of women's rights. I'm not prejudiced against women. Honest. I have a wife, mother, four daughters and a female cat who don't think I'm too bad.

But there's one thing I can't stand about some women: the foul language that comes out of their mouths.

Especially young women of junior and senior high school age.

It's bad enough for men and boys to be profane. But it is really sad to walk down Hancock St. and hear some of the four letter words from girls. Not just uttering them but yelling them down or across the street.

Sample:

"I missed my ——— bust!"

Young girls who apparently can match men in the profanity department. That's an equal right?

You can't help wondering about them as future wives and mothers. What a home they'll help make.

A country, community or home is only as good as its women. If they go downhill, we all slide with them.

But then, I'm old fashioned and a square. Maybe it's just a little molehill and all I can see is a mountain.

But I remember when girls talked and acted like young ladies and a profane one was a real rarity. An oddball.

I just will never get used to foul mouthed females even if they have all the right in the world to be foul mouthed if they so please.

Fortunately today, most teen-age girls are nice kids and young ladies. But there seems to be more of the other kind around than there used to be.

It kind of makes you shudder a little when you hear one of them loudly coming down the street. And it makes you feel sad.

Reader Forum

Criticizes Harold On McCauley Rally

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a member of the Ward 6 Democratic Committee in this City I feel compelled to let the readers know what our current Democratic State Senator is doing.

Senator Paul Harold recently announced in this paper he was holding a rally for mayoral candidate, Francis X. McCauley at his home on Oct. 18. The problem I have in accepting this fact is: Why would our Democratic Senator hold a rally for the "Republican" candidate for mayor? Shouldn't Mr. Harold's allegiance be towards the Democratic candidate? It is because of these reasons I feel all Democrats in this City should take exception to Senator Harold's behavior and lack of loyalty towards his party.

Hearing Set On Q. Shore Drive High Rise Plan

The Zoning Board of Appeals set Nov. 13 as the date for a hearing into an application by Atty. John P. Flavin for a variance to clear the way for construction of a $17 million, 1,000-unit high rise apartment development on Quincy Shore Drive between Fenno St. and Caddy Memorial Park.

The Wollaston Park Association, leading the opposition to the plan, circulated a petition asking the Metropolitan District Commission to take the land by eminent domain and place it beyond the developers' reach as a conservation area.

A second proposal by the association would request the owner of the land, the Reuben and Lizzie A. Grossman Foundation, to donate the property to the city of Quincy as a memorial park to the Grossman family.

The development plan calls for six 12-story apartment buildings and 15 two and three-story structures.

Haystack Prayer Meeting Story Told At Squantum Church

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum, told children of the church the story of "The Haystack Prayer Meeting" Sunday during the morning worship service.

That historic meeting took place 175 years ago when five Williams College students in western Massachusetts found shelter from a sudden storm by crawling inside a nearby haystack.

There, as the rain came down outside, they talked and prayed about the need to bring the Gospel to people in other lands.

Before the storm was over, all five had committed themselves to spending the rest of their lives as American foreign missionaries.

The students formed a small group of like-minded Christians called "The Brethren" at the college which attracted others into missionary service.

These young people were the first Protestant American foreign missionaries.

Baptists and Congregationalists (United Church of Christ) remember "The Haystack Prayer Meeting" this month because it was that meeting which led to the formation of their denominational foreign mission societies.

In celebration of that event, the Youth Choir sang an anthem by Natalie Sleeth, "Praise the Lord".

Members of the Youth Choir are Bonnie Adams, Tommy Adams, Ann Lombardi, Sarah Mildram, Edward Perkins, Susan Scott, Steve Williams and Sandra Ahearn.

The Chancel Choir sang "Hear My Prayer, O God" by Jacob Arcadelt. Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs. Sermon for the morning was "Just Little Sins" based on a text in Acts, "You have not lied to men but to God."

Ushers for the morning were Edward Perkins, Donald Frazer, Steve Williams and Tore Wallin.

Greeters were Sally Wainwright and Louise Randall. The fellowship hour after the service was hosted by Lorraine Josseley, Renee Johnson and Adelaide Nelson.

Sunday evening, the church held its first Youth Service. It began at 6 p.m. and will be held regularly at that time each Sunday.

The morning worship service next Sunday will begin at 10:15 a.m.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Ice Cream Works Granted License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

After working with members of the local business association on area disturbances problems, Mark S. Tilden was granted a common victualer license for Ice Cream Works, 54 Billings Rd., North Quincy by the License Board Tuesday.

The license was granted for a trial period of six months.

Councillor Joanne Condon had asked at least week's meeting that the request be continued so that Tilden could talk with the North Quincy Local Development Corporation about "vandalism in North Quincy that has increased tremendously" since the establishment opened (without a license).

Mrs. Condon had pointed out that the establishment was being run by teenage employees.

Brendan Gallagher, LDC president, told the board at this week's meeting, that Tilden "has tried very hard over the last month."

Gallagher said that Tilden agreed to the LDC's recommendations of the license being granted for a trial period, and of having employees of a "proper age" on the establishment.

Tilden also agreed to closing hours of 8 p.m. during the week, and 9 p.m. on week-ends. The owner must be on the premises when the Ice Cream Works is open until 9 p.m.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted School St. Sunaco, 59 School St., Quincy Center, a permit to store 8,000 gallons of gasoline, under ground, in addition to the present storage of 8,000 gallons of gasoline and 1,100 gallons of fuel oil.

- Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, who thought the matter should be continued until Fire Chief Edward Barry was present, voted against the request. The permit was granted subject to the approval of Barry.

- Continued for one week a request from Napoli Pizzeria, 1570 Hancock St., for one video game.

- Granted a second hand license for furniture, tools, china, and glass, to Theodore Koberski for T.L.T. Treasures, 261 East Squantum St.

Koberski told the board the shop be open only two to three days a week, and would be mainly a wholesale business.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Committee to Re-Elect Councillor at Large Joseph LaRaia for Thursday, Oct. 29, 7:30 p.m. to midnight at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus hall.

- Granted the Woodward Alumnae a permit to conduct a flea market Saturday, Oct. 24, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school. No used clothing is to be sold.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Committee to Elect Councillor at Large Francis X. McCauley for Mayor for Friday, Oct. 30, 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Committee to Elect Jim O'Brien for School Committee for Friday, Oct. 23, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall. The group is to check with the Health Department on serving food.

- Granted the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post a permit to conduct a poppy drive Oct. 22 to 24, 6 to 9 p.m.

Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Michael T. Polvere for a common victualer license for Michael's Pizzeria, 379 Washington St.

Board members told Polvere he had picked a "bad location" which already had traffic problems.

Toland Urges Close Cooperation In City

Patricia Toland, a candidate for the City Council at large, is stressing the importance of a closer working relationship among the City Council, city department heads and neighborhood groups.

"Making Quincy's government more responsive to the needs, concerns and wishes of its citizens will be one of my goals as a Council member," Mrs. Toland told a recent gathering at Faxon Commons.

"My efforts on the School Committee have been to bring parents and the community into a closer working relationship with the school system."

Mrs. Toland noted that the issue of neighborhood vandalism recently brought the Merrymount Association and officials from the Police Department together to seek ways of combating it.

"A city-wide discussion of the mounting problem of vandalism is necessary," she said.

"The problem of closed schools has brought neighborhood representatives and the planning staff together for an exchange of ideas and acceptable plans for school reuse.

"Hopefully, positive steps toward ultimate solution of the vacancy problem will result."

Diners may not have to travel into Boston for a Quincy Market-type atmosphere when California, 79 Parkway, completes its mainly glass enclosed extension approved Tuesday by the Quincy License Board.

The new extension, with a target completion date of Christmas time, will be erected on the sidewalk in front of the establishment.

The 42 x 16 foot property will be leased from the city, and will seat about 56 patrons.

Owner Carl Miranda said the new extension will be heated, and will not increase the establishment's occupancy rate of 399.

"It will add more room for the customers that we have," said Miranda who also said the establishment will be expanding its menu to include entrees.

Miranda told Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough that the extension will be accessible to the handicapped.

It will also be open the same hours as the main restaurant according to Miranda who added that business has picked up of late.

The board also approved change of the corporate structure.

THREE YEARS AGO, AN ALMOST UNHEARD OF THING HAPPENED IN QUINCY. . .

two rivals, the Quincy High and the North Quincy High Wrestling teams practiced together, for an entire season. This unique situation came about because North was left without a gym. The coaches from both teams decided that, although the situation would be difficult, it would be in the best interests of the boys and of the city-wide wrestling program. Tim Cahill was one of the coaches involved, and the results of this unique situation confirmed his belief that differences can be overcome, when peoples' best interests are given top priority.

Raymondi Vows Crackdown On Business Tax Delinquents

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi has promised a "determined and professionally operated tax collection program" aimed at major property tax delinquents who owe Quincy millions of dollars.

"Not enough is being done to collect more than $2.4 million owed to Quincy since 1961, all in delinquent personal property taxes," he told a gathering at the home of Armando and Sue Del-Graco of Ames St., West Quincy.

"An active and aggressive collection system will be developed under my administration to return valuable and vitally needed funds to the city's coffers."

Most of the money is owed to Quincy by business concerns said Raymondi.

His proposed collection program would not cost Quincy any extra expenditures and no new personnel would be needed to operate it, said Raymondi.

"By using existing city hall departments, Quincy can expect to amass the funds that are delinquent," he said.

"The city solicitors and the tax department will work closely together, under my guidance, to ferret out those who have failed to pay their taxes."

Raymondi assured his audience that he was speaking mostly of business concerns.

"The problem is that Quincy's property taxpayers are subsidizing individuals and business concerns who do not pay their taxes," he said.

"The homeowners ask, and rightfully so, why is it that these people are allowed to maintain their delinquent status.

"It is unfair for Quincy's average homeowner to shoulder the extra burden of delinquent taxpayers."

Two positive aspects of his tax collection program, said Raymondi, would be a more stable tax rate and "help to live within the constraints of Proposition 2½ without compromising essential services."

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

WHY DO I NEED A BRIDGE?

Losing a tooth may not concern a patient much if the tooth is in the back and not visible. Very often, however, teeth next to a space created by the loss of a tooth will shift into the space. This shifting of the teeth makes them more susceptible to decay. Then, because the teeth are crooked, the jaws don't come together properly; damage to the jaws can result. These shifted teeth are also more susceptible to gum disease. Finally, spaces may open up between the front teeth, even though the tooth lost was further back.

The missing tooth should be replaced by a bridge. A crown is made for the teeth in front of and behind the space, and a false tooth is soldered in between. The bridge prevents shifting of the teeth, so further damage won't occur.

Dan Raymondi stopped the video arcade. Stopped it dead.

He stopped it by being the only city councilman who cared enough to attend the initial Licensing Board hearing. (Frank McCauley, his opponent, must have been busy that day).

He stopped it by speaking out against the arcade before others jumped on the bandwagon.

He stopped it because it was wrong. And he stopped it by getting 3483 people to sign his anti-arcade petition in just three days.

But Dan didn't stop there.

He recently called for the end of an appointed Licensing Board so that things like the arcade will never happen again.

Now Frank McCauley probably had a good reason for missing the initial hearing on the arcade license. And he probably had a good reason for not making his opinions known prior to the vote on this important issue.

But if it wasn't for people who care like Dan Raymondi we'd all be reading about Quincy's brand new video arcade.

Luckily, Dan acts rather than reacts.

And while others waited to see which way the pinball was bouncing, Dan simply walked in and pulled the plug.

Dan Raymondi. The full time leadership we need in times like these.

The following officers have been nominated for re-election: Benjamin Rudner, president; Thomas F. Dowd, vice president; and Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary-treasurer.

Donut Shop Set For Beach Area

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Sun and surf may soon be mixed with coffee and donuts now that the Quincy License Board has granted a common victualer license to Dutch Treat at 388 East Squantum St., North Quincy.

The donut shop, owned by Thomas Powers of Dorchester, will be located in an old Shell station, which will be converted. Hours will be 4 a.m. to midnight.

Before the license was granted, board members alerted Powers that the city may take a portion of his property in the future to widen the corner area.

Councillor Joanne Condon said that the land taking would be subject to development of the marina area, and that she thought only a minimal amount of Powers' property might be taken.

Fire Chief Edward Barry commented that it would be less expensive for the city to purchase the property now, than when there is a thriving business located there.

"I don't know where the city will get the money to take anything," said Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh.

Mrs. Condon also said that residents and businesses support the venture, and many were familiar with Powers' other shop across from Ashmont Station, Dorchester.

After the board voiced concern over possible traffic problems, Powers reduced the number of seats in the shop from around 50 to 30. There are 10 parking spaces.

The license was granted with the restrictions that the building inspector have control of any signs, that landscaping be installed and maintained, and that if the license is not in use after nine months it will be considered abandoned.

The underground gasoline tanks from the station are also to be removed, and there is to be one entrance and one exit to the shop.

Police Chief Francis Finn commented that Dutch Treat could be a profitable all-night business, providing coffee for drivers fighting off sleep.

The owner can re-apply for extended hours at a later date.

Alcohol Workshops To Start Oct. 29

The South Shore Alcohol Prevention and Education Committee will present a series of three workshops on Single Parents and Alcohol Issues starting Thursday, Oct. 29.

The workshop is designed for single parents and providers such as teachers, counselors, clergy, hospital personnel and social workers.

The workshop will be held three consecutive Thursdays, Oct. 29, Nov. 5 and Nov. 12 from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., at the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, 148 Old Colony Ave., Quincy.

Pre-registration is encouraged and a $10 donation is asked. For more information contact William Spinks at 472-6027.

Water Babies, Mom-Tot Y Programs

The South Shore YMCA Outreach Program will conduct a Water Babies Swim program for children ages 6 months to 2 years and Mom-Tot Swim program for children ages 3 to 6 at the Weymouth MDC Pool beginning Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The six-week programs will help youngsters get better adjusted to the water and learn the basic swimming skills.

Water Babies classes are scheduled for Tuesdays from 1 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. and Thursdays from 1 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Mom-Tot class will be Thursday from 1:30 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Parents are required to participate and assist youngsters in learning the Y's progressive swimming skills.

Quality Education Conroy Goal

Patrick Conroy, a candidate for the School Committee, says his goal is "high quality public education at a reasonable cost and I believe I can accomplish it."

Conroy spoke at a reception hosted by his grandmother, Mrs. Anne Conroy, at her home, 91 Clay St.

"Experience reinforces the idea that if everyone's kids are well educated, then we are all better off," he said. "The public schools are the reason that each generation in this country has done a little better than the one before it."

"This social mobility is an important part of our heritage, and it still plays an important role in the strength of our nation."

"In addition, the quality of life in our city and our neighborhoods is directly related to the quality of our public schools."

"The allocation of budgetary resources will be a difficult task, but I'm up to it. I'm not afraid to say we need to spend money on activities that give us measurable results, and take money away from central administration spending."

"I'm an honest, intelligent, and capable young leader. I know what needs to be done in order to deliver high quality public education at a reasonable cost, and I have the ability to do it."

Harold Endorses McCauley For Mayor

Sen. Paul D. Harold has endorsed Francis X. McCauley for mayor, saying "I believe his financial abilities will help put the city on a firm fiscal foundation on which to base future progress."

"But even more importantly," he said, "Frank McCauley has the temperament to deal with various factions and groups in the city on a fair and equitable basis."

Harold announced his endorsement at a bean supper and campaign rally for McCauley at the senator's home in Adams Shore.

Harold is a Democrat and McCauley a Republican but city elections are non-partisan.

"I've learned firsthand the special background Frank McCauley has in finance, management and government, which he will use to serve this city well as mayor," said Harold.

"In the Senate, I serve as chairman of the Local Affairs Committee, which requires me to deal on a daily basis with the problems of the 351 cities and towns in the Commonwealth."

"From this perspective, I can attest to Frank McCauley's talents and superior qualifications."

In addition to endorsing McCauley, Harold said he will campaign on his behalf around the city.

Median Strip Park To Honor George Fay

The median strip on Hancock St. between First Parish Church and the South Shore Bank is about to be spruced up and dedicated to the memory of the late George C. Fay, longtime chairman of the Quincy Civic Association.

The City Council voted Monday night to name the strip of land George Fay Christmas Festival Memorial Park, which Mayor Arthur H. Tobin says probably will be known as Christmas Park. The new park will be decorated appropriately with Christmas figures and lighting and contain memorial plaques to Fay and to the Rev. Thomas J. Tierney, former associate pastor of St. John's Church and first chairman of the parade.

Tobin said it is hoped that the park can be readied in time for the 1981 Christmas Festival Parade on the Sunday after Thanksgiving, which will be the 30th annual. Funds for creation of the park will come from the city's Christmas lighting fund and from private donations, the mayor said.

McDuff Endorses Cortese For Ward 2 Seat

John H. McDuff Jr., who was eliminated from the race for City Councillor from Ward 2 in the preliminary election, has endorsed Joseph F. Cortese for the seat.

"Neither candidates has spoken out enough on the issues to suit me," said McDuff. "Yet Joe Cortese has courageously called for a series of debates while his opponent has smugly refused them."

"We don't want a litany of a man's past achievements. We need to know his plans for our future. No man deserves to be elected to office who is afraid to debate his opponent, anytime, anywhere."

Cortese, speaking at a coffee hour at the home of Calire Donovan, 2 Ellerton Rd., Quincy Point, also criticized Theodore P. DeCristofaro for refusing to debate him.

"I have asked him twice and he has refused twice," said Cortese. "He seems somehow to believe that we can both discuss all the issues in length in 15 minutes each at a candidates night."

"I want to discuss, neighborhood by neighborhood, what plans I have and what plans he has so that the citizens will have a chance to see who they want to represent them."

"Since he has twice refused my challenge to debate, I can only conclude that he is afraid to answer the questions in detail that the citizens would ask at a debate."

"Quite frankly I believe that the homeowners of Ward 2 deserve the chance to see us debate the issues that affect them in a convenient location at a convenient time in a format that allows maximum citizen participation."

S.S. Bank, Boston Gear Set United Way Pace

Employee groups at two Quincy companies have pledged record amounts to the 1981 United Way of Massachusetts Bay fundraising campaign.

South Shore Bank and Boston Gear, a division of Incom International, were selected as United Way "Pacesetters" and conducted their employee campaigns in August in order to serve as models for others to follow.

South Shore Bank employees pledged $11,000, representing a 46 per cent increase over last year. Chairing that company's campaign was Jack Dugan, second vice president.

Boston Gear employees achieved a 77 per cent increase in giving with double the number of contributors from last year for a total pledge of $19,730. Joanna Ayers, personnel administrator, chaired the campaign.

This year's United Way campaign is scheduled to end Nov. 24, with a $25 million goal to help support affiliated human service agencies.

Among those agencies are 13 in Quincy, including Domestic Violence Ended (DOVE), Quincy Visiting Nurses, Quincy YMCA, South Shore Council on Alcoholism, and the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

YMCA Has Remedy For Aching Back

More than 75 million people suffer from some form of upper or lower back discomfort during the course of a year. Seven million new victims are stricken each year.

The South Shore YMCA has a program, "The Y's Way to a Healthy Back" which has proven to help 85 per cent of the people to reduce or even eliminate backache.

It is comprised of three distinct segments including a Kraus-

Weber evaluation, a series of 18 exercises over a period of six weeks and a participant pain analysis.

The South Shore YMCA Outreach Division will conduct the six-week program on Monday and Wednesday from 6:45 p.m. to 7:45 p.m. Oct. 19 through Nov. 25 at the Trinity Church in Weymouth.

Register at the South Shore YMCA Outreach Division, 479-8500. Enrollment is limited and a registration fee is required.

QUINCY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

"one of our most precious resources."

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra (QSO) is a non-profit volunteer, until-recently-displaced entity. That is, due to lack of suitable facilities in its native city, the orchestra had to perform "out of town" for a few years. It has now happily returned to the fine acoustics and stylish decor of the North Quincy High School Auditorium. Here the QSO is working to re-establish itself as a strong focal point in the community, enjoining those from Quincy and the surrounding towns to mingle with the ever-loyal nucleus of faithful supporters.

Although initially conceived shortly before World War II, the group was not a cohesive body until it emerged in 1953 as the Quincy Civic Orchestra. From that time's membership of 25, the Quincy Symphony Orchestra is approximately 65 strong. Now as then, it is composed entirely of non-paid volunteers. Players hail from as far away as Dracut and Worcester; from as near as Braintree, Hingham, Hull, Weymouth and, of course, Quincy. . . and they do not dabble, but work hard and contribute much.

But no group can hope to succeed without effective leadership. For the QSO, Robert E. Brown has been providing that essential ingredient since 1967. A teacher, pianist, mathematician, conductor, husband and father, he has discovered that magic that insists on high standards from volunteer musicians and elicits from them their best. And, as if Mr. Brown were not busy enough, he responded to impassioned entreaties and is now the conductor of the newly formed Quincy Choral Society which already has over 100 members.

Every organization of any merit has its behind-the-scenes titans (non-paid) who, without apparent time or money, manage to pull everything off right up to concert time minus 5 minutes! One such in the QSO is Nancy J. Johnson, President of the Board of Directors, who states the Quincy Symphony's objectives this way: "The Quincy Symphony Orchestra has a three-fold purpose: to provide cultural entertainment for the community; to provide a means by which members of the community can make use of their musical talents; to provide the opportunity for talented young people to broaden their musical experience; and to provide scholarships to further their musical studies. We cannot accomplish these goals without the help and support of an incredible number of people. So, we appeal to those from Quincy and the surrounding communities to give us some time, some money — no matter how little or how much — and above all their presence at our concerts."

'Walk For Youth' Oct. 25

Paul Hunt of the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy, is local coordinator for the Quincy 18 kilometer "Walk for Youth" Sunday, Oct. 25, to benefit Horizons for Youth.

Quincy is among 50 cities and towns throughout the commonwealth taking part in the seventh annual walk.

Route for the local walk, which begins at 10 a.m. is being developed in cooperation with the local police department. It is designed for maximum safety of walkers.

John P. Comer, national executive committeeman of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion, and also Quincy Assessor, said, "The American Legion is proud to be able to conduct this program to assist the unfortunate young people of the commonwealth."

"It is another example of the American Legion's concern for God and country."

Proceeds from the walk will enable Horizons For Youth to provide services to almost 6,000 unfortunate boys and girls at its 300 acre, year round facility in Sharon.

Those interested in participating in the walk can obtain a sponsor's card at school, or call toll free 1-800-242-5875.

Verenis Ask Cooperation To Aid School Children

Nicholas Verenis, a candidate for the School Committee, has called for pledges of cooperation from candidates for mayor, the City Council and the School Committee in the best interests of Quincy children.

"There can no longer be the bitterness and foolishness of the recent past," he told a campaign gathering at the home of Ted and Athena Papapetros of Wollaston.

"The restraint of Proposition 2½ create the need for harmony among the political leaders of the city. Poor communications between the Mayor, City Council and School Committee must not be allowed to continue."

Verenis noted that the mayor is ultimately responsible for the schools and that the School Committee must rely on the mayor and the City Council to fund the School Department.

"Our elected officials have played politics with the children of this city and have negatively affected their education process," he said.

"I will work with all city officials for the benefit of our children. There is no room for the type of antics that have taken place for the past five years."

Pre-operative Teaching Program At City Hospital

The Patient Education Committee at Quincy City Hospital has developed a Pre-Operative Teaching Program to be offered to patients admitted to the facility for surgery beginning Monday, Oct. 26.

The committee, comprised of nurses, believes that all pre-operative patients and their families have a right to information on pre-operative and post-operative procedures. The information can prepare them for their surgery and help enhance their recovery period.

The first teaching session will be held Monday at the hospital for patients scheduled for surgery the following day. It will be taught by Maureen Bisognano, Director of Nursing, at the hospital.

The rest of the sessions that week will be taught by Carol Mockapetris, chairperson of the committee, and Arleen Ferretti, committee member, who was very instrumental in the development of the program.

The sessions will be taught five evenings a week by specially prepared nurses at the hospital.

Quincy Apartment House Owners Association Cries Foul!

Serving on a special committee of the Quincy City Council, as builder landlords and with tenant advocates, we are trying to make recommendations pertaining to condominium conversions. However, a City Councilor has taken sides for the second time.

Dan Raymond's political advertisement in Friday's Patriot Ledger showing an elderly lady with her baggage and bird cage sitting on an outdoor bench and the caption "Dan Raymond doesn't think anyone caught in the condo squeeze should end up here," is a very poor scary piece of propaganda.

Dan implied the elderly lady could be forced out on to the street.

I hope the readers consider it as a Halloween prank, as a poll we took, we can not find anyone who would do such a thing, and the law wouldn't allow it.

Also, according to the records there have only been 548 units converted or are being converted in the city, which is less than 2% of our housing stock.

There has been no rush to Dedham to register apartments for conversion to condominium as predicted by some tenants.

There is no crisis. Apartments already on the market are slow selling.

Fighting for a moratorium on condominium conversions deprives moderate income people a chance to acquire home ownership. They simply are recycling their old address and acquiring a new one with equity. It serves a need.

Denying the city the approximately 100% increase in taxes from the private section, and about 200% increase in taxes from any of the thousands of other units receiving tax subsidies from the city, denied to the handicapped and elderly living in our private capital owned buildings, will put an additional burden on the single family home owner after re-evaluation.

Fighting for a moratorium on condo conversions and other concessions is a selfish one way to discourage any further building in the city. The housing shortage was born March 22, 1971, because the politician listened to the anti growth majority who already owned their own homes.

It destroys democracy and civil rights. It enhances socialism. It pits the tenant against landlord who need one another. It breeds disrespect. Its history repeating itself. See Matthew 21:33-43—"He leased his vineyard etc." Some other cities and towns have helped tenants purchase condos.

Why doesn't the city help the deserving tenant with a tax relief program instead of forcing the landlord, who is not a blood relation, to absorb the responsibility of caring for tenants who's offsprings no longer are required by law to take care of their elders?

Mr. Raymond says he consistently voted against re-evaluation. Why? He said "This would have raised taxes and rents for the past 16 years and jeopardized the exemptions for widows, veterans and the elderly".

Fact—re-evaluation was needed over 30 years ago because of the disproportion of fair and equal values, further exaggerated each year since.

Fact—it has worked against the tenant.

Fact—re-evaluation is sorely needed to help the tenant who has been constantly ignored. They were denied the exemptions named, for widows, veterans, and elderly because they didn't own property.

Fact because the tenant was further discriminated against this organization took the city to court and won a ten taxpayers suit, that would have cost the tenants more than 1/2 million dollars a year additional. The court found the action of the city assessors "blatantly illegal". The city admitted the apartment houses were already paying 50% more in taxes than the single family home. It is still going on. Tenants and landlords are still discriminated against.

Fact—H.U.D. spent $648 million dollars to assist the homeowner make improvements. Nothing for the apartment house owner or his tenants. The system is grossly unfair with our tax money.

More attention should be given to fair and equal re-evaluation, updated assessors records, water and sewer deficiencies, change the zoning and density restrictions, so that our industry, with the highest unemployment ratio, can look forward to a return to work.

But if the have nots continue with their socialist tendencies to take away from the democracy have, the people who create jobs by investing their capital, they will lose the money the politician has been spending on the amenities and social programs.

Only private capital create jobs.

Not politicians.

There will be no jobs if private capital is not allowed to work and make a profit! Think about it! That's not greed!

Please, no more scare tactics.

Please, no more propaganda. Halloween is for little kids.

The Quincy Apartment House Owners Association will hold a membership meeting early in November. So as not to interfere with the political campaign, as requested by Councilor Raymond.

At that time the political leaders of the city will be invited to participate in a discussion of these and other current issues affecting the economy of the city.

If we pull together, we'll get a lot more done. Is our city too?

(Only Candidate From Ward 2)

Member - QCB PA
Quincy Citizens Association

I am running because I strongly believe the school system should be run more like a business than a grand, societal commitment. I believe students should be held accountable for their responsibilities, and they should be expected to perform to their potential.

I believe parents need to be informed about the schools they help pay for.

Kristin knows who she wants elected!!

The teachers and administrators must be accountable for the carrying out of the system's goals.

Finally, the taxpayer, which includes all of us, must make sure that the system does all of this on a sound and prudent financial basis.

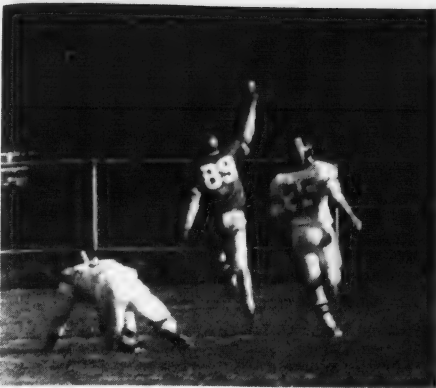

I am running because I believe Quincy is a real community, a community of people who care, and as such, we, the people, are responsible for the qualities and learning habits we are giving to our future generations in this fast changing society.

I know I can serve this purpose well.

Presidents Hope To Rebound Against Whalers

By TOM SULLIVAN

With 1:30 left in the first period last Saturday, Quincy's football team led undefeated Newton North, 7-6.

Twenty-seven seconds later the Presidents trailed, 21-7, and things went downhill from there as Newton poured it on to win its fifth in a row, 40-15, at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The loss dropped Quincy to 1-4.

Saturday the Presidents get a bit of a reprieve when they host New Bedford (2-3) at the stadium at 1:30. The Whalers have defeated Catholic Memorial, 18-14, and Duffee, 14-0, while losing to Brockton, 34-13; Taunton, 14-7, and Dartmouth, 17-7. Last year Quincy won, 27-14.

"We didn't play as bad as the score would indicate and we got some real bad breaks," Quincy coach Tom Fitzgerald said. "The officials made some very questionable calls against us. We made a lot of mistakes, though, and penalties hurt us again, but the boys gave it all they had all the way."

With Newton ahead, 27-7, and then 33-7, Newton coach Norm Walker called for onside kicks. The first Newton recovered and scored again, but Quincy recovered the second. Newton's first team stayed in the game until the final period.

Sean Martin, injured two days before the opening game, started his first game of the season and was given a bad time by the Newton defense, which intercepted four passes. Martin did complete 3 passes for 113 yards and a touchdown, and had another scoring pass nullified by a penalty while Steve Goguen, on a halfback option, passed for one touchdown and another pass for 20 yards, was called back by a penalty.

Goguen had another good day running and picked up 64 yards, while Mark Picot gained 58 and Martin 44.

Singled out on defense were Mark Shaughnessy, Steve Spencer, Kevin Riggs, Mike Nevins, John Carr, Mike Connors, Joe Bush, Goguen and Jim Zupkofska.

On offense there were good words for Shaughnessy, Riggs, Dave Donnelly, Bob Willard, Picot and Goguen.

Quincy reached Newton's 40 following the opening kickoff but the first of Newton's four interceptions, this one by Dave Rowland, ended the drive.

Newton marched 47 yards for its first touchdown, quarterback Rion Foley scoring from the two.

Quincy took the ensuing kickoff and marched 63 yards, clicking off three first downs, Goguen passing to Shaughnessy in the end zone for a 15-yard scoring play.

Joe Harte had to kick twice for the tie-breaking point, as the Presidents were offside and his second kick actually traveled about 30 yards.

Then came the bombshells as Newton scored twice within 27 seconds. Mike Abbruzzese ran the kickoff back 85 yards for a touchdown, after apparently being stopped several times in Newton territory. Foley passed to Bill Drew for the two points.

Then Quincy fumbled the kickoff, Newton recovering on Quincy's 27. On the first play Tim Brandon passed to Drew for the touchdown and Pete Munsat kicked the point for a 21-7 lead.

With time running out in the half Martin hit Shaughnessy with a 44-yard pass on which Shaughnessy made a fine catch and went all the way but, on a delayed call, the Presidents were called for illegal motion. Newton's Tim Mulvey intercepted a pass in the end zone as the half ended.

It didn't take Newton long to extend its lead as it marched 65 yards for a score after the second half kickoff. Foley again scoring from the six.

Then, despite the score, Newton called for an onside kick, recovered, and Foley passed to Drew for 43 yards and another touchdown. Munsat kicked the 34th point.

Newton's Rich Marchione a few minutes later made his team's fourth interception and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown to make it 40-7.

Quincy came right back with its second touchdown, Martin throwing a bomb to Riggs, who made an excellent catch, shook over two tacklers and scored to complete a 58-yard play. Martin rushed for the two points.

Quincy ran off several more plays than Newton and gained a net of 182 yards on the ground for 126 for Newton. Quincy added 128 yards through the air, while Newton had 55 on five for six. Quincy had 15 first downs, Newton 12.

Raiderettes' Long Win Streak Comes To End

All good things must end and last week the North Quincy girls' cross country team saw a 24-meet win streak in cross country, winter and spring track come to a halt as the Raiderettes lost to unbeaten Waltham, 23-33.

The Raiderettes hadn't lost a meet since last October, having won their last five cross country meets last fall, all eight meets in indoor track, all eight meets in spring track and the first three cross country meets this season. "Waltham was just too strong," North Coach Lou Tozzi said. "They were undefeated last year and the Eastern Mass. Class A champions and I think they'll be undefeated again this season."

The first four finishers broke the North Quincy course record. The winner was Waltham's Julie LeClair, who finished in 13:37, bettering the old record by 24 seconds. North Quincy's Nancy McCarthy was second in 13:50.

North's other scorers were Sheila Barrett, fifth; Regina Nagle, sixth; Linda Kennedy, ninth, and freshman Diane Lindenfelzer, who placed 11th in her first varsity meet.

The Raiderettes faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday) and next Tuesday will host another powerful Suburban League foe, Brockton.

Corner, Leone Win Dixie Classic

The 13th annual Dixie Classic golf tournament held recently at the Deerwood Country Club in Jacksonville, Fla., played host to seven members of the Wollaston Golf Club and two Wollaston members, Richard W. Corner and Carl E. Leone, were the winners with a three-day combined score of 35-under-par.

The Corner-Leone duo started fast by shooting a 13-under-par 59 the first day, followed by a 61 the second day and another 61 on the third and final day.

The pair, at 35 under 181, finished tied with John Whalen and Ted Boccuzzi of New York, but won by matching score cards on the first hole. Corner, who carries 15 handicap at Wollaston, fired a 77-85-83 while Leone shot a 70-73-80.

Mike Gaudiano of Wollaston and partner Bob Triglia of the host club captured second place in the third flight with a 28-under-par. Quincy athletic coordinator Carl Leone, DPW Comm. Pete Ricciuti, Pete Valle and Bob Shalow rounded out Wollaston's contingent.

Track Club Takes 2 Trophies In Warner Meet

The Quincy Track Club came up with several outstanding individual efforts and captured two team trophies at the recent Warner Invitational Cross-Country meet at Apponaquet High School in Lakeville. This was the QTC's first major meet of the fall season.

Brian Barrett won the boys 10 and under 3 kilometer race and Sutee Sirikanjanachae placed sixth in girls 10 and under.

Marta Martinez dominated her race, posting the second fastest time ever to lead the team to the championship and other scorers on that team were Karen Cashman, who finished third, Nancy Sheehy, Liz Renda and April Hamilton. Finn Kelly showed why he is one of the fastest in the country, breaking the course record by over 20 seconds and Kevin O'Brien and Mike Flebotte also ran well.

Patty Barrett and Patty Feeney took third and fifth to help Quincy to the team title in the girls 11-12 division, while Tina Hamilton, Colleen Needle, Kelly Dunn and Karel Dunn also scored. In girls 13-14 Karen Dunn took sixth and Laura Barrett eighth.

Quincy will compete in the RRCA Nationals at Van Courtland Park, New York City Nov. 1 and in the regional meet at Lakeville Nov. 15.

Little Loop Opens Saturday

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop will open its 28th season Saturday at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome at 8:30 a.m.

Quincy Beats Weymouth, First Time In 7 Years

The Quincy High School football team rolled up 19 points in the last period on touchdowns by Jim Kelley, Jim Russo and Mike Angelis to defeat Weymouth, 26-6, at Veterans Memorial Stadium for the first time in seven years.

The Presidents powered their way to 336 yards on the ground with Lou DiMartinis picking up 101 yards, Jim Colclough 91, Russo 80 and Ron Leone 32 and ran up 14 first downs to four for the visitors.

Quincy spotted the Maroons a first half touchdown by Pete Stilphen but DiMartinis' 77-yard run tied the score and Leone's PAT pass to Ron Deardon gave the Presidents a 7-6 lead two minutes into the third quarter.

The Quincy lineup:

Deardon, Kelley, Farrell, Morrell, McInnis, ends; Volpe, Fanaro, Craig, Stewart, Hedlund, Menadue, tackles; Kingston, Peterson, Feruzzi, Callin, Bucelin, Primavera, guards; MacDonald, Durgin, Finn, centers.

Leone, Colclough, Russo, DiMartinis, Moscardelli, Angelis, Pakamis, Brown, McGhee, Derbes, O'Donnell, Gaziano, backs.

FALLON CUP FINAL

A pair of ex-caddies, Ken Campbell and Eddie Baldwin, defeated Ed (Smiley) Connell and Charlie Finn one-up to win the Fallon Cup at Wollaston Golf Club in a final match that had been postponed for two weeks due to inclement weather.

Campbell and Baldwin ran up an early lead with birdies and then scrambled for pars in the stretch to clinch the victory on the 16th hole when Campbell sank a short putt while Finn, whose tee shot was on the green, three-putted the hole.

The 24-year-old Campbell was the youngest co-winner of the cup since Ted Adams in 1940.

NORTH BOWLS, 13-6

Big Fullback Vin Penzo stole the show with his running in the second half but it was too late as the North Quincy High School football team lost 13-6 to New Bedford, the only undefeated team in Class B, at Sargent Field, New Bedford.

Penzo scored North's only touchdown in the fourth quarter on a one-yard buck after a 19-yard pass from Jack Crowley to Bernie Creedon and a 13-yard dash by Penzo had set up the score. He had 48 of the Raiders' 102 yards on the ground.

"I'm glad that he's a senior and we won't have to run up against him next year," said New Bedford Coach Amos Taylor.

The North Quincy lineup:

Wanless, Kelly, ends; Todd, Menslage, Harding, tackles; Fallon, Coughlin, guards; Trudeau, center; Flaherty, D. Warriner, Jack Crowley, B. Creedon, Jones, Penzo, P. Colletta, backs.

SOUTH IN THRILLER

Noel Balducci passed 40 yards to Lou Magnarelli for a last minute touchdown and Magnarelli plunged over for the extra point to give the South Junior High School football team a 21-20 victory over North at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Only seconds before, Joe Kupperman had bucked over from the one yard line for the score that, at the time, appeared to have won the game for North. The run for the point failed.

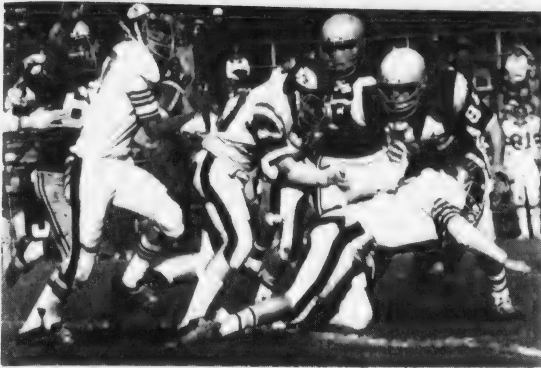

YOUTH MOVEMENT

Hobart Holly, president of the Quincy Tennis Club, announced that, due to the great amount of interest shown by the younger members of the club, a new organization has been proposed within the club to handle junior affairs.

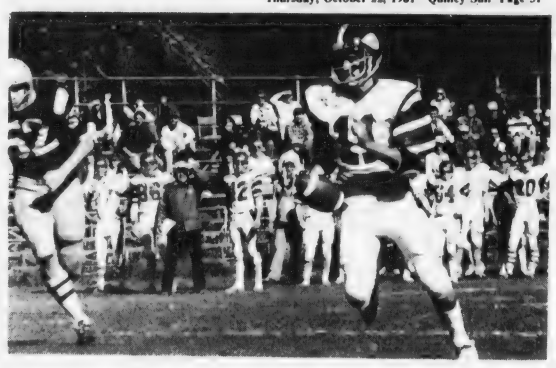

Ann Myatt, Gerald DiBona, Jim Pennypacker and Jack Williams were named to a committee to represent the younger set.

Raiders Take On Undeclared Waltham

North Quincy's football team roared to a 27-0 lead over Weymouth North last week at Weymouth and, with the starters sitting out the last period and a half, held on to top the Maroons, 27-22, and improve its record to 3-2.

This week the Raiders go to Leary Field in Waltham to meet undefeated Waltham, which appears headed for the Super Bowl, sparked by John El-Masry, probably the best running back in Eastern Mass. The Hawks have rolled over Natick, 27-14; Brookline, 28-16; Weymouth North, 27-6; Quincy, 28-7, and Arlington, 33-6. Last fall North Quincy won, 6-0.

North Quincy had to play without its best running back, Joe Dudek, but Rich Stevens and Danny Linnehan took up the slack and scored two touchdowns each.

"Stevens and Linnehan ran very well," Coach Dave Burke said. "Pat Burke played a good game as quarterback and the offensive line was outstanding. I don't feel we were in any danger of losing, but Weymouth did a great job against our reserves."

The North starting defense was superb, holding Weymouth to minus yardage in the first period, but the second defense was a disappointment.

"The starters did a tremendous job, but I was very disappointed in the second group," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "Their reserves certainly out-played ours."

Burke singled out Jim Hutchinson, Mike Panaro, Steve Lee, Mike Cullen, Neal Fisher, Bob Pound, Bill Gray, Paul Ciarella and Dave DiCarlo, in addition to Burke, Stevens and Linnehan, for their work on the offense.

On defense Raymer had good words for Steve Howley, Bill Bradley, playing as a linebacker for the first time; Rich Comeau and Bob Leonard, who had pass interceptions; Jerry Connolly, Panaro, Fisher, Jim Kelly, Mike Ellis, Mike Hutchings, Mike Pimental and Pat McDonough.

Bob O'Brien punted well for the Raiders and Bradley, who kicked three out of four extra points, kicked off strongly with his kickoffs going into the end zone, preventing any runbacks.

Linnehan scored the first touchdown from 13 yards out on a pitchout from Burke, Bradley's kick failed.

Later in the first period Burke threw a short pass for three yards to Linnehan to make it 12-0 and Bradley kicked the point. Leonard's interception set up this score.

In the second period Stevens went seven yards and Bradley kicked the point, and in the third quarter Stevens added the final touchdown on a nine-yard run. Bradley again adding the point. From then on the starters watched from the sidelines.

Weymouth came alive in the final quarter as Joe Ganley scored on a 14-yard run, Mike Brown passed to Dan Needham for the second touchdown and Brown rushed for the points, and Brown passed to George Zmuden for the final score and a pass to Needham added the points.

North gained 120 yards on the ground, with Stevens picking up 60, Linnehan ran for 34 in addition to running back a kickoff 50 yards.

Apaches Scuttle Sailors, 30-12

The North Quincy Apaches remained in first place in the Youth Football League Sunday with a 30-12 victory over the Squantum Sailors, improving their record to 5-0.

With quarterback Mike Peters injured, Mike Carnevale stepped in and did an excellent job of leading his team to a big win.

Mike Kubera scored the first touchdown after he and Jim Milano had consecutive runs of 20 and 35 yards. Milano added the extra points.

The first quarter was filled with some spectacular defensive plays by Pete Furtado, Sean Toland, John Ainsley, Paul Moody, Jim Mulvey, Gary McNamara, John McCarthy and Milano.

The Apaches took over on the Sailors' 11 in the second period, Kubera and McNamara moved to the three from where Milano scored and also added his second two-point conversion.

The Apaches held and the Sailors punted to George Hartford on the Squantum 41. Milano carried for 26 yards and Kubera went the final 15 for the touchdown.

The Apaches' junior varsity went in late in the second period and Matt Norton, Tom Walsh and Larry Taglieri played some good defense, but Eric Giordano went in for the Sailors' first touchdown.

The third period featured some fine ball handling by Kubera, Milano, Furtado and Morris. Carnevale threw a pass to Toland for 14 yards and the fourth Apache score and Furtado added the final two points.

The jayvees of both teams played the final period and the Sailors' Tom McDonough scored his team's final TD on a bootleg play. Matt McNamara, Scott Sacchetti, Mike Dever, Moody, Norton and Mulvey all played well for the Apaches.

Sterling Wins 5th Straight A-N Blanks Point

By PETE ZOIA

Sterling's ninth grade football team stayed unbeaten and in first place in the Junior High League, while Atlantic-North stayed close behind with one loss.

Atlantic-North defeated Point, 18-0, with all the scoring coming in the first half.

Joe Bangs of North ran for 27 yards to the Point's 37 and Steve Kelly raced the rest of the way for the first touchdown in the opening quarter. Later in the period Dave Gaines intercepted a pass on Point's 19, a Dave Zuroms to Gerry Coughlin pass went to the one and Bill Doherty scored to make it 12-0.

In the second period a Point gamble on fourth down failed and North took over on the Point 20 from where Bangs danced through the Point defense to score.

Point spurred with Al Freeman doing some fine running but a Bill Heffernan interception halted a drive late in the third period.

Coach Walter McCarthy used his reserves in the last period and Point took advantage and played a strong period.

Coach Hank Conroy's Broad Meadows team broke into the win column with a 6-0 victory over Mike Casali's Central eleven. The teams had tied in their first meeting.

BM scored in the third period, starting from its 43. Paul Miller started the drive off with a 24-yard run to Central's 33. Mike Powell, Miller and Joe Conti took turns to the one and Miller scored.

Central put on a spurt of its own during the fourth period, but a fumble ended a threat on BM's 30.

Coach John Gostainian's powerful Sterling team improved its record to 5-0 with a 26-6 romp over Point.

Gerry Frazier recovered a fumble on Point's 24, Darren Tucker went to the six and Frazier scored. Quarterback Mike Dracchio rushed for the two points.

Point refused to punt in its own territory and gave the ball up on its 28. Tucker went for 13 yards, Frazier added eight and Tucker scored from the seven.

Point's undermanned squad refused to give up and Kevin Salmon raced 52 yards for his team's touchdown. Coach Lou Keough's club not only was undermanned but outweighed.

Sterling added two more touchdowns, Dracchio passing to Tucker for 59 yards for one and Brian Mahon scoring the other in a 10-yard run.

Sterling's eighth grade team defeated Coach Gene Ferris' Point team, which also is undermanned and undermanned, 14-0. Point held Sterling on the one-foot line, led by Kevin Jolley's defensive play.

However, Sterling scored two points a minute later when it tackled Point's quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Don Parry passed 16 yards to Frank Derbes to Point's 18, then hit Sean Joyce with a scoring pass to make it 8-0.

Parry intercepted a pass and ran it back 55 yards for the final touchdown.

Central's eighth graders topped Broad Meadows, 6-0, with Pat O'Sullivan pass to Dave Tapper for five yards and the only score.

Broad Meadows' John Picarski threw Central backs for several losses and Bob Hunter and Frank Freedman also played well on defense. For Central Frank Nolan set up the touchdown with an 18-yard run and also intercepted a pass.

BM had a golden opportunity in the final quarter as a high pass from center on a punting situation gave it the ball on Central's 22. However, the quarterback was sacked, ending the threat.

The Atlantic eighth grade team took advantage of Point's errors to roll to a 32-0 victory.

Atlantic got a break early as a bad pass from center gave it the ball on Point's 25 and Leo LeMay went all the way on the first play. Bob Bradley added the two-point conversion.

In the second period Jim Cochrane pounced on a fumble to set up another TD on the Point 29. Ted Schoronis passed to LeMay for the score and Greg McGlame added the points. Another fumble recovery by Atlantic's Chris Connolly gave it the ball on Point's 18 and Schoronis passed to McGlame for the touchdown.

An electrifying 68-yard kickoff return by Bradley started the third period and gave Atlantic another touchdown and Ronnie Bowles added the points.

Point's John Penellatore intercepted a pass on his 19 and, led by the hard running of Bob Fitzgerald, Point reached Atlantic's 38 but, with time running out, three passes failed.

Mite As Win

Quincy's Mite A hockey team opened its season with a 6-1 victory over Brockton.

Timmy Collins and Steve Carroll scored two goals each and Tony Spinelli and Joe Zona one apiece. Spinelli had two assists and Collins one.

Quincy Upsets North, 1-0

The Quincy boys' soccer team has had its troubles this year but last week made up for a winless first half of the season with a 1-0 upset win over North Quincy, which earlier had defeated the Presidents, 3-1. It was the first win for new coach Bob Jack, whose team is 1-7-2 overall but 1-0-1 in the second half of the schedule. The loss dropped the Raiders to 3-4-3.

"You couldn't ask for a better game, although it got a bit rough at the end," said a happy Jack. "Our passing was getting there - don't you think? They were moving the ball nicely."

"Interest has been low at Quincy in soccer and we have been working hard on fundamentals all season long. Our team has been showing steady improvement and the boys were just great against North Quincy."

The only score came in the third period when Andy Eames fed a cross pass to Carl Lockhart, who slid the ball to junior Steve Thurston, who scored.

Jack made one strategic move in recent games, dropping a fourth fullback to the defensive line. "The four backs with three midfielders and three forwards has given us a wider defensive scope," Jack said.

Quincy's fullbacks, Jim Happpie, Pat Ward, Pat Papile and Dave Church, were instrumental in the big victory. Jim Norton also played an excellent game.

North had a huge shot advantage, 20-7, but Quincy goalie Jeff Morrison was outstanding.

North coach Paul Bregoli, who earlier had called this his best team in four years, was far from happy. "This was the worst game we've played all year," he said. "We didn't even play soccer. We played kick and run and we let our emotions get away from us. Our problem has been putting the ball in the net. We had our chances but couldn't capitalize."

In its next game Quincy played to a scoreless tie with Newton North, one of the top teams in the Suburban League, as Morrison turned in another outstanding performance in goal.

Quincy hosts Weymouth North Friday at the stadium soccer field and North will play at Brockton. Next Tuesday it will be Quincy at Cambridge and Weymouth North at North Quincy. All games at 3:30.

St. John's Registration Sunday

Sunday will be the final day of registration for St. John's boys and girls' basketball teams. Registration will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the rectory hall.

All boys and girls 8 to 17 years of age are eligible.

North Girl Swimmers Defeat Cambridge Rindge

North Quincy girls' swimming coach Bill Walker is doing double duty this season, also handling the Quincy girls' team and last week he finally got his first win of the season as the North girls defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 103-62.

The Raiderettes had lost their first three meets and Quincy had lost three in a row against more experienced opponents, but Walker has been pleased with several outstanding individual performances.

In the victory over Cambridge Susan Quintiliani won both the 200-yard medley relay and the 100-yard butterfly. Joanne Burke won the 200-yard freestyle and Georgia Traficante won both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles.

North had previously lost to Newton North, 111-60, was edged by Stoughton 85-81, and bowed to Canton, 105-69.

Against Newton North swept the 50 freestyle with Georgia Traficante winning in 30.37, closely followed by Lynne Byron and Yvonne Boness. Traficante also won the 100 freestyle in 1:08.8. In the one meter diving North's Sheila Quintiliani won with 156.9 points.

Newton won the 200 medley relay in 2:13.95, but the Raiderettes' team of Cathie Burke, Laura Mullin, Susan Quintiliani and Traficante was a close second in 2:31.203. North's 400 free relay team of Yvonne Boness, Lynne Byron, Cindy Rogers and Burke placed second in 5:18.6.

In the Stoughton meet Susan Quintiliani took first in the 200-yard individual medley. Sheila Quintiliani won the diving and Heather Dargin won the 500 freestyle.

"I am looking forward to watching this team grow. We are a young team, made up of 10 freshmen, sixteen sophomores and only seven returning juniors and seniors," said Walker.

The captains are Susan Quintiliani, Cathie Burke and Marjorie Bartolotto. Other veterans are Mullin, Byron, Boness, Martha Donaghue, Sheila Quintiliani, Rogers, Pam McIntire, Julie Clark, Laura Coughlin and Ann Woodman. Newcomers are: Kim Marshall, Mary Lou McGitte, Christine Donovan, Susan McGrail, Marie Elena Dawson, Kristen Dever, Linda Feeney, Jean Boudreau, Heather Dargin, Kelly Coutts, Traficante, Kristine Howard, Susan Ward, Nancy Johnston, Lisa Rodophele, Donna Stein, Joanna Burke, Wendy Adams, Danette Cahill, Mary Ellen Conlon and Joanne Linnahan.

The Quincy girls dropped a 97-64 decision to Stoughton despite some excellent individual performances by the First Ladies.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Kathy Reddish, Kathy Doherty, Mary Kussman and Karen Dami finished just eight seconds behind Stoughton for a strong second place finish at 2:38.73. Quincy's Mary Kussman won the 200 individual medley in 3:08.12 with teammate Susan Wright placing third in 3:14.12. Kathy Reddish and Tracy Bersani swept the one meter diving with 106.4 and 99.7 points respectively. Kussman and Wright took 1-2 in the 100 butterfly in 1:24.78 and 1:34.1 respectively.

"The Quincy girls have a strong group of individual competitors, but the lack of depth is going to hurt us," Walker said. "There are only 18 girls out for the team and we need more to grab those important second and third place points."

A Dream Comes True

Montclair Woman Wins First Prize In Art Exhibit

Eleanor Tupper of Montclair has always dreamed of attending art school.

And now, after raising her family, she's not only living that dream, but beginning to win prizes for her art work.

A Quincy native, she was awarded first prize in a "Kites, Banners and Things That Fly" exhibit held in September by the Westport Weston Arts Council, Conn.

Her winning entry, which earned her a cash award, was a banner of parachute nylon in bright orange, green and gold colors.

Termed "impressive" by one of the judges, the banner measured about 20 by 16 feet and was a half scale model of part of her proposal for the opening of the West Wing at the Museum of Fine Arts.

Though she was surprised and thrilled to win first prize, "it's not the winning, it's the doing that's fun," says Mrs. Tupper.

"I've waited 30 years to meet these people (in the art world)," says Mrs. Tupper who enrolled over three years ago in Boston's Museum of Fine Arts School which she considers, "one of the best art schools in the country".

She has taken classes in such mediums as printmaking, dyeing, sculpture, stained glass, oils, environmental art, quilting and watercolors.

"I've found things I never touched before," enthuses Mrs. Tupper who has received a full 15 points from each of her review boards at school.

She has also shown work in shows at the MFA, Milton Academy and South Shore Art Center, Cohasset.

"This is the only time I have, and I want to try everything," says Mrs.

MRS. ELEANOR TUPPER of Montclair recently won first prize in a "Kites, Banners and Things That Fly" exhibit held by the Westport Weston arts Council, Conn. Her prize winning banner, in orange, green and gold, measured 20 x 16 feet.

Tupper who, with her husband Paul, a former police officer, raised two, now married daughters, Janice, who lives in Rockland, and Susan, a Brockton resident.

While her daughters were growing up, art and creativity were just hobbies.

She did pastels of children, made clothes, and "if something needed to be done, and we couldn't afford it, I made it," she says.

She also worked full time. "I tolerated work," says Mrs. Tupper, "this (art) was what I really wanted to do."

When she, as well as her husband, retired from the business world a few years ago, Mrs. Tupper decided it was "my time".

She considers art "my life now, outside of my family."

The grandmother of four seems to hold no regrets for her delayed entry into the art world, and says that each time in her life has seemed like the best time.

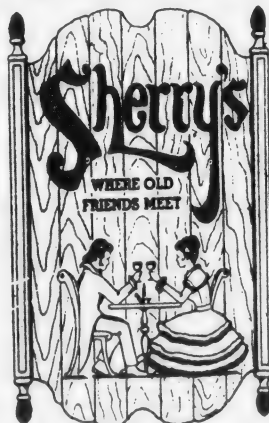

She plans to continue her art education after she earns her degree, hopefully in June. Ceramics is something that interests her, she says.

Mrs. Tupper has received a lot of encouragement from her family, especially from her sons-in-law, Fran and Dennis.

And she encourages others to pursue their interests and talents.

"You have a right to be you," she says simply.

Christmas Festival Parade Seen 'Outstanding Extravaganza'

"We think we have the makings of an outstanding extravaganza," says George F. White, general chairman of the 30th annual Quincy Christmas Festival Parade which will take place in six weeks.

White based his expectations on the response "from organizations locally and throughout the state".

According to David Keefe, float committee chairman, "as of today (Oct. 19), we are way ahead of last year and expect an influx of more floats.

"To date, there are 20 in the non-commercial category, five commercial entries and the like-number in the specialty category."

Co-chairmen of the float committee are Mrs. Gloria Noble and Mrs. Frances Flynn.

Saturday, Oct. 31, is the cutoff date for entries of floats in the parade which is expected to draw a crowd of close to 300,000 people.

Organizations wishing to participate in the parade can call Keefe at 328-8399, or Mrs. Flynn at 479-4515.

A meeting of the full committee is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Civil Defense Headquarters, 55 Sea St., Quincy.

60% Voter Turnout Seen Close Fights For Mayor, City Council At-Large

A close fight for mayor; a five candidate free-for-all for the City Council at large; and the prospect of four (not three) winners in the race for School Committee.

They all add up to a good turnout of voters at the city election Tuesday.

City Clerk John Gillis figures about 60 per cent of the city's 48,511 registered voters will show up at the polls to elect a brand new mayor and either continue or write finish to the longest career on the City Council in Quincy's history.

Councillors Francis X. McCauley and Daniel G. Raymondi, who have opposed each other on many issues across the Council table for the past four years, will be seeking to succeed the retiring Arthur H. Tobin in the mayor's office.

The race for the three at-large seats on the Council is spiced by the fact that John J. Quinn, whose 24 years on the Council is an all time record, has to overcome a fifth place finish in the preliminary in his bid for a 13th term.

And, if School Committee-woman Patricia M. Toland wins an at large seat on the Council it means a replacement will have to be chosen by the School Committee and the Council later on. The fourth finisher in the election would be a likely candidate.

Gillis said he expects the 60 per cent voter turnout because of the close mayor's fight plus the great interest in the at large Council contest.

"In the past," he said, "Quincy has always voted heavy when there is a good mayor's fight. I would compare it to the Tobin-LaRaia fight four years ago but we have no ward battles to bring out a record number."

Four years ago, when Tobin ousted Joseph J. LaRaia from the mayor's chair, 66.8 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls and two years prior to that the turnout was 71.3 per cent for the La-Raia - Walter J. Hannon contest.

The modern record for a turnout in Quincy was in 1959 when 75.5 per cent cast ballots for either Amelio Della Chiesa or James R. McIntyre.

Although each has tried to play down the association, Raymondi and McCauley draw their main support from the two factions that have been fighting each other for the past decade in Quincy.

Raymondi, just turned 34 and a lawyer, has the backing of many members of the Tobin administration, while McCauley, who is 51 and recently retired as a bank president, has the support of former Mayor LaRaia and Sen. Paul D. Harold, leaders of the anti-Tobin faction.

Raymondi, a former captain of the Quincy High School football team, won his first election to the School Committee at the age of 24 while a student at Boston College Law School. He was elected to the City Council from Ward 2 in 1975 and has never lost an election.

McCauley started his political career with a loss for the Council in 1959. Since then he has won four terms on the Council, two from Ward 1 and two at large, and two terms on the School Committee, one of which he failed to complete.

Raymondi is a Democrat and McCauley a Republican but city elections are fought on a non-

'Great Day For City' State Education Dept. To Move Here

By TOM HENSHAW

Final approval has been given for the State Department of Education to move into the new Quincy Center Plaza in downtown Quincy, announces Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

All that remains to be done, said Tobin, is the execution of a lease which should be accomplished in a week to 10 days.

The Education Department, which employs some 400 to 500 people in its headquarters, will occupy 70,500 square feet of office space on the first four floors of the 10-story building.

Floors five through 10 will be taken by the headquarters of the Stop and Shop Co. when the building is ready for occupancy sometime in the spring.

The last state approval, that of Charles Buffone, superintendent of buildings, was signed off Monday.

"This is a great day for the city," said Tobin. "It is quite an accomplishment to have a new 10-story building fully occupied even before it is finished."

"It means that we can now go ahead with additional development in downtown Quincy."

Bernard Reisberg, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, called it the "beginning of the new Quincy Square."

"This is an about face from the stand still that Quincy Center has been in for so long," he said.

"Great things will be happening in downtown Quincy. Every business will prosper."

"When the building is occupied there will be 800 to 1,000 people working in it, many of whom will be shopping in the downtown area. It's got to be great for the entire city."

Charles Pearce, president of Progress Downtown Quincy, called it "another positive development for the bright future that looms ahead for the city."

"The mayor, the members of the City Council and all the others who have had a role in bringing this about have to be commended," he said.

Tobin called it a tribute to the cooperative efforts of just about every official in the city and to Gov. Edward J. King, who gave the top approval at the state level.

He singled out particularly Council President Leo J. Kelly, who escorted the state education people around the building, and Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, chairman of the downtown committee.

"One individual has been overlooked," said Tobin. "When Walter Hannon was planning director it was he who made the initial contact with the Stop and Shop people."

Brownell Asks QSD Safety Study

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has renewed his request for the MDC to move quickly on an engineering study for Quincy Shore Drive, after an accident in which a car hit a tree near Samoset Ave. near a school crossing.

Despite increased enforcement by the MDC, accidents continue to occur at an alarming rate," he said. "The MDC must take positive steps to modify driver behavior on this hazardous roadway."

"The simple fact of the matter is that an engineering study, which includes high curbing and roadway narrowing as studied alternatives, is the only long-term solution. Failure to conduct this study is an abdication of responsibility."

Brownell has legislation on file to mandate a traffic study of Quincy Shore Drive by the MDC if that agency fails to do so voluntarily. The legislation is awaiting action in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Residents Urged To Bag Raked Leaves

The Public Works Department urges residents to bag their own leaves and set the bags at curbside for regular disposal pick-up provided by city contract.

In the past, says James J. Ricciuti, public works commissioner, residents have raked their yard leaves on to sidewalks and street gutter lines.

Raking leaves on to the streets is hazardous to the motorist, pedestrian and children, according to Ricciuti.

Leaves on streets generated by the sidewalk plantings will be swept up in the normal street clean-ups.

A reduced work force in the Highway Division, coupled with budgetary cutbacks, make it difficult for the Public Works Department to perform services provided in the past, added Ricciuti.

900-1000 Student Drop Per Year

Birth Rate Up But Enrollment To Continue Decline

By KATHY DOLBEC

Despite the fact that the number of births in Quincy has started to turn slightly upward it is likely that the student population will continue to decrease at a rate of 900 to 1,000 students per year, according to Secondary Education Director Arthur S. Woodward.

"We should bottom out at about 10,000 students," he said. The current capacity of the school system, though, is 14,775.

"The fact is we will have three to four thousand fewer students four to five years from now," said Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon. "And we don't need the number of schools we have now."

In light of that information committee members agreed to the necessity of setting aside a date to discuss a systemwide reorganization.

After a brief discussion, Creedon agreed to update reorganization materials presented to the committee in previous years for a Nov. 18 meeting.

Among those previously proposed plans are several phases which have already been partially implemented.

One, designed to save $7.2 million, called for the closing of five schools, the Adams, Beechwood Knoll, Gridley Bryant, and the Cranch school. Of those, only the fifth, the Pollard remains open.

Another, more severe plan, proposed the closing of 14 elementary schools, out of the 26 that remained open at that time. That plan if followed could have saved $8.4 million.

Other alternative reorganization plans included the transfer of ninth graders to the high school, and sixth graders to the junior high school, to compensate for the enrollment decline.

If in fact, those transitions did occur, it might be possible for additional elementary schools and junior high schools to close their doors.

The possibility of a 4-4-4 grade reorganization into a middle school system was also proposed, as well as an expanded grammar school reorganization that would include a K-7 or K-8 elementary school.

In addition, the possibility of placing all the kindergarten students in the city at the Pollard School was also offered as one reorganization option.

Committee members, aware of parent concern over any possible reorganization, agreed to attend a Nov. 9 meeting of the Citywide Parents Advisory Council. In turn, members urged parents to attend their meeting on Nov. 18.

'A Man Of Simple Sincerity'

Capt. McIntyre Hailed At Mall Dedication

The late Police Capt. William F. McIntyre was eulogized Sunday as a man of "simple sincerity ... courage, tolerance, hard work, generosity and caring ... who inspired the best out of people."

The eulogies were delivered at the dedication of the small park by City Hall and the MBTA station to the memory of Capt. McIntyre, a Quincy police officer for 40 years until his death in 1964.

The land now occupied by the mall was part of Capt. McIntyre's beat when he was a young patrolman a half century ago.

George Riley, the insurance man whose father, Edward, was a fellow officer of Capt. McIntyre, noted that he was a man who finished grade school and went to work to support his widowed mother and family.

"He became the new head of the household," he said. "He joined the Quincy Police Department in the early 1920s. He raised his own family during the depression years."

"He inspired the best out of people. People looked up to him and he never looked down at people. He was respected by young and old, rich and poor."

His daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hunt, recalled her father as "an unforgettable person, who through some special quality in his approach to life has inspired the lives of others." "He exemplified the best in our fallible race by exercising the many traits that give an extra dimension to life -- courage, tolerance, hard work, generosity, humor and most of all caring," she said.

His son, former Mayor James R. McIntyre, and present Senate Counsel, said that two words sum up his father's life -- "simple sincerity."

"Simple sincerity in the love for his country and city," he said. "Simple sincerity in the love for his family. Simple sincerity in the love for his fellow man."

"The greatest asset I have he gave to me -- a good name."

Former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, who was first elected to the City Council in 1924, the year Capt. McIntyre was appointed to the police force, gave his reflections on his old friend.

Burgin recalled meeting Capt. McIntyre in Angelo's Barber Shop when he was mayor and McIntyre was a sergeant.

"He said, 'Mayor, I really envy you very much in being mayor of this city. I have a son, Jim, who is around 5 years old. I only hope that someday he may be mayor.' I said, 'Who knows, someday he may be.' It's a shame that Bill McIntyre didn't live to see his son become mayor."

On hand for the dedication were the eight McIntyre grandchildren, Paul, Patricia, Mary and William Hunt, and Elizabeth, William, Charles and Sheila McIntyre.

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Barbara Hunt and Mrs. Sheila McIntyre by Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, a longtime friend of the family.

The McIntyre family unveiled the plaque which said:

"Born of immigrant parents, true to his oath, fair and forgiving, here he walked to protect Quincy's citizens and so Quincy dedicates this place as Capt. William R. McIntyre Mall on Oct. 25, 1981."

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin was master of ceremonies.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James

J. Scally of St. Ann's Church gave the invocation; Rev. Peter V. Corea of Houghs Neck Congregational Church the dedication prayer; and Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue the benediction.

The 215th Army National Guard Band, under CWO John Yunits, played the National Anthem and "God Bless America".

Democrat Criticizes Harold For McCauley Endorsement

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a long time Registered Quincy Democrat I wish to express my strong displeasure and disgust with our Democratic State Senator Paul D. Harold in his endorsement of Republican Frank McCauley in the latter's bid to become Quincy's Mayor.

Mr. Harold endorsed McCauley in a large political ad in the Patriot Ledger on Friday Oct. 23, 1981, in my opinion he is a disgrace to the Democratic Party.

Further, on Sat. Oct. 24, 1981 he criticized the chairman of the Quincy Democratic Committee for sending letters to Quincy democrats, which, as a democrat I found straightforward and informative. By what right does this pseudo democrat tell the chairman he can't send me such a letter. As a democratic office holder, he should have been supportive of it.

Mr. Harold in the Saturday Ledger, stated that partisan politics weaken city government. To intimate that there is no party interest in so-called non-partisan city elections is dishonest in my opinion.

The man's arrogance is appalling. The same democrats that elected him to the City Council also sent Mr. Harold to the State House.

A democratic office holder on any level who runs parties for and endorses Republicans running for office on any level, is in my opinion, a hypocrite. If republican philosophies run more parallel to his thinking, he should run as a Republican. Quincy Democrats should remember his actions in this matter.

She Calls For Non-Partisan Election

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I had always heard of the belief in divine revelation in Quincy politics, but finally found evidence in the form of a letter from Daniel Raymond sponsored by Dennis Ryan. This message from the grave is an attempt by an admitted (to this author), Reagan Democrat to re-establish partisan politics in a non-partisan election, which, in essence, comes down to a blatant form of propagandizing labeling a person as a member of an out group to rally support for the one candidate by degrading the other.

If we are going to resort to labels in this election, then it should be pointed out that Raymond is a member of a group as well, that group being a political machine that has ruled this city for many years, a group which I would term the Hazard County Toadies. These politicians have long served the whims of Boss Hogg, who now must feel very threatened of losing political privilege.

This must be the case for Raymond to have said in this letter that he will be a full time mayor when he has continuously stated that he would keep his private law practice as well as fulfill the duties of mayor, something that borders on conflict of interest.

It must also be the case when it is implied that "banker" is a dishonorable profession much as "lawyer" is considered dishonorable. One thing is certain, this is an important election for the city of Quincy and we should all get out and vote for the best people for each office, without concern for political affiliation, in the spirit of a non-partisan election.

'Creeping Republicanism'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It seems that the disease of creeping Republicanism has spread from a national to a local level with the recent endorsement of Francis X. McCauley by our Democratic senator, Paul Harold.

As a concerned Democrat, I feel as if I should speak out and voice my disapproval of this event and ask that all registered Democrats in the city of Quincy step forward and voice their disapproval also.

Partisan Or Non-Partisan?

Until a few days ago, this year's mayoral race looked more like the "Great Waltz".

But as the campaign enters the homestretch, it is heating up. So are some people.

Daniel Raymond apparently would like to make next week's city election a partisan one despite the fact it's supposed to be non-partisan.

A letter by him to registered Democrats is a partisan appeal to back him over Francis McCauley, a Republican.

It has helped stir the political pot which has been on a low burner for most of the campaign.

So has State Senator Paul Harold's endorsement of McCauley. And, his hosting a political rally for him. Harold, of course, is a Democrat.

The big question: who will be helped (or hurt) the most by the two developments?

It is unlikely that too many registered Democrats will be offended by the Raymond letter. Although some, no doubt, would like to keep Quincy's election on a non-partisan level although it truly never is.

The letter, observers, feel will help Raymond pick up Democratic votes in the northern end of the city where some think the election could be decided and where, there has been a great influx of Democrats from South Boston and Dorchester. Some of them—if they didn't already know—will now have the message that Raymond is a Democrat and McCauley a Republican.

But, some observers feel, it could boomerang on Raymond among voters still undecided and especially among Independents.

The undecided who strongly believe in non-partisan municipal elections may swing to McCauley as a result. Most independents believe in non-partisan elections.

Meanwhile, some Democrats aren't too happy over Harold's heavy endorsement of McCauley. They say he's a state senator and shouldn't even be involved in a municipal election. Let alone be endorsing a Republican whether it's a partisan or non-partisan election.

Others argue that it is a non-partisan election—or is supposed to be—and thus a Democrat has all the right in the world to endorse a Republican. Or vice versa. It's been done before.

If some of the Democrats who don't like the Harold endorsement are among the undecided, they may swing to Raymond. And, some other Democrats who may have been thinking McCauley might go over to Raymond. Or, so some of the so-called experts think.

RAYMONDI

McCAULEY

GILLIS

McINTYRE

Not as good, either, as 1977 when Arthur Tobin ousted Joseph LaRaia with a 66.8 per cent turnout. And, 1975 when 71.3 per cent went to the polls for the LaRaia-Walter Hannon match which LaRaia won on a stormy recount.

You might be interested in the breakdown of the 48,511 registered voters: 30,247 are Democrats, 7,136 Republicans and 11,128 Independents.

Democrats outnumber Republicans by a whopping 23,111 and Independents by 19,119. Democrats even outnumber combined Republicans and Independents by 11,983.

And how about this little tidbit: Quincy has more women voters (27,487) than men—21,024. The hand that rocks the cradle now has a firm (6,463 margin) grip on the ballot box.

We're not going to try to tell you how to vote. But we do urge you to go to exercise that cherished right.

Frankly, we would like to see the election remain non-partisan. If you think Raymond will make a better mayor vote for him. If you think McCauley is the better man, vote for him.

Vote the candidate—not the label.

Few Disagreements But:

No Sparks At McCauley-Raymondi Debate

By TOM HENSHAW

Daniel G. Raymondi and Francis X. McCauley, the rival candidates for mayor, met in face-to-face debate Monday night and when it was over they shook hands, smiled, and chatted amiably for a while.

The debate was like that, too.

The disagreements were few and when they occurred there were no sparks flying, only a quiet explanation that made the differences seem not very serious at all.

Both agreed that Proposition 2½ is here to stay and that the best things for the next mayor of Quincy to do is learn to live with it and try a few creative things to make it work.

Both agreed that the School Department, which faces another awesome cut in budget next year, should be reorganized immediately and one of the choice areas for cutting is on the administration level.

Both agreed that parking meters in downtown Quincy should be a thing of the past and both favored some other method of controlling parking and a crackdown on illegal parkers.

Both are opposed to the Crosstown Connector and both see the future of Quincy Center as specialty shops with office buildings and apartment houses to feed shoppers into them.

RAYMONDI - The issues that I feel perhaps we will begin talking about this evening are those of downtown revitalization, of renewing the retail area that we once knew back in the 1950s and the 1960s in downtown Quincy. We also have the economic issues of the day, the resolution of the Proposition 2½ mandate, the treatment of the tax structure and the budget process in the city as one of being equitable and fair and implementing Proposition 2½ fairly, controlling city spending, taxes, those are the key and important issues that most of the people that I've talked to across the city are very much concerned about. And as we begin the debate and the issues and the answers I'm sure you're going to find that an awful lot of the difference between my opponent and myself lies basically in those particular issues.

Condominium conversion is something that I feel very, very strongly about. We've told stories many times about the impact that it has on people on fixed income who are moving into apartments. I support a very strong and a very firm condominium conversion ordinance, one that has a vacancy factor in order to protect those people who can least afford to be displaced at that particular time of their life.

But I think what I'm really saying is that the city needs firm and strong leadership at this particular time. We need leadership on the School Committee. We need leadership on the city side of government to make sure that the budget process is handled fairly, that the equities of returns coming in from both the state and federal governments are handled fairly and that there is equal treatment across the board with the resolution of our serious, serious problems. And if that firm leadership and that firm direction and that even and firm hand at the wheel that I feel I can best give to the office of chief executive both on the city side of government and on the School Committee.

McCAULEY - I think the overriding issue in this campaign is who is best qualified to lead the city of Quincy into the 1980s. The problems facing us are basically financial problems.

The city's credit rating has gone from a very respectable double A to a BAA, the lowest in the state. During the time I served as councillor at large I've articulated the problems facing the city in this area. I've offered specific solutions. But the present administration was not listening. So we have some serious financial problems facing this city in the years ahead. Let me deal with some specific issues.

Economic development. I've always been a strong supporter of economic development, not only in the downtown section but throughout Quincy. In the past four years I have supported every urban development action grant that has been presented to the City Council to help development. Development is important. It provides temporary jobs while construction is going on; it provides permanent jobs when the construction is done; and it broadens the tax base in the city of Quincy. As mayor of the city I hope to adopt a leadership role in bringing economic development to this city. In the area of marketing we may be a little late. We have to properly market the good qualities that we have in the city of Quincy.

Education. The next mayor of Quincy by virtue of his office will be the chairman of the School Committee. The next mayor has got to be working on a plan of reorganization of the school system. We have closed eight schools in the last few years. There may be more coming down. When I joined the School Committee in 1971, there were 17,000 students in the system. We are now down to about 11,000. As mayor of this city and as chairman of the School Committee, I plan to work with the newly elected members of the School Committee as well as the city wide parent teacher organization to implement a plan of reorganization so that the difficult task of declining enrollment is met in the 1980s.

Proposition 2½. Proposition 2½ is something you can't blame on the politicians. The voters of this city and the state implemented it at the ballot box. It presents a challenge to the next mayor of Quincy to operate this government in a more efficient manner so that the basic city services of police, fire and education are met. As your mayor, I will be doing a number of things. I will be looking for the consolidation of departments to increase efficiency in government. I'm hopeful to establish a task force of business and professional leaders in this city who will lend their time to a reorganization of city departments. This type of task force has worked well in cities throughout this country.

The next mayor will be faced with implementing revaluation since the new valuations and the tax rate will not be set until after Jan. 1. As the mayor of this city I'm going to be working closely with the board of assessors to see that those values are properly implemented.

Questions asked the two candidates included:

QUESTION - What would your specific plan be regarding the Crosstown Connector?

RAYMONDI - No mention of the Crosstown Connector can be considered without someone's ideas on the Upland Rd. Extension. About 10 years ago the Upland Rd. Extension was an extremely controversial roadway and I've been supportive of this roadway for a good many years now. There has been a metamorphosis from Upland Rd. being somewhat controversial to now it's being recognized as the savior of downtown Quincy. That is the roadway that will open up access from the Expressway right into downtown Quincy. The Crosstown Connector has been in the design stage for approximately three years. That was a roadway that remains an extremely controversial one. It's a roadway that three years ago I could not support and I still cannot support the construction of the East-West Connector or the Crosstown Connector. Due to its destructive nature of 10 or 12 businesses in downtown Quincy, it's potential of closing off Hancock St. for a period of time, the inability of all of the downtown merchants to successfully compete in an environment where two major roadways are being constructed at the same time, coupled with the fact that the only purpose of the Crosstown Connector was to feed into a proposed mall in the John Hancock Parking Area and now that mall concept has been placed on the back burner.

In a sense it becomes a roadway to nowhere. I firmly support the idea that the merchants ought to have a firm and accurate say into what is happening with respect to the downtown area. And I support the concept that if the city could come up with substantial commitments for developers to invest into the John Hancock Parking Area then I think an awful lot of viewpoints would change with respect to the Crosstown connector. But as it stands, the roadway would just lead into an empty parking area. We have a lot of concern for the downtown area of Quincy, making sure that what we do is productive and not destructive.

McCAULEY - I've also supported the Burgin Parkway Extension. This is a very important road. What it will do is finish the parallel road network to Hancock St. that starts down at the Neponset Bridge and goes along Newport Ave. Extension through to the old Upland Rd., the present Burgin Parkway. This is most important because it will take the curse off Hancock St. We see an increasing amount of traffic winding its way through Quincy, much of it not stopping. That road is important and I have supported it and will continue to support it. I have also opposed the so-called Crosstown Connector. It will take some two years to build. It's going to cost $14 million. It's going to disrupt or eliminate some 10 or 12 businesses. It's going to destroy a half million dollars worth of taxable property and when you get to the end of that road the promised development that was scheduled for the Hancock Parking Area is no longer on the drawing board. I in good conscience could not support that connector.

QUESTION - Is Proposition 2½ a good law or a bad law. If it is a bad law, would you use the authority of the office of the mayor to repeal it?

RAYMONDI - The answer is that Proposition 2½ is the law of the land and in my judgement it is here to stay. The issue that we ought to be confronting is how best to deal with the legal and economic mandate of Proposition 2½. Those are the ideas that I've been strongly urging across this city. The kinds of problems that we have with our limited ability to raise money with the property tax is extremely enunciated with respect to also bringing in additional revenue into the city coffers.

Since 1964, we have personal property tax delinquents who owe this city in excess of $2.4 million. We have real estate property tax delinquents that owe this city millions and millions of dollars. We have to begin a very firm program of making sure that those people who owe this city money

Board Continues Danny's Request For Beer, Wine License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The owners of Danny's, 126 Quincy Ave., got plenty of praise at Tuesday's License Board meeting, but they will have to wait two weeks for a decision on the common victualer wine and malt beverage license they requested.

Atty. Charles Humphreys, representing Danny's, said that wine and beer would only be served with food between the hours of noon and 10 p.m.

Humphreys said the owners don't want to change the character of the family style restaurant, or to set up a bar.

The diner's clientele is mainly business men, families, couples, and the elderly, not youths, said Humphreys.

Humphreys said the wine and malt beverages license would help the diner keep costs where they want them to be.

The diner is open 24 hours a day.

six days a week, and until 2 p.m. on Sundays, said Humphrey, who added the wine and beer would not be served on Sunday if the license is granted.

William A. Mather of Quincy Cooperative Bank, which is spending $2 million to construct a new branch across from Danny's, said he was afraid the wine and malt license would not do the area any good, and may hurt it.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh said that Eddie's Diner had been turned down on a similar request, but City Clerk John Gillis pointed out that request had been for a full liquor license.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said that if the board grants the license, it will be a policy making decision which would "throw the door open" to others.

Police Chief Francis Finn said the door has been open since

"we've given beer and wine licenses to similar businesses".

Dr. McKeogh said Danny's was "a good food operation" and Gillis called it "one of the better operations in the city".

When asked by board members, Humphreys said that if the proposed mall were to be constructed on Scammel St., Danny's owners might consider moving the diner back on the property.

"There's no definitive plans for that" said Humphreys.

MacDonald suggested the matter be continued to allow input from Ward 2.

HOW CAN I MAKE THE ROOMS IN MY VERY SMALL HOME APPEAR LARGER?

A.

Paint the walls and ceilings a very light color or use a small foietric print to help "push out" your walls. The installation of a light to medium tone, wall to wall carpet, will unify and expand your visual space. Keeping furnishings and accessories to a minimum will help to achieve a more spacious look.

City's Biggest Headache Unfunded Pension Liabilities $72 Million Problem

City Auditor Charles L. Shea is setting up a series of meetings to discuss one of the city's biggest and unpublicized headaches — the $72 million in unfunded pension liabilities that hangs over the municipal treasury.

Retirement pensions cost the city close to $6 million in fiscal 1981. That's up $1 million from last year. It's expected to rise by $1.5 million in fiscal 1982 when the city draws the public salaries on which pensions are based increase and retired people live a little longer. About 15 years ago, most people died in their 60s. Now they are living into their 70s.

City pays about 90 per cent of pension money from the tax levy and 10 per cent from the income tax.

Quincy faces budget shortfall of $4 million

Patriot Ledger Staff

QUINCY — The city auditor today said the city faces a budget shortfall of more than $4 million this year.

"I don't think we are going to go bankrupt," Charles L. Shea said. "One way or another we'll find a way out. But it really is a to..."

QUINCY — Mayor Arthur H. Tobin threatened to punch it out in the City Hall corridor last night with a man who indicated Tobin was dishonest and called him "ignorant."

Near the end of the public hearing on a proposed cross-town connector, road opponent Tony DiGiacomo of Quincy asked Tobin why the city doesn't hold a referendum on whether the road should be built.

Tobin refused to answer, saying, "I don't answer you, Mr. DiGiacomo, because I don't want to get into a fight with you."

Shea said the city also would attempt to cut expenses to make up the shortfall, but acknowledged most of the money must come from salary-related accounts, which encompass roughly 80 percent of Quincy's expenses.

"You're not going to find that kind of money in expense accounts," Shea said. "We may find a dollar here or a dollar there, but not that much."

Shea cited four accounts where the bulk of the shortfall is expected by June 30, the end of the fiscal year:

- $1.7 million in temporary loan interest costs triggered by the rise in the prime lending rate.

- "Last August, we were borrowing at 3 percent," he said. "Now it's over 14 percent, and that is the reason we get out of 14 banks that are borrowing to pay for a decision to borrow less."

- "The city must also pay interest on the automobile excise tax, part of which is borrowed money."

- "Look in the mirror," DiGiacomo said. "Tobin accused DiGiacomo of disrupting the meeting."

- "You're ignorant, Arthur. You always were, even in school," DiGiacomo added. "Tobin shot back, 'Would you come out in the corridor?'"

- DiGiacomo, 51, who lists himself as a retired sales engineer for Westinghouse, got up, but then sat down. Bystanders calmed him down.

- Only a few weeks ago, three youths aged 15, 16 and 17 were making sure his first shot was a good one. The youths fled when one of them recognized Tobin as the mayor.

- Center Tobin — an ex-Marine — warned one of them that if he was making sure his first shot was a good one. The youths fled when one of them recognized Tobin as the mayor.

- "It's a pity," DiGiacomo said. "Renovation work is who are working, keep watching those..."

City loses appeal in provisional layoffs

Quincy — A few city employees who got the go may get their jobs back by a Norfolk Superior Court decision. The court ruled that the city's appeal of a provision that allows for provisional layoffs was not valid. The court said that the city's decision to lay off employees was not a "bump" in the road, but a "decision" to lay off employees. City pension system may fail: Shea

By RAY McEACHERN
Patriot Ledger Staff Reporter

The city's retirement system is $30 million in pension deficit five years unless auditor Charles L. Shea can get the city to pay more for the system.

The unanimous endorsement of the four-member retirement board Wednesday, signed to provide pensions for career employees, but now it is serving as "probably the best insurance policy in the world." The Quincy retirement system, unlike private industry plans, enables an employee to recover all or part of his investment after just a few years.

Moody's drops city bond rating

Quincy — Moody's Investors Service of New York City has lowered the city's bond rating a notch, making municipal borrowing more costly. Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said yesterday that the city's rating had been lowered from 'A' to 'BAA'. The rating is based on the community's financial health and determines how good a risk it is for lending. Cities with low ratings have difficulty selling bonds and often have to pay higher interest rates.

Needs overhaul

Quincy — The city's pension fund needs an overhaul. The fund is in a bad state and needs to be restructured. The city council is considering a plan to overhaul the fund. The plan would involve a number of changes, including a new contribution rate and a new investment strategy. The city council is expected to vote on the plan in the near future.

Quincy — City officials, who are preparing for the state's approval, will find the state's tax cap law is colorblind to red ink. Mayor Arthur Tobin had been warning of a $20 or more — even before figuring in wages of 5,000 city workers. But the final rate, for experts have already scanned the plan, apparently will be well below that. And, says the mayor, the city will have to live within the tax cap's 4 percent spending limit. The mayor did not say how that would affect the city's budget. The analysis of city income and spending figures for several years, conducted by The Patriot Ledger, has nearly the result of some municipal financial Financial consultant George Kohler of South Shore Bank said the "strong consumer movement may try to turn things around" and support pension changes. In his presentation to the board, Shea also outlined incentive plans that could be developed to support the pension system. "If we don't do something, we're going to have a problem," he said.

Sewer System Problems

Must Be Solved Says Koch

Richard J. Koch Jr., candidate for Councilor at Large, recently spoke of the need to resolve problems with the city's sewer system immediately.

Addressing a neighborhood group at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

David J. Donaghue, 88 Wallace Rd., West Quincy, Koch spoke of the loss of up to $30 million in federal aid to revamp the system because of the failure of city officials to act before the Sept. 30 deadline.

Although some officials shunned the sewer use charge required by the federal government, Koch said the cost to reconstruct the system by local tax dollars would place a costly burden on the local homeowners.

Koch pointed out the need to resolve the problems and not to continue inaction with inflationary escalating costs before accomplishing needed projects.

Koch, said he hoped the application could be reactivated at Congressman Brian Donnelly's office, or new areas of funding found to accomplish the sewer work without high interest municipal loans reflecting on the homeowners through real estate taxes.

He also stressed the need to release closing schools for return to the tax roles with advance consideration for the neighborhoods including the abutting property and homes.

However, he cautioned that abandoned buildings will invite vandalism thus detracting from the surrounding neighboring homes.

Campfire Girls Visit Sun

Eight campfire girls and their leader visited the Quincy Sun recently to see first hand how a newspaper is produced.

Making the tour were: Karen Cavallo, Julie Ann Kelley, Traci Millett, Marcia Zanardelli, Christine Gorman, Nicole Zanardelli, Maria Lotterhand, Julie Curry and their Leader Kathy Zanardelli.

The campfire girls were shown how news stories are written, set in type and placed on a page.

They saw an IBM computer typesetter, two Compugraphic photo typesetters and a new Vartypertypesetter that sets news stories headlines, advertisements, and has a video screen for editing. It is one of the latest typesetters in newspaper production today.

They also saw how a stat camera reduces, enlarges and screens original photographs so they can be used in The Sun.

They were also shown how pages of The Sun are put together for printing.

The campfire girls were presented with copies of the current issue for The Sun at the end of the Tour.

Mental Health Center, it is also to answer complaints about conditions brought to the board's attention by Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

The center is reportedly serving 35 meals two afternoons and two evenings per week, according to MacDonald.

City Clerk John Gillis pointed out that if there is no charge for the meals, the center doesn't have to have a common victualer license.

MacDonald also showed board members pictures of bags of rubbish and dead rats at the back of what he said was the center.

Health Commissioner Dr.

Robert P. McKeogh said his department has had no problem with the center.

Dr. McKeogh also said he has talked with Asst. City Solicitor Lawrence Cowley about the situation and that Cowley indicated, if it came to court, the center would not be required to have a license.

Cited by Dr. McKeogh as some of the reasons the center would not need a c.v. license were that it is not open to the public, preparation of meals is a type of training for the clients, there are special people involved and it is an educational issue.

ABOUT SWEETS

Not all sweets are created equal - some are even worse for our teeth than others. The stickier sweets are more harmful because they remain on the teeth longer and allow the bacteria to work on them longer. That's why caramels and taffy are more of a problem than, say, soda.

There's one important exception to this: anything sweet in a baby's bottle, even the natural lactose of milk. If the bottle is given to the baby at bedtime, the liquid sits in the baby's mouth and bathes the teeth in a sweetened solution for hours - often with painful consequences.

Sticky fruits also create problems, because even natural sugars feed the disease-carrying bacteria. Be sure to rinse or brush after eating them.

Collins Calls For Ninth Grade Graduation Points

At a recent coffee hour, Mary P. Collins, candidate for reelection to the Quincy School Committee, called for ninth grade students to receive graduation points.

"At present, some of our ninth grade students have the distinct feeling that the year doesn't count," said Mrs. Collins, "and that they will be promoted with a dismal record of achievement.

This amounts to a throw-away year in some cases.

"No matter where the ninth graders are housed, whether in a senior high or a junior high, the accumulation of graduation credit for the courses taken should encourage a more serious approach and let our students know that promotion is not automatic, thus encouraging them in another way to become more responsible students."

Stiff New Penalty For Fake ID Cards

Persons who forge, alter or counterfeit firearms identification cards face up to five years in prison and a $500 fine under a new law, Sen. Paul D. Harold warns.

The penalty also applies to using an official validation stamp without authority or attempting to use a bogus card to carry firearms or purchase firearms or ammunition.

Previous law provides penalties for using another person's firearm card or license, but until now included no separate penalty for a forged card.

Harold noted that persons using a false card or license would also be subject to forfeiture of their firearms and ammunition under existing law, and could be charged under the mandatory one-year imprisonment statute as well.

Hot School Lunch Still A Good Buy At 85 Cents

By KATHY DOLBEC

For many in the Quincy schools, 85 cents for a hot lunch is still a good buy as evidenced by the limited participation drop following a recent price hike.

On the elementary level the price increased from 65 cents to 85 cents, but the participation rate only dropped 19 percent. Basil Caloia, lunch program supervisor, told the School Committee last week. At the secondary level, a price increase from 65 cents to 90 cents, brought only a nine percent decrease in participation, he said.

"It gets expensive to give them what they want every week," he said. "But if the government keeps coming up with commodities, we can keep participation up."

Because of recent budget constraints the lunch program was placed on a self-sustaining basis and the annual school budget funding of $265,000 ceased.

Adding to that cut was the recent demise of the federally subsidized milk program. As a result milk prices were doubled to 20 cents, Caloia said.

But Caloia is optimistic about the continued success of the program.

One reason for the popularity of the program is the diversity of luncheon fare offered to the students, he said. On the secondary level, and soon on the junior high level, students are offered submarine sandwiches, as well as other fast-food items.

"This is what they want and a lot of students are buying it," he said. "If we don't offer it then they will go somewhere else."

The schools are mandated by law to provide a Type A school lunch for one full day of school, he explained. And to date he has not been notified of any changes in those requirements despite the budget cuts throughout the state in lunch programs, he said.

A type A lunch he explained consists of one serving of protein, one serving of bread and vegetables, a fruit serving and a half pint of milk.

He said variations on that amount depend on whatever a particular town or city can afford.

Caloia admits one problem is that some of the more popular lunches, like hamburgers and hot dogs are the most expensive to prepare.

"Some lunches cost $1.50 to produce," he said. "And I haven't received any government beef in months, so I just went out and spent $10,000 to buy some."

But Caloia attributes the success of the program to the high quality of the food, the "good cafeteria workers" and the fact that there are more working mothers in this city compared to surrounding towns.

"They just don't have the time to prepare a lunch," he said. "And 85 cents for a hot lunch is a good buy."

'Peerless Granite' Columns To Mark New Bank Door

Two columns of polished "Swingle's Extra Dark or Peerless Granite" will define the main entrance to the Quincy Cooperative Bank's new headquarters on Quincy Ave. as a tribute to the industry that made Quincy great.

The columns once decorated the doorway at 1230 Hancock St., the home of Jonathan S. Swingle, partner in Swingle and Falconer, owners of quarries and granite sheds in West and South Quincy.

John R. Herbert, president of the Quincy Cooperative Bank, rescued them from demolition when the house was torn down in 1979 and planned to use them as entrance decor for the bank's executive offices across the street.

But before that could be accomplished, the bank purchased the former Quincy Motor Co. property at 85 Quincy Ave. and the columns were designed into the remodelled building by architect Joseph A. Donahue.

Swingle purchased the house at 1230 Quincy Ave., known as the Josiah Saville House, in 1909 from future Mayor Joseph L. Whiton and added the dark granite columns to flank the front porch entrance.

The stone undoubtedly came from Swingle's Quarry in West Quincy, the deepest of all the Quincy quarries at 345 feet or about 200 feet below sea level. It was famous for "Swingle's Extra Dark or Peerless Granite."

The family sold the house many years ago and the last in the family line, Jay Sumner Swingle, died in August, 1981, in Florida.

Remodelling of the new headquarters for the Quincy Cooperative Bank are expected to be opened for public use in March.

GRANITE COLUMN, one of two rescued from the demolition of Graniteman Jonathan Swingle's old home, is carried to the new home of the Quincy Cooperative Bank, where they will flank the front door.

(Susan White Photo)

There will be parking for 95 cars outside and three bays for drive-through banking on the north side.

The current headquarters in Quincy Square next to the MBTA station will remain open as the downtown office.

Dan Raymondi doesn't think anyone caught in the condo squeeze should end up here.

Quincy is a city with thousands of apartments.

Big or small, fancy or simple apartments are "home" to many of us. For whatever reason, we opt to rent rather than own.

It's our right.

But is it right for developers to convert our homes to condominiums overnite ... forcing us out onto the street because we don't want to buy. Or can't afford to.

Dan Raymondi doesn't think so.

That's why he voted for a moratorium on condo conversions. And that's why he's fighting for a strong and effective ordinance to protect the rights of people who rent.

Dan has also consistently voted against 100% property revaluation while his opponent Frank McCauley, the banker, was one of the first city councilors to vote for revaluation back in 1965. This would have raised taxes and rents for the past 16 years and jeopardized the exemptions for widows, veterans and the elderly.

Further, Dan Raymondi has always supported elderly housing while Frank McCauley voted against the 276 unit "Oceanview" complex on Bicknell Street at a time when Quincy had little elderly housing at all.

So when you look at both candidates for mayor, think about what they've done.

And you'll know what they'll do.

Student Government Day Elections Tuesday

Elections will be held Tuesday Nov. 3, to select Quincy and North Quincy High School delegates to the 35th annual Student Government Day Program.

The program was established in 1947 by the State Legislature to give secondary school students a chance to learn about state government by participating.

The idea has developed into a six-month program which explores all aspects of state government and includes a one-day "take over" of the state administration by the students.

Any secondary school in Massachusetts is eligible to send one student representative to this program. The student must be 16 on or before May 31.

After the election, the names of the delegates are placed in a glass bowl. Names of their student counterparts will be drawn by the governor, other constitutional officers, and supreme court justices. Another drawing will be held to select governor's councillors, department heads, cabinet secretaries and representatives.

Three series of workshops will be held to educate and inform teachers and student delegates about the legislative process and state government.

The first series will be held in the regional education centers. The second and third workshop series will be held at the State House.

The governor will participate in these workshops along with the constitutional officers, legislators, judicial officials, members of interest and lobbying groups.

Student Government Day will be the first Friday in April. On this day, students will participate in all aspects of the administration of state government in the place where it happens, the State House.

200 Attend Candidates' Night at Furnace Brook

Almost 200 persons attended the recent Candidates' Night at Furnace Brook School.

Janet Poole and Sally Connelley, from the Quincy League of Women Voters, moderated the program.

Mayoral, school committee councillor at large candidates, and the Ward 5 Councillor responded to an educational platform prepared by the Furnace Brook Parent Teacher Council and answered questions from the audience.

Candidates agreed that the event had the largest turnout of any Candidates' Night to that date and commented upon the concern Quincy citizens demonstrate for their schools.

Many expressed their support for the educational platform, and all agreed that a good educational system is vital to Quincy's future.

Some of the issues raised were: maintaining or reducing present class size; an effective discipline policy; increased mayoral participation in school committee meetings and decisions; avoidance of further reductions in teaching staff.

Also long term reorganization of the schools and distribution of any future city budget cuts more evenly throughout all city departments rather than making the school department bear the brunt.

'Trick Or Treat' For Ward 2 Children Saturday

The Ward II Civic Association will sponsor its "Trick or Treat Stop-Out" Saturday, 5 to 7 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse, 16 Nevada Rd.

Children of Ward II are invited to stop by and pick up a specially prepared bag of "goodies".

Parents are asked to note that children will not be allowed to remain at the clubhouse for any length of time, and must depart after receiving their treats.

DELIVERS A MESSAGE TO THE VOTERS OF QUINCY—

• ELECTION DAY IS NEXT TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD, AND YOU WILL BE CHOOSING A NEW ADMINISTRATION AND CITY COUNCIL TO REPRESENT YOU FOR THE NEXT TWO YEARS. IT IS AN IMPORTANT DAY FOR ALL OF US.

• THE BIGGEST ISSUE FACING US TODAY IN QUINCY IS LOCAL TAXES. AS YOUR COUNCILLOR-at-LARGE, I'M FULLY AWARE THAT MY VOTES AT CITY COUNCIL MEETINGS HAVE A DIRECT IMPACT ON YOUR COST OF LIVING HERE IN THE CITY OF QUINCY. I AM PREPARED BY MY EXPERIENCE AND KNOWLEDGE TO CONFRONT THE PROBLEM OF TAXES AS YOUR COUNCILLOR-at-LARGE IN CITY HALL.

• MY VOTES AGAINST THE SEWER & WATER COMMISSION PROPOSAL AND THE PLAN TO SPEND $1 MILLION DOLLARS OF YOUR MONEY FOR ADDITIONAL PARKING SPACES SAVED YOU FROM PAYING MORE TAXES IN BONDED INDEBTEDNESS AND COSTLY WATER & SEWER USAGE CHARGES.

• THOSE PROPOSALS WERE DEFEATED BY JUST ONE VOTE ON THE CITY COUNCIL — AND JOE LaRAIA VOTED WITH YOU WHEN IT COUNTED!

• JUST AS MY ONE VOTE IS IMPORTANT IN THE CITY COUNCIL, YOUR VOTE IS IMPORTANT ON ELECTION DAY. BE SURE TO VOTE!

COUNCILLOR AT LARGE

Kelly Seeks EPA Aid In Nut I. Fight

City Council President Leo J. Kelly has urged the federal Environmental Protection Agency to take immediate steps to stop the MDC from reducing the chlorine used at the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

"We have experienced ongoing pollution problems with this facility and the reduction of chlorine and/or manpower would be absurd," said Kelly in a letter to EPA Regional Administrator Lester A. Sutton.

"MDC Sewage Chief Noel D. Baratta stated that he intended to save $100,000 by reducing the chlorination 15 to 20 per cent, but it might take a 30 per cent reduction to achieve that savings."

"He further stated that the MDC does not believe the change will result in a health hazard or further contamination of clam beds, further stating 'we don't believe there would be any adverse effects, but we just don't know.'"

"The assessment paid by the city of Quincy for this service last year was $959,901, and this year's assessment will be in the sum of $1,187,089, which is considerably higher. All cities and towns serviced by the MDC are also assessed for this service."

"It is my feeling that the implementation of these proposals will have an adverse effect on an already escalating pollution problem and I would request that the EPA take immediate action to stop this devastating action by the MDC."

Brownell Urges Step Up MDC Probe

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has called on the inspector general to step up his investigation of the MDC in light of a recent report citing duplicate costs, questionable contracts and wasteful consultant fees.

"The pattern of abuse set forth in the report by the state auditor has cost the taxpayers of the Commonwealth millions of dollars," said Brownell, who was joined by Rep. Philip W. Johnston of Marshfield.

"We believe the findings made by the auditor point to a need for an intensified investigation of the administrative practices of the Metropolitan District Commission."

The ongoing probe of the MDC by Inspector General Joseph

Barresi was initiated last July at the request of Reps. Brownell and Johnston.

Widows Exemption Bill Reaches Senate

A bill co-sponsored by Reps. Michael W. Morrissey and Thomas F. Brownell that would preserve widows' exemptions in the face of 100 per cent valuation has passed the House and gone to the Senate.

The bill would remove the domicile as an asset when calculating the assets of widows, widowers and surviving children for purposes of property tax abatements.

City Club Donates $1,000 To Farber Cancer Institute

Richard J. Koch, president of the Quincy City Club, recently announced that the organization has designated $1,000 for the medical oncology research fund of the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute, Boston.

The contribution is in memory of deceased club member Mr. Edward Dorsey, and relatives and friends of members who have suffered family losses from the disease.

Five hundred and fifty dollars of the contribution included proceeds from the annual dinner dance, with the balance allocated from the club's general fund.

The announcement was made at the club's 7th annual dinner at the Bryan VFW Post with 300 members and friends in attendance.

Joseph M. Lydon and Richard M. Morrissey were co-chairmen of the event.

Guest speaker was Rev. Neil DiStefano, chaplain at Boston City Hospital, who praised the charitable work of the group.

Fr. DiStefano stressed the need of private organizations to increase their sponsorship and contributions toward human service efforts now being reduced in financial aid by federal and state funding.

In 1979, the Quincy City Club donated $1,000 in equipment to the intensive care unit of Quincy City Hospital. The gift was in memory of Richard J. Conboy, Jr., and included a projector and series of medical cartridge programs to be used for heart disease patients.

VFW Democracy Scholarships

Scholarships of up to $14,000 will be awarded in the 35th annual Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program being run locally by the Bryan VFW Post.

The program is open to 10th, 11th and 12th grade students.

Students at each Quincy high school can win first prize of a $100 savings bond, second prize, a $75 savings bond, and third prize, $50 savings bond from the Bryan Post.

Judging for the prizes will be done by the faculty at each high school.

Winner of the City of Quincy contest between the first prize winners from each high school will be awarded a $500 scholarship if the student is continuing on to higher education.

Judging for that prize will be by the Bryan Post.

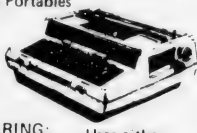

The city winner will go on to further competition in the VFW District #5 with first prize winners from other high schools in Norfolk County.

District first prize winners compete for the state first prize, the winners of which will receive an all expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., for the national finals March 26 to 31.

National scholarship awards will be $14,000, first place; $7,000, second place; $4,500, third place; $3,500, fourth place; $2,500, fifth place; and $1,000, sixth place.

Local high schools are to notify Voice of Democracy chairman Arthur G. McLean of their winners by Nov. 20.

partisan basis. Tuesday's election could be a critical one for Quinn, although the 57-year-old Blue Cross executive has a track record of recouping in the general election his voting losses in the preliminary.

He finished fifth in the preliminary with 3,551 votes, just behind newcomer Timothy P. Cahill, who had 3,588, and well behind the top three vote-getters.

They were incumbent Joseph J. LaRaia with 7,044, Richard J. Koch Jr. 6,816, and Patricia M. Toland 4,748. William J. O'Hare pulled up sixth with 2,102 votes.

Quinn, who was first elected to the Council in 1957, has served longer than any other councillor in Quincy's 92-year history. The runnerup is Carl W. Anderson with 20 years, four less than Quinn.

Some other long termers are David S. McIntosh 17 years, Frank N. Orcutt 16 years, Edna B. Austin 15 years, Amelio Della Chiesa 14 years, Thomas S. Burgin 13 years, Charles A. Ross 13 years.

LaRaia, 49, manager of an artificial limb firm, is a longtime councillor himself, serving 12 years in six terms spread out over 22 years since 1960.

Koch, 26, an insurance claims adjuster, is the son of Richard J. Koch, longtime executive secretary of the Park and Recreation Commission. He barely lost out for the Council in 1979, finishing a scant 197 votes behind LaRaia.

Toland, 49, a former school teacher turned housewife, is in the midst of her second four year term on the School Committee and her election to the Council would throw open a seat on that body.

The members of the Council and the School Committee would then vote for her replacement. They could vote for anyone, but in 1978, when McCauley moved from the Committee to the Council, the spot went to Frank Anselmo, who finished fourth in the school race.

Cahill, who will be 23 in another month, is a former legislative aide to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly and assistant wrestling coach at Quincy High School, who surprised everyone with his vote getting ability in the preliminary.

O'Hare, a 27-year-old lawyer, is the son of Fire Capt. Francis X. O'Hare who is making his first try for public office.

Three incumbents -- Mary P. Collins, Joan C. Picard and John J. Sullivan -- are seeking reelection to the School Committee and that's the way they finished in the preliminary election, comfortably ahead of the rest of the field.

A lot of interest, however, centers around the fourth spot, provided one of the three challengers does not upset a front runner.

The challengers are Patrick Conroy, who got 3,884 votes in the primary; Nicholas C. Verenis, 3,631; and James J. O'Brien, 2,975.

Conroy, 24, a defense department contract negotiator, is making his third try for public office, having lost out for City Council in 1977 and for School Committee in 1979.

Verenis, who will be 35 next month, was a social studies teacher at North Quincy High School for 10 years until he was laid off last June as a result of the Proposition 2½ cutbacks.

O'Brien, 32, is the former manager of two Wendy's Hamburger restaurants in Quincy.

There appears to be little interest in the races for City Council from the six wards. Only two of them are contested.

Theodore P. DeCristofaro, 58, who works for the National Parks Service, is opposing Joseph 48, a retired police detective, for the Ward 2 seat that is being vacated by Raymond.

DeCristofaro defeated Cortese comfortably by a nearly 3-1 margin in the preliminary election.

In Ward 1, MacMillan, 41, a package store clerk, is making his second run at City Council President Leo J. Kelly. Kelly won their previous meeting in 1979 by 2,741 to 1,513.

The other councillors are unopposed, John J. Lydon Jr. in Ward 3, James A. Sheets in Ward 4, Stephen J. McGrath in Ward 5 and Joanne Condon in Ward 6.

Registration figures show that Democrats far outnumber Republicans in Quincy, 30,247 to 7,136 with 11,128 unenrolled. Women voters outnumber the men, 27,487 to 21,024.

ELECTRIC WINDOW HAZARD

Electric car windows can be a great convenience - but they also present a potential danger to small children. Cases are known where children, when left alone in a parked car, have been choked to death by playing with individually-operated switches. There is that overwhelming urge to experiment with the power windows when left alone, or a companion might accidentally close the window on the other youngster's neck.

Fortunately, this hazard can be childproofed (not to mention pet-proofed) at a relatively low cost. The solution is simply a matter of rerouting the power window wiring through the ignition switch. This way, when the switch is turned off, the windows become inoperative and harmless. But you must remember to take the keys with you when leaving children alone in a parked car.

This danger pertains only to older cars. This change has already been made in cars now being built.

Mayor's Commission Sponsoring Holiday Stress Program

"Dealing with Holiday Stress" is the topic of the first program in a series sponsored by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women Wednesday, Nov. 4.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor Conference Room at Quincy City Hall.

Speaker will be Enid Snidman, faculty member at Northeastern University School of Nursing and published author.

A registered nurse with her own private practice, she sees that the holiday season can be particularly stressful.

Says Miss Snidman, "the parties, gift giving, spiritual celebrations, and family togetherness often produce mixed feelings in people; the season also may be a remembrance of separations or a loved ones death."

"Though holiday time can be, and often is, a wonderful time, one must think about what the season means to you. Understanding the reasons for discomfort will make it less overwhelming."

A question period will follow. The second program in the series will be held Nov. 18. It will provide practical tax information for the $25 a month to 10,000 plus investor.

Nov. 18 will also herald the publication in The Quincy Sun of a questionnaire directed to the needs of Quincy women.

Solution Sought For Downtown Parking Problems

The City Council called for a public meeting to see what could be done to straighten out what Mayor Thomas J. McGrath called "the acute parking situation" in downtown Quincy.

"As the situation stands at present," said McGrath, "many people are of the opinion that the parking regulations are a positive detriment to business."

"Traffic and parking regulations should be a help and not a hindrance to trade."

SECRET MEETINGS SCORED

Candidates Joseph M. Goode Jr. for the City Council and Sturgis H. Hunt and Philip T. Connolly for the School Committee condemned closed meetings held by the Council and the Committee.

"It is decidedly unnecessary," said Goode, "for the City Council to retire into executive session behind closed doors and there discuss expenditures of the public's money every Monday night."

HOMEMADE PLANE

An English-type Bristol Bullet single seater fighter plane, built by flyers at the U.S. Naval Reserve Air Station at Squantum, was successfully test flown over Quincy by Lt. George Haeberle.

But when Haeberle tried to fly the plane across country to San Diego, it developed engine trouble over Connecticut and crashed landed on its return to the Squantum field.

WEST QUINCY DANCE HALL

Prof. Richard A. Hussey, the noted dancing master, opened negotiations for the purchase of land on the cement road near the Braintree line in West Quincy on which to build a $25,000 dance hall.

The hall would have a 40-foot by 80-foot dance floor plus a reception room, alcoves for resting and bowling and billiard rooms. Hussey said he hoped to open the hall in the spring.

TEACHERS SEEK RAISE

Toughened Raiders Ready For Brookline

Watch out for the North Quincy football team the rest of the season.

The Raiders have met the Suburban League iron unbeaten Waltham and Newton North and one-beaten defending champion Brockton) and take a 3-3 record into Saturday's 1:30 p.m. Veterans Memorial Stadium game with league rival Brookline (3-3).

North Quincy gave Waltham and Newton North their toughest games and, with these games out of the way, Coach Dave Burke's Raiders are going to be awfully tough in their last four games. North lost at Waltham, 27-6, last Saturday.

Brookline has defeated Weymouth South, 26-6; Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 20-12; and Weymouth North, 14-6, while losing to Wellesley, 6-0; Waltham, 28-16, and Brockton, 26-0.

"We played a fine game at Waltham but that is the best team we've faced and that boy (John) El-Masry is the finest back we've played against," said Burke. "He not only is the best runner but the best defensive back we've seen. He's really outstanding. He ran very hard and also intercepted two of our passes. Our boys really hit hard and El-Masry must be aching after being hit, especially by Steve Howley, who was just great."

Joe Dudek returned to the lineup following an injury and ran well, as did Rich Stevens, but the Raiders were unable to run much against the rugged Waltham defense. Pat Burke had a fine day at quarterback and hit on 8 of 12 passes for 87 yards and a touchdown.

"Howley has to be one of the finest linebackers in the state and did another tremendous job," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "Boy, did he hit El-Masry. He was hurt but should be all right. Mike Ellis also did an outstanding job on defense as did Mike Hutchings. Rich Brown, Bill Bradley, Rich Comeau and Gerry Connolly."

Ray Mallory returned to action after missing several games and did an excellent job as did Dave DiCarlo running back kickoffs and Billy Gray and Jim Hutchinson at end, who made some fine catches.

"We just made too many mistakes," Burke said. "We had several golden opportunities but fumbles and two key interceptions by El-Masry killed us."

El-Masry is the number two scorer in Division One. He led going into last week's games but, while he scored twice, Brockton's Jay McGee scored four times as Brockton piled up the score on Cambridge.

Waltham took a 14-0 first period lead as El-Masry scored on a 37-yard run and Frank Freana raced 34 yards for a score. Steve Cusano kicked both extra points.

In the second period El-Masry intercepted a pass and ran it back to the North three from where he scored. Cusano again kicked the point and Waltham led, 21-0, at the half.

North's defense was outstanding in the second half but Rich Bernadino added a Waltham touchdown in the final period from the one.

Burke ran 13 yards to set up the Raiders' only score and passed to Gray for 14 yards and the touchdown late in the game.

North Sephs Look Good In Losing Cause

Coach Ted Sadowski's North Quincy sophomore football team traveled to Waltham Monday and turned in one of its best performances despite losing, 12-8. Late in the first quarter Waltham struck with a 63-yard touchdown run.

North staged a long march in the second period led by the running of Bryan Ellis, Mike Gill and Scott Messina, but a penalty halted the drive.

In the fourth period Waltham moved to North's 27 on a penalty. The home team drove to the one but was penalized back to the 16. A desperation pass by Waltham's quarterback was nearly batted down by a North defender, but it was good for a touchdown.

North marched 63 yards following the ensuing kickoff for its lone score. Ellis passed to Messina, who caught the ball over his shoulder in the end zone. Messina set up the score with an 18-yard run. On the drive, Ellis, Gill and Kevin Kelly did some line running. Gill added the two-point conversion.

Sadowski was pleased with his team's performance. "Considering we had five regulars out of action, the team looked good," he said. "Vicker DiGravio, who had to miss contact work, did a fine job for us, and quarterback Dan Ceursels' ball handling in the muddy conditions was excellent. Co-Captain Nick Gelsomini played the entire game at end and made many tackles and also blocked many passes. We have many two-way players including Joe Callahan, Jack Burke, Paul Penze, Kelly, Bill Ellis and Messina, who never let up and gave their very best. Rich Reguso also played well after being out with a leg injury."

The sophomores have two remaining games. Weymouth South Nov. 9 and Quincy Nov. 21 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North Girls In Tri-Meet

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, with a 5-1 record, will face two Boston schools in a tri-meet today (Thursday) at 3:30 over the Franklin Park course. North will not know which teams until meet time.

The Raiderettes met Brockton Tuesday.

Last Friday Lou Tozzi's North girls rolled over Whitman-Hanson, 17-45, in a non-league meet in which Tozzi rested Nancy McCarthy, Eileen Crehan, Linda Kennedy and Deirdre Donovan and gave some of the younger girls a chance.

North's Sheila Barrett and Regina Nagle tied for first place in 17:29 over Whitman's 2.7-mile course. Diane Lindenfelzer was third, Tracy Corrigan was fifth, Anne Gorczyca sixth, Mary Ellen Simmons seventh and Bernadette Murphy ninth.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes topped Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 20-39, in a Suburban League meet.

Cambridge's Thayer Plant won in 13:59, but North took the next five places for an easy win. McCarthy was second in 14:53, Barrett third, Nagle fourth and Kennedy fifth. Lindenfelzer finished sixth, Donovan ninth and Crehan 10th.

Koch Basketball Season Opens Nov. 5

The Koch Club of Quincy will open its 33rd season of youth basketball Thursday, Nov. 5, at 6 p.m. at the Atlantic Junior High School gym, Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Richard J. Koch, executive director, said boys from 7 through 13 years of age throughout the city are invited to join and participate in one of the oldest privately sponsored recreation programs on the South Shore.

The Koch Club basketball program was reduced last year to one unit in the city when the 17-year-old Broad Meadows and 11-year-old Montclair Districts had to be eliminated because of the cost of gymnasium rentals being raised from $3 to $12 per hour by the School Committee.

Ages 7 through 9 will report at 6 p.m. each Thursday evening while 10 through 13 years will attend at 7:15 p.m. Older seniors should be present at 8:30 p.m.

The nightly fee, $1 to members of the basketball program to defray gymnasium custodial costs, must be paid weekly to comply with the rental schedule of the School Department.

Registration forms will be available on the first session on Nov. 5. Parents must approve the children's participation. Following several weeks of practice games, teams will be balanced and assembled for a regular playing league competition.

There will be no tryouts and each registrant will be assigned to a team and actively participate.

Organized in 1949 at the original North Quincy High School Gym, the Koch Club basketball program has provided over three decades of wholesome leisure enjoyment for thousands of Quincy youths from all sections of the city.

Fathers and older brothers of league participants are invited to attend and assist as coaches or referees in the winter recreation program.

Swimming Courses At Hancock Pool

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct registration for several mini-courses conducted at the pool in Lincoln Hancock Community School.

The first course is a program for adult non-swimmers. The program is held on Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m., and features small class size so that individual attention is given to adult non-swimmers.

The second course offered is a beginner diving course. This course is held on Wednesday evenings at 6 p.m. Participants should be 8 - 12 years old and have previous diving instruction. Participants must be capable of swimming one length of the pool.

The third course is a mother and tots swim program for youngsters age 15 months to six years. This course will be held on Wednesday evenings at 6 and 6:30 p.m. This program is designed to teach youngsters and parents the fundamental movements of swimming skills and help the youngster adjust to the aquatic environment.

Registration for these courses can be made in person at the pool office beginning immediately. Registration is done on a first come first serve basis and enrollment is limited. All programs start on Wednesday, Nov. 4, and will run for five weeks. Additional information is available by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department.

Presidents Look For Victory At Weymouth N.

By TOM SULLIVAN

If Quincy football coach Tom Fitzgerald stays awake nights seeing opposing players running back Quincy passes, there is a reason.

Two weeks ago Newton North intercepted four Sean Martin passes and last Saturday New Bedford grabbed five of Martin's tosses, all of which stopped Presidents' drives and gave the Division 2 Whalers an upset 14-8 victory at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The win improved New Bedford's record to 3-3 and the loss dropped Quincy to 1-5.

Saturday the Presidents visit Legion Field in Weymouth to face winless Weymouth North in what will probably be the last game between the schools as Weymouth leaves the Suburban League for the Old Colony League next season. Weymouth has lost to Braintree, 9-0; Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 16-0; Waltham, 27-6; Hingham, 17-6; North Quincy, 27-22; and Brookline, 14-6.

"This was another game we should never have lost," said a disappointed Fitzgerald. "We moved the ball well but those interceptions killed us. Sean never should have thrown some of those passes. We certainly had our chances but you can't turn the ball over that way and hope to win."

One thing is certain after last week's game. Mark Picot will do more running the rest of the season. The big fullback, who punted well, ran for 67 yards, all but two of them in the second half, and had runs of 21, 16 and 13 yards. Steve Goguen continued to run well and picked up 9 yards and scored Quincy's touchdown.

"The offensive line wasn't doing its job today," Fitzgerald said. "We have to work hard with this group. Defensively, except for a few breakdowns, we did pretty well."

Singled out for their performances were Mark Righini, Picot, Goguen, Mike Keisey, Kevin Riggs, Steve Spencer and Dennis Ober.

After an exchange of punts, Newton drove from Quincy's 36 following a 30-yard runback and scored its first touchdown on the first play of the second period on a 15-yard pass on fourth and 15. Rich Theg hit Jack Sheerin on the goal line with two Quincy defenders standing behind him. Chris Horn kicked the point.

The Presidents moved to New Bedford's 40 but then came the first of the interceptions, one of three by Nelo Ortiz. Two plays later Gary Benoit, who ran for 135 yards, was trapped behind the line of scrimmage but broke away from several defenders to race 66 yards before being brought down from behind by Mike Shaughnessy on Quincy's 10.

Three plays later Benoit scored from the four and Horn again kicked the point.

Quincy's Righini intercepted a pass on New Bedford's 39 and the Presidents reached the Whalers' 25 but, with 16 seconds left, Ortiz came up with his second interception.

Quincy marched to the visitors' 10 but, with fourth and two, New Bedford held.

Benoit kicked to Quincy's 40 and, sparked by Picot and Goguen, Quincy clicked off three first downs but a Martin to Goguen pass which would have put the Presidents inside the 15 was called back and Quincy penalized 15 yards. Two plays later Ortiz intercepted his third pass and ran it back to his 40.

Quincy drove from its 45 to its only score following a punt. Picot and Goguen doing the running and a pass to Ted Walsh eating up 13 yards. Goguen scored around his left end for the TD and Chris Dracchio rushed for the points.

Quincy recovered an aside kick on New Bedford's 40, but again an interception, this one by Doug Coito, ended the threat.

The Presidents received a final golden opportunity when Benoit went back to punt but the officials ruled that, on a low pass from center, his knee touched the ground, giving Quincy the ball on the Whalers' 17 with time running out.

But, Coito plucked off Martin's pass for his second and the team's fifth interception and that was that.

Quincy had a net gain of 162 yards on the ground and New Bedford one yard less. Martin did complete four of 10 passes for only 29 yards and Picot, on an option play, completed one for three yards to Martin. New Bedford added 37 yards through the air on four for eight with one interception. Quincy had 12 first downs to seven for the Whalers.

Central 8th Graders Clinch City Title

By PETE ZOIA

Coach Bob Schies's unbeaten Central eighth grade football team (5-0-2) this week clinched the city championship with an 8-0 victory over second place Sterling (3-2-1).

After a second quarter interception by Sterling's Ricky DiCarlo on his two-yard line, the Central line nailed a Sterling back in the end zone for a safety.

Coach Jerry Guintiliani's Sterling team came back with nice running by Tony Venturelli and Sean Joyce, but lost the ball on a fumble. Central's Dave Tapper then raced 33 yards to set up the touchdown, Frank Nolan going over from the 13.

Sterling had some other threats but they were halted by penalties.

Central also defeated Atlantic-North, 18-12, in one of the best games of the season.

Central scored in the first period on a 16-yard run by Nolan. In the second quarter Bob Bradley of A-N returned a kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown and Central's Pat O'Sullivan scored from the two. Nolan added his second touchdown on a 28-yard run in the third quarter and Leo LeMay scored from the 15 for Atlantic-North.

Peter Marino's Broad Meadows eighth graders rolled over Point, 20-0, for its third victory.

After a scoreless first period BM scored twice in the second when Bob Hunter ran 31 yards and Walter Follings added the two-point conversion.

Mark Blowers blocked a punt on the Point nine and Joe O'Brien tell on the ball in the end zone to give BM a 14-0 lead. Hunter later intercepted a pass and ran it back 47 yards for the final touchdown.

Point put on its best drive, sparked by the running of Bob Fitzgerald and Kevin Jolley, but BM held. BM reached the Point six, thanks to the running of Paul Hussey and the passing of Roy Cochran, but Fitzgerald batted down a pass as the game ended.

In the ninth grade action, Atlantic-North improved its record to 4-1 and stayed close on the heels of the league-leading Sterling (6-0-0) with a 20-8 victory over Central.

Joe Bangs raced 67 yards for a touchdown in the opening quarter for Walter McCarthy's A-N team. Bill Doherty went for 22 yards and scored from the nine in the second period and quarterback Dave Zuroms ended the scoring with a 10-yard run. Zuroms passed to John Reney for the two points.

Central scored on a 30-yard pass from Dean O'Malley to Jim Sturgeon. The same duo collaborated for the two point conversion.

Sterling defeated Central.

24-14, as the one-two punch of Darren Tucker and Gerry Frazier continued to put points on the board. Tucker with his brute strength eating up big yardage, and Frazier zig-zagging his way to three touchdowns on runs of 12, 45 and 12 yards. Tucker added a two-point conversion and Frazier added a pair of conversions.

Sterling coach John Gostainian substituted freely in the second half and Central quickly scored twice. O'Malley passed to Andy Lenhardt for 70 yards and a touchdown and Jim Sturgeon added the two points.

Ron Hanson threw a Sterling back for a loss and Central went from Sterling's 32 for its last score. Mike Farrand, Sturgeon, Lenhardt and O'Malley bringing the ball to the six, John Kelleher going to the two and Sturgeon scoring from there.

Sterling's offensive line has good size and does its job to spring Tucker and Frazier loose. Mike Dracchio has done a fine job as have Pat Duggan, John Wholey and Tom McGrath.

Sterling has two games left, meeting improved Broad Meadows and tough Atlantic-North.

A-N, whose only loss was to Sterling, will be out to avenge that defeat.

Broad Meadows topped out-weighted and outmanned Point, 28-0, for its second win in a row as the hard running of Paul Miller and Mike Powell proved too much for Point. Miller went up the middle for an 11-yard TD run and Powell raced 46 yards for another first period touchdown. Mark Walsh added a two-point conversion.

In the second period BM scored again on a Joe Conti to John Gleda pass for 23 yards and Matt Colby added the points. Conti threw a strike to John O'Connor from four yards out to end the scoring.

For Point Mike Gilmore and Kevin Salmon did the bulk of the ball carrying and defensively Darren Zemp and John Harris stood out.

Giordano Brothers Shine At New Haven

Mark and Jeff Giordano, who starred at Quincy High, are having banner seasons for the University of New Haven football team, which defeated the U. of District of Columbia, 15-7, for its third win of the season.

Jeff, who set a Quincy record for interceptions in a season with 10, was named the ECAS defensive player of the week after the D. C. game in which he intercepted three passes and had seven tackles. His final interception came with four minutes to play on the goal line.

Mark was an outstanding quarterback at Quincy and threw four TD passes in the Presidents' 36-6 victory over North Quincy in 1978.

This year he is playing strong games at running back and flanker, but had to sit out the D. C. game due to illness.

Jeff is the fourth leading tackler for the Chargers, with 19 primary stops and 18 assists. He also has two fumble recoveries, two deflections and four interceptions. He also returns kickoffs and punts.

Elks Upset Panthers, 14-12

The West Quincy Elks, winless in four previous games, shocked the second place Quincy Point Panthers, 14-12, in a Quincy Youth Football League game Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Panthers scored first on Pat Nee's touchdown, the only score of the first half.

Jimmy Folk ran back the second half kickoff 70 yards to tie it up for the Elks and Mike Joyce added the two-point conversion.

The Elks added to their lead on Mark Porzio's eight-yard run to make it 14-6 and the Panthers added their second touchdown in the waning minutes of the game but the Elks stopped the try for the tying points.

Kevin Segalla played an outstanding game on defense for the Elks.

Meanwhile, the North Quincy Apaches walloped the Houghs Neck Manets, 32-6, to improve its league-leading record to 6-0.

The first period was scoreless and some strong defensive plays by John Ainsley, Mike Kubera, Jim Milano, Gary McNamara, Pete Furtado and John McCarthy held off the Manets.

Early in the second period Milano made another of his spectacular runs, this one for 65 yards and the Apaches' first touchdown. He also added the two point conversion.

After Sean Toland recovered a Manet fumble, quarterback Mike Peters passed to Toland for seven yards and Milano then raced 55 yards for his and the team's second touchdown. An interception by Toland set up the next touchdown, Peters passing to Toland for 36 yards and the score. Kubera later ran 53 yards for a touchdown, giving the Apaches a 26-0 halftime lead.

The Apaches' junior varsity led off the third period and held the Manets for several plays, but the Manets' Steve Rosha broke through for a 15-yard touchdown run.

Mike Carnevale quarterbacked the Apaches in the final period and led another scoring drive, George Hartford scoring on a 17-yard run.

Scott Sacchetti, Chris Barry and Matt McNamara played fine ball for the Apache jayvees.

North Soccer Team Better Than 4-6-3 Record

This has been another frustrating season for North Quincy boys' soccer coach Paul Bregoli, whose team took a deceiving 4-6-3 record into this week's game.

"We are a better team than our record shows and we've outplayed most teams," said Bregoli, whose Raiders play at Brookline Friday at 3:30. They played Sharon and Weymouth North earlier this week.

"The boys are playing super soccer and have played only one really poor game all year and that was against Quincy. We have been hit hard by injuries in recent games, losing Co-Captain John Keenan with a concussion in our loss to Quincy, Alex Coutts in the Weymouth South game and Pat King, Rich Palma and Steve Hawes in the Brockton game."

North defeated Weymouth South, 4-0, last week, scoring five minutes into the game as Jim Boudreau sent Palma in with a perfect pass and Palma drilled the ball past South goalie Greg Frost.

Four minutes later Boudreau set up Mike Bourikas, who placed a perfect shot from 20 yards out. North dominated play and missed several other good opportunities to score.

Midway through the second quarter Dwayne Wilcoxon centered a nice corner kick which Boudreau deflected to Palma, who again found the mark to put the Raiders up, 3-0, at the half.

Thirty seconds into the final quarter the Raiders' Steve Sacchetti took a pass from Palma and scored his second goal of the year. Dennis White, who replaced Coutts, played well on defense as did Hawes. King registered his sixth shutout, despite a severely bruised shoulder.

North lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 3-2, and the loss was especially hard to take as Cambridge's freshman goalie made three spectacular saves during the game to keep North from scoring another win.

North took a 1-0 lead when Co-Capt. Lester Gerry's cross connected with Bourikas, who scored from 15' yards out. Bourikas was robbed late in the first quarter when his shot to the top corner was tipped wide by the goalie. Cambridge scored twice in the third quarter and took a 3-1 lead with a goal early in the fourth.

The Raiders then took control of the game and scored with six minutes left in the game as Palma scored on a pass from Bourikas.

North pressed the attack but was denied a chance to pull even or win as first Bourikas, then Palma had shots, tipped wide on diving saves. King played despite his shoulder injury but had great difficulty moving his shoulder.

King sat out the next game against Brockton, the highest scoring team in the league, but backup goalie Greg DiBella, playing his first game, did an outstanding job, making some exceptional saves.

Jack Xavier, who had 23 goals for Brockton, was shadowed by Sacchetti, who allowed him only one shot. But that shot came from a scramble in front of the North goal which went past DiBella.

The Raiders' defense was brilliant as Coutts, Bob Flynn, Hawes, White, Gerry, Boudreau, Wilcoxon and Terry Stark shut down the Boxers' four-goal-a-game offense. North limited Brockton to 10 shots, while the Raiders had 23 shots.

"I thought we played well all week and the boys played with a lot of desire and guts," Bregoli said. "Actually, I feel we should have won all three games."

I am running because I strongly believe the school system should be run more like a business than a grand, societal commitment. I believe students should be held accountable for their responsibilities, and they should be expected to perform to their potential.

I believe parents need to be informed about the schools they help pay for.

Kristin knows who she wants elected!!

The teachers and administrators must be accountable for the carrying out of the system's goals.

Finally, the taxpayer, which includes all of us, must make sure that the system does all of this on a sound and prudent financial basis.

I am running because I believe Quincy is a real community, a community of people who care, and as such, we, the people, are responsible for the qualities and learning habits we are giving to our future generations in this fast changing society.

I know I can serve this purpose well.

In addition to profile information, mayoral, city council and school committee candidates were asked questions on issues pertaining to the office they seek.

The two mayoral candidates were each asked one main question and asked to respond in approximately 200 words.

City council and school committee candidates were each asked two questions and asked to reply in a total of approximately 100 words.

The candidates appear here in the same order their names are on the Nov. 3 ballot.

I envision a bustling City that attracts its citizens to participate in its own program for promoting the arts, a downtown business environment that excites the shopper and a government that makes its citizens proud to participate in.

Answer 2: What do you see as the most pressing problem in the city and how will you deal with it? Taxes are the biggest problem. There is a constant need to improve, reorganize and streamline government to meet current demands to reduce waste and provide better service. Again, my thanks to your organization.

TIMOTHY P. CAHILL, 35
Packards Lane. Age: 22.
Occupation: National Park Service at the Adams National Historic Site.

Answer 1: I would like to see the city of Quincy move into the 1980's in a positive way, accepting the financial limitations of Proposition 2½, and searching for alternative methods to solve the city's most pressing problems.

Answer 2: These problems include the quality of education in our public school system, the maintaining of adequate police and fire departments, and improving the city's bond rating with an overall upgrading of the financial base.

The City Council must take a more active and positive role in regards to public education. We must also work to structure a tax base that will provide needed income and be fair to both homeowner and businessman.

RICHARD J. KOCH, 46 Putnam St. Age: 26. Occupation: Claims representative for Kemper Insurance.

Answer 1: A clear vision of where Quincy is going has been blurred by Proposition 2½ and decreased aid. Adaption to the new law need not and must not mean cutting basic services to where we drastically change the residential character of our city.

Answer 2: The most serious problem facing Quincy is the fiscal uncertainty spawned by Proposition 2½, compounded by cuts in state and federal aid. We should work with our state and federal legislators to insure Quincy receives as much assistance from these branches of government as possible. We must preserve the basic and essential services which the city now provides and make others independent of the property tax funding.

• Mayor

Question: As chief executive of the city, which public services do you feel require top priority and how do you propose to deal with them in your term of office?

FRANCIS X. MCCAULEY, 210
Manet Ave. Age: 51. Occupation: banker, present City Councillor at-Large.

Answer: I will be primarily concerned with the safety and protection of our citizens, young and old, with the education of our youth; with a daily life free from anxiety for our elderly and with an enviable quality of life for all of our Quincy residents.

These are ambitious aims for a chief executive who will face the monumental task of trying to determine which of the essential services will have top priority, when he looks at a reduced budget brought about by declining property tax revenues mandated by Proposition 2½.

In order to achieve my aims, I will have to update working procedures, streamline city departments and even consolidate some departments, in order to get maximum efficiency from city employees. I intend to recruit a task force from the business and professional community to review and suggest methods of improving city operations so that all essential services can be continued. I am also determined to adhere to all laws governing the jobs of city employees. This, I feel will raise the sagging morale of our city workers.

As chief executive, I intend to keep the police and fire departments sufficiently staffed. I intend to preside at all school committee meetings and listen and voice my views on issues concerning our young people's education. As I have done throughout my entire political career, I will be watching very closely issues affecting our elderly and I promise to take an active part in protecting their wellbeing. I will support a strong, independent conservation commission to protect our environment.

Last, but not least, I hope to implement the establishment of a tax rate on time, to avoid expensive short term borrowing.

DANIEL G. RAYMOND, 88 Elm St. Age: 34. Occupation: Attorney, present Ward 2 City Councillor.

Answer: I am realistic enough to know that the next two (2) years will not be easy. Proposition 2½, state and federal government's reduction of aid to Quincy and the growing recession are just some of the problems facing Quincy's next Mayor. Yet for all the uncertainty that these problems may forecast, I believe that Quincy can have a future of growth and prosperity -- a future based upon effective city management, proper planning of development, fair implementation of Proposition 2½, and controlling city spending and an abandonment of the policies of blame and negativism. Quincy needs an honest, hardworking administrator who will take firm control of the reins of government with competence, common sense and personal involvement.

I continue to be concerned about the future of public safety. Public safety is a matter that I will not let be held hostage by Proposition 2½. The protection of life and property cannot be compromised under any administration. As Mayor I shall work towards the return of the 10 laid-off firefighters and continue opposing fire station closings. As a former Assistant District Attorney I know crime and its impact on people. Safe streets are important. My administration will work towards the implementation of a juvenile citation system which will help prevent vandalism and other criminal acts. I shall support our men in uniform.

Obviously a child's educational experience in the classroom is a top priority. I intend to be an extremely active member of the School Committee. We must work together in order to return stability and confidence throughout the school system. Through proper planning and sound policy decision making we can insure that our school system will continue to offer a quality educational experience for all Quincy's young people.

• Councillor At-Large

Question 1: Where is Quincy going now and where would you like to see it go?

Question 2: What do you see as the most pressing problem in the city and how will you deal with it?

JOSEPH J. LARAJA, 54 Grogan Ave. Age: 49. Occupation: Business Manager, National Orthotics & Prosthetics Corp. present City Councillor at-Large.

Answer 1: Where is Quincy going and where would you like to see it go?

Nowhere! Quincy is drifting aimlessly - she has no leader. Our Mayor has set his sights on leaving office as far back as last January. There is no strong commitment to the future by an already departing administration.

COUNCILLOR AT-LARGE:

Term: 2 years.
Salary: $3,000.

Job description: Three are elected from the entire city to represent all of Quincy's residents.

JOHN J. QUINN, 86 Grand View Ave. Age: 58. Occupation: Blue Cross Blue Shield Executive, present councillor at large.

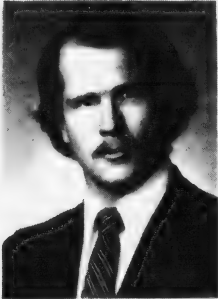

Answer 1: Quincy is going forward, our quality of life is being enhanced by neighborhood improvements in residentially zoned areas. I favor:

1. Recycling of abandoned schools for senior citizen housing.
2. Fully manned and equipped police and fire departments to assure a safer Quincy.
3. Excellence in the classroom and equity of educational funding.
4. Maintaining of open spaces and marshes.
5. Improved streetlighting and tree plantings.
6. Office building construction in business zoned areas for creating jobs.
7. Adoption of a fair condo-conversion law that will protect our tenants' rights according to democratic principles.

Answer 2: Proposition 2½ must be dealt with in a fair and equitable way by your most experienced and knowledgeable elected officials. I would:

1. Consolidate the sewer and water departments and maintain our federal and state funding advantages.
2. Eliminate waste and duplication by consolidating city business and operational departments.
3. Centralize the computer systems under one city control.

All of us helping each of us by working together we can do it.

WILLIAM J. O'HARE, 322 West Squantum St. Age: 27. Occupation: Attorney.

Answer 1: Where is Quincy going now and where would you like to see it go?

Quincy is headed in the wrong direction. As the city approaches economic collapse, our present leadership continues to practice the same old political "game". The present city government shows almost no ability to foresee problems and instead reacts too late and often provides too little a remedy. Failure to anticipate; widespread condominium conversions, the closing of schools, the need for an improved sewer system, and the need for timely and accurate property revaluation has resulted in great anxiety and financial loss for our citizens.

If elected, my philosophy will simply be, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure".

Answer 2: What do you see as the most pressing problem in the city and how will you deal with it?

Financial distress caused by proposition 2½ and fiscal mismanagement is the most pressing problem in Quincy, followed closely by a lack of public safety. The following is an example of the kind of remedy that I will propose.

Place an emphasis on attracting high technology businesses to Quincy Center and compliment these with mini-malls composed of medium sized stores, gift shops and restaurants. Massachusetts is a high technology state, we should no longer buck the trend. Secondly, I would attempt to cut fat from the School Department budget by relocating those offices in the Quincy Savings Bank Building to less expensive office space elsewhere in the city (perhaps even to a vacant school).

PATRICIA TOLAND, 82 Cedar St. Age: 49. Occupation: Home-maker. Candidate for Councillor at large.

Answer 1: New construction and development that has occurred in Quincy in the last few years bodes well for the city's future. It broadens our tax base and will inject new life into Quincy's economy. I want to see Quincy continue its revitalization efforts with careful controlled planning and within the frame work of our rich history. We must develop, restore, and refurbish our downtown and smaller shopping areas. We must preserve the unique character of our neighborhoods so that Quincy continues to be strong in tradition, financially sound, and a pleasantly liveable city.

Answer 2: Money and lack of it. Quincy's operating budget this year is down by $10 million, the '83 budget must be reduced by another $8.5. Less money in the city treasury means fewer services. I am in favor of establishing priorities for spending. I am also in favor of establishing responsible fiscal practices. Managing our money wisely is basic to resolving all other problems. No more bonding to meet current expenses. No more late tax bills. Long overdue back taxes owed the cities should be collected! Financial stability is my first goal.

• Ward 1 Councillor

Question 1: Where is Quincy going now and where would you like to see it go?

Question 2: What do you see as the most pressing problem in the city and how will you deal with it?

LEO J. KELLY, 143 Spring St. Age: 47. Occupation: Community Service Coordinator and Victim's Advocate, present Ward 1 Councillor.

Answer 1: As City Council President and former Chairman of the Economic Development Committee I have been active in attracting development, business and jobs to the City. These are important items for the future of the City, but they are important to the extent that they have a positive impact upon the neighborhoods and people of this City. We have been able to attract office development which will not only bring jobs and tax dollars, but also because of the federal UDAG program these major projects will be required to invest 20% of their total profits in community development activities. This means that the profits from these projects will be directly invested into low interest home improvement loans, repair of neighborhood streets, playground improvements, etc.

In essence, Quincy has entered one of its most rapid growth periods. It is my position that this growth must be properly managed and used to the support and benefit of the people of this City.

Answer 2: Without question, the most serious situation facing the City is the implementation of Proposition 2½. Clearly, the time has come when government must be trimmed. The crux of the problem lies in what areas should be cut, what services cut, and what municipal services are essential to maintain the quality and standard of life to which we have become accustomed. My philosophy of government maintains that public safety and quality education should be its foremost concerns. In support of this position I was instrumental, through written initiative and city council vote, in fostering the use of our additional state aid for educational purposes specifically the rehiring of eight teachers. I have participated with a special statewide delegation of municipal leaders which has already met with Governor King to petition the Commonwealth for additional aid to buttress our public safety forces within the City.

Our future destination has been mandated by law. However, the course which we follow remains to be decided upon. Cuts in government spending will occur; my concern is where they will occur.

DAVID MACMILLAN, 17 Bell St. Age: 43. Occupation: Liquor store manager.

Answer 1: Quincy the past 10 years has been going backwards. Look at the businesses moving out of Quincy Center and the light industry business plants that have moved elsewhere. This represents tax losses, an unhealthy atmosphere in downtown Quincy, plus a lot of jobs lost. I would work hard to bring back business and industry, which should create jobs and reduce taxes.

Answer 2: Economic inefficiency. The wrong people laid-off under prop 2½. My opponent notes a $2,000 raise for a high city official, while firemen and laborers are being laid-off. I would cut out the "political patronage" jobs. My voice on the City Council will speak for you, not for some "higher-ups."

• Ward 2 Councillor

JOSEPH F. CORTESE, 48 Ellerton Rd. Age: 49. Occupation: Retired Quincy Police Officer.

Answer 1: The City of Quincy is presently close to financial chaos not because of Proposition 2½ but because of past political financial decisions that were not made with good business judgement. I would like to see the City put back on a sound financial basis and the impacts of Proposition 2½ implemented evenly-handedly and political chicanery eliminated.

Answer 2: The most pressing problem is also the current state of the City: Financial chaos. The City's huge bonded indebtedness must be reduced. Our bond rating improved. And living within a budget conforming to Proposition 2½'s mandate is the solution.

THEODORE P. DeCRISTOFARO, 17 Murdock Ave. Age: 58. Occupation: Maintenance worker, Adams National Historic Site.

Answer 1: Quincy, like many other large cities, is at a cross-road, faced with the proposition of becoming more like Boston, or in the alternative, of maintaining its smaller more personal appeal. I would like very much to see Quincy maintain its smaller status, while also redeveloping and revitalizing its downtown shopping areas. Again, not at the expense of becoming a clone of Boston. In addition, I feel Quincy has yet to tap one of its greatest resources, its historical appeal. One of the most pleasant and more positive methods of bringing more money into Quincy coffers is to improve, develop and publicize its historical background. I realize that there are many obstacles with respect to accomplishing the above. Nevertheless, Quincy needs now to generate overall, long term plans, with goals that are truly reachable.

Answer 2: There is little doubt that Quincy's most pressing problem is the proper implementation of Proposition 2½, in conjunction with revaluation and taxes in general. The challenge is to cut those services which are needed least. In this regard, the maintenance of police and fire protection must certainly take a priority. However, it is also important to cut carefully so as not to severely effect other vital services such as education.

Once the cuts have taken place, the challenge is to continue to monitor city spending very carefully. Although we will be expected to do as much or more with less, I am optimistic that we will be successful since I see renewed interest from families and citizens of Quincy to actively participate in educational programs and in community involvement through volunteer efforts.

• Ward 3 Councillor

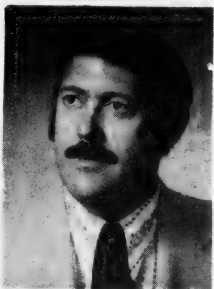

JOHN J. LYDON, JR., 468 Beale St. Age: 40. Occupation: President and Owner - Lydon-Russell Funeral Home, present Ward 3 Councillor.

Answer 1: Recently, and as a direct result of actions taken by this Municipal Government, the City of Quincy, has been experiencing a renaissance. There has been a rebirth of interest in our housing stock, our parks and recreational facilities and in our business areas. This City Council has taken the lead as an advocate in this movement. The construction of the Stop and Shop Campanelli building in the Downtown is our major achievement thus far. It brings to our City jobs, taxes, and the disposable income of the employees. Of equal importance have been the neighborhood improvement programs which we have tailored to serve the needs of the residents. Through these programs the federal government has expended, this year alone, in excess of $2 million for home improvements, street resurfacing and park improvements. I believe that our future must be found in a balance of existing resources.

Answer 2: Concerning the most pressing problem that we currently face, certainly nothing comes close to the budget cuts mandated by Proposition 2½. Philosophically, my belief is that education and public safety are the principle duties of municipal government. This is rooted in our heritage and is perhaps something that we have lost sight of during the days of big government. The cuts have been mandated and it is my responsibility to see that they are implemented—without fanfare and without scare tactics. It is also my responsibility to be certain that the individuals in this city, and more particularly Ward 3, are provided the services which are required.

• Ward 4 Councillor

JAMES A. SHEETS, 926 Furnace Brook Parkway. Age: 46. Occupation: College Professor, present Ward 4 Councillor.

Answer 1: The question is extremely general and, therefore, difficult to answer with any precision. Quincy is now in the middle of a major financial crisis. This crisis, due in part to proposition 2½ and going to full valuation, certainly is going to affect the quality of our public service. Certainly we are, at the present time, in a no growth position when it comes to public service. Public service takes into consideration public education as well as general services such as road repairs and snow removal.

Quincy has always provided more than adequate public services and, therefore, we find ourselves trying to creatively respond to the economic crisis in a way that will enable us to continue to provide those services.

Answer 2: In essence, both questions #1 and #2 are closely linked, if not, inseparable. How do we deal with our present financial crisis? Certainly we must encourage the redevelopment of downtown Quincy to broaden the tax base which would increase our revenue and thus allow us to improve and expand on our services. We must also devise better managerial techniques in city fiscal management as well as determine new and creative methods for financing and providing established services.

• Ward 5 Councillor

STEPHEN J. McGRATH, 36 Bass St. Age: 28. Occupation: Attorney, present Ward 5 Councillor.

Answer 1: Quincy, like most older cities, is at a crossroads in two areas (a) development and (b) financial. I would like to see our downtown continue to begin its reawakening and therefore support construction of the cross-town connector.

Answer 2: Financially, the city must continue to deal with the effects of Prop. 2½ and accordingly, I would advocate some creative budgetary moves to meet this challenge. Rather than a piecemeal approach to budget cutting, consolidation of departments and services should occur. Only in this way will our most essential services, public safety and education, be maintained.

• Ward 6 Councillor

JOANNE CONDON, 175 Quincy Shore Dr. Age: 41. Occupation: Bookkeeper/Accountant, present Ward 6 Councillor.

Answer 1: Quincy is an older city in the midst of a revitalization era providing great opportunities and challenges for its residents. I would like to see Quincy continue to move forward, meeting its problems on a daily basis, communicating with its residents through the public forum so that their views are represented and providing a community that continues to be a fine place to live.

Answer 2: The city's financial condition is the most pressing problem in Quincy today, there is no doubt. It affects all aspects of our lives - our education, our services, our health and safety, taxes, neighborhood character, etc. The city's bond rating has dropped; borrowing is expensive and difficult; Proposition 2½ is law and must be made to work, there have been significant layoffs within key city departments; and the results of 100% evaluation are not yet known.

Although the Ward Councillor's primary responsibility is to serve as an advocate for his/her constituents in the delivery of city services and the control of neighborhood development, the Ward Councillor can greatly contribute to the fiscal condition of the community. Responsible steps must be taken to improve our bond rating, accurately project outlay and income, and balance the budget. We must scrutinize the budget, curb unnecessary costs, expand the tax base with responsible development and improve the efficiency of city management.

• School Committee

Question 1: How would you propose to implement reorganization of the Quincy schools?

Question 2: Since we presently have the financial restrictions of 2%, how do you propose to prevent the deterioration of quality education in Quincy?

MARY P. COLLINS, 116 Lansdown St. Age: 39. Occupation: Homemaker and real estate broker, present member School Committee.

Answer 1: As in the past, a task force of parents and taxpayers should be formed to advise the school committee on community opinions on reorganization. We would also have to consider fiscal restraints and practicability with regard to any plan under study so as to insure educational and financial accountability and responsibility.

Answer 2: Having a firm commitment to the students of Quincy and to public education, I would look to cutting non-educational endeavors at all levels before any more cuts are made to academic areas. I feel, too, that system wide, we should be committed to putting forth our best possible efforts under all circumstances.

JOAN C. PICARD, 61 Rogers St. Age: 41. Occupation: Owner and Director of Let's Have Fun Nursery School, present member School Committee.

Answer 1: Reorganization of the Quincy Schools began with the consolidation of schools at the elementary level. The ninth grade classes should be moved up to the High Schools in September. The system would then be ready for a middle school organization plan.

Answer 2: Since 2½ has been

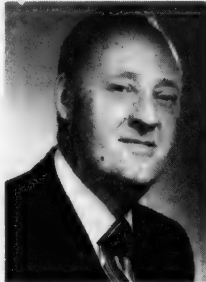

SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

TERM: Four years, three of the six members elected every two years.

Job description: Duties are as described in the questions to School Committee candidates in this special voter information section.

in place, we have already seen the deterioration of some programs in schools. Further reductions in transportation and lunch programs, as well as the transfer of programs in the system, will have to be considered if we are to keep the present pupil-teacher ratio as the maximum for Quincy.

JOHN J. SULLIVAN, 23 Marlon St. Age: 62. Occupation: Director Employee Relations Commonwealth of Massachusetts, present member School Committee.

Answer 1: Earlier this year the School Committee reviewed reorganization proposals containing school closing problems. The School Committee opted for the plan representing the least closings.

One of the plans encompassed a middle school profile. Pressures existed to adopt this concept. Adoption would have closed eight schools.

No question, the middle school notion is surfacing. A design involving grades 6 through 8 could be considered. The age and everyday interest factors are sufficiently compatible for comfortable moldings.

The 9th through 12th grade groupings permit science, foreign languages, etc. to begin the first year and continue uninterrupted during the four years of high school.

Answer 2: Suffice it to say that I am a candidate for re-election, in order that I might continue to work against further cuts in the quality of education being offered our Quincy students. No doubt you are aware that the unilateral action of the Mayor, followed by the blessings of a majority of the City Council earlier this year, assessed the school budget with over 65% of proposition 2½ reductions.

The unsoundness of this arbitrary action borders upon insanity and severely weakened the Quincy School System. No other school department in Massachusetts has had to absorb as heavy a penalty as we in Quincy have been forced to swallow.

PATRICK CONROY, 272 Billings St. Age: 23. Occupation: Contract Negotiator.

Answer 1: The success of any School Committee is measured by the quality of the educational services delivered. The key to such success in the 1980's will be the ability to communicate effectively with the Mayor and City Council (without lawsuits!), to clearly articulate the importance of public education, and to build grassroots support for the Quincy Public Schools by managing the available resources more efficiently and effectively.

Answer 2: If we are not afraid to accept new ideas which can meet the challenges of the 80's, I believe we can produce measurable results, restore public confidence, and achieve the goal of high quality public education at a reasonable cost.

JAMES J. O'BRIEN, 19 River St. Age: 32. Occupation: Restaurant Manager.

Answer 1: I would not consider reorganization of the Quincy schools until the system is stabilized financially.

Answer 2:

1. Open the school committee meetings to public comments and questions.

2. Make sure s. c. members know, understand and participate in budget process.

3. Implement "tracking" system.

4. Begin, through collective bargaining, the changing of the tenure system.

5. To simplify teacher evaluation system, and to tie in with job security, using community resources as protection against political influences.

6. To make the whole collective bargaining process more open to public scrutiny.

7. To begin a continuing flow of information between members and parent teacher groups.

8. To hold weekly meetings on my own, acting as an information exchange person.

NICHOLAS C. VERENIS, 82 Andrews Road. Age: 34. Occupation: Sales, Management Columbia Billiard Co. of Boston.

Answer 1: How would you propose to implement reorganization of the Quincy Schools?

From the many possibilities of school re-organization we must seek an immediate, long-range and definitive plan which diminishes disruption for students. My proposal would incorporate the middle school concept. Elementary schools with more than 400 students is educationally unsound. Re-organization must consider the least negative impact on children and the most positive impact on taxes.

Answer 2: Since we presently have the financial restrictions of 2½, how do you propose to prevent the deterioration of quality education in Quincy?

The term "financial restrictions" is vague because the term depends on how responsible and committed the Mayor and City Council are to funding the School Department and how the School Committee expends those funds. Quality education rests ultimately with the professional staff. Preventing deterioration of quality education means the re-channeling of funds presently used to prepare and publish "designs for learning" and supporting an administrative bureaucracy. Quality education and fiscal responsibility are ultimately achievable, even with the "financial restrictions" of 2½.

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli notes that, effective Jan. 1, all supervisors of construction will

"This requirement was established prior to the abolition of the State Building Code Commission," he said.

Applicants for such a license must prove that he or she has had at least three years experience in complete charge of work together with any technical knowledge required.

Any person meeting one of the following requirements will be licensed without testing until June 1, 1982:

- A registered professional architect or engineer.
- A four-year undergraduate degree in a field related to construction and at least one year of experience in the supervision of building construction.
- At least three years experience in the supervision of building construction with a general knowledge of certain technicalities involved.

Cortese Says He Speaks Out

Joseph F. Cortese, candidate for Ward 2 Councillor, told those attending a recent rally meeting that he is not afraid to speak out on the issues.

Cortese said, "I am the only candidate for Ward 2 Council that is not afraid to speak out on all the issues impacting the people in Ward 2."

"While both my opponent and I have a number of civic involvements and accomplishments during our years in Ward 2, I am the only candidate that has spoken out on present and future issues."

"Not only have I taken positions on these issues, but I have challenged my opponent to debate with me on these issues."

"With the severe financial crunch of the '80's upon us, we need a leader serving as Ward 2 Councillor, not an "ostrich."

School Committee Concerned Is Park Sq. Area Safe For NQHS Junior Prom?

By KATHY DOLBECK

North Quincy High School juniors might be planning to dance all night at their prom, but just where that dancing will occur has yet to be determined.

A request to hold the prom June 4 at the Boston Park Plaza Hotel was tabled by the school committee last week, pending further study. That decision came after several committee members questioned the safety of the proposed location.

"I don't like the idea of them going into Boston," said committee member John Sullivan. "I have misgivings about Park Square, it is an undesirable area." Committee member Joan Picard echoed Sullivan's concerns and cautioned her colleagues about the potential risks involved. "I'm worried about the kids going into Boston," she said. "Some of the kids might be 16, but their dates are considerably younger."

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, though, pointed out that students had difficulty finding a local establishment that would cater to a student group, without a bar, thereby eliminating the liquor sales they would usually realize on a weekend night.

Still, Mrs. Picard expressed concern that annually the same issue comes before the board and each time members agree to it, although reluctantly, and never take a stand.

"I hope this junior class can set a precedent by having it in Quincy," she said.

Siohban Corrigan, a student associate to the committee suggested that committee members contact the school administration to determine whether or not the class was responsible enough to go into Boston.

Committee member Mary Collins questioned Creedon as to the feasibility of using the new North Quincy gym as an alternative site. Creedon explained that last year because the floor was new, it could not be used, but now it could be used because the floor had "settled."

Miss Corrigan said that she would mention that option to her classmates.

Mrs. Picard also asked that Creedon contact the Elks, Sons of Italy, Morrisette Posts and other local organizations to see if they would consider renting their halls to the students.

Reformation Sunday Sermon At Squantum Church

Taking his cue from Martin Luther, the pastor of the First Church of Squantum, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, propounded six theses Sunday during his Reformation sermon.

Protestant churches observe the Sunday before Oct. 31, each year as Reformation Sunday. It was on Oct. 31, 1517, that a German monk named Martin Luther, according to the custom of the time, nailed 95 theses or affirmations of faith to the door of the Church of All Saints in Wittenberg.

His purpose was to stimulate debate about certain practices of the church of his day.

This action has been taken as a symbol of many other similar protests in Europe, both before Luther and after, which were part of the historical movement called the "Protestant Reformation".

Dr. Langevin spoke to the children about "Famous Protestants". His sermon for the adults was entitled, "What Protestants Believe".

The congregation sang some of the traditional hymns from the time of the Reformation. The Chancel Choir sang Luther's hymn, "Come, Holy Spirit, God and Lord!" as the offertory anthem. The music was by Vulpinus and Bach.

The Junior Choir sang "Clap Your Hands" by Jimmy Owens with the following children playing instruments: Triangle, Blythe Bumpus; Tambourine, Kristen Reister; Wood Block, Melissa Stamos; and Lummi Sticks, Bonnie MacRitchie, Lori Ogilvie, Kim Olson, Krista Olson, Karin Reister and Amanda Young. Mary Ruth Scott was director.

Eva Martin led the opening prayer and Barbara Frazer gave the prayer of dedication. Ushers were Steve Williams, Edward Perkins, Tore Wallin and Don Frazer.

Greeters for the service were George and Ruth Goward. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Millie Johnson, Ginny Galarneaux and Sally Wainwright.

The morning began with a Reformation Sunday breakfast for the whole church. The meal was sponsored by Cinnamon Toast, one of the youth groups in the church, to raise money to send young people to camp. Barbara Colwell was in charge.

The sermon at next Sunday's 10:15 a.m. service will be entitled, "Religious Liberty: the Separation of Church and State."

Dr. Coleman Bender, who is knowledgeable in the field of interpersonal communications, will be featured speaker at the Fall Seminars sponsored by the Houghs Neck Congregational Church Sundays Nov. 1 and 8, at 7 p.m.

A professor at Emerson College for 30 years, Dr. Bender received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Pennsylvania State University and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

The author of several books, he has just completed a communications project for the Department of Defense in Washington, D.C.

He is also a member of the board of directors of the New Church Theological School.

Prior to Dr. Bender's presentation, the Board of Deaconesses will serve a Harvest Supper at 6 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the church or contacting any member of the Board of Deaconesses. Reservations are required.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

WHEN I DIE DONT HAVE A FUNERAL FOR ME

JUST THROW ME IN THE GROUND

That is a common statement. There is a problem with it, however, when someone we love dies survivors react with strong emotions. We feel sad, we are upset and we cry. We find it hard to believe that death has come. Without formal ceremony we may lose an opportunity to gain support from friends and loved ones. By not seeing the deceased we lose the chance to confront the reality of death. Funerals and visitations can help. Some psychologists have said that the funeral and visitation is an important first step in adjusting to our loss. Lack of a funeral and visitation will have no effect on the deceased but it can have serious consequences on the survivor.

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 29

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

A quiet period socially, with the accent on new hobbies and recreational programs. Peace treaties — perhaps with a respected but difficult relative — are in the picture.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Avoid making snap decisions, especially on property-related matters. Communication is a strong point, so get on with your speeches, reports, phone calls, etc.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

You can see now how an important career or educational goal will shape up, but don't expect too much to happen too quickly. Romance is sparkling through the week.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Your favorite friend is in a lavish mood, but you're probably thinking in practical terms. Current long-distance events are connected with your future plans.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Financial reversal can start you thinking in more practical terms — perhaps you decide to freshen up old skills. Social life is full of excitement and surprise.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Thursday-Monday can include a legal wrangle plus a host of detailed, routine jobs. November starts on a romantically sweet note and with positive financial news.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Relationship with children continues to improve, and your best friends are eager to spoil you. Transit delays signal last-minute changes in your visiting plans.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Emphasis is on originality, especially in dealing with mini-crises at home and at work. Week's highlights include outdoor and/or faraway activities.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

The week accents both selling and inventing. Family announcement may sound a little vague, but it's not the best time to press for all the details.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Partner seems mysterious, but it's best to stay in the background. Associates seem to be testing you, but no one can match wits with Scorpio this week.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

A long-lasting domestic matter is positively resolved, and trust is re-established between you and a suspicious colleague. Secret admirer comes out of the closet.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Creativity level is high and you lean toward the offbeat this week. Outspokenness can rise to near-dangerous levels. Financial puzzle is solved by weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Courageous, protective, encouraging — you're highly principled and rather sly. Domestic dilemma is happily resolved early in '82. There's an increased workload this year, but also increased chances for beautifying your surroundings.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 29th, singer Melba Moore; 30th, actor Henry Winkler; 31st, actress Barbara Bel Geddes; November 1st, actress Betsy Palmer; 2nd, actor David Hemmings; 3rd, author Ian Jordanon; 4th, actor Art Carney.

10-5-81 Solution

No Sparks In McCauley- Raymondi Debate

are paying this city money.

Bringing in revenue is one side of the picture. Reducing the size of city government on an equitable and fair basis is the other side of Proposition 2½. I think it will reduce the amount of inefficiency in government. It will make every elected official work a little bit harder making sure that government is more effective in delivering the proper services. I'm not one of those who feel that doom is to come. I just feel we have to work a little bit harder, perhaps organize our creative thoughts into making sure the city's financial house is in complete order.

McCAULEY - It's not whether it's a good law or a bad law. It's a law that was enacted by the vote of the people. It presents a challenge to those people in elective office to run the city government more efficiently.

QUESTION - Please explain your vote on the City Council for the $7.2 million bond which precipitated Quincy's loss of its Moody's bond rating.

McCAULEY - The vote came in 1978 and it was part of a plan of the present administration to effect what is called a "bail out" of prior year's deficits both in budgets and in revenue projections. I was one of two city councilors who voted "no" on it. I don't believe you should be financing current expenses by bond issues. The proceeds of that bond issue will be paid for by the taxpayers of the city with interest which runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In conjunction with that bond issue the tax rate for fiscal '79 went down 60 cents. I criticized that combined action because it was an election year tax rate designed to help the current administration through a very difficult election. I correctly predicted what would happen as a result of that 60 cent tax rate and the floating of the bonds. We did not achieve financial stability. The same process was started all over again. I predicted in 1978 that we'd get a whopping tax increase in the following year and we did, we got a $27.40 increase in 1979.

RAYMONDI - The economics of the times in 1978 explains the $7.2 million bond issue. In 1976, there was a $34.90 tax increase delivered to the taxpayers of this city. In 1977 there was an additional moderate increase. In 1978 a new administration took place. There really wasn't any debate that a prior administration left the city in debt to the amount of $7.2 million. The City Council at that point had two choices: either place on the tax rate that $7.2 million deficit which would have increased your property tax again between $28 and $31 or design a package by which that deficit could be rolled over a period of three or four or five years. The administration came in with a package that would include the latter and not the former and I voted for it. They came in with that package indicating that it would return fiscal stability to the city of Quincy and they assured the City Council that the historically significant process of anticipating revenues over and above what one would logically anticipate would cease. Unfortunately, that didn't happen. The tax rate in that particular year dropped 60 cents. If we had had a moderate tax rate increase in that particular year perhaps we would not have been in the fiscal problems we're in today. But that didn't happen. But that doesn't mean that the vote on the bond issue was irresponsible.

QUESTION - What is your basic approach to the parking problem in downtown Quincy?

RAYMONDI - Parking meters in the city have been a substantial problem for a good many years now. However, we have a far different problem from the Brintree Plaza or the Hanover Mall. When people go there they go primarily one reason and that is to shop. People come to Quincy for many reasons. Some may be coming to shop. Some may be coming to visit a relative. Others may be coming to go to the Quincy Junior College. And a good many of them are coming into Quincy to take the MBTA. So it becomes critically important to us as a city that needs the help of the consuming public that we have as many parking spaces as we possibly can in order to enable the merchants to have the flexibility of moving people in and out. Right now, in downtown Quincy, parking spaces are at a minimum. I supported the construction of the two additional floors on the UDAG garage. The garage that is built will barely house the needs of the Campanelli project. Parking is a very serious problem. Parking meters are something that I feel we ought to be able to move away from if we have a parking control program. I've been talking in terms of a system of validated parking that would need the cooperation of the merchants and the City Council. It would be a system by which you would pull into a space, perhaps receive a ticket, and if you were shopping in downtown Quincy, then that stamp could be validated and some system of payment could be worked out when you get back to your space.

McCAULEY - I think the day of the parking meter is over in downtown Quincy. Years ago, when we were Shopperstown and the Ross and Hancock Parking areas were developed, the parking meter was an excellent method of controlling parking. We didn't have MBTA stations in those days. We did not have the competition from South Shore Plaza. We obviously have to have some method of controlling parking. I also agree that a validated method of parking would be necessary. We also have got to have some kind of strengthened ordinances in downtown Quincy to take care of the illegal parking that goes on on some of our side streets. I know that some merchants downtown are desirous of some kind of towing ordinance so that those people who are chronic violators are taken care of. This is the direction I would move in.

McCauley By Landslide

By TOM HENSHAW

THE WINNER! Mayor-elect Francis X. McCauley and Quincy's new First Lady, Sandra, smile happily at victory party at Neighborhood Club.

THE LOSER, Daniel G. Raymondi (right) arrives at Neighborhood Club with wife, Sharyn, to congratulate victor, Francis X. McCauley.

Francis X. McCauley, a veteran city office holder with a reputation of fiscal conservatism, was elected mayor of Quincy Tuesday by a landslide margin over Daniel G. Raymondi.

McCauley, a Republican who played down his party affiliation in the non-partisan election, prevailed by a margin of 18,037 to 12,222 for Raymondi, a Democrat who appealed for party support.

In other features of the Tuesday balloting:

- The 26-year career of John J. Quinn on the City Council apparently was ended when his bid for a 14th term fell short. School Committeewoman Patricia Toland edged him by 382 votes.

- Nicholas C. Verenis, who was laid off as a social studies teacher at North Quincy High School in June, upset John J. Sullivan by a margin of 589 votes in his try for a third term on the School Committee.

But Sullivan appeared to be in a good position to regain his seat in January after Toland resigns from the School Committee to become a member of the City Council.

- Outside of McCauley, the top vote-getter of them all was former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia, who got 17,460 in the second step of his comeback campaign for re-election to the Council at large.

He had 2,187 votes more than Richard J. Koch Jr., who was elected to the Council in his second try. Two years ago, he lost out by the scant margin of 197 votes.

The election drew a turnout of 30,530 voters, or some 62.9 per cent of the 48,511 registered.

McCauley was favored to win election as mayor but not by the 5,815 margin that showed in the balloting.

The 51-year-old retired bank president swept all but four of the city's 39 precincts after a campaign that produced few clear-cut issues and little acrimony.

Around 11:30 p.m., when the McCauley victory was assured, Raymondi went to the McCauley victory party at the Quincy Neighborhood Club and pledged "to do everything possible to make this administration a success."

McCauley said that he thought all along that "the potential was there for a big win."

"There has been too much politics in this city for the past few years," he said at the Neighborhood Club. "This is an opportunity to lead the city in a new direction."

It became apparent very early, around 9:30 p.m., that a McCauley victory of major proportions was in the making when the key Precinct 6 of Ward 4 went to McCauley.

The heavily Italian precinct is considered a bellweather in an election that involves a candidate of Italian ancestry. McCauley captured it by a margin of 272 to 183.

But McCauley held off his claim of victory, saying only that, "I'm optimistic. But I remember Tom Dewey in 1948." Dewey, heavily favored to oust President Harry S. Truman, went to bed a winner and woke up a loser when the final tally was in.

There were indications that John J. Quinn's career as a city councillor was in jeopardy in September, when he finished fifth in the preliminary election well behind the top three of LaRaia, Koch and Toland and 37 votes behind newcomer Timothy P.

City Clerk Now Collecting Parking Fines

As if he weren't busy enough with the election, City Clerk John M. Gillis this week was also handed the job of collecting fines for overtime parking in the city streets and lots.

Quincy District Court gave up that job on Monday and passed it on to Gillis under a recently enacted state law that was accepted by the City Council a few months ago.

Gillis said the fines—both past and present—can be paid at any of the City Clerk's office windows along the first floor corridor in the old City Hall.

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

The Quincy Sun will have an early news deadline next week because of the Veterans Day holiday, Wednesday, Nov. 11.

News, social and sports releases for next week's issue should be in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. by Friday of this week to assure publication.

It will be impossible to guarantee publication of releases received after Friday.

A Reminder To Our Readers

Effective with this issue, the home delivery and newsstand price of The Quincy Sun will be 20 cents instead of 15 cents.

As we announced Oct. 8, steadily rising costs—newsprint, typesetting, photographs and other materials needed to produce a newspaper—force us to make this adjustment.

The Sun has absorbed these increased costs as long as it can but now finds it impossible to continue to do so.

This will make only the second price increase in the history of The Quincy Sun which is now in its 14th year.

Part of the increase will go to our more than 400 news carriers who faithfully bring The Sun to your homes each week and to our newsstand vendors.

New rates for new mail subscriptions are also in effect. They are:

In Quincy, $8 per year, $14 two years, $20 three years.

Outside Quincy, but in Massachusetts, $9 per year.

Outside of Massachusetts, $12 per year.

Mail subscriptions taken out at the old rates and those being renewed this month will be honored at the old rates until the completion of the subscription.

We have tried to give Quincy a good community newspaper and to continually expand and improve our news coverage.

The cost of producing a community newspaper—like everything else—is much higher than it was 13 years ago.

For just the second time since we started in 1968, we find it necessary to increase the price of our newspaper to meet those higher costs.

We hope our readers who have been most loyal to us and have encouraged us in our efforts to bring to Quincy a good community newspaper, will be understanding as we make this inflation forced adjustment.

Thank you, most sincerely,

Henry Bosworth

Luke's Lounge 2 A.M. Closing Request Continued By Board

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to continue for one week a request from Luke's Lounge, 51-57 Granite St., for a 2 a.m. closing hour.

Mrs. Dorothy Higgins, who manages the lounge, told the board that since she and her husband, Luke, took over the establishment, they've "gotten rid of a bad crowd".

Mrs. Higgins said the quality of the clientele has improved, and she feels that she and her husband have done a good job with the business.

The problem, explained Mrs. Higgins, is that people don't arrive at the establishment until 10 or 11 p.m., after they've had dinner. The lounge closes at 1 a.m.

Mrs. Higgins said business was off this summer when many people went to Cape Cod for week ends. She also pointed out that the lounge has expenses related to sponsoring sports teams.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that he "has always had strong reservations about 2 a.m. closings."

"I've opposed them since their inception," said Barry.

Mrs. Higgins asked if the 2 a.m. closing would be granted for a trial period.

"I've never voted for a trial 2 a.m. closing," said Barry, "I'm strongly opposed."

"I advocate 2 a.m. closings for everyone," said City Clerk John Gillis.

"If one has it, they all should have it," he said.

The matter was continued to next week when a full board will be present. Police Chief Francis Finn and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald were not at this week's meeting.

Raymondi Tops McCauley In Mayoral Spending

Unless there was a big reversal of form in the final week of the campaign, Daniel G. Raymondi was the big spender in the race for mayor in the 1981 city election.

Raymondi's campaign finance reports covering the period up to eight days before the election showed that the city councillor from Ward 2 spent $56,379.81 in his quest for mayor.

Most of it, $35,061.30, was spent in the early days of the campaign prior to the September preliminary in which the name of neither candidate for mayor was on the ballot.

His opponent, Francis X. McCauley, spent a total of $32,117.40 on the campaign, according to figures that were filed on Oct. 26, including $15,691.88 in preliminary expenses.

Some $29,500 of Raymondi's expenditures went to the Providence, R.I., advertising firm of Duffy and Shanley for consultant services and advertisements in the local news media.

Raymondi was also the biggest fund raiser of the two, reporting contributions of $46,371.47 on the eighth day before the preliminary election and $17,200.76 more on the eighth day before the general election.

His fund raising totals came to $63,572.23, and he had a balance of $7,239.74 going into the last week of the campaign.

McCauley reported receipts of $20,997 and $17,920.62 for a total of $38,917.62 and a balance on Oct. 26 of $13,000.29.

Contributors of more than $500 in one lump sum to the Raymondi campaign included: John P. Albanese of Milton, $500; Carl A. Awed of 580 Furnace Brook Parkway, $500; David Chu of Brookline, $500; Ronald Iacobucci, 10 Hyde St., $500; Joseph P. McParland, 190 School St., $500; William S. O'Connell, 95 West Squantum St., $500; Richard Newcomb, 122 Plymouth Ave., $1,000; Richard Nash of Weymouth, $500; Robert Rodophele, 29 Hamilton Ave., $500; Stephen Ricciardi, 51 Plover Rd., $500; William Salisbury of Braintree, $500; Patrick F. Walsh, 542 East Squantum St., $500; Robert A. Cerasoli, 90 Whiton Ave., $500; Peter Kelly of Milton, $600; Michael J. Harrington of Salem, $1,000.

McCauley got contributions of $500 or more from only one supporter -- Robert Warrington, 35 Dale Ave., $500. He received $400 contribution from LeRoy Rounseville, 1568 Hancock St.

New Mayor Must Keep 'Tight Rein'

Tobin Feels His Regime Placed City On Right Path

By TOM HENSHAW

It was City Election Day, 1981, and for the first time in 14 years Mayor Arthur H. Tobin was not a candidate for public office nor was he deeply involved in a campaign.

Come Monday, Jan. 4, and a possible appointment as clerk-magistrate of the Quincy District Court, he will cease to play a major role in the management of the city where he was born.

He says he is leaving office confident that his administration has in the past four years placed the city on the right path to the future, although there is much left to do.

"In the next few years," he said, "Proposition 2½ will stabilize the city's financing picture."

"But frugal management and innovative solutions to financial problems are absolutely necessary if we are going to meet the financial challenges of the future."

"The new administration, be it Raymondi or McCauley, has got to continue to keep a tight rein on spending. They must prepare balanced budgets and the city must live within them."

"The city's long-term debt must continue down the path that my administration started it on."

"When I was sworn into office in January, 1978, the city's authorized debt was $39,620,000. When I leave office in two months, the debt will be $34,980,000."

"That's a reduction of $4,640,000 and I'm proud of that."

Tobin said that his administration has tried to meet the challenge of the past four years head-on and "with a modicum of success."

"I am proud," he said, "that Quincy Junior College has been fully accredited at last and, with the cooperation of the City Council and the state, it is now a self-supporting institution."

"I am also proud of the enterprise account at the Hospital. It has insured the hospital's financial future and will provide Quincy with a modern medical facility within five years."

Such things as health care, easy access, recreation and educational facilities, Tobin said, are important factors in luring developers to the city.

"That," he said, "is why my administration has been very successful in our economic development efforts."

"These efforts are becoming visible in downtown Quincy in the renovation of the Gilchrist and Greenleaf buildings and construction of Quincy Center Plaza."

Elsewhere in the city, he noted the National Fire Protection Association headquarters in West Quincy, the Monarch buildings in the State Street South complex, and office buildings finished or soon to be constructed at 100 and 200 Newport Ave.

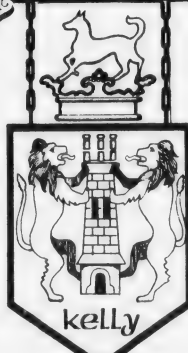

"These projects are only samples of what my administration has accomplished," he said. "These efforts have provided jobs for our neighbors, customers for our businesses and increased tax revenues."

"I am proud that my administration has been able to solve some of the major problems facing our city but there are others that still await action."

"Future administrations must grapple with the problems of modernizing our sewer system, replacing the sanitary landfill and working with the realities of Proposition 2½."

"The new administration is going to have to decide whether or not to pay for waste disposal and a new sewer system with available funds or by a water and sewer commission."

"As I look ahead, I am confident that, with our political leaders, the business community and the citizens working together we can meet the challenges and insure the future of the city."

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

FALLS FATAL TO OLDSTERS

The statistics concerning the rate of fatality from accidental falls by older people is shocking. Of the 20,000 persons killed last year by accidental home falls, almost 15,000 were over 65 years old. You can do something to prevent many of these needless tragedies.

Did you know that there are special aids for the elderly to compensate for failing muscle power and a tendency toward dizziness when stooping or getting up too fast?

For example, why not place a springheld pole jack, with or without the usual lamp attachment, next to the chair or bed so a person can grab it to pull himself up?

To prevent unnecessary bending to the shoes, you can buy gel-soled, elastic shoelaces, and a firm, 18 inch shoehorn.

Also on the market is an adjustable bathtub seat so that an elderly person can sit at a comfortable height while bathing without the fear of getting up with difficulty.

Comer Dreads R-Day, Too

Quincy homeowners dread the coming of R-Day: Revaluation Day.

That's the day in a few weeks when they will receive impact notices telling them what the new valuation of their property is going to be under 100 per cent valuation. And, it's going to be UP!

Dreading it as much as them if not more is the man who will be responsible for sending out those notices: Chief Assessor John Comer.

He told the Quincy Taxpayers Association last week he may have to ask for police protection once the notices go into the mail.

Later, he said, he was only half-joking. Which means he's at least half-serious.

"I haven't asked for it yet," he said, "but I might. And I mean right by my side at all times. It's horrendous," he told the monthly meeting of the QTA.

"I know what happened in 1973 when we equalized valuations under Mayor Walter Hannon.

"My life was threatened. I had the police around my house for two days. My kids had to get protection to go to school. I was put up against the wall downstairs and it took three policemen to get a guy off my neck.

"It's nothing to what's going to happen now."

People just don't understand, he said, how a tax-cutting measure like Proposition 2½ can go into effect yet tax bills will go up because of revaluation.

Comer noted that when Harry Roemer, executive secretary of the QTA, put a pro- 2½ bumper sticker on his car another motorist rammed into the car.

"All because of a bumper sticker," he said. "There's a lot of cuckoos out there."

Comer said most people in Quincy don't understand that homeowners have not been paying their fair share of property taxes over the years.

"They haven't understood it and they don't want to understand it," he said.

"Back in 1973, people down in Houghs Neck, some of them were paying $800 and $900 a year in taxes. We went up to $1,200 and they threw us out of office.

"Every time you needed valuation you went to the commercial or industrial property or to the utilities. That was politically the right thing to do.

"The problem we have is very simple: We have revaluation. Taxes are going to go up. But commercial and industrial taxes are going down.

firemen, school teachers go because of 2½. Taxes go down. But they're going up. They're not going to understand it.

"What we're really doing is shifting the tax levy. The levy went down from $67 million to $56 million. But instead of commercial property paying the bulk of the $67 million, the homeowners are going to pay their even share of the $56 million.

"That they don't understand."

Comer declines to speculate on how much the valuation of the average home in Quincy would increase under revaluation but he noted that some residential property was now rated as low as 10 per cent of full value.

His own home, he said, was valued at $6,900 for tax purposes and probably should be valued at $69,000.

He said he expects that the total valuation of the city will turn out to be around $1.5 billion which, with a tax levy of $56 million for fiscal 1982, would mean a tax rate in the vicinity of $40 per $1,000 valuation.

FORMER Mayor Thomas Burgin was one of the speakers at the dedication of McIntyre Mall in honor of late Police Capt. William McIntyre. He was introduced by Mayor Arthur Tobin as Quincy's "elder statesman."

Burgin, who will be 80 next April, responded:

"I was rather shaken when you introduced me as one of Quincy's elder citizens. Probably I am. You know, there are four stages in life. There is youth, middle age, senior citizen and 'my goodness, don't you look well.'"

It touched off a ripple of laughter and a lot of smiles.

Then, Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, who gave the benediction topped it with this:

"Talking about the four stages in life, when they see me, they say, 'Oh, God, he's still around!'"

PLANNING Director James Lydon is trying to kick the nicotine habit. And he's really serious. He's undergoing hypnosis to help him quit.

OBSERVATION via Win Bettinson in the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: "The best part of a real estate bargain is a good neighbor."

Legislators Ask New MBTA Student Policy

Members of the Quincy legislative delegation met last week with officials of the MBTA to discuss fares and transfers for students.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said he and his colleagues requested that the MBTA issue monthly student passes for surface vehicles for $9, half the price of an adult surface pass.

The MBTA stopped issuing transfers for students last August when fares were raised. This caused fares to increase from 20 cents to $1 daily for some students.

Attending the meeting with Morrissey were Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and Robert A. Cerasoli and Sen. Paul D. Harold.

Criticizes Democrats 'Jumping Ship'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In a recent article by David S. Broder carried in the Boston Sunday Globe, Mr. Broder makes crystal clear the gravity of the "Democratic Benedict Arnold Syndrome", i.e., elected Democrats that are jumping the Democratic ship and clambering onto the Republican cabin cruiser, and voting the Democratic constituency, responsible for putting them into office, down the river.

The Democratic economic policy is one of fiscal prudence, ultimately resulting in the reduction of government spending in areas that have been notoriously beaurocratic fat. The radical Republican platform of extensive cuts in Social Security, affecting the elderly, who at this point are just able to make ends meet. It is senseless that these are the people who become the victims of reckless disregard of vital human services through Republican legislation and "leadership". This is just one example illustrating the basic and monumental difference in the ideals and goals of Republicans and Democrats serving to emphasize the crucial need for Democratic Party Unity.

The fact that some Democrats lack the strength and/or integrity to follow through with the convictions of their chosen party, are not only voting in the chambers of the House and the Senate, nationally and locally, for these Republican declarations of war against certain segments of our society, is outrageous enough; but now in Quincy we have our State Senator (D-Quincy), endorsing a Republican Mayoral Candidate. As Mr. Broder quoted Charles T. Manatt, Democratic National Chairman, "It is high time that the House Democratic Caucus deal with the renegades."

Bottle Bill Should Include Local Collection Centers

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I applaud the intent of the Massachusetts House of Representatives on its passage of the Mass. Bottle Bill on Oct. 19.

As a former resident of Vermont, I have seen how a similar bill there helped to clean up the Green Mountain State not only of dangerous broken bottles, but also of other unhealthy litter, by focusing the public's attention on the problem.

The major opposition to the bill comes from the retailer's of bottled beverages who would have to store the deposited containers until they were reprocessed. There it is a solution to this unfair burden on the retailers. The bill should include the creation of local collection centers where the containers would be processed by computer using the universal product code with a Mass. identification number added.

Once such a processing system is included in the bill I feel that it will become law. Massachusetts will certainly be more beautiful for it!

She Winces At Those Words

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I have enjoyed reading your column (Sunbeams) over the years and have agreed with you so, so many times. I have said to myself on many occasions, "Right on, Henry."

Your column in October 22nd's issue, "It Makes You Feel Sad" in reference to today's foul language has prompted me to write this letter. Your feelings expressed mine exactly.

As you stated, it is bad enough to hear men and boys using this foul language, but it is appalling to hear these four-letter words coming from young girls and young ladies — and the increasing number of them using it is frightening. I wince every time I hear these words uttered. It gives me a sick feeling right in the pit of my stomach. Do they think it is some kind of "status symbol" to use these foul-sounding words? Does it make them a "big" person? Well, I am sorry but it certainly doesn't. And if they want to call us square and old-fashioned because of our disgust at its use, then square and old-fashioned I want to be.

As the mother of an 8-year old daughter being brought up in a home where she never hears this type of language from either her father or mother, other family members, or our friends, we can only hope that she has enough respect for herself and us so that she will grow to be a fine, clean-mouth decent young lady.

Why Not Criticize Men?

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Prejudice is insidious. It creeps up upon us in our society as jungle growth invades the ruins of past civilizations and with an equally devastating effect. It is just this which makes the fight for women's equality so difficult.

Calling oneself "old-fashioned" sounds so idyllic that we might let the degradation of others implied by that statement slip by. That is, we might come to accept the idea that equality is a fine concept so long as we have none of the assertion that goes along with it, as long as women maintain the so-called feminine ideal capitulated by men for centuries, in other words, so long as they are stereotypically female.

Why is it allowable for men to swear, cavort and carouse while women must be sweet and demure as if they are somehow above that. Why, instead of criticizing women who are not ideal stereotypes, should we not criticize men who must live up to their own stereotypical, macho image, however "old fashioned" such behavior may be.

If behavior is deemed inappropriate, it should be considered inappropriate for all persons, not be distinguished by sex. If we do not finally change our attitudes, if we continue to allow prejudice to slip into our communications, we will lose all chance of becoming a society which respects each individual and become a society in which no one is allowed individual freedom.

Mixed Reaction To Rotary

Testimony was about evenly divided pro and con at a City Council hearing on whether to make permanent the experimental rotary traffic pattern around First Parish Church in Quincy Square.

Speaking against the plan were former Mayors Thomas S. Burgin and Joseph L. Whiton and banker Deleware King.

Favorable comments were made by Capt. William Ferrazzi, head of the Quincy Traffic Bureau, and William M. Edmonston, executive secretary of the Quincy Taxpayers Association.

Edmonston called it "the greatest improvement in Quincy Center in 20 years, a very great improvement."

"Personally," said Burgin, "I believe there is a dumping of traffic into Temple St. I do not believe a rotary is the solution, not where there are so many pedestrians."

Ferrazzi blamed any traffic congestion in the square on a lack of synchronized traffic lights on Temple St.

"The rotary takes the city out of the horse and buggy stage and makes Quincy a real city," he said.

SEARS SPEAKER

Sen. Mason Sears of Dedham, brother-in-law of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. was the main speaker at Quincy's Armistice Day observance on the Adams Academy grounds.

"If our people appreciate that it will be necessary to wage the peace as hard as we waged the war we are bound to make headway toward the peaceful solution of many problems," he said.

CUSTODIANS EXEMPTED

The City Council voted to exempt 50 school custodians from the state's 40-hour work week law and return them to the 44-hour week with a guarantee of four hours overtime.

Councillor John B. O'Connor said the 40-hour week would have meant the hiring of eight to 10 new men.

CHURCH MOVING

The Quincy Point Congregational Church received permission to move its 110-year-old building a quarter of a mile down Washington St. to become part of a new church building at the corner of Abbey St.

It was estimated that the move would save $35,000 in construction costs.

What Do You Suppose Makes Stores Close Up?

Lack of business.

Most stores close because local people did too much of their shopping OUT-OF-TOWN. In fact, there are many cases where most of the stores in a town must close up.

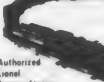

If that were to happen here, who would be left to help you pay this community's taxes, if empty stores were no longer paying their share?

Who would be contributing work and money toward local groups and projects in which you are interested?

You would have to carry the burden all alone. Think about it BEFORE you go shopping in a near-by city.

Keeping our home community healthy benefits every single member of this community.

Camp Fire Holding Candy Sale Nov. 6-18

Quincy Camp Fire clubs will be participating in their annual candy sale Nov. 6 to 18.

Members will be offering a chocolate bar with almonds or boxed mint meltaways in time for holiday hostess gifts or entertaining.

Proceeds from the sale will help South Shore youth finance their special activities and projects.

Ten cents of every dollar collected will be added to the club's treasury to support trips, campouts, or community projects.

Participation in the sale enables club members to live the Camp Fire slogan, "Give Service," by helping to provide funds for their council.

Although Camp Fire is a United Way agency, United Way's allocation covers only 30% of the South Shore Council's program expenses.

Profits from the sale support the summer day camp for over 300 South Shore youth, ages six to 14.

Proceeds also help establish training programs in leadership skills for 500 adult volunteers and program resources for 3,000 youth.

The South Shore Council of Camp Fire provides enrichment opportunities for men and women through volunteerism and educational, recreational programs for youth (both boys and girls) in 22 South Shore towns.

A purchase from a Camp Fire youth or adult member is one way in which local residents can support the organization.

WHAT CAUSES CROOKED TEETH

Among the important causes of crooked teeth are those habits — such as finger-sucking, mouth breathing and lip habits — which exert stresses against teeth and jaws. These create the irregular lineup of teeth known as malocclusion.

Protrusion of the upper teeth is often caused by thumb sucking. Pressure against the hard bony palate of the upper jaw causes changes in its shape and the line-up of teeth. In children over five, sucking habits should be treated with simple preventive appliances, along with other approaches.

When upper front teeth begin to erupt, lip biting habits may cause "open bite," in which upper and lower teeth can't make edge-to-edge contact.

Proper early treatment or preventive care can simplify later correction and lessen expenses.

Squantum Church Celebrates America's Religious Liberty

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum celebrated America's religious liberty Sunday morning.

Church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, called for a renewed commitment to the principle of separation of church and state.

Dr. Langevin took the position that the civil government should be neutral on religious issues, and should treat all persuasions evenly.

He illustrated his sermon with clippings from local newspapers during the past two weeks.

Children of the church, as requested wore Halloween costumes to the service. After some fun with the children and the congregation involving their costumes and a very large Jack O'Lantern, Dr. Langevin spoke to the children on a more serious topic.

His subject was, The Life of Roger Williams, a pioneer of religious liberty in this country.

The Chancel Choir sang the "Prayer of Thanksgiving" as arranged by Kremser.

Greeters for the service were Barbara Colwell and her children Krista and Bryan. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie, Pat Sorenson and Sandy Stohberg.

The sermon at next Sunday's Service which begins at 10:15 a.m. will be "Getting On With Our Mission."

Germanfest Saturday At Squantum First Church

A Germanfest, featuring baked goods, knit wear, strawberry shortcake gift items and more, will be held Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at First Church of Squantum.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH

Jesus was concerned about people - people who had family problems, sickness, fear, sorrow, lack of purpose, worry, emptiness. Jesus was also concerned about those who had it "all together" yet were missing the fulfillment of life's only true meaning. Our lives have been changed since we discovered life's purpose through Jesus Christ, and we are excited about what God has done for us. He has given us eternal life - "strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow." Through a faith that is Christ - centered and Bible-based, He enables us to live confidently in our uncertain world, to deal effectively with the stresses of life's challenges, and to know God's purpose in our lives. It is our desire that you and your family also experience this new life through trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ - now and always.

Glad Tidings Church is a warm, friendly church that believes the Bible and offers the answer for the problems we all face. We would be privileged to share our lives, touched by the Holy Spirit, with you. We really do care about you!

Joseph Gildea Honored As JWV's 'Citizen Of Year'

Joseph Gildea, the unofficial mayor of Montclair for many years, was honored by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans as their Citizen of the Year Sunday at the 32nd annual breakfast at Beth Israel Synagogue.

Kenneth P. Fallon Jr., of WJDA, the main speaker, characterized Gildea as a man "whose contributions to the community and devoted service to youngsters, organizations, his city, and his family" are unmatched.

"Fraternal societies define fraternalism as doing something for somebody else without expecting anything in return," he said. "That's Joe Gildea."

Gildea, a retired soft drink salesman, is a founder of Montclair Men's Club, a charter member of the Quincy Citizens Association and a former member of the Park and Recreation Commission.

He is also founder of the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, which has provided Saturday recreation and competition for 1,100 boys up to the age of 16 over the past 28 years.

In the last six years, the Little Loop has raised more than $10,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association through its annual bowlathon.

Gildea is also a rabid Boston Red Sox fan who has worked in his spare time in the press box for both the Sox and the New England Patriots. He goes to spring training each year with the Red Sox.

Harry Carlson of the Bosox Club presented him with a baseball autographed by members of the 1980 team "because of your long friendship with Don Zimmer."

The Citizen of the Year Award was presented to Gildea by Irving Isaacson, past commander of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans and chairman of the award committee.

Sen. Paul D. Harold also announced an additional award, that a tree had been planted in the Kennedy Grove in Israel in honor of Gildea and his wife, Hilda.

Past winners of the Citizen of the Year Award who were present included Irving Boyes, Charles Sweeny, Richard J. Koch, Rabbi Jacob Mann, Beth Hitchcock, James R. McIntyre, Herb Fontaine, Henry Bosworth and Thomas M. McDonald.

Brudnoy Receives Earn-It Public Service Award

DAVID BRUDNOY

Dr. David Brudnoy, the radio and TV personality, was scheduled to receive Earn-It's public service award for contributions to the criminal justice system yesterday (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in the Neighborhood Club.

Judge Albert L. Kramer, founder of the Earn-It program at Quincy District Court, praised Brudnoy for utilizing his profession in the highest form in the interest of new approaches to treatment of young offenders.

"Dr. Brudnoy has raised the public consciousness as to the failings of traditional sentencing approaches and the need for inclusion of the restitution concept that requires offenders to make up to their victims for their crimes," he said.

The presentation was made at the third annual Earn-It Appreciation banquet which honors various South Shore businesses that have provided work for young offenders so they can make restitution.

Andrew R. Klein, chief probation officer and Earn-It director, said victims of crime received a record amount of more than $200,000 in restitution this year in Quincy District Court.

Presidents Must Veto Brockton Blowout

It wasn't a classic, but after the way things have been happening to Quincy's football team this season, coach Tom Fitzgerald was happy to accept last week's 14-6 victory over winless Weymouth North at Weymouth's Legion Field.

"We made too many mistakes and should have scored three or four more touchdowns, but we won and that's what counts," said Fitzgerald, whose Presidents improved their record to 2-5. "We marched up and down the field, had about 18 first downs and over 200 yards rushing, but penalties, fumbles and missed assignments cost us several times."

"We are certainly going to have to do much better next Saturday against Brockton (2 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium) or we'll be blown out. We'll have our hands full in that game."

Brockton is powerful again and brings a 6-1 record into Saturday's Suburban League game. The Boxers lost to Newton North, 22-16, but rolled over New Bedford, 34-13; North Quincy, 26-0; Brookline, 26-0; B.C. High, 34-6; Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 50-8, and Leominster, 33-0. Fitzgerald made two major shifts in his lineup at Weymouth, moving Sean Martin from quarterback to end and shifting Mike Shaughnessy from end to halfback.

Martin performed well at end and Shaughnessy ran well in his first backfield appearance. Steve Goguen had another big day and gained over 100 yards and junior Bob Mudge played a fine game at quarterback.

Steve Aluisi returned to center after missing several games and did well in the offensive line, as did Dan Mahoney, Dave Donnelly and Kevin Riggs.

Quincy was strong on defense and the only Weymouth touchdown came on a fumble recovery in the end zone in the first period.

Singled out for their defensive performances were Steve Spencer, who has been a standout all year; Brian Callahan, John Carr, Capt. John Taglieri, back after missing three games; Riggs, Glenn Straughn, Mike Connor, Mike Nevins, Mike Kelsey, Jamie Gravalese, Mark Righini and Shaughnessy.

Weymouth took the lead early in the game when it recovered a fumble on Quincy's five-yard line and Joe Ganley went in from there for the touchdown.

Although it marched up and down the field, Quincy couldn't score until the final 40 seconds of the first half when Mudge passed to Shaughnessy for 40 yards and the tying touchdown.

The Presidents continued to dominate in the second half but continued to be hurt by mistakes.

With five minutes left in the game Mudge scored on a keeper from 20 yards out for the winning score. Mudge passed to Shaughnessy for the two-point conversion.

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, with a 7-1 record, will compete in the state coaches meet Saturday at Franklin Park and next Tuesday will face Quincy in the final regular season meet.

Coach Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes defeated Boston Latin, 22-34, in a non-league meet last week over the Franklin Park course.

Gritty Point Bows To Central

By PETE ZOIA

Playing its best game of the season, a gritty but undermanned Point ninth grade team held Central scoreless in the first half, but lost, 12-0, in the second half of their Junior High football game last week.

Central had an apparent touchdown called back in the first half by a penalty.

Holding the fort were Point defensive stars Darren Zemp, who made several tackles; Dave Mahon and Al Freeman, who recovered Central fumbles; Mike Farrand, Andy Lenhardt, Dean O'Malley and John Kelleher carried to Point's one-yard line only to fumble, Point's Joe Noonan recovering.

O'Malley intercepted a Point pass to set up the first touchdown. Kelleher scoring from the five-yard line.

The last touchdown came on a well-executed flea flicker pass play for 31 yards, Lenhardt scoring the touchdown.

Point staged its best drive, reaching Central's 30 with runs of 19 yards by Freeman and 12 by Kevin Salmon highlighting the march, but an interception halted the threat.

Unbeaten Sterling continued to roll along, walloping Broad Meadows 28-0, to improve its record to 7-0. Sterling scored in every quarter.

Again the versatile backfield for John Gostainian's squad went to work early. Leading the way once again were Gerry Frazier and Darren Tucker, who alternated in carrying to the seven from where Mike Dracchio passed to John O'Callahan for the score.

Sterling drove 98 yards for its second period touchdown, Tucker going for 12, 33, eight and the final yard. Frazier had runs of 12 and 14 yards and scored the two-point conversion.

Frazier couldn't be stopped in the third period as he went for 15 and 25 yards to the 17. Tucker went to the seven. Frazier added four yards and then scored from the one.

The BM offense was held in check by the rugged Sterling line and a bad break gave Sterling the opportunity to score its final touchdown. The punter dropped the pass from center on his 22 and Frazier immediately went all the way. Tucker added the final two points.

Mike Powell and Paul Miller were standouts on defense for BM. For Sterling, John Wholey excelled on defense.

Coach Bob Scheiss' Central eighth grade team, which had already clinched the city title, defeated Point, 18-0.

Central recovered a Point fumble early on Point's 32. Frank Nolan went to the 20, Dave Tapper to the six and, after Central was penalized back to the 11, Nolan went in to score.

Point's Devin Jolley intercepted a pass on Point's 41 and Bob Fitzgerald reached Central's four, but Central held.

Pat O'Sullivan intercepted a Point pass and returned it 60 yards for the second touchdown.

On the first play of the second half Nolan raced 65 yards for his second TD.

Fitzgerald, Mike Hanrahan and Dan O'Brien played fine defensive ball for the smaller Point team.

Sterling and Broad Meadows' eighth graders played to a scoreless tie. BM had a good chance, reaching Sterling's 14 as the half ended.

Bob Hunter of BM stood out on defense and for Sterling Scan Joyce and Tony Venturelli played fine ball.

In seventh grade action Sterling, which clinched the city crown, and BM finally played at Veterans Memorial Stadium, after playing on other fields, with Sterling winning, 14-0, to remain unbeaten.

Chris Mackey sped around his right end for 24 yards and the first touchdown in the second quarter. Sterling added its second touchdown in the final period. Jim Rice racing 56 yards to BM's 20, Rice, Joe Cardarelli and Sean O'Brien going to the two from where Cardarelli scored. Jeff Sprague added the final two points.

Dudek & Raiders Seek 5th At Weymouth S.

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's Joe Dudek was healthy last Saturday for the first time in several weeks, it made quite a difference.

Dudek, injured early in the season, had a fantastic day against Brookline as he ran for 211 yards and scored all four Raider touchdowns as North enjoyed its best game of the season and won, 28-12, at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Dudek also blocked a punt.

The win, the third in the last four games, improved the Raiders' record to 4-3 and they will be favored to win their fifth game Saturday when they play winless Weymouth South at South's field at 2 p.m.

Weymouth has only a tie with Hingham and six losses, the latest 26-6 to Boston Tech last week.

"It makes a difference when you are healthy," said a pleased coach Dave Burke. "It was the first time Dudek was healthy for a long time and Ray Mallory was at full strength for the first time this season. Both made a big difference. This was a great victory for us, as Brookline has a fine team and we needed it to give us some momentum for the rest of the season after our loss to Waltham.

"Dudek was tremendous (the first North player to gain over 200 yards in some time) and Mallory played an excellent game. The offensive line had a good day, blocking well for Dudek and Rich Stevens and the defense played its best game in years. They stopped Brookline cold every time they had to."

Playing well in the offensive line were Neal Fisher, Paul Ciarella, Jim Hutchinson, Bill Gray, Bob Pound, Mike Panaro and Steve Lee.

Defensive coordinator Jack Raymer, delighted at the work of the defense, had good words for Mike Miceli, Bill Bradley, Mike Ellis, Steve Howley, Jim Kelly, Fisher, Rich Comeau, Panaro, Mike Hutchings and Richie

Brown, playing as a linebacker for the first time. "They all did a tremendous job today," Raymer said.

Bradley got off some booming kickoffs and Ellis did some fine punting. Pat Burke played another good game at quarterback and on defense.

Brookline was led by its outstanding runner, Tim McMahon, who ran for 106 yards.

Brookline punted to North's 12 following the first series of plays and the Raiders staged an 88-yard drive in 11 plays, Stevens running for 22 yards on one play and Dudek racing 34 yards for the touchdown. Bradley kicked the first of his four extra points.

Brookline came back with a 71-yard drive of its own, Bruce Prunty scoring from the eight-yard line. A rush for the two points was stopped by Brown and Ellis.

That was all the scoring in the first half, each team stopping a threat with an intercepted pass.

In the third period Brookline had fourth and three on North's 14 but Miceli and Comeau stopped the ball carrier cold and the Raiders then scored in two plays. Stevens gained six and Dudek broke through the right side and galloped down the sidelines 81 yards for his second touchdown. Bradley kicked the point.

Early in the final quarter Dudek blocked a punt, North getting the ball on Brookline's 31 and, after Dan Linnehan picked up three yards, Dudek broke off the left side and went 28 yards to make it 20-6 and Bradley again kicked the point.

Comeau recovered a fumble on Brookline's eight-yard line, Dudek picked up five, then wen' the final three for his and the team's fourth touchdown. Bradley added his fourth point.

With North's shock troops in action, Brookline marched 77 yards for its second touchdown, clicking off five first downs and Eric Doran scored from the three with nine seconds left in the game.

North Quincy had 247 net yards rushing and Brookline 230. North added 32 yards through the air on two for seven, while Brookline had only 17 yards on two for nine. Brookline had 14 first downs to 10 for the Raiders.

North Soccer Team Seeks 6th Win In Windup

The North Quincy boys' soccer team, which took a 5-7-4 record into this week's games, finishes its season today at Newton North in a Suburban League game.

The Raiders, Tuesday were hoping to spoil Waltham's perfect record.

North last week was forced to play three games in as many days due to some earlier rainouts and it had a 1-1-1 record for the week.

The Raiders lost another frustrating decision to Weymouth North, 3-2, as four of North Quincy's shots hit either the post or the crossbar.

Weymouth took the lead early in the game but the Raiders came to life in the second quarter as Rich Palma was sent in alone by Mike Bourikas to tie the score. Shortly afterward Bourikas scored with the assist going to Peter McGillicuddy. Later in the quarter, Palma and Bourikas hit the post as North failed to add to its lead.

Early in the third quarter Bourikas faked out the last Weymouth defender but his shot went wide. North seemed to lose its momentum when a Raider and a Maroon player were ejected for fighting.

Weymouth tied the game with 28 seconds left in the third quarter and scored the winning goal late in the final quarter.

North Quincy fared better the next day as it totally dominated Sharon in a non-league game and
